WANT $1.5-MILLION

Recreation Bond Issue Proposed To Expand Work

The Monroe City Council will be requested to call a special bond election to provide $1.5-million for expansion of the city's recreation department. The announcement was made yesterday by John Kelso, Jr., chairman of the Monroe Recreation Board.

Kelso said the board would recommend "about 1.5 million dollars" to be approved by the voting property owners of the city.

The recreation board head said the recommendation will follow a 12-month survey of the city's recreation needs. The survey was recently completed.

PLANS READY

Preliminary plans develop around the recommendations of the board have already been drafted by an architect, Kelso said.

He said that sites have been selected for four recreation centers, with the main facility being on the southside near the Kellogg subdivision.

The main center will include a regulation size basketball court, an outside swimming pool and wading pool, administrative offices for the city recreation department,

Angry U.S. Warns Reds About Congo

UNITED NATIONS N. Y. (UPI) The United Nations Saturday night handed Russia an angry new warning to keep hands off the Congo in one of a series of explosive developments from the African crisis.

The U. S. statement climaxed a day in which U.N. forces in the Congo announced they had arranged a cease fire between warring secessionists and central government troops, and moderate President Joseph Kasavubu said he had fired pro-Russian Premier Patrice Lumumba for the second time within a week.

NOTICE SURPRISE

Kasavubu's surprise notice that he had replaced the Lumumba regime with a new moderate government prompted the Security Council to adjourn its emergency debate on the crisis until Monday.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth issued a curt statement immediately after the session saying the United States would not "stand idly by and see the Soviet Union flout the will of the United Nations' in the Congo.

"They (Russia and Poland) are clearly in defiance of the U.N. Security Council resolutions which they themselves supported," the statement said.

Earlier, Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov had shrugged off an appeal from Council President Egidio Ortona of Italy that the big powers refrain from any action that could aggravate the crisis.

Kuznetsov made it clear Russia reserved the right to continue sending military air transports and personnel to the service of Lumumba. But the Russian appeared confused at Kasavubu's claim to having deposed the erratic, left-leaning Lumumba.

Kasavubu, in a cablegram to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, promised his new government would renounce Soviet or other foreign aid and rely completely on the United Nations to bring stability to the country. He asked for immediate U.N. recognition.

The Cabinet he named contained staunch opponents of Lumumba, including Joseph Ileo, current Senate president, as premier to replace Lumumba, and Albert Kalonji, leader of efforts to set up an independent "mining state" in Kasai Province, as interior Minister. Jean Bokikango, Congolese

Parish Death Toll Reaches 7 For Year

A 28 - year - old Start woman died last night in the St. Francis Hospital as a result of injuries she received in an automobile accident August 11.

Miss Patsy Ruth Miller, died at 9:30 p.m. yesterday, marking the seventh traffic fatality for Ouachita Parish this year.

Her injuries consisted of chest and head injuries, two broken legs, multiple cuts, bruises and shock when she was involved in a head - on collision on U. S. Highway 165 just outside Monroe early Thursday morning, Aug. 11.

NEGRO HURT

Driver of the other car, involved in the crash was a Sterlington Negro, James Lee, who suffered cuts, bruises and a head laceration in the incident.

According to investigating officials, Miss Miller was traveling north on the highway, and was hit by Lee who was going south on the highway.

According to witnesses, Lee attempted a left turn onto the Old Sterlington Road, about 3.3 miles outside Monroe, and hit Miss Millers' car head on.

Miss Miller was an employee of Commercial Solvents for about five years and a member of the First Baptist Church in Monroe.

At the time of the accident, state police charged Lee with negligent injury and improper turning. When asked last night if the charge would be changed, of-

Child Killed In Collision Of Train, Car

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — A 4 - year - old girl was killed and three persons injured when the car in which they were riding was struck by a train just north of Alsatia yesterday afternoon.

Dead was Karen Beck, 4, of route one, Transylvania, who was a passenger in the car driven by her grandmother, Mrs. Maggie S. Beck, 47, of the same address.

The injured included Mrs. Beck, along with the child's mother, Mrs. Annie Ruth Beck, 23, and the child's sister, Cynthia Beck, 8, all of Transylvania.

INJURED

The three injured are being treated for multiple injuries in the East Carroll Hospital in Lake Providence, but are not listed in serious condition.

State Trooper John House, who investigated the accident, said it occurred at 3:30 p.m. yesterday at the Parish Road and Missouri Pacific railroad crossing intersection 11.8 miles south of Lake Providence.

House said that the Beck vehicle was traveling west on Parish Road and evidently didn't sotp for the oncoming southbound train.

House was told by witnesses that the train's whistle was blowing, but there is not a bell or lights at the crossing.

The car was not dragged by the train, House stated. It was only about 45 feet from the point of impact.

But the automobile was totally demolished, House added.

The victims were rushed to the East Carroll Hospital by Gay's ambulances and the Beck child was pronounced dead on arrival by a hospital physician.

Engineer Denies Department Error

By BILL HARDIN
Staff Writer

A former Monroe city engineer yesterday denied that he or his department had made a mistake which was corrected by the city street department during the past week. Luther T. (Dick) Harper said that the engineer's office was not responsible for an error necessitating the city to rebuild part of a private driveway here.

Harper's statement was in answer to comments by Commissioner of Streets W. D. H. Rodriguez, who said work on a private northside driveway was necessitated to correct a mistake made four years ago by the city engineer's office.

Harper, now privately employed, was engineer at the time the alleged mistake was made. He said, "the office of the City engineer did not make a mistake in this matter," and that he felt an obligation to make the formal statement.

FULL KNOWLEDGE

The former city engineer said the office worked directly under the commissioner of streets, with the city official having full knowledge of their actions.

Harper said Rodriguez was attempting to make an excuse or "pass the blame for his way of doing business."

Friday morning the Morning World ran a story and pictures of repair work being done on the private driveway of David L. Agnew, 1601 Auburn Ave.

When told that the paper had the pictures, Rodriguez said the work was being done at the expense of the property owner, but was correcting a mistake made four years ago by the engineer's office.

Mayor W. L. Howard said he had no information about the work, but that the commissioner of streets handled all work in his department.

U.S. Restricts Khrushchev To Manhattan Isle

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) The United States, in the most stringent restriction ever placed on a visiting diplomat, Saturday ordered Nikita S. Khrushchev quarantined to Manhattan Island during his visit to the United Nations General Assembly.

It was an obvious slap at the Soviet premier who canceled President Eisenhower's visit to Russia over the U2 plane incident. The State Department said it was restricting Khrushchev's movements for his own good, because his recent "hostile statements" would make it more difficult to protect him.

The restriction applied not only to Khrushchev but also to Hungary's Janos Kadar and Albania's Mehmet Shehu, both outspoken critics of the United States and ripe targets for Hungarian and Albanian refugees in America.

Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, and Czech President Antonin Novotny, heading their delegations to the Sept. 20 assembly opening, were not mentioned and will have wider travel rights.

Khrushchev can either remain on the Russian ship Baltika now carrying him to New York, go to the Russian delegation building on Park Avenue or put up at a hotel.

But if he hopes to visit the Freedomland amusement park as he wanted to visit Disneyland during his visit to the West Coast a year ago, he will be disappointed. Freedomland is in the Bronx. Also out of bounds are the Statue of Liberty, the Russian diplomatic residence at Glen Cove, and such places of interest as the Brooklyn navy yard. But he can go to Wall Street, if he wishes.

Communist diplomats except those from Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia normally are restricted to a 25-mile radius around New York in retaliation for travel restrictions on American diplomats in Communist lands.

Boy's Life Hopes Rest With Doctors

COVINGTON, Va. (AP)—Ebbie Biggs, 7, a chubby second-grader, leaves here Monday for a journey to Baltimore that seems to hold his last best hope for life.

Ebbie's destination is John Hopkins Hospital, where he will undergo his eighth major kidney operation.

The doctors will attempt to insert a tube into his diseased kidney, and the operation must succeed, for it's the only kidney Ebbie has left. His other kidney was removed when he was 3½ months old.

Monday's train trip won't be the first Ebbie has made to John Hopkins. Six of his previous operations have been performed by surgeons there and in between he's been to the hospital for plastic surgery and quarterly checkups.

Only this summer, the lad spent five weeks in the hospital after his seventh operation.

Surgeons have told Ebbie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Biggs, that the operation scheduled Tuesday offers the final hope for saving the child's life.

Mrs. Biggs will go along with Ebbie on the train trip north, but his father, who usually goes, too, will stay at home. Biggs, who works at a local paper mill, says he can't afford to lose any more time from his job.

Ebbie is one of three Biggs children—the others are Alam, 13, and Cheryl, 4. He was born with the kidney disease.

When he can, Ebbie attends the Rivermont Elementary School here. His only disappointment has been his inability to play kickball and take part in rough-and-tumble activities with the other children.

8th District Politics In Cloudy State

States' Rights, GOP Candidates Loom On Scene

The eighth district's congressional seat was still up in the air yesterday as all three of Louisiana's political parties maneuvered to get nominees on the general election ballot.

The Democratic party's nominee, Earl K. Long, died last week, leaving them without a candidate. The district Democratic Executive Committee is in a hassel over calling a special election to pick a nominee.

HINT AT TRY

And the States' Rights and Republican parties yesterday hinted that they might attempt to get candidates on the ballot for the Nov. 8 election.

E. Otis Edgerton of Alexandria, chairman of the district States' Rights committee, said yesterday that he will call a meeting of his committee in the next few days to discuss the possibility of nominating a candidate for the congressional seat.

Nelson Stracener of Baton Rouge, legal counsel for the GOP in Louisiana, opened the door for a Republican standard-bearer in the district.

On the Democratic front, state Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion yesterday denied reports that he had turned thumbs - down on a bid by the 8th district Democratic committee to call a special election to name a successor to Long.

Wire service reports said that Gremillion and Sec. of State Wade O. Martin Jr. had rejected committee bids for a special election.

Gremillion, in a statement issued yesterday, said that he knows of "no law" prohibiting the district executive committee from holding a special election.

"The decision of naming a nominee," Gremillion said, "is solely the responsibility of the committee."

The committee, in a Friday meeting, passed a resolution to seek a conference with Gremil-

U.S. Warns Red China As Revolt Flares In Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department Saturday night in effect warned Communist China not to meddle in a new revolution which is reported to have broken out in the southeast Asian kingdom of Laos.

The department said in a statement that the United States would "be immediately concerned by the efforts of any other outside power, or the agents thereof, to take advantage of the disturbed condition."

The new revolution, according to the State Department, is reported to be led by Prince Boun Oum and General Phoumi Nosavan, the anti-communist former defense minister who has declined to take a post as vice premier in the new neutralist government of Prince Souvanna Phouma.

The State Department based its information on broadcasts from Laos. Phoumi was reported to have started the revolution because the new central government failed to implement its pledges and stop attacks by Communist-led Pathet Lao guerrillas against government military.

U.S. Reveals Reds Forgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Saturday night made public what it called a Communist forgery which it said demonstrates a Communist drive to "destroy the destiny of free Africa."

The State Department labeled as "a crude and blatant forgery of Communist manufacture" an alleged letter from Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon to the U.S. ambassador to the troubled Congo, Clare Timberlake.

The letter purpoted to show United States' conniving in behalf of Moise Tshombe, who is striving for independence of his province of Katanga, and against Patrice Lumumba, who wants Katanga under a central Congo government headed by himself. The Reds are backing Lumumba.

Several Injured, Property Losses Soar In Millions

FT. MYERS, Fla. (UPI) — Hurricane Donna struck the Florida west coast cities of Ft. Myers and Sarasota scarring blows Saturday night, then bore inland cutting a broad swath of destruction through the state's rich citrus country.

The vicious, zig-zagging storm crashed across the Florida Keys early Saturday with 150 m.p.h. winds, causing widespread damage the length of the 110-mile island chain and leaving the tourist city of Marathon a shambles. Miami also felt the fringes of its fierce winds.

Ft. Myers, a city of 22,000, was raked with winds of 121 mph and suffered at least one fatality, a dozen minor injuries and extensive property damage.

CITY IN DARKNESS

As the storm cut inland it hit little Wauchula, a citrus growing community 70 miles east-northeast of Sarasota with 100 m.p.h. winds and struck Arcadia, another small central Florida town, a devastating blow.

The big 350-mile wide storm was expected to do some of its

Devastation Trails Donna Florida Trek

By BEN FUNK

MARATHON, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Donna tore through this Florida Keys city with tornado-like fury Saturday, smashing buildings, houses, trailers and boats, but die-hard residents who refused to evacuate came through miraculously alive.

At least a score of terrified persons were cut by flying glass as the wind, which may have reached 150 miles an hour, shattered windows and doors of two public shelters and other buildings.

A Navy highway convoy which battled 60-mile winds and pounding rain in the wet back side of the hurricane, got through to this stricken city from Key West at 9 a.m. and found utter desolation.

Frame homes were torn to bits and lumber and furniture scattered by the wind.

House trailers were hurled about and some smashed to pieces. Cars and trucks were wrecked. Fishing boats were torn out of the water and dumped far inland.

Raging tides that came with the hurricane picked up boats, furniture, broke ties from the breakwater and sections of boat docks and piled them up crazily in the middle of the Overseas Highway.

"It had to be a 150-mile wind to do this kind of damage," commented one of the nine state highway patrolmen who rode out the storm in the little patrol station here.

"It blew the windows out of the Buccaneer Lodge and just pulled the furniture out the windows."

The Buccaneer and an elementary school building were used as public shelters for the 200 or 300 persons who chose to stay with their town.

In a temporary medical station, Mrs. D. R. Hutchsin, a Red Cross nurse, was treated for a badly lacerated leg and told of a night of terror in the school building where she presided over 90 Negro residents, including 50 children.

"The picture got serious at midnight," she said. "The west wall blew out and part of the roof flew off the school and a classroom building.

"All the windows on the west

Ship Is Blown Into Back Yard

Skipper Leon Phillips of the Inagua Arrow saw that he and his 10-man crew were safe, then gave this radio report to the Coast Guard.

"I'm in somebody's back yard. There's a motel to port and trees to starboard."

Michigan Brunette Wins Title

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Nancy Anne Fleming, 18, a brunette beauty from Michigan Saturday night was named Miss America of 1961 succeeding 1960's Lynda Lee Mead.

The new Miss America, smiling but appearing to be on the verge of tears, walked down the runway in triumph amid shouts of applause from the more than 18,000 spectators.

Miss Fleming is 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 116 pounds. Her measurements are 35-22-35.

The runners-up in the pageant were Miss California, Suzanne Marie Reamo, 20, of La Mesa; Miss North Carolina, Ann Farrington Herring, 19, of Winston-Salem; Miss District of Columbia, Ruth Rea, 18, of Chevy Chase, Md.; and Miss Indiana, Tommye Lou Glaze, 21, of Culver.

Lenora Slaughter, executive director of the pageant, placed the crown on the Michigan teenager's head while several former Miss Americas stood nearby in convention hall. Then Miss Fleming walked back along the runway to a stage area where photographers converged on her.

The new beauty queen was judged fairest of all from among the 54 contestants from all the states, Canada, New York City, Chicago and Washington, D.C., in the 34th annual pageant.

The coronation by Miss Slaughter was a departure from the tradition of having the out-going Miss America crown her successor. Miss Mead, of Mississippi, made one last farewell appearance before the audience just prior to the crowning, then left the stage.

Miss Michigan and the other four had advanced into the finals earlier Saturday night.

Miss Michigan was the only double trophy winner in the three nights of the preliminary judging that ended Friday night. She scored both in swim suit and talent.

The girls from Alabama, Utah and Indiana, all classical singers, also won early talent victories. The other two preliminary trophy winners in swim suits were Miss

SUFFERS STINGING BLOW

Hurricane Batters Florida Queen City

Strangely spared by the hurricanes during the past 10 years, the city bowed to the law of averages and suffered a stinging blow from one of its worst tropical storms.

Donna's winds of 100 miles an hour left deserted streets flooded and littered with debris. But ample advance warning of the big blow kept casualties and major damage to a minimum. Only one fatality was reported in the Miami area.

As winds diminished, half of the metropolitan area's million residents were without electric power. One immediate problem was the care and feeding of thousands of visitors and tourists who braved the storm in resort hotels.

The spectre of food spoilage because of the power shutdown faced thousands. Florida Power & Light Co. began supplying dry ice to customers whose refrigerators were not working.

The storm center passed 60 miles to the west of Miami early in the day. Winds built up to hurricane force during the night and stayed there for about two hours after dawn as Donna passed by.

A bright spot as the city assessed its damage was the way thousands of "untested" buildings and residents weathered the blow.

U.S. Restricts Khrushchev To Manhattan Isle

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) The United States, in the most stringent restriction ever placed on a visiting diplomat, Saturday ordered Nikita S. Khrushchev quarantined to Manhattan Island during his visit to the United Nations General Assembly.

It was an obvious slap at the Soviet premier who canceled President Eisenhower's visit to Russia over the U2 plane incident. The State Department said it was restricting Khrushchev's movements for his own good, because his recent "hostile statements" would make it more difficult to protect him.

The restriction applied not only to Khrushchev but also to Hungary's Janos Kadar and Albania's Mehmet Shehu, both outspoken critics of the United States and ripe targets for Hungarian and Albanian refugees in America.

Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, and Czech President Antonin Novotny, heading their delegations to the Sept. 20 assembly opening, were not mentioned and will have wider travel rights.

Khrushchev can either remain on the Russian ship Baltika now carrying him to New York, go to the Russian delegation building on Park Avenue or put up at a hotel.

But if he hopes to visit the Freedomland amusement park as he wanted to visit Disneyland during his visit to the West Coast a year ago, he will be disappointed. Freedomland is in the Bronx. Also out of bounds are the Statue of Liberty, the Russian diplomatic residence at Glen Cove, and such places of interest as the Brooklyn navy yard. But he can go to Wall Street, if he wishes.

Communist diplomats except those from Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia normally are restricted to a 25-mile radius around New York in retaliation for travel restrictions on American diplomats in Communist lands.

8th District Politics In Cloudy State

States' Rights, GOP Candidates Loom On Scene

The eighth district's congressional seat was still up in the air yesterday as all three of Louisiana's political parties maneuvered to get nominees on the general election ballot.

The Democratic party's nominee, Earl K. Long, died last week, leaving them without a candidate. The district Democratic Executive Committee is in a hassel over calling a special election to pick a nominee.

HINT AT TRY

And the States' Rights and Republican parties yesterday hinted that they might attempt to get candidates on the ballot for the Nov. 8 election.

E. Otis Edgerton of Alexandria, chairman of the district States' Rights committee, said yesterday that he will call a meeting of his committee in the next few days to discuss the possibility of nominating a candidate for the congressional seat.

Nelson Stracener of Baton Rouge, legal counsel for the GOP in Louisiana, opened the door for a Republican standard-bearer in the district.

On the Democratic front, state Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion yesterday denied reports that he had turned thumbs - down on a bid by the 8th district Democratic committee to call a special election to name a successor to Long.

Wire service reports said that Gremillion and Sec. of State Wade O. Martin Jr. had rejected committee bids for a special election.

Gremillion, in a statement issued yesterday, said that he knows of "no law" prohibiting the district executive committee from holding a special election.

"The decision of naming a nominee," Gremillion said, "is solely the responsibility of the committee."

The committee, in a Friday meeting, passed a resolution to seek a conference with Gremil-

U.S. Warns Red China As Revolt Flares In Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department Saturday night in effect warned Communist China not to meddle in a new revolution which is reported to have broken out in the southeast Asian kingdom of Laos.

The department said in a statement that the United States would "be immediately concerned by the efforts of any other outside power, or the agents thereof, to take advantage of the disturbed condition."

The new revolution, according to the State Department, is reported to be led by Prince Boun Oum and General Phoumi Nosavan, the anti-communist former defense minister who has declined to take a post as vice premier in the new neutralist government of Prince Souvanna Phouma.

The State Department based its information on broadcasts from Laos. Phoumi was reported to have started the revolution because the new central government failed to implement its pledges and stop attacks by Communist-led Pathet Lao guerrillas against government military.

U.S. Reveals Reds Forgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Saturday night made public what it called a Communist forgery which it said demonstrates a Communist drive to "destroy the destiny of free Africa."

The State Department labeled as "a crude and blatant forgery of Communist manufacture" an alleged letter from Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon to the U.S. ambassador to the troubled Congo, Clare Timberlake.

The letter purpoted to show United States' conniving in behalf of Moise Tshombe, who is striving for independence of his province of Katanga, and against Patrice Lumumba, who wants Katanga under a central Congo government headed by himself. The Reds are backing Lumumba.

Several Injured, Property Losses Soar In Millions

FT. MYERS, Fla. (UPI) — Hurricane Donna struck the Florida west coast cities of Ft. Myers and Sarasota scarring blows Saturday night, then bore inland cutting a broad swath of destruction through the state's rich citrus country.

The vicious, zig-zagging storm crashed across the Florida Keys early Saturday with 150 m.p.h. winds, causing widespread damage the length of the 110-mile island chain and leaving the tourist city of Marathon a shambles. Miami also felt the fringes of its fierce winds.

Ft. Myers, a city of 22,000, was raked with winds of 121 mph and suffered at least one fatality, a dozen minor injuries and extensive property damage.

CITY IN DARKNESS

As the storm cut inland it hit little Wauchula, a citrus growing community 70 miles east-northeast of Sarasota with 100 m.p.h. winds and struck Arcadia, another small central Florida town, a devastating blow.

The big 350-mile wide storm was expected to do some of its

Devastation Trails Donna Florida Trek

By BEN FUNK

MARATHON, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Donna tore through this Florida Keys city with tornado-like fury Saturday, smashing buildings, houses, trailers and boats, but die-hard residents who refused to evacuate came through miraculously alive.

At least a score of terrified persons were cut by flying glass as the wind, which may have reached 150 miles an hour, shattered windows and doors of two public shelters and other buildings.

A Navy highway convoy which battled 60-mile winds and pounding rain in the wet back side of the hurricane, got through to this stricken city from Key West at 9 a.m. and found utter desolation.

Frame homes were torn to bits and lumber and furniture scattered by the wind.

House trailers were hurled about and some smashed to pieces. Cars and trucks were wrecked. Fishing boats were torn out of the water and dumped far inland.

Raging tides that came with the hurricane picked up boats, furniture, broke ties from the breakwater and sections of boat docks and piled them up crazily in the middle of the Overseas Highway.

"It had to be a 150-mile wind to do this kind of damage," commented one of the nine state highway patrolmen who rode out the storm in the little patrol station here.

The Buccaneer and an elementary school building were used as public shelters for the 200 or 300 persons who chose to stay with their town.

In a temporary medical station, Mrs. D. R. Hutchsin, a Red Cross nurse, was treated for a badly lacerated leg and told of a night of terror in the school building where she presided over 90 Negro residents, including 50 children.

"The picture got serious at midnight," she said. "The west wall blew out and part of the roof flew off the school and a classroom building.

"All the windows on the west

Ship Is Blown Into Back Yard

Skipper Leon Phillips of the Inagua Arrow saw that he and his 10-man crew were safe, then gave this radio report to the Coast Guard.

"I'm in somebody's back yard. There's a motel to port and trees to starboard."

SUFFERS STINGING BLOW

Hurricane Batters Florida Queen City

Strangely spared by the hurricanes during the past 10 years, the city bowed to the law of averages and suffered a stinging blow from one of its worst tropical storms.

Donna's winds of 100 miles an hour left deserted streets flooded and littered with debris. But ample advance warning of the big blow kept casualties and major damage to a minimum. Only one fatality was reported in the Miami area.

As winds diminished, half of the metropolitan area's million residents were without electric power. One immediate problem was the care and feeding of thousands of visitors and tourists who braved the storm in resort hotels.

The spectre of food spoilage because of the power shutdown faced thousands. Florida Power & Light Co. began supplying dry ice to customers whose refrigerators were not working.

The storm center passed 60 miles to the west of Miami early in the day. Winds built up to hurricane force during the night and stayed there for about two hours after dawn as Donna passed by.

A bright spot as the city assessed its damage was the way thousands of "untested" buildings and residents weathered the blow.

Michigan Brunette Wins Title

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Nancy Anne Fleming, 18, a brunette beauty from Michigan Saturday night was named Miss America of 1961 succeeding 1960's Lynda Lee Mead.

The new Miss America, smiling but appearing to be on the verge of tears, walked down the runway in triumph amid shouts of applause from the more than 18,000 spectators.

Miss Fleming is 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 116 pounds. Her measurements are 35-22-35.

The runners-up in the pageant were Miss California, Suzanne Marie Reamo, 20, of La Mesa; Miss North Carolina, Ann Farrington Herring, 19, of Winston-Salem; Miss District of Columbia, Ruth Rea, 18, of Chevy Chase, Md.; and Miss Indiana, Tommye Lou Glaze, 21, of Culver.

Lenora Slaughter, executive director of the pageant, placed the crown on the Michigan teenager's head while several former Miss Americas stood nearby in convention hall. Then Miss Fleming walked back along the runway to a stage area where photographers converged on her.

The new beauty queen was judged fairest of all from among the 54 contestants from all the states, Canada, New York City, Chicago and Washington, D.C., in the 34th annual pageant.

The coronation by Miss Slaughter was a departure from the tradition of having the out-going Miss America crown her successor. Miss Mead, of Mississippi, made one last farewell appearance before the audience just prior to the crowning, then left the stage.

Miss Michigan and the other four had advanced into the finals earlier Saturday night.

Miss Michigan was the only double trophy winner in the three nights of the preliminary judging that ended Friday night. She scored both in swim suit and talent.

The girls from Alabama, Utah and Indiana, all classical singers, also won early talent victories. The other two preliminary trophy winners in swim suits were Miss

Code Clerks Left Note, Says Prober

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional investigator said Saturday he was told the government deliberately supressed a farewell note left behind by the two National Security Agency code clerks who defected to Russia.

Rep. Paul J. Kilday, D-Tex., said he was further advised that officials vainly hoped the note would never have to be made public. But a copy was read by the defectors—Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin — when they turned up at a Kremlin-arranged Moscow press conference last Tuesday.

Kilday, chairman of a House armed services subcommittee investigating the Mitchell-Martin episode, said the suppression explanation was given him in response to preliminary inquiries as to why the United States made the "mistake" of allowing Moscow to air public charges made against this government by the two.

"It's not a very good explanation, but it's the best they've come up with so far," Kilday told UPI. "We're going to go into it further."

Starting next Thursday, Kilday's subcommittee will conduct a closed-door inquiry into the defections and the personnel and security policies of all government intelligence agencies.

Mitchell and Martin were employed as mathematicians by the National Security Agency which specializes in coding and decoding of messages and their transmission.

The farewell note, found in a safety deposit box at Laurel, Md., denounced the U.S. government for being "as unscrupulous as it has accused the Soviet government of being."

The note included a charge that the United States had paid a code clerk in the Washington embassy of an ally for information which helped crack coded messages of his country.

Five Die Of Heat Trapped In Tunnel

SONYEA, N. Y. (UPI) — "Prostration circulatory collapse," was the official cause given for the deaths of the five boys whose bodies were found in a maze of tunnels at a state hospital.

It meant that heat stroke had ended five young lives plagued from birth with epilepsy.

The boys, aged 13 to 15, apparently had been in search of adventure when they became hopelessly trapped and suffocated.

They had wandered into a network of heating tunnels that carry pipes connecting the buildings at the Craig colony and hospital, a park-like 2,000-acre haven for epilepics 65 miles from Buffalo.

It was Wednesday when they went off to adventure, walking through dark tunnels 10 feet high and 10 feet wide where hot water pipes raised temperatures to 140 or 150 degrees. They were not found until Friday night.

Within a 200 yard stretch of the tunnel maze were the bodies of Robert Jacobs, 14, of Niagara Falls; John Schreck, 15, of Buffalo; Richard La Rose, 13, of Ogdensburg; Robert Neach, 14, of Schenectady, and Harry Ramsey, 14, of Saratoga Springs.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller interrupted his Pennsylvania campaign for the Republican presidential ticket to call for a full report on the deaths. He said he wanted to see it in New York City on Monday.

Rockefeller also asked the State Department of Public Works to survey the institution to determine what steps should be taken to prevent a repetition of the tragedy.

The boys had been at the hospital from 6 months to 7 years. They, like the other 2,200 patients of all ages, were there voluntarily and free to leave whenever they wanted to. The hospital is run as if it were a small community, with gardens and playgrounds surrounded by forest.

Police Report Burglar Lives In High Style

JACKSON Miss (UPI)—A young man with a desire for modern household conveniences has admitted furnishing his Rankin County home with "thousands of dollars" of stolen items, police said Saturday.

Thomas Levell Cockrell, 26-year-old draftsman for a Jackson engineering firm, told police he also used stolen equipment to cut his lawn and work on his car.

Detective Chief M. B. Pierce said Cockrell told him of burglarizing homes and forging checks here and in nearby Rankin County. He was arrested Wednesday.

Among items Cockrell said he stole were a two-ton air conditioner from a church, a washing machine, two television sets, a record player, tools, boat and trailer, a day bed, and a lawn mower from his neighbor. Officers said Cockrell later used the mower on his own lawn.

Press Woman Elect Officers At State Meet

Officers were installed by national federation president Mrs. Wallis Vanderburg, co-owner and publisher of the Shell Rock (Iowa) News, a special guest at the convention.

Other officers were Mrs. Kenneth Walker, co-owner and publisher of The Natchitoches Enterprise, first vice president; Corinne Peace, women's editor of The Morgan City Review, second vice president; Mary Baygeron, advertising manager of The Bastrop Daily Enterprise, secretary; and Mrs. A. B. Harvey, of Baton Rouge, re-elected treasurer. Mrs. Bolton was unable to be present for the ceremonies.

A special award was presented to Mrs. Margaret Dixon, managing editor of The Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, by Theta Sigma Phil, Women's professional journalism sorority.

Mrs. Vanderburg was presented a certificate from Gov. Jimmie H. Davis by Mrs. Dot Strain of Lafayette.

Mrs. Vanderburg with 52 journalists has just returned to this country after a 28-day tour of the Soviet Union, Sweden, Poland and Germany. She related her experiences. She was one of 15 women in the group.

Results Of Sky Shield Tests Remain Secret

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Whether this continent's air defense system was strong enough and alert enough to repulse a make-believe nuclear attack early Saturday was kept secret from the public.

"We expect lasting benefits from the exercise," was all that Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commander of the North American Air Defense Command headquarters here, would reveal following the six-hour exercise known as "Sky Shield."

However, Kuter did express his "sincere appreciation to the American and Canadian public, airline operators and civilian authorities for their understanding and cooperation during the temporary grounding of civilian aircraft during the exercise." The general said the exercise was carried out "under realistic conditions."

Exercise Sky Shield included a simulated nuclear attack by bombers of the U.S. Strategic Air Command on major population centers, industrial targets and military bases over 14 million square miles of United States and Canada. During the maneuvers, the skies over the entire area were cleared of commercial and private aircraft.

U.S. College Queen Crowned

NEW YORK (AP) — A "hurricane honey" from the University of Miami Saturday won the sixth annual National College Queen contest.

Twenty-one campus queens competed in the national contest to select the nation's most beautiful and brainy college girl.

Miss Reinhart will receive a tour of Europe and a wardrobe of knitted apparel and scholarships to the Institute of Creative Communications and the Dramatic Workshop in New York.

DEATHS

W. C. Cosgrode

ST. JOSEPH (Special) — William Chase Crosgrode, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crosgrode of St. Joseph, died at a Shreveport hospital Friday, following a brief illness.

Funeral services are scheduled for 2 p.m. today at the First Baptist Church in St. Joseph with the Rev. R. E. Pragel officiating. Interment will be in the Legion Memorial Cemetery in Newellton.

He was a fifth grade student at the Davidson school in St. Joseph.

Survivors other than the parents are two sisters, Lyndle and Billie Gene Crosgrode, both of St. Joseph; parental grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Swineah, Muldoon, Tex. and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Moore Sr., St. Joseph.

Pallbearers will be Johnny Coor, Clarence Roy, Billy Bradley, Cary Vickers, Fred Schauf, and Oscar Baragona.

Hickingbottom

GILBERT (Special) — Funeral services will be held today for Ernest Hickingbottom, 48, who died Saturday morning in an Alexandria hospital after a long illness.

The Rev. W. R. Cripps will officiate at the services at 2 p.m. in the Urania Pentecostal Church. Burial will be in the Harris Capitol Cemetery in Olla under the direction of Young's Funeral Home of Jonesville.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jessie Thacker Hickingbottom, Gilbert; three sons, Edward Lewis Hickingbottom, Lake Charles, Gerald Glen Hickingbottom, Jena, and Ronalo Hickingbottom, West Monroe; two daughters, Mrs. Billy Ray Coker, West Monroe, and Linda Sue Hickingbottom, Monroe; one brother, Jessie Hickingbottom, Lake Charles; one sister, Mrs. Ethel Floyd; and three grandchildren.

Judge Dawkins 'Resting Better'

Retired Federal Judge Ben C. Dawkins, Sr., of Monroe who has been in the St. Francis Hospital since suffering a stroke last week, was reportedly "resting better."

His condition, however was still termed very serious.

Judge Dawkins, 79, retired two years ago after serving Louisiana district, state supreme and federal courts for many years.

He is currently under the care of several doctors. Judge Dawkins resides at 1621 Park Ave., in Monroe.

His son, Ben C. Dawkins Jr., of Shreveport, who succeeded his father, is scheduled to arrive in Monroe today and conduct federal court here during the coming week.

New Camera Flash Unit Is Lighter

This is a new electronic flash unit, the Futurmac II Strobonar made by the Heiland Photo Products Divisions of Minneapolis-Honeywell.

The Futuramic II weighs 24 ounces without batteries and measures 9½ inches high, much less in both instances than the higly popular original Futuramic Strobonar.

Aside from its smaller size, one of the most convenient features of the new unit is flexibility of power supply. It will operate on three ordinary type C photoflash batteries; three of Everyready's E-9 energizer cells; rechargeable nickel-cadmium batteries; or ordinary household electric current. Batteries, regardless of type, fit inside the flash head, eliminating a separate power pack.

Choice of batteries depends on the user's needs. For occasional picture taking, photoflash batteries (similar to but not the same as flashlight cells) will deliver about 50 flashes. Energizer cells will produce 200 or 300 flashes per set. Rechargeable batteries will put out 80 to 100 flashes on each charging and will last indefinitely.

Another convenience is a direct-reading exposure calculator on the back of the flash head. This dial is large and easily read even in dim light. It ends the need to remember guide numbers and do mental arithmetic while taking pictures.

He was a fifth grade student at the Davidson school in St. Joseph.

Survivors other than the parents are two sisters, Lyndle and Billie Gene Crosgrode, both of St. Joseph; parental grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Swineah, Muldoon, Tex. and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Moore Sr., St. Joseph.

Hickingbottom

GILBERT (Special) — Funeral services will be held today for Ernest Hickingbottom, 48, who died Saturday morning in an Alexandria hospital after a long illness.

The Rev. W. R. Cripps will officiate at the services at 2 p.m. in the Urania Pentecostal Church. Burial will be in the Harris Capitol Cemetery in Olla under the direction of Young's Funeral Home of Jonesville.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jessie Thacker Hickingbottom, Gilbert; three sons, Edward Lewis Hickingbottom, Lake Charles, Gerald Glen Hickingbottom, Jena, and Ronalo Hickingbottom, West Monroe; two daughters, Mrs. Billy Ray Coker, West Monroe, and Linda Sue Hickingbottom, Monroe; one brother, Jessie Hickingbottom, Lake Charles; one sister, Mrs. Ethel Floyd; and three grandchildren.

Judge Dawkins 'Resting Better'

Retired Federal Judge Ben C. Dawkins, Sr., of Monroe who has been in the St. Francis Hospital since suffering a stroke last week, was reportedly "resting better."

His condition, however was still termed very serious.

Judge Dawkins, 79, retired two years ago after serving Louisiana district, state supreme and federal courts for many years.

He is currently under the care of several doctors. Judge Dawkins resides at 1621 Park Ave., in Monroe.

His son, Ben C. Dawkins Jr., of Shreveport, who succeeded his father, is scheduled to arrive in Monroe today and conduct federal court here during the coming week.

New Camera Flash Unit Is Lighter

The Futuramic II weighs 24 ounces without batteries and measures 9½ inches high, much less in both instances than the higly popular original Futuramic Strobonar.

Aside from its smaller size, one of the most convenient features of the new unit is flexibility of power supply. It will operate on three ordinary type C photoflash batteries; three of Everyready's E-9 energizer cells; rechargeable nickel-cadmium batteries; or ordinary household electric current. Batteries, regardless of type, fit inside the flash head, eliminating a separate power pack.

Choice of batteries depends on the user's needs. For occasional picture taking, photoflash batteries (similar to but not the same as flashlight cells) will deliver about 50 flashes. Energizer cells will produce 200 or 300 flashes per set. Rechargeable batteries will put out 80 to 100 flashes on each charging and will last indefinitely.

Another convenience is a direct-reading exposure calculator on the back of the flash head. This dial is large and easily read even in dim light. It ends the need to remember guide numbers and do mental arithmetic while taking pictures.

U.S. Navy Goal 90 Atomic Subs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy figures at least 90 atomic-powered, hunter-killer submarines will be needed to cope with the coming Communist force of missile-launching, nuclear-engined undersea craft.

The U. S. Navy has in commission 10 nuclear submarines designed and equipped specifically for antisubmarine operations and will add two more to the fleet in the next few weeks.

But the men charged with seeking out and destroying enemy ballistic missile submarines before they could fire hydrogen rockets on American targets say this must be viewed as only a start. As the Communists begin putting their own Polaris-type submersibles into operation, the U. S. Navy must keep moving out ahead with its antisubmarine warfare preparations, these experts say.

The Soviet Union is believed to be on the verge of sending its first atomic-powered, ballistic weapon submarines into service. Speculation now is that the Russians may have one or two A-subs in the first stages of trial operation, with about a half dozen more under construction and dozens more in the Red fleet building program. These, of course, will be in addition to an estimated force of about 450 conventionally powered submersibles.

In the U. S. Navy, the primary function of an attack submarine has changed sharply from World War II days. Up to and including that war, a submarine's prime job was to sink enemy commerce and surface warships. Today, defense of U. S. cities, not the torpedoeing of enemy ships, has become the paramount objective.

Here is the way submariners see it now: Nuclear power has given the submarine the capability of high underwater speed and maneuverability; the ability to dive to depths several times that of conventional submarines, to remain at such depths for days, weeks or months. Therefore, the best way to hunt them down is with other submarines of equal or superior capability, operating in the same element and conditions.

One of the best, time-proved methods of hunting is to watch the points from which enemy submarines would emerge in heading out for U. S. targets. The rat holes which would have to be kept under scrutiny already are many. Communist submarines now operate out of northern ports opening into the Barents Sea and thus into the Atlantic, out of the Baltic, out of several Pacific ports in the eastern maritime Soviet Union and Red China. Conquest by military action or subversion could provide still other bases for Red subs—for instance, in strategically positioned Congo.

Even with 90 nuclear attack submarines, the task of covering all assignments might be difficult, say the experts. While the chief mission would be the guarding against strikes by enemy missile subs on Western Hemisphere cities, some sub-hunting subs also would be needed for screening carrier task forces approaching enemy shores to launch bomb-carrying planes.

The 90-boat force is aimed at for about 1971, predicated on a building program of nine craft a year. The building rate now is about three or four a year.

The killer submarine program, it is explained, would not reduce or in any way affect the priority job of building up the Navy's Polaris missile submarine force. The Navy has said this force should be expanded to an eventual total of about 45 ships. The two programs therefore would total 135 nuclear-powered subs.

Recreation Bond Issue Proposed To Expand Work

game rooms, teenage club rooms, artcraft rooms and other associated facilities.

Another center will be recommended for the vicinity around Carroll High School and will provide an outside swimming pool, wading pool, basketball court, game rooms and other facilities similar to those planned for the center on the southside.

Two other smaller centers would be located in the city, one near Bernstein Park in Bryant's addition and the other off the Sterlington Road to serve the college area.

Kelso said that all recreation centers would be equipped with locker rooms and separate facilities for boys and girls.

Plans also prescribe tennis courts, softball, volley ball and other outside sports.

The sites selected range in size from 10 to 30 acres.

The recommended swimming pools would be "L" shaped and large enough to accomodate the needs expected to be served by the facilities.

Another project included in the projected plans is a nine - hole golf course east of Powell avenue. This course would serve a large Negro population in that area.

A good portion of the other facilities recommended would be dedicated to serving the concentration of Negro population in the areas where they are located.

No date was set for submitting the recommendations to city hall, but Kelso said it would be "in the next few days."

lion, Martin and Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

The meeting is scheduled to be held in Baton Rouge Monday at 2 p.m.

The committee will meet again Monday at 7 p.m. in Alexandria to make some decision as to filling the vacancy and placing a nominee on the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

Gremillion's statement follows:

"That committee asked me for my opinion and I gave it to them. That was to the effect that I thought the committee, under present law, had to name the nominee for the Democratic congressional post from that district. I know of no law prohibiting them from holding an election, however.

"The decision of naming a nominee to be on the ballot in the general election in November is solely the responsibility of the eighth congressional district Democratic Executive Committee. They alone have that power. I don't have it. Neither does Gov. Jimmie Davis, nor the secretary of state.

"If that committee can figure out a way to hold an election in time to place a nominee on the ballot in the general election it is certainly all right with me and Sec. of State Wade O. Martin."

Both Gremillion and Martin emphasized Saturday that they were in favor of elections where possible.

Reports from Alexandria yesterday indicated that Mrs. Blanche Long, widow of Earl Long, had become interested in the issue. She was quoted as saying that "there certainly should be an election" to let the Democratic voters choose a nominee.

She was mentioned as a candidate if an election is called.

Camille Gravel, a member of the committee who fought for an election at the Friday meeting, said that if the time element does not permit a runoff election — in the event that no candidate gets a majority in the first balloting — then there is nothing in the law which would prohibit the committee's calling a "one-shot" election with no second primary.

The deadline for certifying party nominees for the general election has been interpreted as Sept. 19 — the seventh Tuesday before the election.

long dead was master of ceremonies. He was Oliver Cromwell Dawkins.

A local woman whose early life was spent in south Louisiana was well known locally and she put on stunts that amazed and helped make the party a success.

For the special occasion a radio was arranged for use at the time of the banquet. Monroe by about 1930 did not have radio connection. One of the features was the offering by a local pecan grower to the first one from a state who would call in on the radio was to receive a sack of pecans.

One woman called in and stated that she did enjoy the program and that she'd now tune in on Monroe every night. The man on the local radio informed that this was only a one night stand. She is one who got her bag of pecans, we were told.

To make the program complete, three governors attended. They represented Louisiana, of course, and also Arkansas and Mississippi.

It was a night not to be forgotten and the writer has ever recalled this event of on or about 1930. We personally never attended an evening that gave as much pleasure to the public. It was a great success.

"At that time, I was the City Engineer and in my opinion, no error was made by my office with reference to the grades established for drainage culverts at the residence of Mr. David Agnew. I refer specifically to the pictures of paving private driveways by city forces and the statement made in Friday, Sept. 9, issue of the Morning World, by Commissioner Rodriguez.

"Mr. Rodriguez directs the employment of the streets department and in doing so should assume the responsibility and not attempt to place the blame for such actions on others.

"Again, in my opinion, the office of the City Engineer did not make a mistake in this matter, and I want the public to be so informed."

Kasavubu last Monday proclaimed the Premier fired and Lumumba replied by declaring Kasavubu out. The Senate added to the muddle by declaring the action of both men null and void.

This time, however, Swedish Gen. Karl Von Horn's headquarters announced it had persuaded Lumumba's troops and those of secessionist Katanga President Moise Tshombe to lay down their arms.

"By 1:30 in the morning the tide had rushed in and everybody was up on tables and chairs.

"The water brought in coconuts, seaweed and a lot of other debris. The wind even blew the seaweed up on the ceiling.

"We wrapped the babies in blankets and somehow we managed to bring everybody through alive."

Seven persons had been treated at the station when the Navy convoy reached Marathon, but nurse Beatrice Kenny said "we don't know how many others were hurt. We expect to have 25 or 30 more later. The injured people just can't get in here now. Their cars won't start and there is no other transportation."

Dropping off the end of the seven-mile bridge into Marathon the convoy suddenly found itself in the middle of a disaster.

Mattresses, refrigerators, boats, oil drums, sheet metal and other debris were tangled up with fallen power lines in the middle of the highway. A bulldozer in the convoy moved ahead, clearing a path for the cars and two buses behind.

The wind still blew in fierce gusts. A dog trotted beside the road into the wind at a 45-degree angle. An eagle fluttered helplessly, unable to get aloft.

At one motel, the wind had smashed through the front walls, piled up the furniture inside, then tore holes in the back wall.

cent years about how the newcomers could handle a bad tropic storm. With population here doubling in the last decade half of the residents had never experienced a hurricane.

Resort hotels on famed Miami Beach suffered no major damage except for water seepage into some lobbies and rooms. Guests generally had a ball, many of them working up "hurricane parties" in the plush cocktail lounges.

Although major hotel dining rooms remained open, most restaurants were boarded up tight as were all other businesses. Hungry transients had to line up for food, since many dining rooms had only skeleton staffs on hand.

At Miami Beach's Fontainebleu, largest hostelry in this land of hotels, damage was limited to a few broken windows and water seepage. It was 92 per cent filled Friday night, largely because of a heavy influx of local residents who left low-lying or waterfront homes to ride out the storm in luxury.

Not all those who abandoned their homes stayed in public shelters.

Pregnant women swarmed into hospitals to play it safe. Sixty babies were born immediately before and during the storm.

No official estimate of damage was made immediately, but it will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The tense two days of storm-fighting was not without its moments of humor.

A small freighter, struggling to make port at Miami, went aground at nearby Elliott Key. Skipper Leon Phillips of the Inagua Arrow saw that he and his 10-man crew were safe, then gave this radio report to the Coast Guard: "I'm in somebody's back yard. There's a motel to port and trees to starboard."

heaviest damage as it cut through the rural communities, usually considerably less prepared than the population centers.

Warnings were ordered up along the Atlantic Coast as far north as Savannah, Ga.

One hundred mile an hour winds rocked Lakeland. Just before midnight the eye of the vicious storm was moving steadily north through central Florida.

Behind it, the killer hurricane left much of the lower Florida Gulf Coast isolated. Four deaths had been reported. Fragmentary reports told of 13 injured in Fort Myers.

Struck by the eye of the storm in midafternoon Fort Myers still was cut off at midnight.

The Weather Bureau said 121 mile an hour winds struck Fort Myers. Donna diminished in intensity slightly as it moved inland but highest winds still ranged upwards of 110 miles an hour near the center.

At Key West, Monroe County Sheriff John Spottswood whose domain extends up the chain of Florida keys, said damage might run $600 million to $700 million.

The Weather Bureau at Tampa guessed total damage in the state might reach $2 billion.

From Fort Myers, George Hunter of the Lee County Disaster Committee told The Associated Press that roofs were blown from homes and stores.

"Some of the houses were blown clear over," he said during a brief telephone call. Communications later were disrupted.

Joe Povia, a candidate for mayor of Fort Myers, made contact with radio station WFLA in Tampa and told the station that damage was tremendous.

"This is a town without trees or shrubbery. Houses were blown down and unroofed. The administration building and the FAA radio station at the airport were demolished."

One of the dead, an unidentified truck driver, was in the Fort Myers area. He drowned when his semitrailer jackknifed on Edison Bridge and plunged him into the swirling river.

A youth was electrocuted at Winter Haven while trying to dismantle a television antenna in gale winds; a young Miami man was killed on a storm-slicked highway south of Miami and an unidentified body washed ashore at Tavernier in the keys.

Hurricane force winds—4 miles an hour and up—struck the Sarasota-Bradenton area shortly after 6 p.m.

Next in line were Tampa and St. Petersburgh with a combined population of 450,000

The Tampa Weather Bureau said the storm's path apparently would carry the death-dealing center winds east of Tampa, between Plant City and Lakeland.

But blasts of 100 m.p.h. were forecast for the Tampa Bay region in the early hours of Sunday.

Donna claimed 120 lives in its two-week path across the Atlantic. At least 106 died in Puerto Rico; 10 in the Leeward Islands; 4 in the Virgin Islands. The hurricane also was believed responsible for the crash of a French airliner off Africa in which 62 died.

With the storm moving north, Florida's battered southeast coast was given the all clear. Hurricane flags went down at 5 p.m. from Miami to Palm Beach.

At Cape Canaveral—120 miles east across the peninsula from Tampa—four giant Atlas missiles were taken from the launching area and put into hangers.

Officials at Patrick Air Force Base said the launching program would be delayed indefinitely.

Donna hurled 150 m.p.h. winds across the populous Miami area with gusts up to 97 m.p.h. and hit the mainland proper in the Everglades National Park, home of mangrove swamps and alligators.

Power lines popped like giant fireworks throughout the night and early morning. Most of Miami's residential area was without electricity. Similar conditions prevailed in the keys and northward through Fort Lauderdale.

Rains upward of eight inches were forecast for south Florida Saturday and Saturday night. The Weather Bureau said 5.66 inches had fallen in Miami between 7 p. m. Friday and 1 p. m. Saturday.

Most restaurants were shut tight. The few which tried to operate found hungry transients lined in queues for the meager service.

Donna's eye crossed the Florida Keys near the town of Marathon, unroofing one public shelter and blowing the walls and windows out of another. At least 20 persons were treated for cuts from flying glass.

Water lines to the keys ruptured.

In Marathon Mrs. J. N. Schmall said "there were some concrete block houses on our street that are just gone. My husband and I started praying when part of our roof blew off. We feel very lucky to be here."

State patrolmen who weathered the big Marathon blow told of seeing furniture sucked through broken windows.

Winds of 166 m.p.h. were clocked at Sombrero lighthouse in the keys.

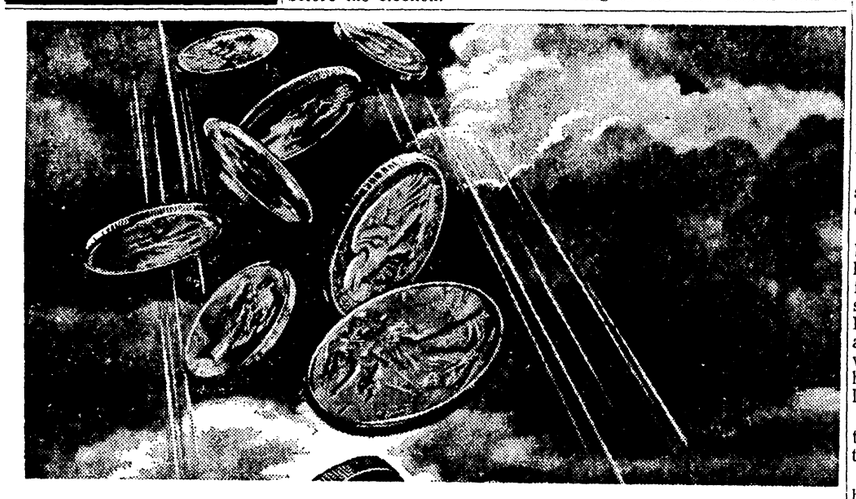

Naples and Everglas City were isolated except for amateur radio operators. They reported heavy property damage but no casualties.

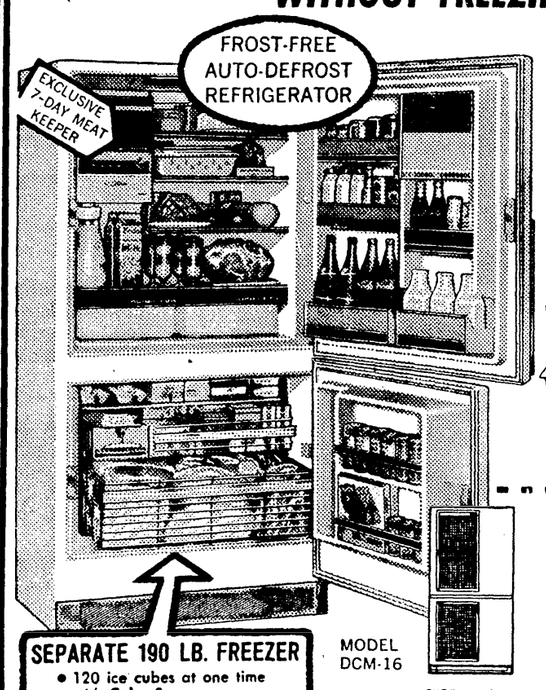

Two Coast Guard helicopters, carrying four to eight passengers each trip, evacuated 132 persons from the islands of Sanibel and Captiva in the Gulf near Fort Myers. Some 130 more residents were unwilling to leave. Sheriff Flanders Thompson said most who chose to weather the blow in their homes wanted to remain with pet dogs, cats and birds which were denied airlift transportation.

Recreation Bond Issue Proposed To Expand Work

game rooms, teenage club rooms, artcraft rooms and other associated facilities.

Another center will be recommended for the vicinity around Carroll High School and will provide an outside swimming pool, wading pool, basketball court, game rooms and other facilities similar to those planned for the center on the southside.

Two other smaller centers would be located in the city, one near Bernstein Park in Bryant's addition and the other off the Sterlington Road to serve the college area.

Kelso said that all recreation centers would be equipped with locker rooms and separate facilities for boys and girls.

Plans also prescribe tennis courts, softball, volley ball and other outside sports.

The sites selected range in size from 10 to 30 acres.

The recommended swimming pools would be "L" shaped and large enough to accomodate the needs expected to be served by the facilities.

Another project included in the projected plans is a nine - hole golf course east of Powell avenue. This course would serve a large Negro population in that area.

A good portion of the other facilities recommended would be dedicated to serving the concentration of Negro population in the areas where they are located.

No date was set for submitting the recommendations to city hall, but Kelso said it would be "in the next few days."

lion, Martin and Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

The meeting is scheduled to be held in Baton Rouge Monday at 2 p.m.

The committee will meet again Monday at 7 p.m. in Alexandria to make some decision as to filling the vacancy and placing a nominee on the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

Gremillion's statement follows:

"That committee asked me for my opinion and I gave it to them. That was to the effect that I thought the committee, under present law, had to name the nominee for the Democratic congressional post from that district. I know of no law prohibiting them from holding an election, however.

"The decision of naming a nominee to be on the ballot in the general election in November is solely the responsibility of the eighth congressional district Democratic Executive Committee. They alone have that power. I don't have it. Neither does Gov. Jimmie Davis, nor the secretary of state.

"If that committee can figure out a way to hold an election in time to place a nominee on the ballot in the general election it is certainly all right with me and Sec. of State Wade O. Martin."

Both Gremillion and Martin emphasized Saturday that they were in favor of elections where possible.

Reports from Alexandria yesterday indicated that Mrs. Blanche Long, widow of Earl Long, had become interested in the issue. She was quoted as saying that "there certainly should be an election" to let the Democratic voters choose a nominee.

She was mentioned as a candidate if an election is called.

Camille Gravel, a member of the committee who fought for an election at the Friday meeting, said that if the time element does not permit a runoff election — in the event that no candidate gets a majority in the first balloting — then there is nothing in the law which would prohibit the committee's calling a "one-shot" election with no second primary.

The deadline for certifying party nominees for the general election has been interpreted as Sept. 19 — the seventh Tuesday before the election.

long dead was master of ceremonies. He was Oliver Cromwell Dawkins.

A local woman whose early life was spent in south Louisiana was well known locally and she put on stunts that amazed and helped make the party a success.

For the special occasion a radio was arranged for use at the time of the banquet. Monroe by about 1930 did not have radio connection. One of the features was the offering by a local pecan grower to the first one from a state who would call in on the radio was to receive a sack of pecans.

One woman called in and stated that she did enjoy the program and that she'd now tune in on Monroe every night. The man on the local radio informed that this was only a one night stand. She is one who got her bag of pecans, we were told.

To make the program complete, three governors attended. They represented Louisiana, of course, and also Arkansas and Mississippi.

It was a night not to be forgotten and the writer has ever recalled this event of on or about 1930. We personally never attended an evening that gave as much pleasure to the public. It was a great success.

"At that time, I was the City Engineer and in my opinion, no error was made by my office with reference to the grades established for drainage culverts at the residence of Mr. David Agnew. I refer specifically to the pictures of paving private driveways by city forces and the statement made in Friday, Sept. 9, issue of the Morning World, by Commissioner Rodriguez.

"Mr. Rodriguez directs the employment of the streets department and in doing so should assume the responsibility and not attempt to place the blame for such actions on others.

"Again, in my opinion, the office of the City Engineer did not make a mistake in this matter, and I want the public to be so informed."

foreign minister jailed by Lumumba earlier this week, also was on the list.

Kasavubu last Monday proclaimed the Premier fired and Lumumba replied by declaring Kasavubu out. The Senate added to the muddle by declaring the action of both men null and void.

This time, however, Swedish Gen. Karl Von Horn's headquarters announced it had persuaded Lumumba's troops and those of secessionist Katanga President Moise Tshombe to lay down their arms.

cent years about how the newcomers could handle a bad tropic storm. With population here doubling in the last decade half of the residents had never experienced a hurricane.

Resort hotels on famed Miami Beach suffered no major damage except for water seepage into some lobbies and rooms. Guests generally had a ball, many of them working up "hurricane parties" in the plush cocktail lounges.

Although major hotel dining rooms remained open, most restaurants were boarded up tight as were all other businesses. Hungry transients had to line up for food, since many dining rooms had only skeleton staffs on hand.

At Miami Beach's Fontainebleu, largest hostelry in this land of hotels, damage was limited to a few broken windows and water seepage. It was 92 per cent filled Friday night, largely because of a heavy influx of local residents who left low-lying or waterfront homes to ride out the storm in luxury.

Not all those who abandoned their homes stayed in public shelters.

Pregnant women swarmed into hospitals to play it safe. Sixty babies were born immediately before and during the storm.

No official estimate of damage was made immediately, but it will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The tense two days of storm-fighting was not without its moments of humor.

A small freighter, struggling to make port at Miami, went aground at nearby Elliott Key. Skipper Leon Phillips of the Inagua Arrow saw that he and his 10-man crew were safe, then gave this radio report to the Coast Guard: "I'm in somebody's back yard. There's a motel to port and trees to starboard."

side were shattered and I was cut by the glass.

"By 1:30 in the morning the tide had rushed in and everybody was up on tables and chairs.

"The water brought in coconuts, seaweed and a lot of other debris. The wind even blew the seaweed up on the ceiling.

"We wrapped the babies in blankets and somehow we managed to bring everybody through alive."

Seven persons had been treated at the station when the Navy convoy reached Marathon, but nurse Beatrice Kenny said "we don't know how many others were hurt. We expect to have 25 or 30 more later. The injured people just can't get in here now. Their cars won't start and there is no other transportation."

Dropping off the end of the seven-mile bridge into Marathon the convoy suddenly found itself in the middle of a disaster.

Mattresses, refrigerators, boats, oil drums, sheet metal and other debris were tangled up with fallen power lines in the middle of the highway. A bulldozer in the convoy moved ahead, clearing a path for the cars and two buses behind.

The wind still blew in fierce gusts. A dog trotted beside the road into the wind at a 45-degree angle. An eagle fluttered helplessly, unable to get aloft.

At one motel, the wind had smashed through the front walls, piled up the furniture inside, then tore holes in the back wall.

WHAT COEXISTENCE?

Americans Live Near Reds In Not-So-Peaceful Area

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—In a strange little world in central Korea today, American soldiers are learning first-hand about coexistence with the Communists.

You could scarcely call it peaceful coexistence.

In another brush, a GI unhooks his pistol belt, doubles up his fists, and invites a Communist soldier to do the same.

American soldiers observe the Communist technique of the big lie, the bland denial of some witnessed event. They hear the Communist radio describe them as murderers and rapists.

This weird world where GIs rub shoulders with the Reds is the joint security area, established near this village. Here in 1953 an armistice was signed, ending the shooting phase of the Korean War. The opposing armies pulled back, leaving a no man's land, some two miles wide. It runs from coast to coast across the waist of Korea.

The joint security area was established to handle charges from either side about violations of the armistice terms. It is a circular spot in the sandy hills, about a half-mile in diameter.

Here, each side stations 5 officers and 30 enlisted men. In effect, they have to live and work together.

The buildings are mostly quonset-type huts, dull grey for the communists, bright green for the Americans. The line marking the middle of no man's land runs through the center. During meetings, the Communist side of the table is in North Korea, the American side in South Korea.

On the grounds outside, soldiers pass each other in stony silence. The atmosphere is heavy with hatred.

"It's interesting," says Pfc. Joseph Melichor of Shell Rock, Iowa. "An outfit gets pretty sharp up here. There's nowhere else in the world where you can be as close to the enemy."

"What you need is patience," says the chief American officer, Lt. Cmdr. Richard T. Manning of Washington, D.C., a Navy man. "Every morning when I wake up, I tell myself I've got more patience than I had yesterday.

The Rev. E. L. Tanner will officiate. Services are under the direction of Kilpatrick's Funeral Home of West Monroe.

Survivors, other than the parents, include four sisters, Ruby Mae, Gloria, Marie and Joyce; four brothers, Glenn, Wayne, Tommy and Clay Foster, all of West Monroe; paternal grandmother Mrs. Kate Foster, West Monroe; maternal grandmother, Mrs. K. T. Grayson, West Monroe.

'Y' Schedules Annual Coffee Here Wednesday

The Y'Ves Club of the Young Women's Christian Association enjoyed its annual Homecoming Coffee Wednesday and announced its next meeting for Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 9:30 a.m.

Hostessing the affair which was held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. were Mrs. B. B. Seale, Mrs. Charles A. Heine Jr., Mrs. W. E. McGough and Mrs. Jim Beaver.

Some 20 members and three guests attended the occasion. They included Mrs. C. R. Solomon, Mrs. Marion Perkins, Mrs. F. P. Smith, Mrs. William Bartlett, Mrs. Seale, Mrs. McGough, Mrs. Heine, Mrs. Charles H. Bird, Mrs. Frank Eason, Mrs. T. A. Pitt, Mrs. John C. Burgess, Mrs. Tom Fettinger, Mrs. Charles E. Chris, Mrs. Beaver, Mrs. Everett Heller, Mrs. William Hochstetler, Mrs. Hewitt Johnson, Mrs. Charles Overton, Miss Bess Sharp and Mrs. Ruth Hundley.

Guest speaker for the next meeting will be Mrs. Virginia Elias of a local fabric shop. She will speak on "Fall Fabrics and Fashion."

Drunken Driving Charges Filed Against 2 Here

Monroe police yesterday arrested two persons and charged them with counts of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving.

James Edmond Murphy, 28, Bastrop, was apprehended about 12:45 a.m. on the 2600 block of DeSiard Street and Freddie Lee Gore, 26 of Columbia was arrested about three hours later at the intersection of Burroughs and Wilson Streets.

Gore's bond was set at $50 with an additional charge of no driver's license. Murphy's bond was $438.

Car Runs On Whisky

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Lack of gas and water didn't stop two enthusiasts at a veteran car rally. When the 1926 touring car manned by Vernon Read and Bobby Millar ran dry, they poured 12 bottles of whisky into the fuel tank and 9 pints of beer into the radiator and finished the 600-mile road test.

Court Ruling On Absentee Votes Slated

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — Judge Walter Hunter took under advisement Saturday a motion to dismiss a suit challenging the constitutionality of Louisiana's absentee voter laws.

Hunter said in all probability he would rule on the case Monday.

The motion to dismiss came from Dist. Atty. F. Jean Pharis. He asked for the dismissal on the grounds there was no cause or right of action.

The suit was filed by former state Sen. C. H. Downs, who was beaten by Pharis for the Democratic primary nomination for Rapides Parish district attorney by 46 votes.

Downs says the absentee voter law is too loosely written, does not guarantee a secret ballot, and allows for fraud.

In trying to void the absentee voter law, Downs is seeking to toss out all absentee ballots cast in the Aug. 27 primary. He claims he would be the winner if the absentee ballots are not counted.

Grove Stafford Sr., heading Pharis' defense, told the court mere possibility of fraud is not sufficient enough to have a law declared void.

Pharis claims Downs failed to prove that fraud actually occurred.

Camille Gravel Jr., who is Downs' lawyer, said under the current voting laws it would be possible to identify the voter by his absentee ballot and this violates the constitutional guarantee of a secret ballot.

Gravel said existing law does not provide for a uniform method of marking ballots and it would be possible to have 100 ballots marked 100 different ways.

Judge Hunter dismissed the Rapides Parish Democratic Executive Committee as a party to the suit.

Birch Society Meet Scheduled

The Monroe chapter of the John Birch Society will meet Monday night in the Virginia Hotel, according to the Rev. H. L. Driskell, chapter leader.

Rev. Driskell said that a lecture will be followed by a filmstrip showing. The film is titled "Communism in the World."

He said that the general public, as well as members are invited. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m.

REP. EDITH Nourse Rogers, (R-Mass.), died Saturday in a Boston hospital. She was 79. (AP Wirephoto)

Rep. Edith Rogers Dies In Hospital

BOSTON (AP) — Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, 79, R-Mass., dean of women members of Congress, died Saturday at Massachusetts General Hospital of a heart attack.

A member of the House of Representatives for 35 years, she was unopposed for nomination in next Tuesday's Massachusetts primary in the 5th Dist. which included her home city, Lowell.

Mrs. Rogers was admitted to the hospital Aug. 21, suffering from pneumonia. She told doctors not to make her illness known. She died at 10:05 a. m.

A native of Saco, Maine, Mrs. Rogers went to Congress in 1935, at the age of 44, to succeed her husband, John Jacob Rogers, who died in his sixth term.

She said at the time she would stay in Washington no more than a few years, but she was re-elected in each succeeding Congress by large majorities.

Of her long service she once said: "It's like taking care of the sick. You start it, and you like the work, and you just keep on."

Mrs. Rogers' congressional service was almost surely a world record for women lawmakers. Rep. Mary T. Norton, D-N. J., served 26 years before retiring in 1950. Virginia-born Lady Astor had served 25 years in Britain's Parliament when she retired in 1944.

Only nine men have served longer consecutively in the House than Mrs. Rogers.

The Massachusetts congresswoman introduced the bill that set up the Women's Army Corps, the WACs.

Mrs. Rogers' nearest relatives are two nephews, Frederick A. Flather Jr., and John Rogers Flather of Andover, Mass.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at St. Ann's Episcopal church, Lowell, with the Rev. Francis B. Downes, rector, officiating.

The body will lie in state at St. Ann's church from 12 noon until 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

Burial will be in Lowell Cemetery.

YWCA Group To Support Sending Girls To Camp

Committee reports were the order of business when the Young Women's Christian Association Board held its regular meeting recently.

Miss Bess Sharp announced that the Junior Charity League had provided support for sending girls to Day Camp, a delegate to Y Teen Summer conference at Gulf Park College, Miss., and a delegate to the Hi Y Youth Congress in North Carolina.

Miss Sharp also announced that regular club activities and YWCA program begins again this month, and many special activities and classes will also be scheduled.

Reports were heard from the financial committee, united givers quota and admission committee, the residence report committee, and the house and grounds committee.

Board members present for the meeting included Mrs. J. Norman Coon, president; Mrs. N. W. McHenry; Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. C. L. Dillingham, Mrs. Frank Eason, Mrs. E. B. Ellison, Mrs. W. A. Guy, Mrs. Everett Heller, Mrs. William Hochstetler, Mrs. Sam Humphries, Mrs. F. L. Jones, Mrs. I. T. Landhy, Mrs. Charles Lawrence, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Miss Katie McGee, Mrs. C. L. Taylor, and Mrs. J. B. Thornhill. Two staff members, Miss Sharp and Mrs. Ruth Hundley were also present.

Grave Becomes Shrine

MOSCOW (AP) — The family of Boris Pasternak has turned his barren grave site at Peredelkino into a garden shrine. A simple monument of polished black granite bears only the chiseled letters of the Nobel Prize-winning author's name and life dates. Friends keep the stone ringed with flowering plants and have built a fence and a bench for pilgrims.

Negroes Picket Stores In N.O.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Negroes Saturday picketed a downtown variety store which was the site of the city's first sit-in demonstration.

Seven students, five Negroes and two whites, were arrested Friday after they sat about five hours at a Woolworth lunch counter reserved for whites.

They were released on bail after being booked for violating a new state law prohibiting persons from taking temporary possession of a place of business.

WHAT COEXISTENCE?

Americans Live Near Reds In Not-So-Peaceful Area

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—In a strange little world in central Korea today, American soldiers are learning first-hand about coexistence with the Communists.

You could scarcely call it peaceful coexistence.

In another brush, a GI unhooks his pistol belt, doubles up his fists, and invites a Communist soldier to do the same.

American soldiers observe the Communist technique of the big lie, the bland denial of some witnessed event. They hear the Communist radio describe them as murderers and rapists.

This weird world where GIs rub shoulders with the Reds is the joint security area, established near this village. Here in 1953 an armistice was signed, ending the shooting phase of the Korean War. The opposing armies pulled back, leaving a no man's land, some two miles wide. It runs from coast to coast across the waist of Korea.

The joint security area was established to handle charges from either side about violations of the armistice terms. It is a circular spot in the sandy hills, about a half-mile in diameter.

Here, each side stations 5 officers and 30 enlisted men. In effect, they have to live and work together.

The buildings are mostly quonset-type huts, dull grey for the communists, bright green for the Americans. The line marking the middle of no man's land runs through the center. During meetings, the Communist side of the table is in North Korea, the American side in South Korea.

On the grounds outside, soldiers pass each other in stony silence. The atmosphere is heavy with hatred.

"It's interesting," says Pfc. Joseph Melichor of Shell Rock, Iowa. "An outfit gets pretty sharp up here. There's nowhere else in the world where you can be as close to the enemy."

"What you need is patience," says the chief American officer, Lt. Cmdr. Richard T. Manning of Washington, D.C., a Navy man. "Every morning when I wake up, I tell myself I've got more patience than I had yesterday.

'Y' Schedules Annual Coffee Here Wednesday

The Y'Ves Club of the Young Women's Christian Association enjoyed its annual Homecoming Coffee Wednesday and announced its next meeting for Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 9:30 a.m.

Hostessing the affair which was held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. were Mrs. B. B. Seale, Mrs. Charles A. Heine Jr., Mrs. W. E. McGough and Mrs. Jim Beaver.

Some 20 members and three guests attended the occasion. They included Mrs. C. R. Solomon, Mrs. Marion Perkins, Mrs. F. P. Smith, Mrs. William Bartlett, Mrs. Seale, Mrs. McGough, Mrs. Heine, Mrs. Charles H. Bird, Mrs. Frank Eason, Mrs. T. A. Pitt, Mrs. John C. Burgess, Mrs. Tom Fettinger, Mrs. Charles E. Chris, Mrs. Beaver, Mrs. Everett Heller, Mrs. William Hochstetler, Mrs. Hewitt Johnson, Mrs. Charles Overton, Miss Bess Sharp and Mrs. Ruth Hundley.

Guest speaker for the next meeting will be Mrs. Virginia Elias of a local fabric shop. She will speak on "Fall Fabrics and Fashion."

Foster Infant's Services Today

Graveside services for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Foster will be at 8:30 a.m. today at Sardis Cemetery.

The Rev. E. L. Tanner will officiate. Services are under the direction of Kilpatrick's Funeral Home of West Monroe.

Survivors, other than the parents, include four sisters, Ruby Mae, Gloria, Marie and Joyce; four brothers, Glenn, Wayne, Tommy and Clay Foster, all of West Monroe; paternal grandmother Mrs. Kate Foster, West Monroe; maternal grandmother, Mrs. K. T. Grayson, West Monroe.

Court Ruling On Absentee Votes Slated

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — Judge Walter Hunter took under advisement Saturday a motion to dismiss a suit challenging the constitutionality of Louisiana's absentee voter laws.

Hunter said in all probability he would rule on the case Monday.

The motion to dismiss came from Dist. Atty. F. Jean Pharis. He asked for the dismissal on the grounds there was no cause or right of action.

The suit was filed by former state Sen. C. H. Downs, who was beaten by Pharis for the Democratic primary nomination for Rapides Parish district attorney by 46 votes.

Downs says the absentee voter law is too loosely written, does not guarantee a secret ballot, and allows for fraud.

In trying to void the absentee voter law, Downs is seeking to toss out all absentee ballots cast in the Aug. 27 primary. He claims he would be the winner if the absentee ballots are not counted.

Grove Stafford Sr., heading Pharis' defense, told the court mere possibility of fraud is not sufficient enough to have a law declared void.

Camille Gravel Jr., who is Downs' lawyer, said under the current voting laws it would be possible to identify the voter by his absentee ballot and this violates the constitutional guarantee of a secret ballot.

Gravel said existing law does not provide for a uniform method of marking ballots and it would be possible to have 100 ballots marked 100 different ways.

Judge Hunter dismissed the Rapides Parish Democratic Executive Committee as a party to the suit.

Drunken Driving Charges Filed Against 2 Here

Monroe police yesterday arrested two persons and charged them with counts of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving.

James Edmond Murphy, 28, Bastrop, was apprehended about 12:45 a.m. on the 2600 block of DeSiard Street and Freddie Lee Gore, 26 of Columbia was arrested about three hours later at the intersection of Burroughs and Wilson Streets.

Gore's bond was set at $50 with an additional charge of no driver's license. Murphy's bond was $438.

Car Runs On Whisky

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Lack of gas and water didn't stop two enthusiasts at a veteran car rally. When the 1926 touring car manned by Vernon Read and Bobby Millar ran dry, they poured 12 bottles of whisky into the fuel tank and 9 pints of beer into the radiator and finished the 600-mile road test.

Birch Society Meet Scheduled

The Monroe chapter of the John Birch Society will meet Monday night in the Virginia Hotel, according to the Rev. H. L. Driskell, chapter leader.

Rev. Driskell said that a lecture will be followed by a filmstrip showing. The film is titled "Communism in the World."

He said that the general public, as well as members are invited. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m.

Rep. Edith Rogers Dies In Hospital

A member of the House of Representatives for 35 years, she was unopposed for nomination in next Tuesday's Massachusetts primary in the 5th Dist. which included her home city, Lowell.

Mrs. Rogers was admitted to the hospital Aug. 21, suffering from pneumonia. She told doctors not to make her illness known. She died at 10:05 a. m.

A native of Saco, Maine, Mrs. Rogers went to Congress in 1935, at the age of 44, to succeed her husband, John Jacob Rogers, who died in his sixth term.

She said at the time she would stay in Washington no more than a few years, but she was re-elected in each succeeding Congress by large majorities.

Of her long service she once said: "It's like taking care of the sick. You start it, and you like the work, and you just keep on."

Republicans Eye Nominee Possibility

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Republican and States Rights parties Saturday studied the possibility of placing on the Nov. 8 general election ballot nominees for Congress in Louisiana's 8th district.

A legal question was involved, since former Gov. Earl K. Long died after being named the Democratic nominee.

One legal source argued a vacancy existed in the Democratic and other parties as well.

The deadline for certifying party nominees this election is interpreted as Sept. 19.

The usual deadline for a party committee to select a nominee is 10 days after the deadline for candidates to qualify. But there is a provision in the state law saying the deadline shall not effect provisions relative to death or withdrawal of any candidate after he has been nominated.

A new state law sets the date of the second primary as the deadline for independent, or write in candidates to qualify.

Spokesmen for both the States Rights and Republican parties said they were studying the possibility of running someone against the Democratic nominee.

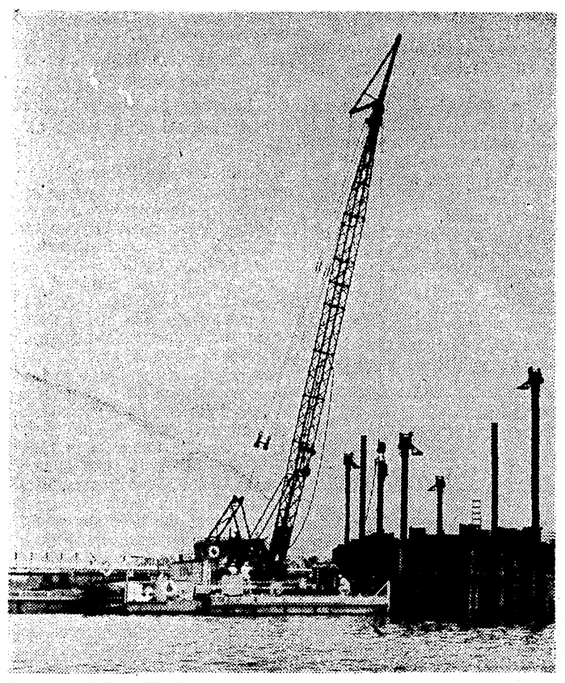

The development came as Democrats disputed whether they could legally hold a special election to come up with a nominee.

E. O. Edgerton Jr., chairman of the States Rights 8th district executive committee, said he planned to call a meeting within a few days to discuss the matter.

Nealon Stracener of Baton Rouge, legal counsel for the Louisiana Republican Party, said there is enough doubt in the state statutes governing such situations that it is possible the GOP could put up a candidate in the District.

David C. Treen of Metairie, a chairman of the States Rights State Central Committee said the States Rights Party will meet in Baton Rouge at 12:30 p.m. Sept. 18 to consider its slate of presidential nominees and other party business.

Many cooks like to use thyme rather than sage for stuffings for meat and poultry.

FATE ON HIS SIDE

Youthful Stowaway On Airliner Lucky

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—A transatlantic airliner landed here Saturday with a 17-year-old boy stowed away in its nosewheel compartment. Daniel Correra de Melo made the hazardous 1,900-mile trip from his home in the Azores after running away because of an argument with his father.

Fate was on his side. The pilot of the four-engine Venezuelan Airlines Super Constellation chose to fly over the ocean at 8,000 feet instead of the usual altitude of 18,000.

"If we had done that, the boy would have suffocated through lack of oxygen and frozen to death as well," said navigator Eugene Moberg.

De Melo hid in the nosewheel compartment as the plane was warming up prior to taking off at 9 p.m. Friday. Moberg said the crew had an inkling something was wrong because there was trouble retracting the wheel and they heard "a noise like someone pounding something."

On arrival in Bermuda at 6:30 a.m. the pilot asked to have the apparatus checked and a ground crewman spotted De Melo clinging to the landing gear in the nosewheel well "like a monkey."

"I guess he would have stayed there and gone on to Caracas if no one had noticed him," said Moberg. The boy was coaxed down, taken to the air terminal and fed. Then he completed the trip to Venezuela in a more orthodox manner as a guest of the airline. He is expected to be returned to his home in the Azores soon

U.S. May Expel Soviet Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department Saturday withheld a decision on whether to expel from the country a Russian trade official who visited Chicago machine tool exhibitions without permission and was ordered back to New York.

The department said the case of Sergei G. Zhdanov of the Amtorg Trading Agency is under study after what one spokesman called a flagrant violation of rules covering travel by Russians in the United States.

In addition to deciding whether Zhdanov may remain in the country, the department was considering what action, if any, should be taken in regard to sheaves of technical reports on new precision machine tools which he was reported to have picked up in Chicago.

Natural Gas Pricing Case Goes To FPC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Power Commission continues to sit on the biggest interstate natural gas pricing case of all—that of the Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla.

This is the so-called bellwether case from which is supposed to emerge a fair and simple cost-of-service pricing formula for industrywide regulation of independent producers.

The formula would have two objectives: To guarantee producers a fair return on their investment and to safeguard consumers from price-gouging.

Though hearings ended in December, 1957, and FPC Examiner Joseph Zwerdling recommended a disputed formula in April, 1959, word at the commission is that no early action is certain.

"All I can say," a spokesman told UPI, "is that the case is before the commission."

CHALLENGE

A Phillips spokesman said that "up to now we have received no word the commission has acted on the case or any phase of it, nor do we have a hint as to when action may come."

The commission's first order of business when action begins will be to consider a Phillips' challenge of Zwerdling's findings, plus a compromise settlement offer Phillips made last April 8 in which both sides would "give and take."

The task is monumental and the final decision may defy industrywide application. The commission must take 18 separate Phillips rate schedules, balance them against what it deems a fair companywide cost of service, give Phillips a fair rate of return while at the same time protecting consumers, and out of it all find the much-sought blanket pricing formula.

This undoubtedly accounts for the commission's delay.

On the sidelines waiting are 63 interveners — pipeline companies, state agencies and municipal bodies whose customers or citizens will be affected.

Major issue in dispute is what is a true cost of service. Zwerdling asserted it was 11.7 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas as against the company's claim of 18.8 cents. On that basis he recommended Phillips be denied $35 million of the $49 million rate increases it seeks and that it refund the difference under the suspension rule.

Phillips protested that Zwerdling had arbitrarily denied it legal tax allowances and a fair allocation of joint costs to gas and other products. It declared that all studies—by FPC staff, Phillips, the interveners and Zwerdling — showed company revenues for interstate gas sales were well below cost of service.

Zwerdling fixed the company's cost of service at $57.2 million for the test year 1954, the year the Supreme Court, in his famous Phillips decision, ordered the commission to regulate interstate gas prices.

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Republican and States Rights parties Saturday studied the possibility of placing on the Nov. 8 general election ballot nominees for Congress in Louisiana's 8th district.

A legal question was involved, since former Gov. Earl K. Long died after being named the Democratic nominee.

One legal source argued a vacancy existed in the Democratic and other parties as well.

The deadline for certifying party nominees this election is interpreted as Sept. 19.

The usual deadline for a party committee to select a nominee is 10 days after the deadline for candidates to qualify. But there is a provision in the state law saying the deadline shall not effect provisions relative to death or withdrawal of any candidate after he has been nominated.

A new state law sets the date of the second primary as the deadline for independent, or write in candidates to qualify.

Spokesmen for both the States Rights and Republican parties said they were studying the possibility of running someone against the Democratic nominee.

The development came as Democrats disputed whether they could legally hold a special election to come up with a nominee.

E. O. Edgerton Jr., chairman of the States Rights 8th district executive committee, said he planned to call a meeting within a few days to discuss the matter.

Nealon Stracener of Baton Rouge, legal counsel for the Louisiana Republican Party, said there is enough doubt in the state statutes governing such situations that it is possible the GOP could put up a candidate in the District.

David C. Treen of Metairie, a chairman of the States Rights State Central Committee said the States Rights Party will meet in Baton Rouge at 12:30 p.m. Sept. 18 to consider its slate of presidential nominees and other party business.

Natural Gas Pricing Case Goes To FPC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Power Commission continues to sit on the biggest interstate natural gas pricing case of all—that of the Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla.

This is the so-called bellwether case from which is supposed to emerge a fair and simple cost-of-service pricing formula for industrywide regulation of independent producers.

The formula would have two objectives: To guarantee producers a fair return on their investment and to safeguard consumers from price-gouging.

Though hearings ended in December, 1957, and FPC Examiner Joseph Zwerdling recommended a disputed formula in April, 1959, word at the commission is that no early action is certain.

"All I can say," a spokesman told UPI, "is that the case is before the commission."

CHALLENGE

A Phillips spokesman said that "up to now we have received no word the commission has acted on the case or any phase of it, nor do we have a hint as to when action may come."

The commission's first order of business when action begins will be to consider a Phillips' challenge of Zwerdling's findings, plus a compromise settlement offer Phillips made last April 8 in which both sides would "give and take."

The task is monumental and the final decision may defy industrywide application. The commission must take 18 separate Phillips rate schedules, balance them against what it deems a fair companywide cost of service, give Phillips a fair rate of return while at the same time protecting consumers, and out of it all find the much-sought blanket pricing formula.

This undoubtedly accounts for the commission's delay.

On the sidelines waiting are 63 interveners — pipeline companies, state agencies and municipal bodies whose customers or citizens will be affected.

Major issue in dispute is what is a true cost of service. Zwerdling asserted it was 11.7 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas as against the company's claim of 18.8 cents. On that basis he recommended Phillips be denied $35 million of the $49 million rate increases it seeks and that it refund the difference under the suspension rule.

Phillips protested that Zwerdling had arbitrarily denied it legal tax allowances and a fair allocation of joint costs to gas and other products. It declared that all studies—by FPC staff, Phillips, the interveners and Zwerdling — showed company revenues for interstate gas sales were well below cost of service.

Zwerdling fixed the company's cost of service at $57.2 million for the test year 1954, the year the Supreme Court, in his famous Phillips decision, ordered the commission to regulate interstate gas prices.

Sailing For Congo

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A battalion of 1,070 Indonesians—soldiers, sailors and marines—sailed Saturday to join the U. N. command in the Congo. They are making the 25-day trip aboard the U. S. Navy transport Bexar.

FATE ON HIS SIDE

Youthful Stowaway On Airliner Lucky

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—A transatlantic airliner landed here Saturday with a 17-year-old boy stowed away in its nosewheel compartment. Daniel Correra de Melo made the hazardous 1,900-mile trip from his home in the Azores after running away because of an argument with his father.

Fate was on his side. The pilot of the four-engine Venezuelan Airlines Super Constellation chose to fly over the ocean at 8,000 feet instead of the usual altitude of 18,000.

"If we had done that, the boy would have suffocated through lack of oxygen and frozen to death as well," said navigator Eugene Moberg.

De Melo hid in the nosewheel compartment as the plane was warning up prior to taking off at 9 p.m Friday. Moberg said the crew had an inkling something was wrong because there was trouble retracting the wheel and they heard "a noise like someone pounding something."

On arrival in Bermuda at 6:30 a.m. the pilot asked to have the apparatus checked and a ground crewman spotted De Melo clinging to the landing gear in the nosewheel well "like a monkey."

"I guess he would have stayed there and gone on to Caracas if no one had noticed him," said Moberg. The boy was coaxed down, taken to the air terminal and fed. Then he completed the trip to Venezuela in a more orthodox manner as a guest of the airline. He is expected to be returned to his home in the Azores soon

U.S. May Expel Soviet Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department Saturday withheld a decision on whether to expel from the country a Russian trade official who visited Chicago machine tool exhibitions without permission and was ordered back to New York.

The department said the case of Sergei G. Zhdanov of the Amtorg Trading Agency is under study after what one spokesman called a flagrant violation of rules covering travel by Russians in the United States.

In addition to deciding whether Zhdanov may remain in the country, the department was considering what action, if any, should be taken in regard to sheaves of technical reports on new precision machine tools which he was reported to have picked up in Chicago.

U.S. Citizens Invite Soviet Chief To Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some private U.S. citizens have invited Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to visit in various parts of the United States and to make radio and television apearances, a Soviet Embassy informant said Saturday.

The State Department was cold to the idea of Khrushchev traveling beyond the Manhattan confines to which he had been restricted for his United Nations visit. So far, U.S. authorities said, Khrushchev has not sought permission to go anywhere else.

As for radio-TV appearances, U.S. officials took the position that America has a free press and they are not going to interfere with news media attempts for Khrushchev appearances.

The Russian embassy information did not specify how many invitations to Khrushchev had been received nor did he say who extended the invitations.

TWO GIANTS of the nation's home building industry, National Homes Corp. and Alexander Construction Co. are showing four new homes today from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in Charmingdale, south on Highway 165. These houses are the first of a planned community they will develop in the area. Robert E. Alexander said Monroe was selected for the project because of the luxurious setting of Charmingdale. Shown above is "The Plantation" a ranch type with 3 bedrooms, 2 full baths, separate dining area and attached carport. It has central heating and air conditioning.

ENDS COAST VISIT

Kennedy To Tour Lone Star State

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, tired but happy after a rugged week of coast to coast campaigning, fired a parting blast at Republican treatment of the West Saturday as he prepared to head back East in his quest for the presidency.

The Democratic presidential candidate will move eastward via a southwestern route — travelling from here Sunday to San Diego, Calif., and then to El Paso, Tex., to begin a two-day tour of the Lone Star state.

In Texas Monday, Kennedy will appear before the Greater Houston Ministerial Association, a protestant group, where he will speak briefly and answer questions, presumably on issues raised by his being a Roman Catholic.

Kennedy' Texas itinerary Monday also will include appearances at Lubbock, and San Antonio, with Texas Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, his vice presidential running mate, accompanying him all the way.

Kennedy rested at the Santa Monica, Calif., home of his sister, Pat, wife of Hollywood actor Peter Lawford, but he kept the political pot boiling by issuing a statement blasting the republican party for an eight year "failure in the development of our natural resources."

He announced selection of our natural resources."

He announced selection of Sen. Warren V. Magnuson of Washington to organize and direct a series of Western conferences on this and other topics dealing with the "welfare of the American West."

Additional subjects Kennedy mentioned included foreign policy, social security, and medical care for the aged.

The Democratic candidate said the Republican "record of failure" on natural resource development "is not only set down in statistics and reports — it can be seen, as I have seen it, throughout the West."

Kennedy said the Western conferences "will develop the detailed proposals which will form the basis of the resource programs which a Democratic administration will present to the Congress and the nation next January.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said that he thought the Kennedy - Johnson Texas appearances would be televised statewide.

Texas is a major center of questioning by Southern Baptists and other protestant clergymen and laymen as to whether a Roman Catholic should be elected president.

Mobile Alerts Highway Patrol

MONTGOMERY (UPI) — Alabama highway patrolmen stood ready Saturday to lend emergency aid to Mobile should Hurricane Donna strike the port city.

Public Safety Director Floyd Mann said the Mobile patrol station which normally consists of 20-30 men would be doubled if the severe storm turned toward Alabama.

Mann said the patrol was keeping a portable power unit ready for a quick transfer to Mobile should it be needed to maintain patrol radio communication.

He said the patrol would assist local law enforcement officers in any way necessary — in rescue work, unsnarling traffic or maintaining general order.

Complete Church Unit Built Here

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Today, probably for the first time in the history of Louisiana, a complete unit of new, furnished church, school, cafeteria, rectory and convent will be dedicated at one time.

And strangely enough, the church of Jesus the Good Shepherd, located on a 10-acre site on the northside, fulfills the purpose of an old Spanish land grant.

In 1800, when Louisiana was ruled by Spain, the Spanish government gave the Catholic Church 15 acres for a church.

It was to be built in a highly populated area and Indian settlement, where the Ouachita River meets Bayou DeSiard, according to old church records.

France took control of the territory in 1803 and nothing came of the land dedication.

But the cottonfield for this church did not come as easily as a government gift.

Father Dave P. Dabria, youthful pastor, was assigned the new parish when it was formed on June 20, 1958. He had served at St. Matthews, his first parish, from 1953-55, then was at a Shreveport parish until 1958.

After negotiations with the 26 heirs of the Cole estate, the land was purchased on April 13, 1959 for $75,000.

Total cost of the entire structure, including land, is $400,000.

The congregation (200 families including 600 people), and persons making special gifts, already have furnished $100,000. The other $300,000 was borrowed.

"We expect to have it paid for in eight to 10 years . . . we hope for seven," said Father Dabria.

Architect H. H. Land designed the buildings, a contract was signed with Don A. Baxter and Sons of Sicily Island on Sept. 3, 1959, and first Mass was said on July 30, 1960. Before that, services were held in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The present church is a temporary one, which will serve as an auditorium when the parish expands and a new church is built.

"We plan to enlarge and expand the elementary school and go to a Junior High school for this side of town within five years," the pastor forecasts.

He hopes to build a high school nearby sometime in the future.

The school now has eight classrooms for grades one through six, a kindergarten and library.

Classes began on September 1, with an enrollment of 230 — full to capacity, with a waiting list for the first three grades. "The children all love it — surprisingly," laughed the pastor.

Four nuns from the Daughters of the Cross were transferred to the school from St. Matthews. The elementary school there has been discontinued, to provide additional room in that building for a centralized junior and senior high.

Jesus the Good Shepherd school also has four teachers from Monroe.

Plans call for a future athletic field — the school hopes to develop basketball, baseball and possibly football teams.

Father Dabria and his assistant, Father William B. Provosty who was appointed in July, took on the school as the most important feature in the new construction.

But the pastor points to the people of the congregation as the main force behind the program.

"The people of the northside are extraordinarily far-seeing. . . they are willing to sacrifice," he states.

"We owe a great deal of debt to the building committee and finance committee, made up of 40 progressive men. We needed the complete enthusiasm of the people. The Bishop allowed us to go into such big debt only because we showed him their great enthusiasm."

Charles Bruscato chairmanned the building committee while R. C. Sparks was in charge of the finance group.

Donn Kurtz, a member of the congregation, revealed, "It would never have been done without the untiring efforts of Father Dabria. I don't know of anyone who could have worked harder."

"The people have a definite feeling of belonging," he added.

Open house for all area residents will be held from 3 to 6 p.m. today. The Most Reverend Charles P. Greco, Bishop of Alexandria, will dedicate the church and buildings at 6 p.m. Solemn High Mass will be at 6:30 p.m.

The buildings have a floor space of 25,000 square feet.

Entry to the church is unusual. Massive steel gates open onto a patio, with a statue of the Good Shepherd and sheep.

"It gives the atmosphere to the whole plant — the Good Shepherd welcoming the people to the fold," said the pastor.

The entranceway opens onto the church, school and cafeteria, which also functions as a social hall.

All buildings expect the school are air conditioned — and it can be air conditioned from the cooling system in the future.

Straight, simple lines and a feeling of spaciousness (the light brown brick buildings are all one-story) make up the design.

The choir is located in the sanctuary, next to the white marble altar.

A Crucifixion scene above the altar is composed of statues formerly in St. Maurice church in New Orleans, but re-painted by Father Richard Fale of St. Matthews. They give an old-fashioned touch to the otherwise modern church.

CHURCH OF JESUS, the Good Shepherd, will be dedicated today by Most Reverend Charles P. Greco, Bishop of Alexandria. It is located on Emerson Street at Good Shepherd Lane. Land and construction cost $400,000.

TOKYO (UPI)—The Communist Pathet Lao radio demanded Friday that pro-Western Laotian cabinet member Phoumi Nosavan be ousted from the government and punished.

Phoumi, who led a counter-coup against the new neutralist Laotian government last month and forced acceptance of a compromise cabinet, was defense minister in the last pro-western government and a bitter opponent of the Communist guerrillas.

KNEE HEALING

Nixon Polishes Plans For Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon tried out his healing knee Saturday and polished plans for a cross-country campaign on which he feels he will start "about even" with his Democratic rival.

The Republican presidential nominee left Walter Reed Army Hospital Friday night after 11 days of treatment of his left knee which became infected after being injured on an automobile door at Greensboro, N.C., Aug. 17.

He spent the night at his home and then went to his downtown campaign headquarters where he told newsmen that "it will be a little time before the stifness works out" and he will have to favor the knee for a while. But he added the doctors "have completely checked the infection."

Nixon spent some time working on the speeches he will make on a whirlwind, 9,000 mile tour which will be kicked off Monday morning with great fanfare when he takes off from Baltimore's Friendship Airport.

While Nixon was in the hospital, Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, has been actively campaigning in various states, including California, the vice president's home state and a key one in the ballot battle. But despite this disadvantage, Nixon was reported feeling Saturday that he will be about on even terms with Kennedy as he hits the campaign road.

Before facing the voters in person, Nixon will resume indirect contact with the public Sunday night, when he will be interviewed on a television program.

The Monday airport departure will be preceded by a public rally at which both President Eisenhower and Henry Cabot Lodge, Nixon's vice presidential running mate, will speak.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press aide, told newsmen the vice president's speech at the airport will be fairly brief but that it will outline the theme he plans to use during the rest of the week.

Nixon arrived at his campaign headquarters a little after 9 a. m. and shortly after noon posed for pictures with retired Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of a retired servicemen's committee for Nixon and Lodge.

In the intensive week of campaigning starting Monday, Nixon said he may cut down on standing in long receiving lines because of his knee and also may move less actively through crowds.

He said, however, that otherwise he anticipated no difficulty in carrying on his campaign activities.

Nixon said he doubted if he would go to church Sunday since he wants to save his knee as much as possible before taking off Monday.

Klein also announced the launching of a drive to mobilize "as never before" the votes of the women to whom he said Nixon looks "to provide the winning margin for his election."

Home Parade Slated Here 2 Weekends

Plans are still moving ahead for the big Parade of Homes scheduled the latter part of the month in the Twin Cities.

During the showing which will extend over two weekends, 17 builders will display a total of 25 homes.

The model homes will be open over the weekends of Sept. 23, 24, 25 and Sept. 30, Oct. 1, 2.

The variety of homes will include a broad range of prices. They will be in two price groups, with 12 structures ranging from $9,000 to $15,000, and 13 of them in the scale from $15,500 to $40,000.

Parade of Homes officials said the showing of new structures will be twice as large as any held previously in the Twin Cities.

On the two weekends, houses will be open from 1:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. A number of prize awards to visitors at the homes will be announced at 9:00 p.m. on the last Sunday of the parade.

Industrial Fair Gives Reds View Of Life In U.S.

BERLIN (AP)—For once, people under Communist rule are getting a look at American youth as something beside rock 'n' roll addicts and juvenile delinquents.

The chance came at the annual industrial fair which opened Saturday in West Berlin. Despite the newest restrictions ontravel in this divided city, Berliners themselves can and do move freely between the two parts and at shows of this kind, a large portion of the attendance comes from the Communist-ruled area.

Such people ordinarily get their impressions from Communist sources. The Reds try to give the impression that the United State is a country where millions are starving and unemployed, crime a way of life and lynching an everyday affair.

But at the big George C. Marshall House on the fair grounds, the Americans have put together a show that can be seen by 65,000 people a day. It is called "Youth U.S.A." and includes everything from hot-rods to history books.

SAY CHURCH LEADERS

Greatest Mission Field, Latin Title

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

For more than three centuries, Latin America has been known as a Catholic continent.

Today, church leaders are calling it the world's greatest mission field. Behind its nominal Catholicism, they say, lies a vast religious vacuum. Both Catholics and Protestants are moving energetically to fill it.

Catholic publications are filled these days with articles warning that the church is in imminent danger of "losing" Latin America to Protestantism, communism, secularism and a variety of pagan religions.

Pope John recently underscored the urgency of the situation by calling on Catholic religious orders throughout the world to rush missionaries to Latin America "in the greatest numbers possible." He also urged Catholic laymen to volunteer for missionary service in Latin America.

Responding to the Pope's plea, the Catholic bishops of the United States have set up a special Latin American bureau in Washington to expedite the flow of money, manpower and other aid to Latin America. Canada's Catholic hierarchy has taken similar action.

SAY CHURCH LEADERS

Greatest Mission Field, Latin Title

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

For more than three centuries, Latin America has been known as a Catholic continent.

Today, church leaders are calling it the world's greatest mission field. Behind its nominal Catholicism, they say, lies a vast religious vacuum. Both Catholics and Protestants are moving energetically to fill it.

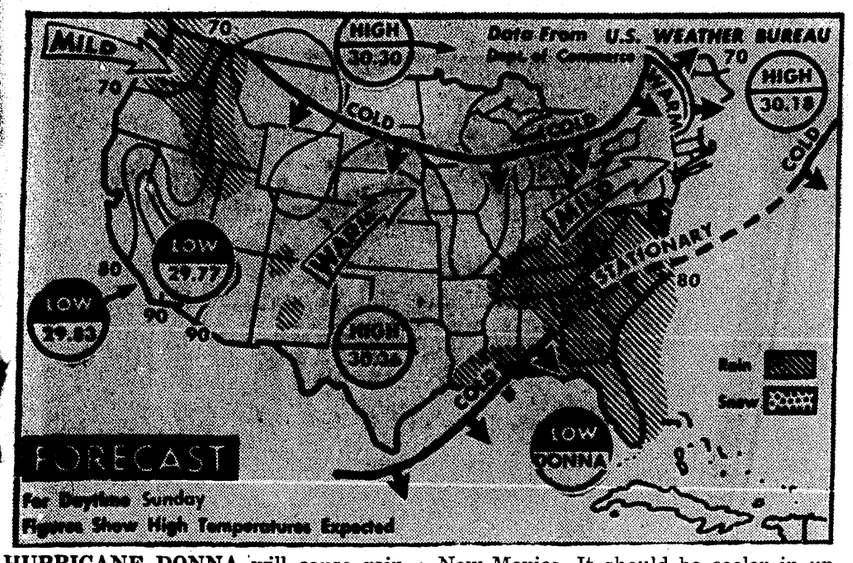

Catholic publications are filled these days with articles warning that the church is in imminent danger of "losing" Latin America to Protestantism, communism, secularism and a variety of pagan religions.

Pope John recently underscored the urgency of the situation by calling on Catholic religious orders throughout the world to rush missionaries to Latin America "in the greatest numbers possible." He also urged Catholic laymen to volunteer for missionary service in Latin America.

Responding to the Pope's plea, the Catholic bishops of the United States have set up a special Latin American bureau in Washington to expedite the flow of money, manpower and other aid to Latin America. Canada's Catholic hierarchy has taken similar action.

CHANGE ATTITUDE

Protestant churches also are paying more attention to Latin America than ever before. In the past, the main Protestant missionary effort in Latin America has been

HURRICANE DONNA will cause rain across Florida Sunday while rain is also forecast for middle and south Atlantic states, Tennessee Valley, Gulf coast, Pacific northwest, central Plateau and New Mexico. It should be cooler in upper Mississippi Valley and northern Plains; warmer across southern and central Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Orientation For Freshmen Starts Today

Freshman orientation begins Sunday at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Dormitories will open for the newcomers at 10 a.m., and Northeast's new air - conditioned dining hall will serve its first meal to students from 5 to 6 p.m.

Shortly afterward vesper services are scheduled on the lawn of the president's home, conducted by the Rev. Lea Joyner, minister of the Southside Methodist Church. The services, from 6:30-7:15, will be held in Brown Hall in case of rain.

Freshmen have a full day ahead of them Monday. The new dining hall serves its first breakfast from 7-8 a.m.

At 9 a.m. a freshman-orientation assembly will be held in Brown Hall with Dr. Fred J. Vogel, dean of student services, presiding.

Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast, and William J. Marchbank, president of the Student Council, will welcome freshmen to Northeast. Herman T. Sigler, director of testing and guidance, will present information on the testing schedule. The invocation will be given by the Rev. T. Earl Ogg, minister of College Place Baptist Church.

At 9:45 a.m. freshman counseling begins. All summer - school freshmen and those entering freshmen who have completed the testing program will meet their advisers according to previously arranged appointments. Others will remain in Brown Hall Auditorium for instructions. Freshman counseling and testing will continue throughout the day.

From 7:30-9:30 p.m. informal entertainment is scheduled in the Student Center.

Freshman orientation continues Tuesday. Wednesday and Thursday have been set aside for registration for freshmen and all other students at Northeast. Classwork begins Friday.

MAP SUMMARY

Hurricane Donna yesterday continued at about 10 m.p.h. and at 7 p.m. E.S.T. was centered about 30 miles east of Sarasota, Florida. All precautions should be continued near and in advance of the hurricane as it advances northward through Florida. The present course and speed will take the center up through the peninsula Sunday with dangerous winds spreading well ahead of the center. Heavy rains of 8 to 12 inches will cause local flooding.

Elsewhere, rain with some thunderstorm activity continued in the lower Mississippi valley northeastward into Tennessee and Kentucky and portions of the middle Appalachians. Thundershowers have broken out in North Carolina and Virginia. Cape Henry, Virginia, reported a thundershower and in a 6-hour period measured rainfall of 2.06 inches. Richmond, Virginia, measured 1.20 inches. Rainfall amounts in sections of Tennessee and portions of Mississippi also exceeded 1 inch. Meanwhile, a very pleasant day with abundant sunshine was noted over most of the central portion of the country and also the upper Lakes region. Considerable afternoon cloudiness was noted over the western third of the nation and a few showers and thunderstorms have been reported in scattered areas of the mountain regions.

Late afternoon temperatures were in the mid-90's in the interior valleys of California. The 80's were general over most of the central and northern plateau regions with cooler temperatures noted in the Pacific northwest. In the central portion of the nation readings were generally in the low 80's but a few stations had temperatures near the 90 degree mark. Warm weather remained in the southeastern portion of the country outside the rain areas. Augusta and Albany, Georgia reported afternoon readings slightly over 90 as was also true of Montgomery, Alabama. The mid-80's prevailed in Virginia while the 70's were common over much of the northeast.

The forecast for today, rain is expected over most of the southern and middle Atlantic region and over the Tennessee valley and portions of the Ohio valley. Showers will fall along the Gulf coast. Moderate to heavy rainfall accumulations are indicated in portions of the south Atlantic region also in eastern Kentucky and Tennessee. The latest hurricane advisories should also be consulted regarding heavy rains now associated with Hurricane Donna. Fair weather will continue throughout the plains and much of the Great Lakes region with temperatures becoming somewhat warmer in the central plains. The western third of the country will experience partly cloudy skies with little temperature change. Scattered afternoon showers are forecast for most mountain regions.

WINNSBORO DOCTOR

53 Years Of Service

By EDITH JEAN HASSELL

WINNSBORO — The words of Raiph Waldo Emerson, "Greatness is a property for which no man gets credit too soon; it must be possessed long before it is acknowledged," apply to the life of 83-year-old Dr. Vern J. Funderburk of Winnsboro.

In his years of devoted service, Dr. Funderburk has been more than just a healing physician.

When he came to Winnsboro in 1920, it was a very young community, consisting of one street which was rutted in dry weather and almost impassable after a big rain.

ADVANCED

The town has grown a great deal since then, and Dr. Funderburk will long be remembered for the major role he played in this. He was an active part of the community until failing health forced his retirement in 1958.

He was born in Emory, Texas, Dec. 10, 1876. Much of his youth was devoted to training for his chosen profession. After completion of pre-medical training he taught school to finance his way through medical school. The doctor studied at Louisiana State Normal College, the University of Maryland, New Orleans Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat College, Tulane University, and the University of Illinois Medical College. He did post - graduate work with Mayo Brothers.

For the next 53 years after his schooling ended he practiced medicine. His first connection was in Jonesboro, with the Henry Hodge Lumber Company.

The year was 1905, a time which entailed many hardships for a young doctor just beginning practice.

There were no ambulances nor fully equipped hospitals nearby. He had to do the best he could with his own equipment and get to patients as fast as he could with his horse and buggy. He healed many a broken body and brought cheer to many a broken heart.

WITH ARMY

During World War I Dr. Funderburk served in the Medical Corps, and was stationed at Fort Castle, North Carolina, where he was placed at the head of the base hospital.

In 1920, when the war was over, he came to Winnsboro to begin his general practice. His wife, who before her marriage was Elbie Evelyn Legan of Franklin, Ind., came with him.

They had to cross Three Rivers Swamp to get from their old home in Caldwell Parish to Winnsboro. It was a treacherous journey for the young couple. They couldn't make the trip in one day and had to stay overnight in the swamp. Since all of the extra space in the wagon was taken up by the doctor's medical instruments, they were only able to bring with them the most essential clothing.

When they arrived, the doctor's temporary office, which was little more than a roof over their heads served also as their residence. Mrs. Funderburk recalls sacrificing sleep in order to stay up and fan mosquitos off the doctor while he got a few hours rest between calls.

Their home was built by John Lazarrus and J. W. Sullivan, two prominent residents of Winnsboro. The land on which it was built originally was cleared for a cotton field, so there were few trees nearby.

The doctor loved trees, so he set out an oak in front of his office, which was built next to his house. Today that tree provides shade for a large ground area. It also serves as a reminder of the tower of strength that planted it there.

BENCH

A bench under the tree, now worn with time and use, has provided a resting place for young and old.

There are few grownups in Winnsboro today who do not remember as a child being given a piece of bubble gum by the doctor. They recall how he loved children.

During his practice, it is estimated, he delivered some 6,000 babies. Friends say that it is doubtful he has forgotten the names of any of them.

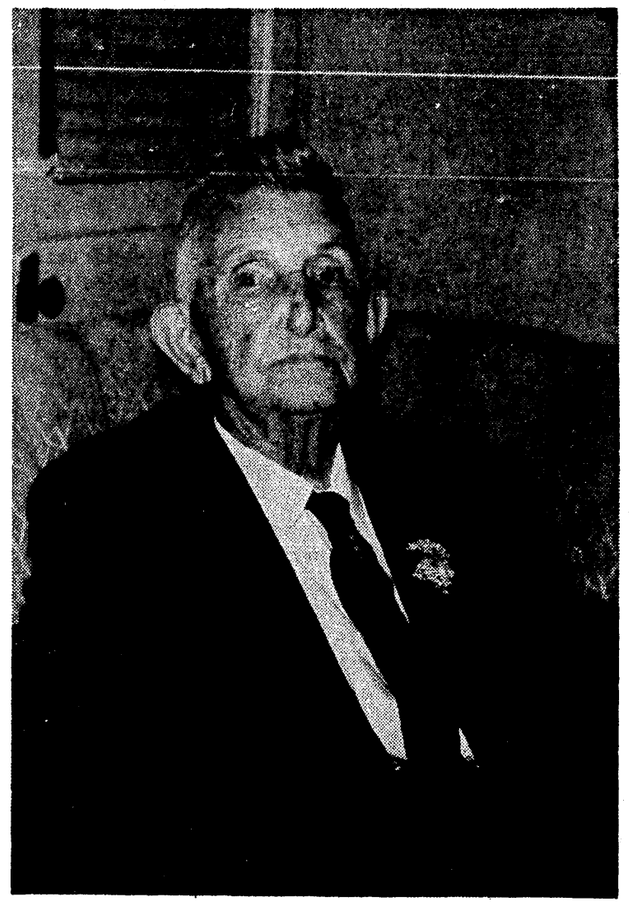

Through the years he has been an ardent high school sports fan, and never missed a football game when he was able to go. He attended basketball games regularly as long as he could walk across the street to the gym.

Even in retirement, he was not forgotten. In 1955 the "Hi-Life," Winnsboro High School yearbook was dedicated to him "recognizing his long years of faithful service to the citizens of Franklin Parish, and his kindness toward the school children."

Among other honors he was chosen to be in "Who's Who in America." Regardless of whether the honors accorded him were large or small, he was always grateful. Many gifts were bestowed on him by children.

The doctor has three children. They are Vern J. Jr., who is a medical technician at Moody Hospital, Dothan, Ala.; Buddy, who was killed in an automobile accident in 1946 while serving with the Health Department in Caddo Parish, and Beth. (Mrs. Ray Clawson Jr.), who is a teacher in Winnsboro High School, and lives next door to her parents.

Although he doesn't get around very well any more, he is seen sometimes on the main street of town in his spotless suit and stiff white shirt, with a fresh boutonniere pinned to his lapel.

SUMMER IN BAGHDAD

Tempers Are Hot

By WILTON WYNN

That is a strong statement, because being in Baghdad in midsummer is like living inside an oven. You step out of a cool plane at the airport into searing heat that hovers around 115 in the shade for months on end. In a sun - baked taxi you drive through a sprawling capital that long since gave up its struggle with the sun.

In the modern section of Baghdad - largely built over the last five years - air - conditioning has arrived to give respite to those who can stay indoors. In the old section, the town built during the reign of the Ottoman Turks, the only defense is congestion. Houses are jammed tightly against each other, and overhanging laticed windows reach out to meet each other and provide shade for the twisted, damp, cobblestoned alleys below.

Through the middle of each of these alleys the sewage of the city flows down an open ditch. Also through these alleys flows a mass of human refuse, the barefoot, impoverished, disgruntled masses who make up the fearsome Baghdad mobs.

At almost every corner in the slums of Baghdad is a primitive cafe, where Iraquis sit cross - legged on wooden benches, puff on hubble - bubble pipes, sip tiny glasses of strong tea, and grumble. Each cafe is like a bomb, with the fuse burning shorter by the day.

In mid - July, one such cafe "exploded" when the voice of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser suddenly split the air. The cafe owner - an ardent Arab nationalist - had tape - recorded a Nasser speech from the radio and now was rebroadcasting it at top volume. Crowds gathered, some to cheer and some to boo, and in no time a brawl had started, Truckloads of police arrived, and after a general gang fight managed to restore some order. The cafe was closed and 30 of its customers hauled off to jail.

This kind of thing is the aftermath of the revolution led by General Abdel Kerim Kassem two years ago, on July 14, 1958. At that time pro - Western King Feisal and leaders of his government were murdered. The pent-up anger of the mob exploded. Anyone who looked like a foreigner on the streets was beaten or killed.

The revolution was followed by two years of terror. Kassem's cousin Col. Fadil Mahdawi presided over a televised "people's court" that stretched on month after month, trying "traitors" in kangaroo - court fashion.

Communist mobs took over the streets. Their "popular resistance forces" set up their own people's courts on street corners and sentenced to hanging anyone convicted of conspiring with imperialists, reactionaries, or Nasser. These Communists would go to the house of a "reactionary," haul him out into the street, tie him to a Jeep, and drag him till he was dead. Communist gangs beat up any Iraqi who dared work for a Western organization.

That kind of terror has ended, and now it is the Communists who are on the run. Merchants complain that television sales are off, now that Mahdawi's people's court no longer is on the air. The popular resistance forces have been disbanded. Today, it is the Communists who get murdered in dark alleys and beaten by street mobs, wreaking vengeance for the terror of the past.

TERROR SPOT

Drive across the Tigris in north Baghdad, and you find the spot from which the counterattack against the terror began: the famed Khadimain Mosque, one of the holy shrines of the Shi'ite sect of Islam.

Seated around this mosque, counting their amber prayer beads and muttering imprecations against the infidels, are scores of Shi'ite mullahs, or holy men.

The mullahs fervently await the return of their long-absent imam, who they believe one day will come back to conquer the world for Islam and fill the earth with justice. While waiting, they do their part to "cleanse" the earth by keeping all infidels outside the shrine of Khadimain. A non-Moslem found there almost certainly would be killed..

The mullahs also have cleansed their suburb—Khadimiya—of the latest infidel intruston, communism. They have proclaimed that no Communist can be considered a Moslem, and they have stirred up mobs to chase Communist families out of Khadimiya.

Come back across the river, and you enter another anti-Communist stronghold, the blue-and-green-tiled Abu Hanifa Mosque. Here you are in Sunni (orthodox) Moslem territory, heart of the Arab nationalists who wave the banner of Nasser and call their suburb, Adhamiya, the "eastern region of the United Arab Republic."

CRAZY-QUILT

Watching the passing parade you can identify the elements of the crazy-quilt of religions, languages and politics which make up Baghdad.

Walking straight and proud will be a Kurd, wearing a baggy beige suit made like overalls, tied with a colorful blue sash to match his blue turban. The independent-minded Kurds dream of a state of their own and often team up with the Communists to curb the onward rush of Nasser's Arab nationalism.

You will see a Chaldean, member of an ancient Christian community which once spread to the Gobi Desert but now is a tiny minority, speaking the ancient Syrian language, and, like the Kurds, suspicious of the Arab Nationalists. Allied with them are the "devil-worshiping" Yazidis, an obscure sect who reason that a good god can do you no harm and so spend their time in propitiating the devil instead.

Along the Tigris, old men with full white beards bend over their work, polishing and engraving bits of silver. These are Mandaeans, last survivors of the heretical gnostic sects that flourished in the first three centuries after Christ. Often called "John the Baptist Christians" because they give John a higher place than Jesus.

Kassem knows that his regime, and his life, depend on the whims of this emotion-laden mass.

From the air-conditioned shelter of the luxurious Baghdad hotel, the well-heeled traveler looks down on the mudflats along the Tigris as the sun sets. There he sees simple fishermen gather around fires on the mud to bake flat fish set up on sticks, naked little boys splash in the muddy water nearby, and from the tiled minaret across the river comes the muezzin's call to sunset prayers.

It all looks so peaceful. But how long will it last?

Wandering Seals Have No Regard For Iron Curtain

SEATTLE (AP) — The wandering seals which swim thousands of miles to summer rookeries in the North Pacific have no regard at all for the Iron Curtain.

Young male seals born on the U. S. owned - Pribilof Islands visit the Soviet Union's Robben, Copper and Bering Islands near the coast of Asia. The areas are hundreds of miles apart.

"In 1959 alone," says Ford Wilke, chief of marine mammal research for the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries here, "42 Pribilof - tagged seals were killed during the seal harvest on Copper and Bering Islands."

So far, only one Russian-tagged seal has been taken in the Pribilofs, he said. None has been found in collections taken from the large number of seals which winter off the Washington, Oregon and California coasts.

But the Soviet-tagging program is new. It is possible such animals may turn up, Wilke believes.

EDITORIALS

Herter, Canal Zone

Christian Herter has the reputation of being, and undoubtedly is, a good man but as a secretary of state for the United States he would make a better pole-vaulter, even at his age and with his rheumatism. In a few months he has succeeded in getting this country into more political hot water than John Foster Dulles allowed in all his years of service.

Aside from allowing Cuba and its two rat-brained communist dictators, the Castro brothers, to make a laughing stock of the United States and to provide an opportunity for Russia to establish a base of operations directly off our shores, he has let critical situations develop in many other areas.

One of his worst blunders is to suggest that the state department give its approval for the flying of the Panamanian flag over the Panama Canal Zone. It would be just about as reasonable for him to propose that the flags of France and England fly over the capitol building in Washington, D. C.

Panama has no shred of sovereignty in the Canal Zone. Exclusive sovereignty is lodged in the United States in perpetuity in the treaty of 1903. The treaty specifies this "to the entire exclusion by the Republic of Panama of any such rights, power of authority." No more specific language could have been employed.

If the Panama flag is flown over the Canal Zone with the acquiescence of the state department, Representative Daniel Flood (D., Pa.) says Secretary Herter should be and will be impeached.

Foreign Minister Miguel Moreno of Panama warned the United States that it must permit the Panamanian flag to be flown "if it wishes to avoid new violence." He referred to the riots of last November, when scores were wounded as nationalists marched on the Canal Zone in an attempt to raise the Panamanian banner over it.

Concerning this deplorable situation, the Houston Chronicle says:

"The give-away boys in the state department do indeed appear, as Flood charges, to be intent upon giving Panama titular sovereignty over the zone. What then? Panama no doubt would demand sole and complete power there, and presumably what Flood calls 'subversive influences' in the state department would seek to abdicate American authority entirely.

"Herter can stop such treasonable activities. If he doesn't do it, Flood and like-minded patriots in the house will 'press for impeachment' as he warned the secretary in a letter."

No major country in the world has ever allowed itself to be kicked around and walked upon by small nations in the way that Herter has permitted the United States to be humiliated.

There is not much time left in the present administration but even for the few remaining months it would seem advisable to put a stronger and wiser man at the helm in the state department.

Chessman, Slow Justice

The quotation, "The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding fine," was finally realized in the case of Caryl Chessman, notorious Californian who paid for his many crimes by going to his execution. Although the case has become history, the complications which enabled Chessman to escape death a dozen years and to face execution that many times and to elude it on that many occasions, less one, is still drawing the attention of the legal profession.

Two things were principal factors in enabling Chessman to delay justice so long. One was that the court stenographer who took notes on testimony died before the notes had been transcribed and his notes were of such a personal character that it was difficult for anyone else to transcribe them. The other was the interplay of effort between the federal courts and the courts of California.

The first factor was one which can now be largely avoided through the use of sound recordings in court room trials but the other is one which we must face far more times than justice requires. There seems to be a need for a better system of determining whether a man's rights have been denied in state courts.

It is said that in Ancient Greece a man burned a public building and was put to death for it, preferring to be remembered infamously rather than not at all.

Undoubtedly, there are many who prefer almost any fate rather than being a nonentity.

Chessman is gone and it seems that he, too, has achieved a sort of immortality. Possibly no other individual in America has had his personal problems before the supreme court of the United States so many times.

Like William Marbury, an obscure District of Columbia justice of the peace, and Dred Scott, a Missouri slave, Chessman's name is engraved in the legal history of the United States, if nowhere else.

He is responsible for some hundreds of pages in the California and federal courts and the law review, and other collateral discussions of the case are just beginning.

It is undeniable that the Chessman case gave rise to an uneasiness which has not died out. It has focused public opinion on several critical and sensitive areas of our criminal law. Citizens and lawyers alike are asking important questions.

What did Chesman have? He had money, time and law. With these, did he make a mockery of the law? Because he avoided execution so long there were some, especially in other countries, who took the absurd position that he should be freed, not because of any innocence on his part but because he had thwarted justice so long. Did Chessman do what no poor man could do?

We need some straight thinking here. There is no sin in having money. The important thing is to be certain that those who do not have it get the same consideration and quality of defense as those who do have it.

Chessman's offenses were against the laws of California and yet much of the litigation was in the courts of another jurisdiction, the federal. This has puzzled foreign observers and many Americans about abuse of habeas corpus and the interplay of two jurisdictions to delay justice.

The United States supreme court never found any real abridgement of Chessman's rights. In the main, the 11 stays he received were to allow new hearings, which seemed to be innumerable, and not because any fault had been found with the California trial.

There is a real possibility and a real danger that "justice too long delayed is justice denied." We must avoid giving the man who is able to fight his case longest in court the best chance of evading justice.

The balancing process between state and federal courts goes on unceasingly. In Chessman's case the federal court appeared to intervene many more times than was required for justice.

Respect for law is one of society's profound affections. It must not be shaken. It is a tribute to the glory of America that our society is equally anxious to protect the rights of each of its individual members, regardless of wealth, wit or station, who may be brought before the bar of justice.

The Chessman case may be of value in the annals of justice because it aroused public interest, possibly thus opening the way for judicial reform and a new setting of the balances between state and federal courts.

Splinter Movements Eyed

Herbert C. Holdridge, Brigadier General, U. S. Army (Retired) Conducts Small Mail Enterprise

The Splinters

Herbert C. Holdridge, Brigadier General, U.S. Army (Retired) is a very busy man. He conducts a mail enterprise entitled "Reveille."

There are those who say that one should disregard such publications, but I disagree. There are others who say that one should not give publicity to all the odds and ends of ideas and personalities and movements that appear and disappear, but I disagree. These splinter movements are very significant, particularly when they persist over a long period, develop a following and get themselves financed. In the present campaign there are many of them which are particularly violent against John Kennedy.

But General Holdridge is not only opposed to John Kennedy; he is also opposed to Richard Nixon. He conducts a propaganda against both candidates. He says of them:

". . . Rigged political parties, rigged national committees, rigged primaries, rigged conventions, rigged nominations, rigged campaign strategies — the total government of the United States, including the two political party monstrosities, rigged by the International Front of the Wall Street (Big Money)—Vatican (Jesuit) Axis."

Now to some this may sound like mad talk; to others it represents the Conspiracy with a capital C. Be a columnist and every day you will receive mail about the Conspiracy. The big conspirator, according to such folks, now is Governor Nelson Rockefeller who has bought both political parties. Holdridge says:

". . . We do not have two political parties, as we claim, or even one political party as is ascribed to Russia. Our political campaigns become shadow-boxing between rival gangs of puppets carrying out the orders of the 'riggers'. To isolate campaign issues from the poisonous concoctions brewed by these political bed-fellows will be beyond the powers even of the Madison Avenue boys—true sons of the Jesuits—who are experts in scientific falsification and doubletalk. The 1960 elections are already null and void by reason of criminal fraud and treason against the Constitution, perpetrated by international outlaws operating through internal puppets . . ."

Now, who are these international outlaws? Well nowadays it is the "Invisible Government." This invisible body is a union of Wall Street and the Vatican. Years ago, it was all run by Bernard M. Baruch but this year, it is Pope John XXIII. Having called Joseph, John and Robert Kennedy all sorts of names, General Holdridge turns on Nixon:

"'Slippery Dick'! Kennedy's counterpart in the Republican party, holds a record for criminal, ruthless assassinations of political opponents (Jerry Voorhis and Helen Gahagan Douglas). Raised to power primarily by Big Money as Kennedy was by the Vatican . . .

"When the dirty fight between these two dirty fighters is over, the election will go to the one preferred by the Invisible Government. 'Owning' both 'boys' in the ring, how can they lose?"

After a long harangue against every person associated with either party as a leader of any kind, Holdridge reaches this amazing conclusion:

"If it were not for the hatreds distilled by the Vatican against the 'commies', in support of Big Money, the world would be at peace!"

"The ultimate alternative is civil war — opening the road to economic, religious and racial hatreds under our competitive economy and inspired by Wall Street and the Vatican. The result — a holocaust of blood-letting! An era of corruption, of exploitation, of expropriation, of bankruptcy, of national and international hatreds will blow itself up in an H-bomb war and civil war. God help the man holding the office of president, whoever he may be, when that catastrophe strikes . . ."

A mailing to thousands of persons in this election year of this sort of propaganda is expensive. According to a financial report, General Holdridge Minute Men operates on a small budget. Of this, the report says:

"Yet with a pitiably small budget we have accomplished miracles, proving again that truth (the pen) is mightier than the sword. Our materials have reached hundreds of thousands of individuals in the United States. They have been translated and printed in foreign countries, major offices of government, federal, state and political headquarters: the large newspapers, church organizations: labor, veteran and economic organizations, the United Nations, foreign embassies, major centers of public decision have been circularized . . ."

This is one example of a continuous mail that pours into this office from many sources, indicating not only an unrest but a financially supported unrest.

HOW DO YOU STAND, SIR?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

SENATOR FROM ARIZONA

In the Senate we recently spent considerable time debating the proposal of Democrat nominee John Kennedy to amend the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938.

I would suggest this discussion presents in clear and certain terms the significant difference between the radical liberal position and the conservative position.

All Americans would like to see wages increased. It has been the consistent year-to-year increase in personal income which has become the distinguishing feature of America's economic growth — a growth made possible by the free operation of the competitive enterprise system which has constantly increased the productive capacity of the individual worker and then spread the benefits of increased production between the consumer, the producer and the owner of the invested capital which made increased production possible.

This three-way partnership has made America the envy of all the world.

Now the radical liberals propose to increase wages by legislative fiat — by federal law compelling employers to pay a minimum wage of $1.25 per hour.

If passing a law will raise wages, why not pass a law requiring a $3.00 minimum wage or a $5.00 minimum wage?

No one seriously suggests such legislation because even the radical liberals recognize that legislation can't make men rich or good or happy or thrifty or industrious. Wages must be based on production — and wage increases which do not reflect increased production lead to unfair high consumer prices.

The Kennedy proposal would apply the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act to perhaps hundreds of thousands of businesses which are now regarded as entirely intrastate concerns.

Under provisions of the Kennedy bill, it is possible that the shoeshine boy in Los Angeles who purchases shoe polish made in Ohio might be regarded as coming under the provisions of the law.

I commend Mr. Kennedy and the sponsors of this legislation for their concern for the American worker who is now making less than $1.25 per hour. I applaud their announced objective — to increase the real wages of these people.

I oppose their method because it will unquestionably raise the cost of living and create a multitude of unfair, competitive situations by imposing controls on one businessman and exempting his across - the - street competitor.

But far more dangerous than any of these things, the Kennedy proposal would extend the controlling hand of federal bureaucracy into every town and crossroads village of the United States.

Under the broad terms of the language contained in the Act, regulation would be applied to businesses having "any activity affecting commerce."

I suggest this is exactly what the proponents of an all-powerful federal government have been hoping to achieve. So far the federal government has been able to impose regulations upon the communications system and the transportation system. But they have been unable to penetrate the operation of millions of independent businesses throughout the nation.

If the present legislation is passed, there will be nothing to prevent federal intervention in the operation of most stores and factories in the United States.

Administered wages in such a broad segment of the American economy will eventually mean administered prices. And when prices and wages are both controlled from Washington, it will mean the end of our free competitive economic system. How do you stand, sir?

As a student at Louisiana State University for four years it has been my observation that Cuban students numbering near a hundred ought to have a stay put on the advantages given by the state, that is to say suspend subsidies to them, even screening those who express opinions adverse to the United States. My judgment is that their clannish behavior and close alliance with the pro-Castro government could indicate the presence of potential spies on our doorsteps and under our own auspices. It is my considered opinion that something ought to be done about it. Remember Pearl Harbor. I am a young man just turned twenty-one years and do not want to go through with that sort of thing that happened to a previous generation. This new generation of Latin Americans ought to be trained in the tradition of American democracy which their forefathers built into their political structure after the pattern of the United States. Instead, it appears to me that the radical idealism of ancient vintage known now as communism has become an obsession in the Latin countries.

I would appreciate your consideration of this observation in the light of your executive authority and advice with your staff associated with the university.

To The Editor:

This is not meant to be critical of our southern politicians and governmental leaders, and yet I am concerned. I have just read a report from a group known as the Americans for Constitutional Action. The Americans for Constitutional Action have seven criteria which they have used to define constitutional government. These are:

1. For sound money and against inflation.
2. For economy and against waste.
3. For private competitive market and against government interference.
4. For local self - government and against central government interference.
5. For private ownership and against government ownership.
6. For individual liberty and against coercion.
7. For national security.

Almost every southern politician and candidate for office which I have heard during this election year has been saying that he believed these principles. However, I was dismayed when I read the report from the studies made by the Americans for Constitutional Government. Using the seven principles above, the voting records of all Congressmen were carefully screened and rated. Of the thirteen men in the House of Representatives who rated 100 per cent, Bruce Alger of Texas was the only one who was from any southern state.

Also, of the senators who rated 90 per cent or higher, Harry Byrd of Virginia and Barry Goldwater of Arizona were the closest to the south. And most, if not all of our southern senators and representatives call themselves "Conservatives"!

Do we really believe in states' rights and less government control or not?

To The Editor:

May I express to you my sincere congratulations and deep appreciation for your editorial "Natural Law Flouted" which appeared in your paper dated September 3, 1960.

I have on many occasions stated publicly that it is now very evident that our life - time appointed judiciary is not ruling on constitutional interpretations of the law, but rather interceding to issue judicial decrees aimed at a very dangerous and radical change in social, and ultimate biological, pattern and structure of our nation.

We have seen how the courts will strike down the laws of the legislature, and nullify the executive orders of the governor. We still, however, have the hope of an enlightened public opinion of the majority of the citizens who will take pen and paper, 4 minutes time and 4 cents in postage, and express their considered opinions in this matter.

The power of the press could exercise a tremendous and savings force of proper leadership to inform and enlighten our citizens as to the basic, inherent evils of integration in our schools; to warn our peoples that we are daily in a critical fight to save our basic states rights upon which a democracy is predicated.

Our free press has a very vital stake in this fight of states rights and the prevention of further federal encroachment on the majority will of the people. It is good to know that our own local paper takes a stand in the matter.

To the Editor:

I do enjoy your editorials but especially the one of Saturday, September 3 entitled "Natural Law Flouted."

Why do people who speak out and write against integration refrain from stressing the main thing that proves the mixing of the races is morally wrong? That is the law of nature. Red birds and jay birds, rabbits and squirrels, sheep and goats and so forth do not mix. Our domestic animals which man forces to mix do so.

I am 78 years old and have lived close to Negroes all of my life. They are only parasites. I don't have to tell you that they are a pampered and privileged race. They have everything but the white man's skin and they are after that. What else could they want that they don't have. If they dissatisfied with their wool and black skin let them stop breeding or go to Africa.

There are three houses of ill repute almost in sight of me which have six or eight illegitimate children and I have heard that their salaries are raised after each additional birth.

The United States of America is fast being filled with Negro children which in time will overthrow our government.

I think the preachers and religious fanatics are doing more to harm the cause than the Communists. What gave the clergy the idea that God wants us all mongrealized. If he made us (and I'm not sure that he did) why did he make us so different?

Well, as you can see it's quite an effort for me to write and I am sure more so for you to read. I only wish there was something that I could do but about all that's left for me is to get "het up" and run my blood pressure up. Keep up the fight.

Stretch Truth

Writer Says Neither Of Presidential Candidates Superman

"My vows for the upcoming campaign season are simple — I hope to be unfaithful to all candidates."

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "I don't trust our candidate between here and the door," said a prominent politician concerning the nominee of his own party.

The door was closed and we were the only ones present, so the identities will remain secret. But the quotation is a good springboard for discussing the high priority reliability factor in Candidates John Kennedy and Richard Nixon.

Is Kennedy trustworthy? Well, as Mark Twain said, all men will stretch the truth a little bit. Politicians often need elastic girdles to prevent their integrities from becoming hopelessly flabby and unreliable. In the 83rd Congress, Kennedy co-sponsored a bill (S. 1269) to repeal the right-to-work law — i.e., compulsory employment for the sake of racial integration. This pleased the liberals and Laborites. But Kennedy told more than one conservative colleague in both parties that he didn't intend to push the bill.

The matter is pertinent in 1960 because the Democratic platform calls for a Fair Employment Practices Commission. Can the Northern Democrats count on Kennedy to push it: Can Southern Democrats count on him to be "moderate"? Then, again, in the early 1959 session, Kennedy denounced the Common Situs section of a Republican Labor bill as going to far in the license of Labor picketing. But before the session was over, he used almost identical language in a Labor bill of his own. Who can depend on him?

Many Labor leaders, including AFL - CIO President George Meany, who recently endorsed the Senator for President, have indicated that they found Kennedy unreliable. Many conservatives, including Democrat John McClellan, who chaired the Rackets Committee on which Kennedy sat, have indicated dissatisfaction about Kennedy's willingness to stand and fight.

Even his friendly biographer, John MacGregor Burns, has found him compromise - prone. Cabell Phillips, in the New York Times, a friendly paper, described Kennedy's position on Labor reform as "equivocal".

Herter, Canal Zone

Christian Herter has the reputation of being, and undoubtedly is, a good man but as a secretary of state for the United States he would make a better pole-vaulter, even at his age and with his rheumatism. In a few months he has succeeded in getting this country into more political hot water than John Foster Dulles allowed in all his years of service.

Aside from allowing Cuba and its two rat-brained communist dictators, the Castro brothers, to make a laughing stock of the United States and to provide an opportunity for Russia to establish a base of operations directly off our shores, he has let critical situations develop in many other areas.

One of his worst blunders is to suggest that the state department give its approval for the flying of the Panamanian flag over the Panama Canal Zone. It would be just about as reasonable for him to propose that the flags of France and England fly over the capitol building in Washington, D. C.

Panama has no shred of sovereignty in the Canal Zone. Exclusive sovereignty is lodged in the United States in perpetuity in the treaty of 1903. The treaty specifies this "to the entire exclusion by the Republic of Panama of any such rights, power of authority." No more specific language could have been employed.

If the Panama flag is flown over the Canal Zone with the acquiescence of the state department, Representative Daniel Flood (D., Pa.) says Secretary Herter should be and will be impeached.

Foreign Minister Miguel Moreno of Panama warned the United States that it must permit the Panamanian flag to be flown "if it wishes to avoid new violence." He referred to the riots of last November, when scores were wounded as nationalists marched on the Canal Zone in an attempt to raise the Panamanian banner over it.

Concerning this deplorable situation, the Houston Chronicle says:

"The give-away boys in the state department do indeed appear, as Flood charges, to be intent upon giving Panama titular sovereignty over the zone. What then? Panama no doubt would demand sole and complete power there, and presumably what Flood calls 'subversive influences' in the state department would seek to abdicate American authority entirely.

"Herter can stop such treasonable activities. If he doesn't do it, Flood and like-minded patriots in the house will 'press for impeachment' as he warned the secretary in a letter."

No major country in the world has ever allowed itself to be kicked around and walked upon by small nations in the way that Herter has permitted the United States to be humiliated.

There is not much time left in the present administration but even for the few remaining months it would seem advisable to put a stronger and wiser man at the helm in the state department.

Chessman, Slow Justice

The quotation, "The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding fine," was finally realized in the case of Caryl Chessman, notorious Californian who paid for his many crimes by going to his execution. Although the case has become history, the complications which enabled Chessman to escape death a dozen years and to face execution that many times and to elude it on that many occasions, less one, is still drawing the attention of the legal profession.

Two things were principal factors in enabling Chessman to delay justice so long. One was that the court stenographer who took notes on testimony died before the notes had been transcribed and his notes were of such a personal character that it was difficult for anyone else to transcribe them. The other was the interplay of effort between the federal courts and the courts of California.

The first factor was one which can now be largely avoided through the use of sound recordings in court room trials but the other is one which we must face far more times than justice requires. There seems to be a need for a better system of determining whether a man's rights have been denied in state courts.

It is said that in Ancient Greece a man burned a public building and was put to death for it, preferring to be remembered infamously rather than not at all.

Undoubtedly, there are many who prefer almost any fate rather than being a nonentity.

Chessman is gone and it seems that he, too, has achieved a sort of immortality. Possibly no other individual in America has had his personal problems before the supreme court of the United States so many times.

Like William Marbury, an obscure District of Columbia justice of the peace, and Dred Scott, a Missouri slave, Chessman's name is engraved in the legal history of the United States, if nowhere else.

He is responsible for some hundreds of pages in the California and federal courts and the law review, and other collateral discussions of the case are just beginning.

It is undeniable that the Chessman case gave rise to an uneasiness which has not died out. It has focused public opinion on several critical and sensitive areas of our criminal law. Citizens and lawyers alike are asking important questions.

What did Chesman have? He had money, time and law. With these, did he make a mockery of the law? Because he avoided execution so long there were some, especially in other countries, who took the absurd position that he should be freed, not because of any innocence on his part but because he had thwarted justice so long. Did Chessman do what no poor man could do?

We need some straight thinking here. There is no sin in having money. The important thing is to be certain that those who do not have it get the same consideration and quality of defense as those who do have it.

Chessman's offenses were against the laws of California and yet much of the litigation was in the courts of another jurisdiction, the federal. This has puzzled foreign observers and many Americans about abuse of habeas corpus and the interplay of two jurisdictions to delay justice.

The United States supreme court never found any real abridgement of Chessman's rights. In the main, the 11 stays he received were to allow new hearings, which seemed to be innumerable, and not because any fault had been found with the California trial.

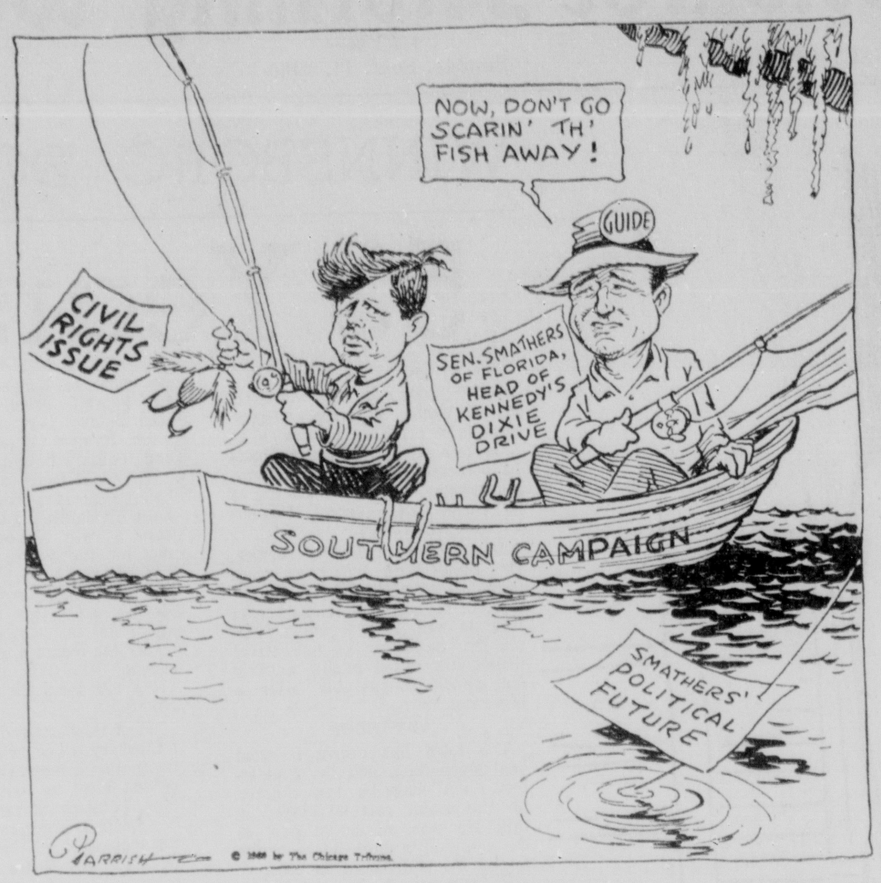

There is a real possibility and a real danger that "justice too long delayed is justice denied." We must avoid giving the man who is able to fight his case longest in court the best chance of evading justice.

The balancing process between state and federal courts goes on unceasingly. In Chessman's case the federal court appeared to intervene many more times than was required for justice.

Respect for law is one of society's profound affections. It must not be shaken. It is a tribute to the glory of America that our society is equally anxious to protect the rights of each of its individual members, regardless of wealth, wit or station, who may be brought before the bar of justice.

The Chessman case may be of value in the annals of justice because it aroused public interest, possibly thus opening the way for judicial reform and a new setting of the balances between state and federal courts.

Splinter Movements Eyed

Herbert C. Holdridge, Brigadier General, U. S. Army (Retired) Conducts Small Mail Enterprise

The Splinters

Herbert C. Holdridge, Brigadier General, U.S. Army (Retired) is a very busy man. He conducts a mail enterprise entitled "Reveille."

There are those who say that one should disregard such publications, but I disagree. There are others who say that one should not give publicity to all the odds and ends of ideas and personalities and movements that appear and disappear, but I disagree. These splinter movements are very significant, particularly when they persist over a long period, develop a following and get themselves financed. In the present campaign there are many of them which are particularly violent against John Kennedy.

But General Holdridge is not only opposed to John Kennedy; he is also opposed to Richard Nixon. He conducts a propaganda against both candidates. He says of them:

". . . Rigged political parties, rigged national committees, rigged primaries, rigged conventions, rigged nominations, rigged campaign strategies — the total government of the United States, including the two political party monstrosities, rigged by the International Front of the Wall Street (Big Money)—Vatican (Jesuit) Axis."

Now to some this may sound like mad talk; to others it represents the Conspiracy with a capital C. Be a columnist and every day you will receive mail about the Conspiracy. The big conspirator, according to such folks, now is Governor Nelson Rockefeller who has bought both political parties. Holdridge says:

". . . We do not have two political parties, as we claim, or even one political party as is ascribed to Russia. Our political campaigns become shadow-boxing between rival gangs of puppets carrying out the orders of the 'riggers'. To isolate campaign issues from the poisonous concoctions brewed by these political bed-fellows will be beyond the powers even of the Madison Avenue boys—true sons of the Jesuits—who are experts in scientific falsification and doubletalk. The 1960 elections are already null and void by reason of criminal fraud and treason against the Constitution, perpetrated by international outlaws operating through internal puppets . . ."

Now, who are these international outlaws? Well nowadays it is the "Invisible Government." This invisible body is a union of Wall Street and the Vatican. Years ago, it was all run by Bernard M. Baruch but this year, it is Pope John XXIII. Having called Joseph, John and Robert Kennedy all sorts of names, General Holdridge turns on Nixon:

"'Slippery Dick'! Kennedy's counterpart in the Republican party; holds a record for criminal, ruthless assassinations of political opponents (Jerry Voorhis and Helen Gahagan Douglas). Raised to power primarily by Big Money as Kennedy was by the Vatican . . .

"When the dirty fight between these two dirty fighters is over, the election will go to the one preferred by the Invisible Government. 'Owning' both 'boys' in the ring, how can they lose?"

After a long harangue against every person associated with either party as a leader of any kind, Holdridge reaches this amazing conclusion:

"If it were not for the hatreds distilled by the Vatican against the 'commies', in support of Big Money, the world would be at peace!"

"The ultimate alternative is civil war — opening the road to economic, religious and racial hatreds under our competitive economy and inspired by Wall Street and the Vatican. The result — a holocaust of blood-letting! An era of corruption, of exploitation, of expropriation, of bankruptcy, of national and international hatreds will blow itself up in an H-bomb war and civil war. God help the man holding the office of president, whoever he may be, when that catastrophe strikes . . ."

A mailing to thousands of persons in this election year of this sort of propaganda is expensive. According to a financial report, General Holdridge Minute Men operates on a small budget. Of this, the report says:

They have everything but the white man's skin and they are after that. What else could they want that they don't have. If they dissatisfied with their wool and black skin let them stop breeding or go to Africa.

There are three houses of ill repute almost in sight of me which have six or eight illegitimate children and I have heard that their salaries are raised after each additional birth.

The United States of America is fast being filled with Negro children which in time will overthrow our government.

I think the preachers and religious fanatics are doing more to harm the cause than the Communists. What gave the clergy the idea that God wants us all mongrealized. If he made us (and I'm not sure that he did) why did he make us so different?

Well, as you can see it's quite an effort for me to write and I am sure more so for you to read. I only wish there was something that I could do but about all that's left for me is to get "het up" and run my blood pressure up. Keep up the fight.

Stretch Truth

Writer Says Neither Of Presidential Candidates Superman

"My vows for the upcoming campaign season are simple — I hope to be unfaithful to all candidates."

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "I don't trust our candidate between here and the door," said a prominent politician concerning the nominee of his own party.

The door was closed and we were the only ones present, so the identities will remain secret. But the quotation is a good springboard for discussing the high priority reliability factor in Candidates John Kennedy and Richard Nixon.

Is Kennedy trustworthy? Well, as Mark Twain said, all men will stretch the truth a little bit. Politicians often need elastic girdles to prevent their integrities from becoming hopelessly flabby and unreliable. In the 83rd Congress, Kennedy co-sponsored a bill (S. 1269) to repeal the right-to-work law — i.e., compulsory employment for the sake of racial integration. This pleased the liberals and Laborites. But Kennedy told more than one conservative colleague in both parties that he didn't intend to push the bill.

The matter is pertinent in 1960 because the Democratic platform calls for a Fair Employment Practices Commission. Can the Northern Democrats count on Kennedy to push it: Can Southern Democrats count on him to be "moderate"? Then, again, in the early 1959 session, Kennedy denounced the Common Situs section of a Republican Labor bill as going to far in the license of Labor picketing. But before the session was over, he used almost identical language in a Labor bill of his own. Who can depend on him?

Many Labor leaders, including AFL - CIO President George Meany, who recently endorsed the Senator for President, have indicated that they found Kennedy unreliable. Many conservatives, including Democrat John McClellan, who chaired the Rackets Committee on which Kennedy sat, have indicated dissatisfaction about Kennedy's willingness to stand and fight.

Even his friendly biographer, John MacGregor Burns, has found him compromise - prone. Cabell Phillips, in the New York Times, a friendly paper, described Kennedy's position on Labor reform as "equivocal".

Fire Fighting From Plane Plenty Rough

By STEVE LOWELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Startled fire fighters stopped their sweaty work and stared.

The plane was too low. Suddenly it began tumbling violently and dipped into treetops at the face of the fire. Several minutes later the wreckage exploded, starting a new fire which soon merged with the main blaze.

Pilot George Carey of Wenatchee, Wash., and copilot J. C. Brehm of Bellevue were killed.

That and the crashes of three other such planes took the lives of 11 men in the last two weeks of July.

The Forest Service decided heavy loads and extreme maneuvers at low altitude were responsible for three crashes.

Pilot Ivan Bisel and copilot Charles Folden, of Phoenix, Ariz., are a couple of these airmen. This summer they flew on water bombing missions in the Kamloops area of British Columbia.

James Spencer Jr., 48, of Toppenish, Wash., was killed this summer fighting a fire in Umatilla National Forest, which stretches across the eastern Oregon-Washington line.

Raymond Pike, 41, Longview, Wash., was a victim of the same fire. Pike was in a group of about 100 convicts from the Washington State Prison who volunteered to fight the flames.

In a hospital bed at Dawson Creek, British Columbia, a logger, John Birth, 33, of Prince George, B.C., told a story of his scary escape from the 10,000-acre Burnt Creek fire.

"The wind turned the fire toward us," he recalled.

He ran from the flames but turned back when he heard a companion call that he had hurt a knee.

"And then the flames were all around us, and we were trapped. We knew the creek was our only hope, so we jumped in. There was just enough water to cover us. We lay flat and just kept our faces out of the water."

After the fire passed, he and four other men struggled about seven miles, finally found the rest of their crew and were flown to the hospital.

These were instances of human cost in Western fires this summer, which by the middle of August the Forest Service was calling the worst in 30 years. From July 1 through Aug. 22 there were 5,934 blazes, ranging in size up to a 35,000-acre monster in California, which burned over 320,000 acres of watershed and timberland protected by the Forest Service.

What caused them? Primarily it was dry, hot weather.

But sparks from a passing train were blamed for one which blazed in the Black Diamond area a few miles east of Tacoma.

Careless campers were blamed for an 8,000-acre fire which threatened Lac le Jeune Lodge and a half dozen summer homes in the Kamloops area.

Lightning from summer storms were blamed for many fires.

Cigarettes and matches caused many more.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police planted a young Mountie in plain clothes in Ashcroft, B.C. He sat with a couple of men in a tavern, and they asked him to go along with them. He did, and close behind trailed a truck loaded with officers.

The two men set a couple of fires and then asked the disguised Mountie to start one. That was when the other officers lowered the boom.

The result: Peter Bara, 32, and Francis Sampson, 54, are starting prison sentences of two years each.

Why do men do that sort of thing? Well, one reason is that fires make jobs, and the jobs pay up to $15 a day.

Showers are beginning in the Northwest again, and officials believe the worst is over. C. B. Beaty, fire dispatcher for Payette National Forest in Idaho, says heavy rain over most of his state's timber has broken the back of Idaho's worst fire season in 50 years.

Rain in August also helped fire fighters stamp out the remains of fires in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

But crews were kept on areas where parts of big fires were still smoldering and conditions remained ripe for more fires further south.

Officials remembered the holocaust which swept the Northwest 50 years ago, when a disastrous fire storm broke out.

That summer, the fire-damping moisture was gone. Many days of exceptional heat had evaporated it. The trees were like resin-filled torches ready to flare.

Fires spotted the region—about 1,700 of them. They superheated the air above the whole area. As the air grew hotter, it rose faster and faster, creating an immense draft. Wind of 60 to 100 miles an hour, hurricane speed, whipped the flames. The fires drew together concentrated over northern Idaho, northwestern Montana, northeastern Washington and neighboring areas of Canada.

The climax came Aug. 20, and the great fires raged 48 hours. They burned the Montana villages of Taft, Haugan and Deborgia. They burned a third of Wallace, Idaho. They threatened Newport, Wash., Mullan and Elk City, Idaho, and Thompson Falls, Mont.

They killed 85 persons, 78, of them fire fighters, and they swept three million acres, destroying enough timber to build about 55,000 four-room homes.

Smoke billowed across Montana the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, north into the Canadian provinces and south into Wyoming. It was so dark in many places that street lights had to be turned on during daylight hours.

A Memorial Day service was held at St. Maries, Idaho, this year honoring the 78 men who died fighting those fires 50 years ago. There is a lot there where the victims were buried.

Could this happen again?

Man's efforts to combat nature are puny, but he would have a better chance now in fighting a holocaust like the one in 1910.

Now he has lookouts, patrol planes, knowledge of fire behavior, training in fire fighting techniques, records of manpower sources, quick means of getting crew sto fires by plane, helicopter and truck, maps showing types of timber and brush so he can figure whether a fire would travel fast or slow.

He has good telephone service, weathoer forecasts, two-way radio systems, giant tractors to clear fire lines, portable power saws and pumps and trench diggers. He has specially trained smoke-jumpers to drop at the scene of brand new fires when they can be controlled by just a few men, or maybe only one. He has tough Indian crews specially trained to take care of hot spots.

He has rations, cooking equipment, tools and beds ready to go by mule or plane and parachute.

Man is a lot better prepared to fight such a fire blitz now. During July, the Forest Service used 25,000 men, 390 tractors, 623 water pumpers, and more than 300 aircraft fighting 4,000 fires in its 10 western regions.

But a Forest Service spokesman answers carefully when asked if the 1910 disaster could happen again.

Foresters are inclined to reply that such a catastrophe isn't likely but they remember too, that nature is still the master of her own forces.

Police Use Ingenious Ways To Get Mob To Go On Home

Editor's Note—Riots are a rarity in the Communist world for a simple reason: Red police shoot to kill. Respect for human life makes that unthinkable in the West. This AP survey describes the ingenious methods used by riot police in key countries to persuade a crowd it's time to go home.

By SID MOODY
Associated Press Writer

Linked arm and arm, the mob writhes and hisses in hate like a serpent.

A few yards away stand the police, braced against an invisible barrage of sneers, taunts and anger.

A riot has begun.

Such scenes are as old as time and as new as a 1960 headline.

Fury in the streets is shouting history across the globe. A mob toppled Syngman Rhee into exile in Korea last spring. Rioting Congo natives uprooted 75 years of Belgian rule in a matter of days. Mobs chant the challenging cry of "Cuba, si: Yankees, no" in Havana squares.

In places the grim line of authority holds. In others it's overwhelmed and the crowd rules. How are the police off the world equipped against the mob?

An Associated Press survey of riot control in 12 countries shows in the nuclear age police still rely on such ancient strategems as the club and a firm shove. But the forces of order have added some new techniques to keep peace.

In times gone by, ground rules for riot police were that anything goes. Napoleon catapulted to fame and stopped the French Revolution with one blast of a cannon at a French mob.

By gentleman's agreement neither the bobbies nor demonstrators carry guns. It just isn't done, old chap.

Police can't even use their truncheons unless on order from a high-ranking inspector. Only a superintendent or the commissioner himself can give permission to use tear gas.

The British way is for bobbies to link arms and then give a proper push against the rioters until they are broken up into small groups where they can be easily dispersed.

Sometimes the bobbies mount horses that have been specially trained to keep cool. The animals are taught to push backwards with their rumps and it is definitely not sporting for rioters to stick them with pins.

But the most effective device in orderly old Blighty is the familiar phrase "Break it up, chums, come along now."

Rioting is such a threat in Italy that there is a special force of police trained only to handle mobs. They were organized after the war when rioting by Italy's sizeable Communist party threatened the government and cost over 100 lives.

The police are called "Celere." That's Italian for quick. They are stationed in every major city in Italy and wear a special battle-gray uniform.

They are ready to ride at a moments notice in bright red Jeeps, armored cars and heavily screened water pumpers. The pumps can spray water dyed red or blue. When things quiet down, police can single out the rioters from their stained clothing.

When the riot call comes, a column of the Jeeps smash into the squares where crowds are gathered. They start moving in a tight circle, increasing speed and widening the circle until the crowd either scatters or is run down. Police lean from the roaring Jeeps and club anyone within reach.

The tactics are rough but effective. Some innocent bystanders are hurt but police say they shouldn't have been loitering there in the first place.

The Celere are armed but only fire when things get too rough. Eleven persons were killed during rioting in Italy last July but more police were injured than rioters.

The favorite weapons of the demonstrators are paving blocks which come big in Italy and aren't cemented in place.

France also has its own special riot police, the C.R.S. (Compagne Republicaine de Securite). They've had a lot of practice in a country where freedom of speech often ends in an angry roar.

They have small arms weapons but their main strength is in numbers. They turn out in droves for any major threatened difficulty.

The regular police generally rely on their nightsticks but also wear lead weights in the bottom of their familiar capes. Ostensibly this is to make them hang properly but it makes the cape an effective persuader when swung.

Guns anger Indian mobs and a policeman who drew a pistol in Faridabad recently was overpowered by the crowd and killed with his own weapon. Generally an Indian policeman can't use a firearm until permission has been granted in the presence of a first-class magistrate.

Indians have inherited a tendency for mob action as a legacy of their struggle for independence. As a result the crowds are rarely on the side of the police. They often take to an American product, the soda bottle, as their favorite missile.

When students in Turkey rioted against the Menderes regime, pro-Menderes police battled them with bullets, tear gas and mounted squads. When the army took over enforcement, it holstered its weapons and ultimately stood aside while cadets demonstrated. Six days later the military took over.

In Argentina, police rely heavily on tear gas and dyed streams of water. The Argentinians have refinements of their own. When police charge in trucks, demonstrators often throw four-pronged nails under the tires.

Because of the reliance on tear gas, there is scarcely a resident of Buenoes Aires that hasn't at some time or other suffered from fumes as they drift into subways, movie theaters and through the streets during disorders.

Brazilians play rough—on both sides. If things get out of hand police use tanks, tommyguns or bayonets.

New York police are always looking for trouble—so they can stop it before it begins. A neo-Nazi rally last July 4 was cancelled by court order to forestall any possible violence. Most of the city's demonstration problems come from political groups fighting over Castro, Khrushchev or what have you.

Gotham's finest are always conscious of civil rights but are "expected to take no guff from anyone that impedes their duty," says a department spokesman.

Japanese police have probably had the greatest riot experience in recent years. But their sidearms have been ordered kept at their sides. At no time during the anti-American riots last June did Tokyo police draw their revolvers. Only twice since the war have they fired tear gas.

HONG KONG TODAY

Biggest Gamble In World On Land

By RELMAN MORIN

HONG KONG (AP) — The biggest gamble in the world today is taking place on a dot between the paws of the Communist Chinese tiger.

Upwards of three million players are in the game. Some are very rich but most are bitterly poor. One man plays for money, very big money, another for a little food and the sweet breath of freedom.

All of them are gambling on the future, betting the tiger won't strike.

It is a tiny island, a British crown colony, nestled against the South China coast. With a strip of adjacent territory, the area measures 391 square miles. Prior to the Communist conquest of the mainland in 1949, some 600,000 people lived there. Old hands said it was crowded.

Now the population is estimated at three million.

Nobody knows the exact figure because of the steady stream of illegal refugees who enter. They slip in on sampans, small boats, riding a log—anything to get away from Red China.

TREMENDOUS

This tremendous influx of people, and the political convulsions in the world during the last decade, have showered wealth on Hong Kong. Today, it's like a commercial Fort Knox.

Real estate values have gone up 15-fold in 13 years. It has five times the number of new industries today that it had in 1950. It has become one of the world's major seaports, and one of the biggest centers for scrapping obsolete ships.

A Chinese businessman tells you he made 480 per cent profit on a small investment in three years.

An architect says, "There's more than $30 million in building contracts on the drawing boards in the office."

In the business district buildings are being torn down and new, air-conditioned, marble-decorated skyscrapers are going up.

In the residential areas, bulldozers bite into solid granite, scraping out a flat shelf on the side of a hill for beautiful—and expensive—apartment houses.

The government has a plan to reclaim 3,000 acres of land. That doesn't seem like much. But in Hong Kong, land is like pure gold.

The huge reservoir of unskilled labor is another source of wealth. In certain articles, the Hong Kong manufacturer can compete with anybody in the world.

So the air vibrates. Ships loading and unloading. Factories humming. Crowds window-shopping on the streets and thronging the richly stocked stores. "I'm going broke saving money on bargains here," laughs an American woman. Americans top the tourist list. They spent $63 million in Hong Kong last year. The island shipped $120 million in garments alone to the United States in 1959. Hotel space is at a premium. The prices in a nightclub compare with Las Vegas.

Progress Of A Crime Holds Top Billing

THE PROGRESS OF A CRIME By Julian Symons (Harper, $3.50).

Hugh Bennett, 22 years old, was a reporter for a small-town paper. His assignments were usually dull and local, and he dreamed, as did the other members of the staff, of getting up to London someday, to a job on a national paper.

When he was assigned to cover a Guy Fawkes Night story in the neighboring town of Far Wether it looked as if it would be another routine assignment, but there had lately been some local excitement in Far Wether. A group of young toughs on motorcycles had caused a disturbance at a dance in the Parish Hall and had been thrown out by the local tavern owner.

And on Guy Fawkes Night, as the flames of the bonfire shot into the air, the toughs rode back, and when they rode away the tavern owner lay stabbed to death.

Hugh, on the spot, was both witness and reporter. The story grew to more than local interest and a top crime man was sent down from a big London paper.

Symons, known and respected for his previous novels of suspense, has turned to the novel of police detection and has handled it superbly. The working police, the working press are admirably pictured and the problems which create and are created by juvenile gangs are sympathetically explored.

It's summer in New York. Natash as he calls her, arms around her and kissing her, is despite her name not Russian, not Anglo-Saxon, but Jewish. She comes of a family with some money, she has money of her own, she has her own and Tim's apartment.

Tim's background is a thrice married mother Gloria, the Village and its Bohemian ways, and a self - centered drive to get on in this world. He too thanks to Gloria has his own apartment, his and Natasha's.

They are exuberantly in love, have their favorite games, favorite restaurant, favorite ride to favorite beach, and their favorite silly loving ways of showing they're in love. Then Natash goes to the doctor — yes, good news, he finally tells her, she's going to have a baby.

Is it good news? How can she tell Tim? Should she tell him at all. Will they marry? Shouldn't she at once have an abortion?

For answers to these questions, and out of her irrepressible need for a confidant, she consults worldly - wise Donella. And Donella does know the answers — she is to see a psychiatrist, he decides there is a suicidal tendency in her that doesn't fit her for motherhood, she must not have a child.

This is an astonishingly perspicacious novel, and a first novel, too. It's a story of a love that is less than wild, a love that never runs off the track, of people who commit themselves not all the way, but almost all the way, who pledge to love each other not quite forever. It's a story of failure, but a stupendous failure in human terms. There is a great effervescence in their youthful relationship, they strike sparks — but they don't catch fire. The devious steps by which the doomed couple slows down and stops the "beat of life" are traced with extraordinary subtlety, and you wind up realizing that, if this is a futile way of love, it is, more largely, a futile way of life. Read this for the people in it, for the story, for the grim message, for the artistry in the telling.

Youthful Conductor Feels Genius Stifled In This Era

BAYREUTH, Germany (AP) — Lorin Maazel, at 30 the youngest conductor to perform at Bayreuth's famed Wagner Festival, believes that what the world needs more than anything else is uncommon men.

"The age of the common man," Maazel observes, "makes genius difficult."

Whether Maazel considers himself a genius is an open question. He chose not to discuss it in a recent interview. There is no doubt, however, that he regards himself as uncommon.

He has reason.

He is also one of those rare artists who plays the solo instrument in a violin concerto and conducts the accompanying orchestra at the same time.

The French magazine, "Jours de Paris" described Maazel earlier this year as "a god of 30 years". The influential German newspaper "Die Welt" called him "a great gain for the Wagner Festival and one of the most striking representatives of the younger generation."

Although he was born in Paris and now makes his home in Rome, Maazel is an American citizen and he doesn't like being called an expatriate.

"I'm an American," he says. "I just happen to be over here."

His father was studying singing in Paris when Maazel was born in 1930. The boy returned to the United States four years later, living in Los Angeles and Pittsburgh before coming abroad to stay in 1954.

Since then, he has played concerts and conducted orchestras all over Western Europe.

"I live in Rome," he observes laconically, "but I was home only 23 days last year."

The young American conducted the opera "Lohengrin" seven times during this year's festival. No other opera was given more than four performances.

"It is a great challenge to conduct here," Maazel says. "You sit in one of the most famous conductors' chairs anywhere on earth. Every great conductor has sat in that chair."

Challenge or not, Maazel is not one to be jittery. He has conducted Italian opera in Rome, French opera in Paris, Mexican opera in Mexico and so on.

Maazel was chosen to conduct "Lohengrin", one of the most mystically romantic of all operas, by Wieland and Wolfgang Wagner, grandsons of the composer and managers of the Bayreuth Festival.

His performances have been widely acclaimed in the German press. Maazel's reading of the opera is severe and grand, with a minimum of sentimentality. Wild, foot - pounding applause has greeted each of his performances.

"It is most extraordinary, this festival," Maazel says. "Performers come from many countries and have little time to rehearse, but there is no backbiting at all. It is a truly joint effort."

To conduct at Bayreuth, he adds, is an eerie experience. This is because the orchestra is really located in a pit, 60 feet below the level of the auditorium. Wagner designed it that way so that his booming orchestral chords would not drown out the singers.

"Somehow," Maazel said, "You feel those 1,800 people behind you even more when you can't see them."

Peacock Eye Soul Damned With Realism

THE PEACOCK EYE. By Lewis Lusardi. Scribners. $3.95.

On an isolated farm in Southern France, little Adrienne Lescamp plays fearsomely with her toys as her agonizing mother dies in childbirth to leave the lone daughter to a bitter doom.

Her father has disappeared, and only her Uncle Louis is there to work the place, boss the help, and keep up a prosperous front. He has a savage appetite for women; and the girl, with no formal learning but full of the brute knowledge acquired in the farmyard, acknowledges his desires for what they are, but keeps growing ominously on to the age where they can center on her. Completely untamed, she has the standards imposed by a wanton mother, a wicked uncle, a father who abandoned his family, and the demands of the flesh over which she has never seen any restraint exercised. Thus it is partly her primitive nature, partly ingrained spite and partly loneliness that makes her set out to seduce the young dedicated novice assigned to give her abelated schooling.

This is a tragic picture, drawn in sober grays and funeral blacks, of a girl whose soul is damned. It is done with a seering realism that is illuminated, and redeemed, with a mystical significance.

A War Novel That Appears To Be Tops

From Dec. 8 to 23, 1944, the American Army, in particular Company C and Sgt. Cooley's squad, sets out to capture the town of Saarbach, on the German frontier. There are lots of Saartowns, Saarbruecken, Saarlautern, for instance, and maybe a Saarbach, too; anyway, Saarbach gets plenty real enough by the end of this first novel.

Cooley's men are kids; a veteran in his late 30s, he has a special aversion to the teenagers sent him as replacements for the heavy casualties suffered in a succession of murderous assaults. And the one with whom this story is principally concerned is Everett Hackermeyer, 18. We meet some other men: Wendt, who complains, rightly, that "I got everything;" Foley and Linstrom, weak sisters; the erratic Guthrie who hides his real feelings under clowning.

But during all the sudden rush attacks, under Cooley's constant commands of "Go!" and "Fire!" and "Go!" again, the man we know best is "Hack." He suffers from cold and a runny nose, and he's apt to break out in a loud sneeze in the dead - silent midst of nighttime reconnaissance.

A Moral Between The Lines

THE SEASONS OF LOVE. By Genevieve Dormann. Translated from French by Elaine Desautels. Braziller. $3.50.

In her mid-twenties, pretty, married to an architect, working at her own part time job, leading a footloose life in Paris, Marianne meets Thomas Sandier, and the meaning and direction of her life, hidden from her before, are revealed with a pitiful clarity.

What occurs between them is some passages at love; Marc and Thomas were friends, Marianne had married for no compelling reason. She now finds herself swept off her feet, and she tells Marc so. But she has no sooner committed herself to a way of life which allows for Thomas as its central figure than Thomas explains to her that all is sensation to her that emotions are real, but the form under which they are aroused is immaterial. In other words, "love" and "marriage" and "everlasting" are conventions, no more. So meaning and purpose vanish and Marianne's days are left empty. It's a lesson the girl had not wanted to learn.

Superficially this is a subject of which French writers never seem to tire, nor, to be frank, does it ever really fail to interest us. But Miss Dormann gives it an ethical twist and a richer substance; she makes her story entertain, but catches you up with a good stiff moral.

Fire Fighting From Plane Plenty Rough

By STEVE LOWELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Startled fire fighters stopped their sweaty work and stared.

The plane was too low. Suddenly it began tumbling violently and dipped into treetops at the face of the fire. Several minutes later the wreckage exploded, starting a new fire which soon merged with the main blaze.

Pilot George Carey of Wenatchee, Wash., and copilot J. C. Brehm of Bellevue were killed.

That and the crashes of three other such planes took the lives of 11 men in the last two weeks of July.

The Forest Service decided heavy loads and extreme maneuvers at low altitude were responsible for three crashes.

Pilot Ivan Bisel and copilot Charles Folden, of Phoenix, Ariz., are a couple of these airmen. This summer they flew on water bombing missions in the Kamloops area of British Columbia.

James Spencer Jr., 48, of Toppenish, Wash., was killed this summer fighting a fire in Umatilla National Forest, which stretches across the eastern Oregon-Washington line.

Raymond Pike, 41, Longview, Wash., was a victim of the same fire. Pike was in a group of about 100 convicts from the Washington State Prison who volunteered to fight the flames.

In a hospital bed at Dawson Creek, British Columbia, a logger, John Birth, 33, of Prince George, B.C., told a story of his scary escape from the 10,000-acre Burnt Creek fire.

"The wind turned the fire toward us," he recalled.

He ran from the flames but turned back when he heard a companion call that he had hurt a knee.

"And then the flames were all around us, and we were trapped. We knew the creek was our only hope, so we jumped in. There was just enough water to cover us. We lay flat and just kept our faces out of the water."

After the fire passed, he and four other men struggled about seven miles, finally found the rest of their crew and were flown to the hospital.

These were instances of human cost in Western fires this summer, which by the middle of August the Forest Service was calling the worst in 30 years. From July 1 through Aug. 22 there were 5,934 blazes, ranging in size up to a 35,000-acre monster in California, which burned over 320,000 acres of watershed and timberland protected by the Forest Service.

What caused them? Primarily it was dry, hot weather.

But sparks from a passing train were blamed for one which blazed in the Black Diamond area a few miles east of Tacoma.

Careless campers were blamed for an 8,000-acre fire which threatened Lac le Jeune Lodge and a half dozen summer homes in the Kamloops area.

Lightning from summer storms were blamed for many fires.

Cigarettes and matches caused many more.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police planted a young Mountie in plain clothes in Ashcroft, B.C. He sat with a couple of men in a tavern, and they asked him to go along with them. He did, and close behind trailed a truck loaded with officers.

The two men set a couple of fires and then asked the disguised Mountie to start one. That was when the other officers lowered the boom.

The result: Peter Bara, 32, and Francis Sampson, 54, are starting prison sentences of two years each.

Why do men do that sort of thing? Well, one reason is that fires make jobs, and the jobs pay up to $15 a day.

Showers are beginning in the Northwest again, and officials believe the worst is over. C. B. Beaty, fire dispatcher for Payette National Forest in Idaho, says heavy rain over most of his state's timber has broken the back of Idaho's worst fire season in 50 years.

Rain in August also helped fire fighters stamp out the remains of fires in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

But crews were kept on areas where parts of big fires were still smoldering and conditions remained ripe for more fires further south.

Officials remembered the holocaust which swept the Northwest 50 years ago, when a disastrous fire storm broke out.

That summer, the fire-damping moisture was gone. Many days of exceptional heat had evaporated it. The trees were like resin-filled torches ready to flare.

Fires spotted the region—about 1,700 of them. They superheated the air above the whole area. As the air grew hotter, it rose faster and faster, creating an immense draft. Wind of 60 to 100 miles an hour, hurricane speed, whipped the flames. The fires drew together concentrated over northern Idaho, northwestern Montana, northeastern Washington and neighboring areas of Canada.

The climax came Aug. 20, and the great fires raged 48 hours. They burned the Montana villages of Taft, Haugan and Deborgia. They burned a third of Wallace, Idaho. They threatened Newport, Wash., Mullan and Elk City, Idaho, and Thompson Falls, Mont.

They killed 85 persons, 78, of them fire fighters, and they swept three million acres, destroying enough timber to build about 55,000 four-room homes.

Smoke billowed across Montana the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, north into the Canadian provinces and south into Wyoming. It was so dark in many places that street lights had to be turned on during daylight hours.

A Memorial Day service was held at St. Maries, Idaho, this year honoring the 78 men who died fighting those fires 50 years ago. There is a lot there where the victims were buried.

Could this happen again?

Man's efforts to combat nature are puny, but he would have a better chance now in fighting a holocaust like the one in 1910.

Now he has lookouts, patrol planes, knowledge of fire behavior, training in fire fighting techniques, records of manpower sources, quick means of getting crew sto fires by plane, helicopter and truck, maps showing types of timber and brush so he can figure whether a fire would travel fast or slow.

He has good telephone service, weathoer forecasts, two-way radio systems, giant tractors to clear fire lines, portable power saws and pumps and trench diggers. He has specially trained smokejumpers to drop at the scene of brand new fires when they can be controlled by just a few men, or maybe only one. He has tough Indian crews specially trained to take care of hot spots.

He has rations, cooking equipment, tools and beds ready to go by mule or plane and parachute.

Man is a lot better prepared to fight such a fire blitz now. During July, the Forest Service used 25,000 men, 390 tractors, 623 water pumpers, and more than 300 aircraft fighting 4,000 fires in its 10 western regions.

But a Forest Service spokesman answers carefully when asked if the 1910 disaster could happen again.

Foresters are inclined to reply that such a catastrophe isn't likely but they remember too, that nature is still the master of her own forces.

Police Use Ingenious Ways To Get Mob To Go On Home

Editor's Note—Riots are a rarity in the Communist world for a simple reason: Red police shoot to kill. Respect for human life makes that unthinkable in the West. This AP survey describes the ingenious methods used by riot police in key countries to persuade a crowd it's time to go home.

By SID MOODY
Associated Press Writer

Linked arm and arm, the mob writhes and hisses in hate like a serpent.

A few yards away stand the police, braced against an invisible barrage of sneers, taunts and anger.

A riot has begun.

Such scenes are as old as time and as new as a 1960 headline.

Fury in the streets is shouting history across the globe. A mob toppled Syngman Rhee into exile in Korea last spring. Rioting Congo natives uprooted 75 years of Belgian rule in a matter of days. Mobs chant the challenging cry of "Cuba, si: Yankees, no" in Havana squares.

In places the grim line of authority holds. In others it's overwhelmed and the crowd rules. How are the police off the world equipped against the mob?

An Associated Press survey of riot control in 12 countries shows in the nuclear age police still reply on such ancient strategems as the club and a firm shove. But the forces of order have added some new techniques to keep peace.

In times gone by, ground rules for riot police were that anything goes. Napoleon catapulted to fame and stopped the French Revolution with one blast of a cannon at a French mob.

By gentleman's agreement neither the bobbies nor demonstrators carry guns. It just isn't done, old chap.

Police can't even use their truncheons unless on order from a high-ranking inspector. Only a superintendent or the commissioner himself can give permission to use tear gas.

The British way is for bobbies to link arms and then give a proper push against the rioters until they are broken up into small groups where they can be easily dispersed.

Sometimes the bobbies mount horses that have been specially trained to keep cool. The animals are taught to push backwards with their rumps and it is definitely not sporting for rioters to stick them with pins.

But the most effective device in orderly old Blighty is the familiar phrase "Break it up, chums, come along now."

Rioting is such a threat in Italy that there is a special force of police trained only to handle mobs. They were organized after the war when rioting by Italy's sizeable Communist party threatened the government and cost over 100 lives.

The police are called "Celere." That's Italian for quick. They are stationed in every major city in Italy and wear a special battle-gray uniform.

They are ready to ride at a moments notice in bright red Jeeps, armored cars and heavily screened water pumpers. The pumps can spray water dyed red or blue. When things quiet down, police can single out the rioters from their stained clothing.

When the riot call comes, a column of the Jeeps smash into the squares where crowds are gathered. They start moving in a tight circle, increasing speed and widening the circle until the crowd either scatters or is run down. Police lean from the roaring Jeeps and club anyone within reach.

The tactics are rough but effective. Some innocent bystanders are hurt but police say they shouldn't have been loitering there in the first place.

The Celere are armed but only fire when things get too rough. Eleven persons were killed during rioting in Italy last July but more police were injured than rioters.

The favorite weapons of the demonstrators are paving blocks which come big in Italy and aren't cemented in place.

France also has its own special riot police, the C.R.S. (Compagne Republicaine de Securite). They've had a lot of practice in a country where freedom of speech often ends in an angry roar.

They have small arms weapons but their main strength is in numbers. They turn out in droves for any major threatened difficulty.

The regular police generally rely on their nightsticks but also wear lead weights in the bottom of their familiar capes. Ostensibly this is to make them hang properly but it makes the cape an effective persuader when swung.

Guns anger Indian mobs and a policeman who drew a pistol in Faridabad recently was overpowered by the crowd and killed with his own weapon. Generally an Indian policeman can't use a fire-arm until permission has been granted in the presence of a first-class magistrate.

Indians have inherited a tendency for mob action as a legacy of their struggle for independence. As a result the crowds are rarely on the side of the police. They often take to an American product, the soda bottle, as their favorite missile.

When students in Turkey rioted against the Menderes regime, pro-Menderes police battled them with bullets, tear gas and mounted squads. When the army took over enforcement, it holstered its weapons and ultimately stood aside while cadets demonstrated. Six days later the military took over.

In Argentina, police rely heavily on tear gas and dyed streams of water. The Argentinians have refinements of their own. When police charge in trucks, demonstrators often throw four-pronged nails under the tires.

Because of the reliance on tear gas, there is scarcely a resident of Buenoes Aires that hasn't at some time or other suffered from fumes as they drift into subways, movie theaters and through the streets during disorders.

Brazilians play rough—on both sides. If things get out of hand police use tanks, tommyguns or bayonets.

New York police are always looking for trouble—so they can stop it before it begins. A neo-Nazi rally last July 4 was cancelled by court order to forestall any possible violence. Most of the city's demonstration problems come from political groups fighting over Castro, Khrushchev or what have you.

Gotham's finest are always conscious of civil rights but are "expected to take no guff from anyone that impedes their duty," says a department spokesman.

Japanese police have probably had the greatest riot experience in recent years. But their sidearms have been ordered kept at their sides. At no time during the anti-American riots last June did Tokyo police draw their revolvers. Only twice since the war have they fired tear gas.

HONG KONG TODAY

Biggest Gamble In World On Land

By RELMAN MORIN

HONG KONG (AP) — The biggest gamble in the world today is taking place on a dot between the paws of the Communist Chinese tiger.

Upwards of three million players are in the game. Some are very rich but most are bitterly poor. One man plays for money, very big money, another for a little food and the sweet breath of freedom.

All of them are gambling on the future, betting the tiger won't strike.

It is a tiny island, a British crown colony, nestled against the South China coast. With a strip of adjacent territory, the area measures 391 square miles. Prior to the Communist conquest of the mainland in 1949, some 600,000 people lived there. Old hands said it was crowded.

Now the population is estimated at three million.

Nobody knows the exact figure because of the steady stream of illegal refugees who enter. They slip in on sampans, small boats, riding a log—anything to get away from Red China.

TREMENDOUS

This tremendous influx of people, and the political convulsions in the world during the last decade, have showered wealth on Hong Kong. Today, it's like a commercial Fort Knox.

Real estate values have gone up 15-fold in 13 years. It has five times the number of new industries today that it had in 1950. It has become one of the world's major seaports, and one of the biggest centers for scrapping obsolete ships.

A Chinese businessman tells you he made 480 per cent profit on a small investment in three years.

An architect says, "There's more than $30 million in building contracts on the drawing boards in the office."

In the business district buildings are being torn down and new, air-conditioned, marble-decorated skyscrapers are going up.

In the residential areas, bulldozers bite into solid granite, scraping out a flat shelf on the side of a hill for beautiful—and expensive—apartment houses.

The government has a plan to reclaim 3,000 acres of land. That doesn't seem like much. But in Hong Kong, land is like pure gold.

The huge reservoir of unskilled labor is another source of wealth. In certain articles, the Hong Kong manufacturer can compete with anybody in the world.

So the air vibrates. Ships loading and unloading. Factories humming. Crowds window-shopping on the streets and thronging the richly stocked stores. "I'm going broke saving money on bargains here," laughs an American woman. Americans top the tourist list. They spent $63 million in Hong Kong last year. The island shipped $120 million in garments alone to the United States in 1959. Hotel space is at a premium. The prices in a nightclub compare with Las Vegas.

Progress Of A Crime Holds Top Billing

THE PROGRESS OF A CRIME By Julian Symons (Harper, $3.50).

Hugh Bennett, 22 years old, was a reporter for a small-town paper. His assignments were usually dull and local, and he dreamed, as did the other members of the staff, of getting up to London someday, to a job on a national paper.

When he was assigned to cover a Guy Fawkes Night story in the neighboring town of Far Wether it looked as if it would be another routine assignment, but there had lately been some local excitement in Far Wether. A group of young toughs on motorcycles had caused a disturbance at a dance in the Parish Hall and had been thrown out by the local tavern owner.

And on Guy Fawkes Night, as the flames of the bonfire shot into the air, the toughs rode back, and when they rode away the tavern owner lay stabbed to death.

Hugh, on the spot, was both witness and reporter. The story grew to more than local interest and a top crime man was sent down from a big London paper.

Symons, known and respected for his previous novels of suspense, has turned to the novel of police detection and has handled it superbly. The working police, the working press are admirably pictured and the problems which create and are created by juvenile gangs are sympathetically explored.

The Beat Of Life About Love In N.Y.

It's summer in New York. Natash as he calls her, arms around her and kissing her, is despite her name not Russian, not Anglo-Saxon, but Jewish. She comes of a family with some money, she has money of her own, she has her own and Tim's apartment.

Tim's background is a thrice married mother Gloria, the Village and its Bohemian ways, and a self - centered drive to get on in this world. He too thanks to Gloria has his own apartment, his and Natasha's.

They are exuberantly in love, have their favorite games, favorite restaurant, favorite ride to favorite beach, and their favorite silly loving ways of showing they're in love. Then Natash goes to the doctor — yes, good news, he finally tells her, she's going to have a baby.

Is it good news? How can she tell Tim? Should she tell him at all. Will they marry? Shouldn't she at once have an abortion?

For answers to these questions, and out of her irrepressible need for a confidant, she consults worldly - wise Donella. And Donella does know the answers — she is to see a psychiatrist, he decides there is a suicidal tendency in her that doesn't fit her for motherhood, she must not have a child.

This is an astonishingly perspicacious novel, and a first novel, too. It's a story of a love that is less than wild, a love that never runs off the track, of people who commit themselves not all the way, but almost all the way, who pledge to love each other not quite forever. It's a story of failure, but a stupendous failure in human terms. There is a great effervescence in their youthful relationship, they strike sparks — but they don't catch fire. The devious steps by which the doomed couple slows down and stops the "beat of life" are traced with extraordinary subtlety, and you wind up realizing that, if this is a futile way of love, it is, more largely, a futile way of life. Read this for the people in it, for the story, for the grim message, for the artistry in the telling.

Youthful Conductor Feels Genius Stifled In This Era

BAYREUTH, Germany (AP) — Lorin Maazel, at 30 the youngest conductor to perform at Bayreuth's famed Wagner Festival, believes that what the world needs more than anything else is uncommon men.

Whether Maazel considers himself a genius is an open question. He chose not to discuss it in a recent interview. There is no doubt, however, that he regards himself as uncommon.

He has reason.

He is also one of those rare artists who plays the solo instrument in a violin concerto and conducts the accompanying orchestra at the same time.

The French magazine, "Jours de Paris" described Maazel earlier this year as "a god of 30 years". The influential German newspaper "Die Welt" called him "a great gain for the Wagner Festival and one of the most striking representatives of the younger generation."

Although he was born in Paris and now makes his home in Rome, Maazel is an American citizen and he doesn't like being called an expatriate.

"I'm an American," he says. "I just happen to be over here."

His father was studying singing in Paris when Maazel was born in 1930. The boy returned to the United States four years later, living in Los Angeles and Pittsburgh before coming abroad to stay in 1954.

Since then, he has played concerts and conducted orchestras all over Western Europe.

"I live in Rome," he observes laconically, "but I was home only 23 days last year."

The young American conducted the opera "Lohengrin" seven times during this year's festival. No other opera was given more than four performances.

"It is a great challenge to conduct here," Maazel says. "You sit in one of the most famous conductors' chairs anywhere on earth. Every great conductor has sat in that chair."

Challenge or not, Maazel is not one to be jittery. He has conducted Italian opera in Rome, French opera in Paris, Mexican opera in Mexico and so on.

Maazel was chosen to conduct "Lohengrin", one of the most mystically romantic of all operas, by Wieland and Wolfgang Wagner, grandsons of the composer and managers of the Bayreuth Festival.

His performances have been widely acclaimed in the German press. Maazel's reading of the opera is severe and grand, with a minimum of sentimentality. Wild, foot - pounding applause has greeted each of his performances.

"It is most extraordinary, this festival," Maazel says. "Performers come from many countries and have little time to rehearse, but there is no backbiting at all. It is a truly joint effort."

To conduct at Bayreuth, he adds, is an eerie experience. This is because the orchestra is really located in a pit, 60 feet below the level of the auditorium. Wagner designed it that way so that his booming orchestral chords would not drown out the singers.

"Somehow," Maazel said, "You feel those 1,800 people behind you even more when you can't see them."

Peacock Eye Soul Damned With Realism

THE PEACOCK EYE. By Lewis Lusardi. Scribners. $3.95.

On an isolated farm in Southern France, little Adrienne Lescamp plays fearsomely with her toys as her agonizing mother dies in childbirth to leave the lone daughter to a bitter doom.

Her father has disappeared, and only her Uncle Louis is there to work the place, boss the help, and keep up a prosperous front. He has a savage appetite for women; and the girl, with no formal learning but full of the brute knowledge acquired in the farmyard, acknowledges his desires for what they are, but keeps growing ominously on to the age where they can center on her. Completely untamed, she has the standards imposed by a wanton mother, a wicked uncle, a father who abandoned his family, and the demands of the flesh over which she has never seen any restraint exercised. Thus it is partly her primitive nature, partly ingrained spite and partly loneliness that makes her set out to seduce the young dedicated novice assigned to give her abelated schooling.

This is a tragic picture, drawn in sober grays and funeral blacks, of a girl whose soul is damned. It is done with a seering realism that is illuminated, and redeemed, with a mystical significance.

A War Novel That Appears To Be Tops

From Dec. 8 to 23, 1944, the American Army, in particular Company C and Sgt. Cooley's squad, sets out to capture the town of Saarbach, on the German frontier. There are lots of Saartowns, Saarbruecken, Saarlautern, for instance, and maybe a Saarbach, too; anyway, Saarbach gets plenty real enough by the end of this first novel.

Cooley's men are kids; a veteran in his late 30s, he has a special aversion to the teenagers sent him as replacements for the heavy casualties suffered in a succession of murderous assaults. And the one with whom this story is principally concerned is Everett Hackermeyer, 18. We meet some other men: Wendt, who complains, rightly, that "I got everything;" Foley and Linstrom, weak sisters; the erratic Guthrie who hides his real feelings under clowning.

But during all the sudden rush attacks, under Cooley's constant commands of "Go!" and "Fire!" and "Go!" again, the man we know best is "Hack." He suffers from cold and a runny nose, and he's apt to break out in a loud sneeze in the dead - silent midst of nighttime reconnaissance.

A Moral Between The Lines

THE SEASONS OF LOVE. By Genevieve Dormann. Translated from French by Elaine Desautels. Braziller. $3.50.

In her mid-twenties, pretty, married to an architect, working at her own part time job, leading a footloose life in Paris, Marianne meets Thomas Sandier, and the meaning and direction of her life, hidden from her before, are revealed with a pitiful clarity.

What occurs between them is some passages at love; Marc and Thomas were friends, Marianne had married for no compelling reason. She now finds herself swept off her feet, and she tells Marc so. But she has no sooner committed herself to a way of life which allows for Thomas as its central figure than Thomas explains to her that all is sensation to her that emotions are real, but the form under which they are aroused is immaterial. In other words, "love" and "marriage" and "everlasting" are conventions, no more. So meaning and purpose vanish and Marianne's days are left empty. It's a lesson the girl had not wanted to learn.

Superficially this is a subject of which French writers never seem to tire, nor, to be frank, does it ever really fail to interest us. But Miss Dormann gives it an ethical twist and a richer substance; she makes her story entertain, but catches you up with a good stiff moral.

Steel Industry Question Looms

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — When is the steel industry going to make a comeback?

That question hung like a dark cloud over the economy this week.

Labor Day, usually a signpost indicating an upturn, came and went without a hint that steel production is on the verge of a substantial increase.

The stock market particularly was disappointed over the steel situation. It declined sharply Tuesday and Wednesday but later showed a little stamina. Brokers said a steel resurgence is badly needed to stimulate encouragement on the part of investors.

MILLS

Steel mills operated at an estimated 50.6 per cent of capacity, second lowest rate this year only to the July 4 week. Last week the level was 52 per cent.

The holiday and rail workers' strike against giant U.S. Steel Corp. cut into the output. But the main disappointment was the sluggishness of new orders.

Industry executives said they were hopeful that the operating rate would move up in October. But they still haven't got the orders to make it sure. Users still were eating up inventories with indications they would get down to bare bones before doing any major buying.

Automakers were busy showing off new models and steping up production of the 1961s but they weren't in a rush to buy steel. Output was up to an estimated 56.00 cars from 51,150 last week with the compacts (they require less steel) accounting for 48 per cent of this week's total. A sharp increase is expected next week.

Effect of the strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad had spread to Pennsylvania coal mines but had not yet hurt other industry too much.

STOCK SALES

Stock sales on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 10,852,200 shares compared with 14,952,240 the previous week and 11,138,515 a year ago. The sale of bonds totaled $15,868,00 compared with $20,016,00 the preceding week and $27,286,500 a year ago.

The government reported that business spending for plant and equipment was leveling off at a lower rate than had been predicted. It estimated expenditures for the year at $36,370,000,000. In March the forecast was for $37,016,000,000 and in June it was for $36,850,000,000.

Prices Decline On All Fronts In Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Post-Labor Day gloom settled over the stock market this week as prices declined on all fronts for the second consecutive week.

It was a big disappointment to most Wall Streeters who had hoped the holiday break would bring about a change in investor sentiment and lift the list out of its summer doldrums.

But there was no improvement in the business and international news, and traders now are reported to be generally bearish. This bearishness is said to reflect a deterioration in market leadership; third quarter earnings will be disappointing and are likely to bring in new liquidation; there is no sign of the traditional fall business pick-up; and the funds now are confining their interest to the bond market.

The technical evidence—such as increased breadth, higher odd-lot selling, and no pressing liquidation—has been the only reassuring aspect of the market.

Some analysts believe the two-week shake-out has left prices at bargain levels from which a fair rise can be expected. Bargain hunters took this cue on Friday and gave stocks their best gain in three weeks.

Studebaker-Packard, which announced the first of two expected acquisitions, was the most active issue this week on sales of 239,400 shares. It finished at 12 5-8 off 1-2.

Some Grains Up, As Others Mix

CHICAGO (UPI)—Hot weather and fears of crop damage brought a strong demand to soybean futures this week, and prices rose as much as 3 cents a bushel.

Wheat and rye firmed, but other grain were mixed.

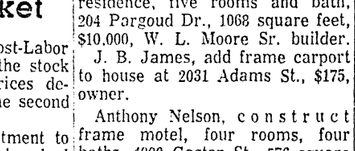

Compared with last Friday, wheat was up ¾ to 1⅞; corn off ⅜ to up ⅞; oats off ¼ to 1¼; rye up ⅛ to 1⅝; soybeans up 2⅜ to 3; and drummed lard off 2 to up 20 points.

Trading was mostly light, but offerings were cut to a trickle as a strike by grain elevator workers tied up the port of Chicago.

Insurance Leader

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas has more legal reserve life insurance companies than any other state in the union. The current total is 297 legal reserve firms in Texas and 1,822 insurance firms of all types.

SPECIALIZED MOTOR CAR DEALER

An opportunity exists in the three-state territory of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi for a specialized dealer to distribute internationally known S&S Cadillac funeral cars and ambulances. Sales are developed through personal contact of funeral directors and ambulance operators, supported by company-sponsored advertising and sales promotions.

Travel is required, and applicants must be willing to cover this three-state area thoroughly.

The individual selected must be financially stable, with sufficient capital to cover living and traveling expenses, and demonstrator or used-car inventory. New and used automobile sales experience is helpful. Age and education are not controlling factors. Extensive sales and service facilities are not required, nor is there a franchise cost.

Local interviews will be arranged for qualified applicants.

Distribution Of Oil Surplus Poses Problem

HOUSTON (AP) — Development of an international formula under which each oil nation would receive its fair share of world crude production would be quite difficult.

Government officials from the Middle East and Venezuela in recent months have suggested international proration as a possible permanent solution to the current world surplus of oil.

The surplus also has led to revival of talk of nationwide proration in the United States.

Whether world wide or simply on a domestic level, working out an equitable formula presents rather impossible problems.

Political and economic factors minimize chances for complete agreement and understanding among oil nations or states.

PREDICTION

How much production would a strong oil nation give up in order to bring about equitable output?

The United States last year had 12.9 per cent of the world crude reserves but claimed 38.7 per cent of world production. Russia had only 9.4 per cent of reserves but claimed 12.7 per cent of 1959's crude output.

In sharp contrast with these two world powers are the comparatively small Middle East nations which have drawn up much of the blame for the current world surplus.

Little Kuwait, for instance, had 20.9 per cent of world crude reserves but only 6.7 per cent of 1959's production. Saudia Arabia claimed 16.8 per cent of reserves but only 5.4 per cent of crude output.

The contrast is even sharper by hemisphere.

The western hemisphere produced 58.7 per cent of world crude output last year but claimed only 22.5 per cent of all oil reserves. The eastern hemisphere, with 77.3 per cent of reserves, had only 41.3 per cent of production.

The contrasts take a sudden turn, however, when the number of producing oil wells is considered.

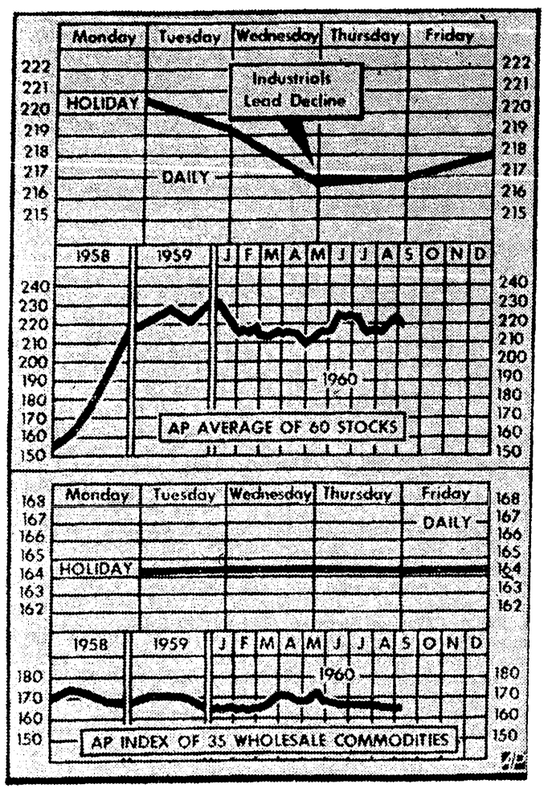

The United States, with 38.7 per cent world production last year, has nearly 600,000 producing oil wells. The Middle East last year got 22.4 per cent of world output from only about 1,000 producers.

The Interstate Oil Compact Commission has a committee studying the "equality of opportunity of oil production by the sovereign producing states."

The study still is in an exploratory stage but discussions have been held on factors that should be considered in arriving at equality of production between states. In addition to reserves the number of wells the factors include the ability of a state to produce its reserves and the number of marginal or low production wells.

Production from marginal wells offers another contrast.

FINANCIAL $ OIL-GAS NEWS

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks moved lower for the second straight week, closing at 218.0 from 220.6 a week earlier. The commodity index rose for the first time in seven weeks when it closed at 164.3 from 164.1 in the preceding period. Food was the dominant factor in the advance. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

ON DRAWING BOARDS

New Stock Market Will Reverse Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—A new stock exchange is on the drawing boards. It reverses a trend of recent years when several smaller exchanges combined on a regional basis.

The National Stock Exchange, which hopes to get going here by the end of the year to deal in shares at present unlisted elsewhere, will be the first entirely new one since the Securities and Exchange Commission was set up in 1934. It will make 13 now registered by that agency. There are four registered exchanges.

The new exchange will start small with probably only a dozen stocks listed. It will offer little threat to the business of the older exchanges. The New York Stock Exchange has stocks of 1,141 companies listed and in 1959 did 84 per cent of all trading on the registered exchanges. The American Stock Exchange has about 800 listed, expects 100 new ones this year for the biggest year since the SEC took over In 1959 it did 9.4 per cent of the national business.

CHANGE

Stocks listed on the newest exchange will come from among the 8,000 or more now traded over the counter. And dealers in that flourishing business question whether the National Exchange will put much of a crimp in their trade.

Skeptics in Wall Street wonder why companies now unlisted on other exchanges would want to list on the new outfit, especially since its requirements are roughly the same as those of the American Stock Exchange. But officers of the newcomer say they have a sizable list of applicants and are accepting only a fraction of them.

Minimum requirements on the National Exchange narrow the list to companies with assets of $1 million, with 150,000 common shares in the hands of 500 holders. The American Exchange requires at least 500 public owners (not counting those in management) of at least 100,000 outstanding shares.

The New York Stock Exchange minimum is 1,500 holders of 400,000 common shares of a company with net income of $1 million and assets of $8 million

All exchanges, including the newcomer, have committees that dig much deeper than that into the affairs of a corporation before listing its stock.

Trading on the National Exchange will be on a floor now being prepared in the building of its sponsor, the Mercantile Exchange, which trades in commodities. The Mercantile's nationwide network of 81 tickers will carry the quotations. National Exchange officers expect the network will expand rapidly when stock quotations are added.

Commissions charged on the new exchange will be roughly the same as on the other two in New York.

Committee Says Urban Renewal Offers Paradox

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Urban renewal is something of a paradox," says the Committee for Economic Growth.

How so? "The demolition of slum quarters by urban renewal projects is depleting the supply of housing available to low-income people. So, too, is the federally-aided highway program in urban areas.

"At the same time, a chronically severe shortage of such accommodations is being aggravated by heavy migrations from rural to urban centers. The resulting dislocations of low-income people from one section of the city to another have caused hardship and uncertainty and tend to increase overcrowding in some neighborhoods."

In view of these and other shortcomings of urban renewal, the committee concluded, "a comprehensive review of the program is required."

First Meeting Of Local API Slated Tuesday

The newly formed Monroe chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will hold its first meeting Tuesday night at the Paragon Club, it was announced recently by Fred Dillard.

The session will begin at 6 p.m. with a social hour followed by dinner Officials of the API from Shreveport, Dallas and San Antonio are expected to attend.

Election of officers to serve for the coming year will be the main business of the evening and anyone in the area connected with or interested in the petroleum industry is invited to attend, along with representatives of the various oil and gas companies throughout the Twin Cities.

New Oil Field Seems Likely In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A new oil field seems assured in Franklin County.

The Shortridge -Justiss- Mears wildcat, the Board of Supervisors No. 1, has come in about 11 miles northeast of the Bude field and flowed at 198 barrels of oil per day from a sand in the lower Tuscaloosa zone at 10,906-12 feet The well is in section 16, 5 north, 5 east.

Production tests are underway at Warrior Oil and Radzewicz-Amite County wildcat, the Caine No. 1, sec. 1-3n-6e, located about two miles northwest of the McComb field. Operators are expected to test zones at 10,395 and 10,478 feet in what may be the Eutaw formation. A sand at 10,984-94 feet in the lower Tuscaloosa also had oil shows.

If production is established in the upper sands, it will be the first in the McComb-Smithdale areas. Both of these fields produce from the lower Tuscaloosa. The recently found Smithdale field in Amite County is about two miles northwest of the well under test

In Wayne County, Larco Drilling Co. and George Harrison are continuing to test their wildcat, the USA No. 1, sec. 26-7n-9w, in an effort to evaluate commercial worth of oil sands which were logged. The venture is reported to be flowing a small amount of 42 gravity oil from perforations at 11,917-27 feet after being acidized. The venture is about two miles southwest of the Thompson's Creek oil field.

In Jones County, Ginther, Warren & Co. continue to test the Holifield No. 1, sec 18-6n-1w, with no information being released. Operators are reported to be testing a zone at 8,992-9004 feet, with the wildcat located about one mile north of the small Ovett oil field.

In the Hardrock Country of northeast Mississippi, Gulf Oil Corp. appears to have opened a new gas field at its Calhoun County wildcat, the Reid No. 1, sec. 26-12s-1e. Operators are testing a sand at 3,402 feet with the well reported flowing an unestimated amount of gas into the pits. The well is located in the eastern part of the county near the Chickasaw County line

In Hancock County near the one-well Kiln oil field, Marshall R. Young is drilling below 7,100 feet in his wildcat, the Miller No. 1, sec. 35-7s-15w, a 10,350 foot test.

In Amite County, Justiss-Mears Oil Co. is below 5,800 feet in its important wildcat, the Smith No. 1, sec. 6-4n-3e, with the venture scheduled to go to 11,600 feet.

In the McComb field of Pike County, Sun Oil completed its H. M. Snott, No. 1, sec. 11-3n-7e, flowing 108 barrels of oil per day from a sand at 10,940-50 feet. Sun and Hughes finaled the Carroll-O'Brien unit No. 1-a, sec. 14-3n-7e, flowing 179 barrels from 10,882-90 feet.

At Little Creek on the Pike County side, Shell Oil completed its Scott et al No 1, sec 11-4n-8e, flowing 234 barrels of oil per day from a sand at 10,776-847 feet.

In the Reedy Creek field of Jones County, the California Co. finaled its Walker et al No. 2, sec. 9-9n-11w, as a dual well. A sand at 9,291 feet pumped 100 barrels per day, and a second sand at 7,282 feet pumped 67 barrels.

In the Heidelberg field of Jasper County, Broadhead & Stack completed their McCormick No. 1, sec. 4-10n-10w, pumping 240 barrels of oil per day from a sand at 10,686-720 feet

$25 MILLION YEARLY EXPENSE

Buggy Rustlers Costly To Supermarkets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Free-wheeling shopping cart rustlers, most of them customers, are taking the nation's supermarkets for a 25-million-dollar-a-year buggy ride.

One store employe, trailing a suspected little old lady home, saw her dispose of her shopping cart by sailing it down a ravine. The ravine yielded 26 more carts the same woman had dumped there.

Cartnapers take off with $1,259,000 worth of carts a year in Greater New York, store owners report. In Washington, D. C. supermarket men say the area loss this year may hit $300,000, with 4,500 buggies missing through the first five months.

For the entire nation, according to Super Market Institute, Inc., the loss comes to around 25 million dollars a year in missing and damaged shopping carts.

COST

The carts cost between $25 and $45 apiece. For each one lost, a store has to sell nearly a year's supply of food to a family to break even, according to Wallace Flint, vice president of the National Association of Food Chains.

To counter the cartnapers, hard-hit food men are using special watchmen, carry-out boys, shopping carts whose wheels lock when it crosses a magnetic field, carts that sound alarms, and publicity drives that include circulars, police warnings, sermons by clergymen, newspaper ads and radio and TV spots.

What makes a cartnaper? In most cases, Flint and other officials blame carelessness, rather than thievery.

TYPICAL

A typical 'naper, Mrs. C, lives a few blocks from her supermarket. Her groceries are heavy. Ignoring a warning sign, she trundles her bag-laden cart past the store's parking lot and on home. "I'll bring it back next time," she thinks.

But she doesn't. Maybe it rains, the cart gets rusty, and she is ashamed to show up at the store with it. Maybe someone steals it from her yard the next day. Through delay, oversight or apathy the cart is never returned.

Stolen buggies kick around the neighborhood, get overturned and damaged. They wind up in dumps and junkyards before stores can retrieve them. Sometimes they are found 100 miles away.

The vehicles are used as laundry baskets and garden carts Kids ride them perilously down the sidewalks or strip their wheels to make racers. Wheels buried in the ground, they become novelty yard planters. Some even get into the hands of fences who try to sell them back to stores. One employe found 25 carts in an apartment house basement.

Carts that do get back to stores often need repairs. "They're just not built for cross-country use," one official said wryly.

Professionals get into the act, too.

In a tenement district in a large city, says the Super Market Institute, the carts are stolen systematically by juvenile gangs who sell them to shady second-hand outlets in another part of town.

Supermarkets turn to the police for help against professionals But when it comes to customers—the biggest source of lost carts—they tread lightly.

REASON

The reason for reluctance to prosecute, a chain official admits, is fear of bad publicity. With competition keen, a chain doesn't want to be placed in the unsympathetic position of getting the law on well-intentioned homemakers. The possible resulting boycott might make its shopping cart losses look small.

Besides customer relations, there is the danger of suits for false arrest.

With recourse to the law almost ruled out, supermarkets are banding together to fight cartnaping with high-powered publicity campaigns.

The food distributors of greater Philadelphia conducted an intensive two-week drive bombarding the public with newspaper ads, radio and TV messages, posters, bag stuffers and mailers.

It worked spectacularly. Losses of carts fell to almost nothing In one month, nearly 2,400 missing carts were returned. But later, as in other cities, it became necessary to start another drive. To be effective, supermarkets have learned, anti-cartnaping publicity must be continuous.

While scrambling to keep down their losses, supermarket operaters agree that cartnaping is here to stay. Some think the problem will never be licked. Others hope that gradually—through continuing publicity and effort—cartnaping will sink into disrepute.

Until then, market men are continuing to look out of their windows with a wary eye.

Steel Industry Question Looms

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — When is the steel industry going to make a comeback?

That question hung like a dark cloud over the economy this week.

Labor Day, usually a signpost indicating an upturn, came and went without a hint that steel production is on the verge of a substantial increase.

The stock market particularly was disappointed over the steel situation. It declined sharply Tuesday and Wednesday but later showed a little stamina. Brokers said a steel resurgence is badly needed to stimulate encouragement on the part of investors.

MILLS

Steel mills operated at an estimated 50.6 per cent of capacity, second lowest rate this year only to the July 4 week. Last week the level was 52 per cent.

The holiday and rail workers' strike against giant U.S. Steel Corp. cut into the output. But the main disappointment was the sluggishness of new orders.

Industry executives said they were hopeful that the operating rate would move up in October. But they still haven't got the orders to make it sure. Users still were eating up inventories with indications they would get down to bare bones before doing any major buying.

Automakers were busy showing off new models and steping up production of the 1961s but they weren't in a rush to buy steel. Output was up to an estimated 56.00 cars from 51,150 last week with the compacts (they require less steel) accounting for 48 per cent of this week's total. A sharp increase is expected next week.

Effect of the strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad had spread to Pennsylvania coal mines but had not yet hurt other industry too much.

STOCK SALES

Stock sales on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 10,852,200 shares compared with 14,952,240 the previous week and 11,138,515 a year ago. The sale of bonds totaled $15,868,00 compared with $20,016,00 the preceding week and $27,286,500 a year ago.

The government reported that business spending for plant and equipment was leveling off at a lower rate than had been predicted. It estimated expenditures for the year at $36,370,000,000. In March the forecast was for $37,016,000,000 and in June it was for $36,850,000,000.

Prices Decline On All Fronts In Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Post-Labor Day gloom settled over the stock market this week as prices declined on all fronts for the second consecutive week.

It was a big disappointment to most Wall Streeters who had hoped the holiday break would bring about a change in investor sentiment and lift the list out of its summer doldrums.

But there was no improvement in the business and international news, and traders now are reported to be generally bearish. This bearishness is said to reflect a deterioration in market leadership; third quarter earnings will be disappointing and are likely to bring in new liquidation; there is no sign of the traditional fall business pick-up; and the funds now are confining their interest to the bond market.

The technical evidence—such as increased breadth, higher odd-lot selling, and no pressing liquidation—has been the only reassuring aspect of the market.

Some analysts believe the two-week shake-out has left prices at bargain levels from which a fair rise can be expected. Bargain hunters took this cue on Friday and gave stocks their best gain in three weeks.

Studebaker-Packard, which announced the first of two expected acquisitions, was the most active issue this week on sales of 239,400 shares. It finished at 12 5-8 off 1-2.

LOCAL REPORT

Building Permits Drop Last Week

Building permits issued in Monroe dropped to 18 last week from the previous week's 29 — but the construction value rose to $141,025.

Dale Martha, who issued the permits in the office of Building Inspector William Hines, pointed out that permit requests were made on only three days last week.

Tuesday, Sept. 6:

Oma McGuffie, construct brick veneer residence, five rooms, two baths, 1103 Roselawn, 1600 square feet, $19,000, Oma McGuffie, to build.

E. L. Morris, frame and tin garage, one room, 1000 Powell Ave., 200 square feet, $150, owner to build.

Earl C. Brinberry, brick veneer residence, eight rooms, three baths, 2701 Pargoud Ext., 2142 square feet, $25,000, owner to to build.

Rev. Joseph Leonard, add 176 square feet to frame grocery, 316 Cedar St., $50, owner.

W. E. Brennon, build brick veneer residence, five rooms, two baths, 1807 Sherwood Ave., 1600 square feet, $14,000, Usrey Lumber Co. builder.

W. L. Moore, build brick veneer residence, five rooms and bath, 204 Pargoud Dr., 1068 square feet, $10,000, W. L. Moore Sr. builder.

J. B. James, add frame carport to house at 2031 Adams St., $175, owner.

Some Grains Up, As Others Mix

CHICAGO (UPI)—Hot weather and fears of crop damage brought a strong demand to soybean futures this week, and prices rose as much as 3 cents a bushel.

Wheat and rye firmed, but other grain were mixed.

Compared with last Friday, wheat was up ¾ to 1⅞; corn off ⅜ to up ⅞; oats off ¼ to 1¼; rye up ⅛ to 1⅝; soybeans up 2⅜ to 3; and drummed lard off 2 to up 20 points.

Trading was mostly light, but offerings were cut to a trickle as a strike by grain elevator workers tied up the port of Chicago.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas has more legal reserve life insurance companies than any other state in the union. The current total is 297 legal reserve firms in Texas and 1,822 insurance firms of all types.

Distribution Of Oil Surplus Poses Problem

HOUSTON (AP) — Development of an international formula under which each oil nation would receive its fair share of world crude production would be quite difficult.

Government officials from the Middle East and Venezuela in recent months have suggested international proration as a possible permanent solution to the current world surplus of oil.

The surplus also has led to revival of talk of nationwide proration in the United States.

Political and economic factors minimize chances for complete agreement and understanding among oil nations or states.

PREDICTION

How much production would a strong oil nation give up in order to bring about equitable output?

The United States last year had 12.9 per cent of the world crude reserves but claimed 38.7 per cent of world production. Russia had only 9.4 per cent of reserves but claimed 12.7 per cent of 1959's crude output.

In sharp contrast with these two world powers are the comparatively small Middle East nations which have drawn up much of the blame for the current world surplus.

Little Kuwait, for instance, had 20.9 per cent of world crude reserves but only 6.7 per cent of 1959's production. Saudia Arabia claimed 16.8 per cent of reserves but only 5.4 per cent of crude output.

The contrast is even sharper by hemisphere.

The western hemisphere produced 58.7 per cent of world crude output last year but claimed only 22.5 per cent of all oil reserves. The eastern hemisphere, with 77.3 per cent of reserves, had only 41.3 per cent of production.

The contrasts take a sudden turn, however, when the number of producing oil wells is considered.

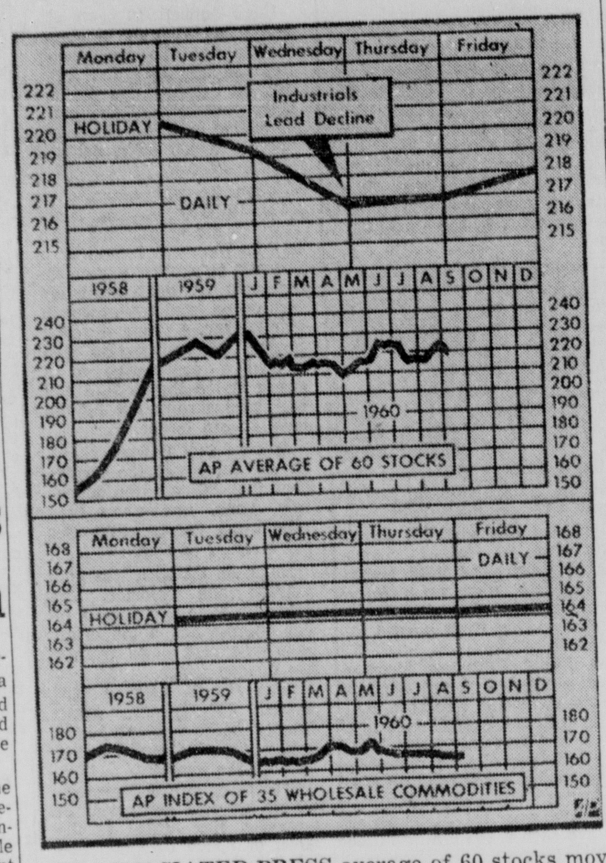

The United States, with 38.7 per cent world production last year, has nearly 600,000 producing oil wells. The Middle East last year got 22.4 per cent of world output from only about 1,000 producers.

The Interstate Oil Compact Commission has a committee studying the "equality of opportunity of oil production by the sovereign producing states."

The study still is in an exploratory stage but discussions have been held on factors that should be considered in arriving at equality of production between states. In addition to reserves the number of wells the factors include the ability of a state to produce its reserves and the number of marginal or low production wells.

Production from marginal wells offers another contrast.

ON DRAWING BOARDS

New Stock Market Will Reverse Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—A new stock exchange is on the drawing boards. It reverses a trend of recent years when several smaller exchanges combined on a regional basis.

The National Stock Exchange, which hopes to get going here by the end of the year to deal in shares at present unlisted elsewhere, will be the first entirely new one since the Securities and Exchange Commission was set up in 1934. It will make 13 now registered by that agency. There are four registered exchanges.

The new exchange will start small with probably only a dozen stocks listed. It will offer little threat to the business of the older exchanges. The New York Stock Exchange has stocks of 1,141 companies listed and in 1959 did 84 per cent of all trading on the registered exchanges. The American Stock Exchange has about 800 listed, expects 100 new ones this year for the biggest year since the SEC took over In 1959 it did 9.4 per cent of the national business.

CHANGE

Stocks listed on the newest exchange will come from among the 8,000 or more now traded over the counter. And dealers in that flourishing business question whether the National Exchange will put much of a crimp in their trade.

Skeptics in Wall Street wonder why companies now unlisted on other exchanges would want to list on the new outfit, especially since its requirements are roughly the same as those of the American Stock Exchange. But officers of the newcomer say they have a sizable list of applicants and are accepting only a fraction of them.

Minimum requirements on the National Exchange narrow the list to companies with assets of $1 million, with 150,000 common shares in the hands of 500 holders. The American Exchange requires at least 500 public owners (not counting those in management) of at least 100,000 outstanding shares.

The New York Stock Exchange minimum is 1,500 holders of 400,000 common shares of a company with net income of $1 million and assets of $8 million

All exchanges, including the newcomer, have committees that dig much deeper than that into the affairs of a corporation before listing its stock.

Trading on the National Exchange will be on a floor now being prepared in the building of its sponsor, the Mercantile Exchange, which trades in commodities. The Mercantile's nationwide network of 81 tickers will carry the quotations. National Exchange officers expect the network will expand rapidly when stock quotations are added.

Commissions charged on the new exchange will be roughly the same as on the other two in New York.

Committee Says Urban Renewal Offers Paradox

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Urban renewal is something of a paradox," says the Committee for Economic Growth.

How so? "The demolition of slum quarters by urban renewal projects is depleting the supply of housing available to low-income people. So, too, is the federally-aided highway program in urban areas.

"At the same time, a chronically severe shortage of such accommodations is being aggravated by heavy migrations from rural to urban centers. The resulting dislocations of low-income people from one section of the city to another have caused hardship and uncertainty and tend to increase overcrowding in some neighborhoods."

In view of these and other shortcomings of urban renewal, the committee concluded, "a comprehensive review of the program is required."

District Oil-Gas Activity Produces 4 Completions

By RICHARD GREENE
Oil Editor

Four new oil and gas well completions and 16 new locations highlighted drilling activities in the 14-parish Monroe district of the Louisiana Department of Conservation last week.

In the report prepared by the local office, Duncan S. Cook, district manager, also listed a total of 35 active rigs in the fields along with three holes that were declared dry and abandoned.

Following are the new completions:

CATAHOULA

Tew Lake Field — R. A. Campbell's Brown State et al unit no. 1 in sec. 31-9-7E, completed to flow 50 barrels through a 6-64 in. choke from perforations at 43 44-54 ft., tubing pressure 450 lbs., gas oil ratio 300:1, gravity 45.

Wallace Lake Field — McGoldrick and Watson Drilling Co. and R. H. Alagood's McMillin "A" unit no. 1 in sec. 14-8-6E, completed to flow 90 barrels from perforations at 4377-79 ft., tubing pressure 440 lbs., casing pressure 250 lbs., gas oil ratio 200:1, gravity 444.

UNION

Monroe Field Wells — Columbian C. C.'s Grayling B-11 in sec. 35-23-3E, completed to flow 287 MCF, rock pressure 946 lbs.

Columbian C. C.'s McKinnney-Wilson No. 1 in sec. 28-22-3E, completed to flow 375 MCF, rock pressure 825 lbs.

These are the new locations:

CATAHOULA

Wildcat Field Sites — Bodcaw Co.'s Bodcaw Fee No. 1-LCT, located in the center of the SE¼-SE¼ of sec. 35-9-6E.

H. A. Harper's G. S. Beasley no. 3, located 330 ft. from the west line and 330 ft. from the south line in the NE¼-NE¼ of sec. 35-9-6E.

Sklar Producing Co. et al's Catahoula Co. A-1, located 330 ft. from the west line and 990 ft. from the north line of sec. 17-8-7E.

CONCORDIA

South Monterey Field — Broadhead and Stack's Swingley Cross no. 2, located 500 ft. from the south line and 474 ft. from the west line of the NW¼-SW¼ in sec. 1-5-7E.

Roselawn Field — Humble Oil and Refining Co.'s Frank Whorton no. 8, location: from the SE corner go south 88 degrees, 30 ft. and west 636 ft. thence north one degree 30 ft. and west 1000 ft. to location in sec. 23-4-9E.

FRANKLIN

Wildcat Field — R. E. Williams Oil and Gas Co.'s Barley no. 1, located 658 ft. south and 330 ft. west of the NE corner of the SE¼ NE¼ in sec. 25-16-7E.

LaSALLE

Rogers Field — Mobley and Stephens 1961's John M. Evans et al no. 1, located 610 ft. west and 2030 ft. north of the SE corner of sec. 8-6-3E.

Tullos Urania Field — Placid Oil Co.'s Tullos Heirs no. 17, located 1040 ft. north and 1675 ft. west of the SE corner of the SW¼ NE¼ in sec. 26-10-1E.

OUACHITA

Monroe Field Sites — Crescent Producing Co.'s T. L. James Fee no. 1, located 330 ft. south and west of the NE corner of the NE¼-NW¼ of sec. 4-18-3E.

Crescent Prod. Co.'s Mutual Investment Co. no. 1, located 330 ft. west and south of the NE corner of the SW¼-NE¼ in sec. 4-18-3E.

RICHLAND

Big Creek Field — Pan American Petroleum Corp.'s F. Roy Williams "A" no. 16, located 310 ft. south of the north line and 332 ft. east of the west line of the north half of the SW¼ of the NE¼ of sec. 6-16-8E.

UNION

Wildcat Field—Austral Oil Co.'s Olin Oil and Gas Corp (6007) -no. 1, located 660 ft. north and 560 ft. west of the SE corner of the NE¼-SE¼ in sec. 5-20-2E.

Monroe Field Sites — Columbian C. C.'s Grayling no. 63, located 660 ft. north and 1980 ft. east of the SW corner of sec. 35-23-3E.

United Carbon Co.'s W. B. McKinnie no. 2, located 2060 ft. north and 1980 ft. east of the SW corner of sec. 32-22-3E.

The following wells were listed as active:

CATAHOULA

CONCORDIA

South Monterey Field — Broadhead and Stack's Swingley Cross No. 1 in sec. 1-5-7E, drilling.

FRANKLIN

Wildcat Field Wells — Forrest W. Bell, A. G. Hooper Jr. and Tenn. Gas Trans.'s J. H. Baker et al no. 1 in sec. 25-16-9E, testing.

First Meeting Of Local API Slated Tuesday

The newly formed Monroe chapter of the American Patroleum Institute will hold its first meeting Tuesday night at the Paragon Club, it was announced recently by Fred Dillard.

The session will begin at 6 p.m. with a social hour followed by dinner Officials of the API from Shreveport, Dallas and San Antonio are expected to attend.

Election of officers to serve for the coming year will be the main business of the evening and anyone in the area connected with or interested in the petroleum industry is invited to attend, along with representatives of the various oil and gas companies throughout the Twin Cities.

New Oil Field Seems Likely In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A new oil field seems assured in Franklin County.

The Shortridge -Justiss- Mears wildcat, the Board of Supervisors No. 1, has come in about 11 miles northeast of the Bude field and flowed at 198 barrels of oil per day from a sand in the lower Tuscaloosa zone at 10,906-12 feet The well is in section 16, 5 north, 5 east.

Production tests are underway at Warrior Oil and Radzewicz-Amite County wildcat, the Caine No. 1, sec. 1-3n-6e, located about two miles northwest of the McComb field. Operators are expected to test zones at 10,395 and 10,478 feet in what may be the Eutaw formation. A sand at 10,984-94 feet in the lower Tuscaloosa also had oil shows.

If production is established in the upper sands, it will be the first in the McComb-Smithdale areas. Both of these fields produce from the lower Tuscaloosa. The recently found Smithdale field in Amite County is about two miles northwest of the well under test

In Wayne County, Larco Drilling Co. and George Harrison are continuing to test their wildcat, the USA No. 1, sec. 26-7n-9w, in an effort to evaluate commercial worth of oil sands which were logged. The venture is reported to be flowing a small amount of 42 gravity oil from perforations at 11,917-27 feet after being acidized. The venture is about two miles southwest of the Thompson's Creek oil field.

In Jones County, Ginther, Warren & Co. continue to test the Holifield No. 1, sec 18-6n-1w, with no information being released. Operators are reported to be testing a zone at 8,992-9004 feet, with the wildcat located about one mile north of the small Ovett oil field.

In the Hardrock Country of northeast Mississippi, Gulf Oil Corp. appears to have opened a new gas field at its Calhoun County wildcat, the Reid No. 1, sec. 26-12s-1e. Operators are testing a sand at 3,402 feet with the well reported flowing an unestimated amount of gas into the pits. The well is located in the eastern part of the county near the Chickasaw County line

In Hancock County near the one-well Kiln oil field, Marshall R. Young is drilling below 7,100 feet in his wildcat, the Miller No. 1, sec. 35-7s-15w, a 10,350 foot test.

In Amite County, Justiss-Mears Oil Co. is below 5,800 feet in its important wildcat, the Smith No. 1, sec. 6-4n-3e, with the venture scheduled to go to 11,600 feet.

In the McComb field of Pike County, Sun Oil completed its H. M. Snott, No. 1, sec. 11-3n-7e, flowing 108 barrels of oil per day from a sand at 10,940-50 feet. Sun and Hughes finaled the Carroll-O'Brien unit No. 1-a, sec. 14-3n-7e, flowing 179 barrels from 10,882-90 feet.

At Little Creek on the Pike County side, Shell Oil completed its Scott et al No 1, sec 11-4n-8e, flowing 234 barrels of oil per day from a sand at 10,776-847 feet.

In the Reedy Creek field of Jones County, the California Co. finaled its Walker et al No. 2, sec. 9-9n-11w, as a dual well. A sand at 9,291 feet pumped 100 barrels per day, and a second sand at 7,282 feet pumped 67 barrels.

In the Heidelberg field of Jasper County, Broadhead & Stack completed their McCormick No. 1, sec. 4-10n-10w, pumping 240 barrels of oil per day from a sand at 10,686-720 feet

SPECIALIZED MOTOR CAR DEALER

An opportunity exists in the three-state territory of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi for a specialized dealer to distribute internationally known S&S Cadillac funeral cars and ambulances. Sales are developed through personal contact of funeral directors and ambulance operators, supported by company-sponsored advertising and sales promotions.

Travel is required, and applicants must be willing to cover this three-state area thoroughly.

The individual selected must be financially stable, with sufficient capital to cover living and traveling expenses, and demonstrator or used-car inventory. New and used automobile sales experience is helpful. Age and education are not controlling factors. Extensive sales and service facilities are not required, nor is there a franchise cost.

$25 MILLION YEARLY EXPENSE

Buggy Rustlers Costly To Supermarkets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Free-wheeling shopping cart rustlers, most of them customers, are taking the nation's supermarkets for a 25-million-dollar-a-year buggy ride.

One store employe, trailing a suspected little old lady home, saw her dispose of her shopping cart by sailing it down a ravine. The ravine yielded 26 more carts the same woman had dumped there.

Cartnapers take off with $1,259,000 worth of carts a year in Greater New York, store owners report. In Washington, D. C. supermarket men say the area loss this year may hit $300,000, with 4,500 buggies missing through the first five months.

For the entire nation, according to Super Market Institute, Inc., the loss comes to around 25 million dollars a year in missing and damaged shopping carts.

COST

The carts cost between $25 and $45 apiece. For each one lost, a store has to sell nearly a year's supply of food to a family to break even, according to Wallace Flint, vice president of the National Association of Food Chains.

To counter the cartnapers, hard-hit food men are using special watchmen, carry-out boys, shopping carts whose wheels lock when it crosses a magnetic field, carts that sound alarms, and publicity drives that include circulars, police warnings, sermons by clergymen, newspaper ads and radio and TV spots.

What makes a cartnaper? In most cases, Flint and other officials blame carelessness, rather than thievery.

TYPICAL

A typical 'naper, Mrs. C, lives a few blocks from her supermarket. Her groceries are heavy. Ignoring a warning sign, she trundles her bag-laden cart past the store's parking lot and on home. "I'll bring it back next time," she thinks.

But she doesn't. Maybe it rains, the cart gets rusty, and she is ashamed to show up at the store with it. Maybe someone steals it from her yard the next day. Through delay, oversight or apathy the cart is never returned.

Stolen buggies kick around the neighborhood, get overturned and damaged. They wind up in dumps and junkyards before stores can retrieve them. Sometimes they are found 100 miles away.

The vehicles are used as laundry baskets and garden carts Kids ride them perilously down the sidewalks or strip their wheels to make racers. Wheels buried in the ground, they become novelty yard planters. Some even get into the hands of fences who try to sell them back to stores. One employe found 25 carts in an apartment house basement.

Carts that do get back to stores often need repairs. "They're just not built for cross-country use," one official said wryly.

Professionals get into the act, too.

In a tenement district in a large city, says the Super Market Institute, the carts are stolen systematically by juvenile gangs who sell them to shady second-hand outlets in another part of town.

Supermarkets turn to the police for help against professionals But when it comes to customers—the biggest source of lost carts—they tread lightly.

REASON

The reason for reluctance to prosecute, a chain official admits, is fear of bad publicity. With competition keen, a chain doesn't want to be placed in the unsympathetic position of getting the law on well-intentioned homemakers. The possible resulting boycott might make its shopping cart losses look small.

Besides customer relations, there is the danger of suits for false arrest.

With recourse to the law almost ruled out, supermarkets are banding together to fight cartnaping with high-powered publicity campaigns.

The food distributors of greater Philadelphia conducted an intensive two-week drive bombarding the public with newspaper ads, radio and TV messages, posters, bag stuffers and mailers.

It worked spectacularly. Losses of carts fell to almost nothing In one month, nearly 2,400 missing carts were returned. But later, as in other cities, it became necessary to start another drive. To be effective, supermarkets have learned, anti-cartnaping publicity must be continuous.

While scrambling to keep down their losses, supermarket operaters agree that cartnaping is here to stay. Some think the problem will never be licked. Others hope that gradually—through continuing publicity and effort—cartnaping will sink into disrepute.

Until then, market men are continuing to look out of their windows with a wary eye.

ORIOLES LOSE LEAD

White Sox Block Baltimore By 3-2

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Landis' leadoff homer in the 11th inning gave the Chicago White Sox a 3-2 victory over Baltimore Saturday and knocked the Orioles out of the American League lead.

While the Sox were beating the Orioles, the New York Yankees slipped into first place with a 5-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The victory also put the Sox right back into the pennant race. They trail New York by three games and Baltimore by 2½.

Moments before Landis clubbed his ninth homer of the season, Al Smith uncorked a tremendous throw from right field to cut down Gus Triandos at home with the potential lead run in the top of the 11th.

Thd spectacular extra-inning battle was made possible by utility infielder Sammy Esposito, who only three days ago was booed and nearly assaulted by a fan after booting a doubleplay ball which enabled the Yankees to come-from-behind and defeat the Sox Wednesday.

Sammy won the crowd's approval when he cracked his first homer of the year in the eighth inning and lifted the Sox into a 2-2 tie. Esposito also doubled and scored Chicago's first run in the third inning.

Baltimore tied the game in the fourth when starter Herb Score walked four men to force in a run. Brown opened the fifth with a double and came home with the lead run on a double by Dave Philley.

That's how it stood until Esposito tied in the eighth. Meanwhile, Russ Kemmerer, who had replaced Score in the seventh, held the Orioles to one hit until he ran into trouble in the 11th.

Beat Tigers As White Sox Edge Orioles

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Yankees regained first place in the American League Saturday by a half game over Baltimore, defeating Detroit's Tigers 5-1 as the Chicago White Sox were beating the Orioles 3-2 in 11 innings.

Two home runs by Gil McDougald and a solo shot by Mickey Mantle powered the Yankees to victory.

Mantle's homer in the seventh, scoring Hector Lopez and Roger Maris, cleared the top of the right field stands — the third time he has done this in Briggs Stadium. The only other batter to clear the roof is Boston's Ted Williams.

McDougald smashed a homer in the second inning into the lower left field stands. He improved on this in the fourth by knocking the ball into the upper stands. His homers came with the bases empty.

All the homers were off Detroit starter Paul Foytack, who went seven innings and yielded seven hits. He now is 2-11.

Reliever Hank Aguirre held the Yankees to one hit in the last two innings — a double by Bill Skowron in the ninth.

Bob Turley, who now is 8-3, allowed the Tigers only four hits in nine innings and yielded one run in the first when Norm Cash doubled and scored on Charlie Maxwell's single.

In overpowering the Tigers, the Yankees left 12 runners stranded on base.

In the third inning with two out, Foytack loaded the bases by walking Maris, Mantle and Yogi Berra. But he got out of the jam when Skowron forced Mantle.

McDougald's two blows were the only hits off Foytack in the first five innings with the exception of a first inning single by Mantle.

The victory swept the final two-game series between the two teams and gave New York a 14-8 advantage for the season.

SLASH OFF NETS

Yank Cagers End With Traditions

ROME (AP)—America's Olympic team played its finest basketball game Saturday night and showed a packed house two old U. S. traditions.

First, Uncle Sam's greatest collection of amateur stars wrapped up the Olympic championship with a 90-63 pasting of Brazil maintaining a perfect record through five Olympics.

Then, the happy Americans slashed the nets off both hoops—comparable to tearing down football goal posts—for a victory trophy in a ceremony that puzzled and amused the capacity crowd of 15,000 in the high-domed Plazzo Dello Sport.

Teammates boosted up Jerry West and Walt Bellamy at either end of the court, and they snipped off the nets. It took them longer to do that than it took to run up the 16-2 lead the Americans built over Brazil in the first five minutes of play.

U. S. Coach Pete Newell appeared tired but elated just after the Americans stowed away their eight consecutive victory in as many Olympic starts.

"We really got down to business in this one," said Newell, who has coached his last game before taking over as University of California athletic director. "It was our best game of the tournament. We really started with a bang. Wasn't Jerry Lucas marvelous on his tip-in scoring?"

In America's surge to a 41-13 lead in the first 14 minutes of play, Lucas, 6-8 Ohio State star, poured in nine baskets and seven were tip-ins accomplished with such ease and skill the Buckeye drew cheers. The crowd gave Lucas a tremendous ovation when he left the game for keeps with a 25-point total.

"Oscar really was a terrific team player, as he has been the whole tournament," said Newell. "he and Lucas work together beautifully."

The one sour note for the United States in the overwhelming triumph was the ejection from the game of the 6-foot-11 Bellamy for banging a Brazilian in the face with his elbow.

"It was the purest kind of accident," said Newell.

However, the Brazilian staged what appeared to some was a fine bit of acting on the play. He fell to the floor as though seriously hurt and the referee bounced Bellamy. The Brazilian recovered in a few minutes.

Los Angeles Beats Texans In AFL Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers came from behind with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter Saturday night and defeated the Dallas Texans 21-20 in the regular season debut of the American Football League rivals.

A crowd of 17,724 in huge Memoral Coliseum saw the Chargers win the game with two minutes, 15 seconds to go. Quarterback Jack Kemp passed for four yards to fullback Howie Ferguson to tie the score 20-20, and veteran Ben Agajanian kicked the tie-breaking extra point.

Both teams had been undefeated in exhibitions, the Texans in six and Los Angeles in four games.

Dallas, with quarterback Cotton Davidson conducting a beautiful aerial offense, owned a 20-7 lead at the half and carried it into the final quarter.

Kemp swung Los Angeles into a 67-yard thrust and put the Chargers back into the game himself when he scored from 7 yards out.

Kemp, who knocked around the NFL without success, led it. Ron Waller, an ex-Los Angeles Ram, came off the bench to catch a short pass that kept the drive going to the Texan 5 and a moment later Ferguson, from the Green Bay Packers, caught the deciding pass.

Davidson's throwing dominated the first half as he passed for 180 yards and two touchdowns in 15 completions out of 26 attempts.

Former Stanford end Chris Burford snagged a 12-yard pass for the first Texan score, and Abner Haynes a 17-yarder from Cotton that ended an 80-yard parade 20 seconds before the half ended. All but three yards in this series were in the air.

Sandwiched between was a 92-yard drive, most of it on Davidson's throwing, with Jack Spikes punching over from the one.

Russia Wins Team Title As Games Draw To Close

By TED SMITS

ROME (AP) — The United States won its fifth straight Olympic basketball championship Saturday night, but even the dazzling 25-point performance of Ohio State's Jerry Lucas in a 90-63 route of Brazil could not dim the splendid overall team effort by the Soviet Union as the XVII Olympic Games drew to a close.

Bikila Abebe, a bare-footed Ethiopian palace guard, won the fastest marathon in Olympic history early this evening, but the Russians took fourth and fifth, then added the silver medal in basketball for an unofficial point total that rocketed to 797½ and was certain to soar above 800 with the heavyweight division of weight-lifting remaining on the night's card.

The United States had a shot at weight-lifting points and medals, but its 550½ count was far short of the Soviet total. In gold medals, it was Russia 42 to 34.

After the basketball and weight-lifting, only a two-part equestrian jumping event remained on Sunday's windup of the Olympic program that began Aug. 25.

Lucas paced a U. S. team that won eight straight games here and continued a record of U. S. domination that has produced a victory every time the Americans have taken the floor in an Olympic basketball game.

Brazil won the tournament bronze medal, and Italy, 78-70 loser to Russia, was fourth.

In the other team tournament decided, Yugoslavia, playing a man short the entire second half, won the soccer gold medal with a 3-1 victory over Denmark.

John Kelley of Groton, Conn., finished 19th for the best U. S. showing in the marathon. His time was 2 hours, 24 minutes and 58 seconds. Alex Breckenridge of Quantico, Va., was 30th, and Gordon McKenzie of New York City 48th.

Abebe, in excellent physical condition and running smartly on the cool Italian evening, thrilled a crowd of 5,000 as he crossed the finish line 105 yards ahead of Abdesian Rhadi of Morocco, who finished second.

Abebe's time was 2 hours, 15 minutes, 16.2 seconds, fastest the 26-mile 385-yard race has ever been run in modern Olympics.

The top five finishers here raced right by that clocking. Rhadi did 2:15.41.6. Barry McGee of New Zealand was third in 2:17.18.2 and the Russians, fourth-place Constantine Vorobiev and fifth-place Vergei Popov, were timed in 2:18.19.2 and 2:19.18.6 for the blazing race that saw Ethiopia win its first gold medal.

The Russians earlier won four gold medals with their expected excellence in gymnastics. They so dominated the sport that they added 62½ points to their amazing total.

At Melbourne in 1956, the Soviets outscored the United States 722 to 593 in points and 37 to 32 in gold medals. The Olympic program has been revised since, with some events added and others dropped. It is clear, nevertheless, that the Russian over - all triumph this time has been greater.

Boris Shakhlin, earlier winner in the men's over - all gymnastics competition, was the Russia star again as he added three gold medals by winning the parallel bars and sharing first place in the pomelled horse with Finland's Eugene Ekman and first in the long horse with Japan's great Takashi Ono. Japan had three gold medals in the six events and Ono took two of them.

America's sabre fencers, led by Dr. Tibor Nyilas of New York City, wound up fourth in the team fencing tournament after beating Russia in the quarter - finals. Hungary won the team gold medal, downing Poland in the final. Italy beat the United States 9-6 for the silver medal.

An American Marine Corps sergeant, Jim Hill of Oceanside, Calif., won the silver medal in the small bore rifle prone position shooting, beaten only by an 18 - year- old German, Peter Kohnke.

The competition between the young German and the tough Marine was extremely close. Kohnke won 590 - 589. At first the two were believed to have tied at 589 but a study of the targets gave the German an extra point.

Sunday before a sellout crowd of 100,000 the last competition of the Games, the spectacular Prex de Nations equestrian jumping event will be held in the main stadium. The Olympic flame that has burned since the Games opened Aug. 25 will be put out. A call will go out to the youth of the world to assemble in Tokyo in 1964 to vie in the Games of the XVIII Olympiad.

Rancher Champ In Equestrian

ROME (AP) —Lawrence Morgan, a 45 - year - old Australian rancher, won the Olympic individual gold medal Saturday in the three - day equestrian competition and led his team to another gold medal.

Morgan, riding his 8-year-old bay gelding Salad Days, was the only one of 73 original competitors to finish with a plus point total. All the rest were eliminated or were in the minus column because of penalty points.

Neale Lavis, another Australian, took the silver medal for individuals and Anton Buhler of Switzerland won the bronze medal for third place.

Morgan had 7.15 points on the plus side at the end of the grueling competition which includes a dressage test, the dangerous cross country run which cost the lives of two horses Friday, and the jumping contest which ended the competition.

Lavis, riding Mirrabooka, had 16.50 penalty points for second place and Buhler, on Gays Park, was charged with 51.21 penalty points to take third.

John Plumb, of Syosset, N. Y., finished 15th in the individual competition aboard Markham. Michael Page, of Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., riding Grasshopper, was 17th.

The United States was knocked out of the running when two horses were eliminated in the cross country event. At least three of the four team members must go through to the end to be eligible for the team prize.

World Record Set By Soviet Heavy Lifter

ROME (AP) — Russia's Yuri Vlasov won the heavyweight Olympic weight lifting title Saturday night with a world record performance for the Soviets' 43rd gold medal of the Rome games.

Vlasov lifted a three-event total of 1,184½ pounds to smash the world record of America's Paul Anderson, the 1956 Olympic champion. Anderson's world mark was 1,129½. He lifted 1,102 to win the Olympic title at Melbourne.

Bradford's 1,129½ tied the world mark and Schemansky's 1,102 would have been enough to tie Anderson at Melbourne.

He lifted 396½ in the press, 342 in the snatch and a world record 446 in the clean and jerk. No weight lifter had ever jerked more than 435 pounds before. Vlasov also held the former record in that event.

Bradford's breakdown was 396½ for the press, 331 for the snatch and 402 for the clean and jerk. snatched 331 and jerked 396½.

Mohamed Ibrahim of the United Arab Republic and Eino Makinen of Finland each lifted a total of 1,003 pounds, but the UAR representative was placed fourth because he weighed less than the Finn. Sixth was Canada's David Baille with 992.

Only in two divisions of the weight lifting did the Russians miss the gold medal. Charles Vinci of Cleveland, Ohio, won the bantamweight class and Ireneusz Palinski of Poland took the light heavyweight honors

Milwaukee In 10-8 Triumph Over Dodgers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves built up a big lead on three-run homers by Hank Aaron and Eddie Mathews and then hung on Saturday for a 10-8 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The 3-hour, 4-minute struggle was extremely sloppy as five Dodger pitchers gave up eight walks, while three Milwaukee hurlers passed seven and hit two batters. In addition, there were three errors.

Aaron blasted his 37th homer with two mates aboard in the first and Mathews cracked his 36th, good for another three runs, in the third.

Carl Willey, the second Milwaukee pitcher, hit his first major league homer in the sixth, after Duke Snider of the Dodgers belted a two-run pinch circuit clout in the top in the inning. The homer was Sniders 14th.

Bob Mitchell Leads Browns To 16-10 Win

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The brilliant running of Bobby Mitchell, who scored on touchdown runs of 11 and 64 yards, sparked the Cleveland Browns to a 16-10 triumph over the Chicago Bears in a National Football League exhibition game at the Rubber Bowl Saturday night.

The Browns opened the scoring in the first period, going 54 yards in eight plays. Mitchell, the former Illinois speedster, dashed 11 yards for the touchdown. Sam Baker's extra-point attempt was blocked by Chicago's Erich Barnes.

Late in the second period the Bears went ahead after Mitchell fumbled a punt and Chicago's Bob Knovsky recovered on the Cleveland 15. Three plays later, quarterback Ed Brown sneaked across from the 1. John Aveni booted the extra point to give the Bears a one-point halftime advantage.

Midway in the third period, Mitchell cracked off tackle, shook off tacklers and raced 64 yards for the touchdown. Baker kicked the extra point and the Browns led 13-7. Baker, who earlier missed two field goal tries, put Cleveland ahead 16-7 with a 26-yard three-pointer in the fourth period.

Aveni booted an 18-yard field goal to cut the margin to 16-10.

The Browns won their fourth pre-season game in five starts. The Bears' record was evened at 2-2.

ORIOLES LOSE LEAD

White Sox Block Baltimore By 3-2

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Landis' leadoff homer in the 11th inning gave the Chicago White Sox a 3-2 victory over Baltimore Saturday and knocked the Orioles out of the American League lead.

While the Sox were beating the Orioles, the New York Yankees slipped into first place with a 5-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The victory also put the Sox right back into the pennant race. They trail New York by three games and Baltimore by 2½.

Moments before Landis clubbed his ninth homer of the season, Al Smith uncorked a tremendous throw from right field to cut down Gus Triandos at home with the potential lead run in the top of the 11th.

Thd spectacular extra-inning battle was made possible by utility infielder Sammy Esposito, who only three days ago was booed and nearly assaulted by a fan after booting a doubleplay ball which enabled the Yankees to come-from-behind and defeat the Sox Wednesday.

Sammy won the crowd's approval when he cracked his first homer of the year in the eighth inning and lifted the Sox into a 2-2 tie. Esposito also doubled and scored Chicago's first run in the third inning.

Baltimore tied the game in the fourth when starter Herb Score walked four men to force in a run. Brown opened the fifth with a double and came home with the lead run on a double by Dave Philley.

That's how it stood until Esposito tied in the eighth. Meanwhile, Russ Kemmerer, who had replaced Score in the seventh, held the Orioles to one hit until he ran into trouble in the 11th.

Beat Tigers As White Sox Edge Orioles

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Yankees regained first place in the American League Saturday by a half game over Baltimore, defeating Detroit's Tigers 5-1 as the Chicago White Sox were beating the Orioles 3-2 in 11 innings.

Two home runs by Gil McDougald and a solo shot by Mickey Mantle powered the Yankees to victory.

Mantle's homer in the seventh, scoring Hector Lopez and Roger Maris, cleared the top of the right field stands — the third time he has done this in Briggs Stadium. The only other batter to clear the roof is Boston's Ted Williams.

McDougald smashed a homer in the second inning into the lower left field stands. He improved on this in the fourth by knocking the ball into the upper stands. His homers came with the bases empty.

All the homers were off Detroit starter Paul Foytack, who went seven innings and yielded seven hits. He now is 2-11.

Reliever Hank Aguirre held the Yankees to one hit in the last two innings — a double by Bill Skowron in the ninth.

Bob Turley, who now is 8-3, allowed the Tigers only four hits in nine innings and yielded one run in the first when Norm Cash doubled and scored on Charlie Maxwell's single.

In overpowering the Tigers, the Yankees left 12 runners stranded on base.

In the third inning with two out, Foytack loaded the bases by walking Maris, Mantle and Yogi Berra. But he got out of the jam when Skowron forced Mantle.

McDougald's two blows were the only hits off Foytack in the first five innings with the exception of a first inning single by Mantle.

The victory swept the final two-game series between the two teams and gave New York a 14-8 advantage for the season.

SLASH OFF NETS

Yank Cagers End With Traditions

First, Uncle Sam's greatest collection of amateur stars wrapped up the Olympic championship with a 90-63 pasting of Brazil maintaining a perfect record through five Olympics.

Then, the happy Americans slashed the nets off both hoops—comparable to tearing down football goal posts—for a victory trophy in a ceremony that puzzled and amused the capacity crowd of 15,000 in the high-domed Plazzo Dello Sport.

Teammates boosted up Jerry West and Walt Bellamy at either end of the court, and they snipped off the nets. It took them longer to do that than it took to run up the 16-2 lead the Americans built over Brazil in the first five minutes of play.

U. S. Coach Pete Newell appeared tired but elated just after the Americans stowed away their eight consecutive victory in as many Olympic starts.

"We really got down to business in this one," said Newell, who has coached his last game before taking over as University of California athletic director. "It was our best game of the tournament. We really started with a bang. Wasn't Jerry Lucas marvelous on his tip-in scoring?"

In America's surge to a 41-13 lead in the first 14 minutes of play, Lucas, 6-8 Ohio State star, poured in nine baskets and seven were tip-ins accomplished with such ease and skill the Buckeye drew cheers. The crowd gave Lucas a tremendous ovation when he left the game for keeps with a 25-point total.

"Oscar really was a terrific team player, as he has been the whole tournament," said Newell. "he and Lucas work together beautifully."

The one sour note for the United States in the overwhelming triumph was the ejection from the game of the 6-foot-11 Bellamy for banging a Brazilian in the face with his elbow.

"It was the purest kind of accident," said Newell.

However, the Brazilian staged what appeared to some was a fine bit of acting on the play. He fell to the floor as though seriously hurt and the referee bounced Bellamy. The Brazilian recovered in a few minutes.

World Record Set By Soviet Heavy Lifter

ROME (AP) — Russia's Yuri Vlasov won the heavyweight Olympic weight lifting title Saturday night with a world record performance for the Soviets' 43rd gold medal of the Rome games.

Vlasov lifted a three-event total of 1,184½ pounds to smash the world record of America's Paul Anderson, the 1956 Olympic champion. Anderson's world mark was 1,129½. He lifted 1,102 to win the Olympic title at Melbourne.

Los Angeles Beats Texans In AFL Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers came from behind with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter Saturday night and defeated the Dallas Texans 21-20 in the regular season debut of the American Football League rivals.

A crowd of 17,724 in huge Memoral Coliseum saw the Chargers win the game with two minutes, 15 seconds to go. Quarterback Jack Kemp passed for four yards to fullback Howie Ferguson to tie the score 20-20, and veteran Ben Agajanian kicked the tie-breaking extra point.

Both teams had been undefeated in exhibitions, the Texans in six and Los Angeles in four games.

Kemp swung Los Angeles into a 67-yard thrust and put the Chargers back into the game himself when he scored from 7 yards out.

Kemp, who knocked around the NFL without success, led it. Ron Waller, an ex-Los Angeles Ram, came off the bench to catch a short pass that kept the drive going to the Texan 5 and a moment later Ferguson, from the Green Bay Packers, caught the deciding pass.

Davidson's throwing dominated the first half as he passed for 180 yards and two touchdowns in 15 completions out of 26 attempts.

Former Stanford end Chris Burford snagged a 12-yard pass for the first Texan score, and Abner Haynes a 17-yarder from Cotton that ended an 80-yard parade 20 seconds before the half ended. All but three yards in this series were in the air.

Sandwiched between was a 92-yard drive, most of it on Davidson's throwing, with Jack Spikes punching over from the one.

XVII OLYMPICS

Russia Wins Team Title As Games Draw To Close

By TED SMITS

ROME (AP) — The United States won its fifth straight Olympic basketball championship Saturday night, but even the dazzling 25-point performance of Ohio State's Jerry Lucas in a 90-63 route of Brazil could not dim the splendid overall team effort by the Soviet Union as the XVII Olympic Games drew to a close.

Bikila Abebe, a bare-footed Ethiopian palace guard, won the fastest marathon in Olympic history early this evening, but the Russians took fourth and fifth, then added the silver medal in basketball for an unofficial point total that rocketed to 797½ and was certain to soar above 800 with the heavyweight division of weight-lifting remaining on the night's card.

The United States had a shot at weight-lifting points and medals, but its 550½ count was far short of the Soviet total. In gold medals, it was Russia 42 to 34.

After the basketball and weight-lifting, only a two-part equestrian jumping event remained on Sunday's windup of the Olympic program that began Aug. 25.

Lucas paced a U. S. team that won eight straight games here and continued a record of U. S. domination that has produced a victory every time the Americans have taken the floor in an Olympic basketball game.

Brazil won the tournament bronze medal, and Italy, 78-70 loser to Russia, was fourth.

In the other team tournament decided, Yugoslavia, playing a man short the entire second half, won the soccer gold medal with a 3-1 victory over Denmark.

John Kelley of Groton, Conn., finished 19th for the best U. S. showing in the marathon. His time was 2 hours, 24 minutes and 58 seconds. Alex Breckenridge of Quantico, Va., was 30th, and Gordon McKenzie of New York City 48th.

Abebe, in excellent physical condition and running smartly on the cool Italian evening, thrilled a crowd of 5,000 as he crossed the finish line 105 yards ahead of Abdesian Rhadi of Morocco, who finished second.

Abebe's time was 2 hours, 15 minutes, 16.2 seconds, fastest the 26-mile 385-yard race has ever been run in modern Olympics.

The top five finishers here raced right by that clocking. Rhadi did 2:15.41.6. Barry McGee of New Zealand was third in 2:17.18.2 and the Russians, fourth-place Constantine Vorobiev and fifth-place Vergei Popov, were timed in 2:18.19.2 and 2:19.18.6 for the blazing race that saw Ethiopia win its first gold medal.

The Russians earlier won four gold medals with their expected excellence in gymnastics. They so dominated the sport that they added 62½ points to their amazing total.

At Melbourne in 1956, the Soviets outscored the United States 722 to 593 in points and 37 to 32 in gold medals. The Olympic program has been revised since, with some events added and others dropped. It is clear, nevertheless, that the Russian over - all triumph this time has been greater.

Boris Shakhlin, earlier winner in the men's over - all gymnastics competition, was the Russia star again as he added three gold medals by winning the parallel bars and sharing first place in the pomelled horse with Finland's Eugene Ekman and first in the long horse with Japan's great Takashi Ono. Japan had three gold medals in the six events and Ono took two of them.

America's sabre fencers, led by Dr. Tibor Nyilas of New York City, wound up fourth in the team fencing tournament after beating Russia in the quarter - finals. Hungary won the team gold medal, downing Poland in the final. Italy beat the United States 9-6 for the silver medal.

An American Marine Corps sergeant, Jim Hill of Oceanside, Calif., won the silver medal in the small bore rifle prone position shooting, beaten only by an 18 - year- old German, Peter Kohnke.

The competition between the young German and the tough Marine was extremely close. Kohnke won 590 - 589. At first the two were believed to have tied at 589 but a study of the targets gave the German an extra point.

Sunday before a sellout crowd of 100,000 the last competition of the Games, the spectacular Prex de Nations equestrian jumping event will be held in the main stadium. The Olympic flame that has burned since the Games opened Aug. 25 will be put out. A call will go out to the youth of the world to assemble in Tokyo in 1964 to vie in the Games of the XVIII Olympiad.

FROM AUSTRALIA

Rancher Champ In Equestrian

ROME (AP) —Lawrence Morgan, a 45 - year - old Australian rancher, won the Olympic individual gold medal Saturday in the three - day equestrian competition and led his team to another gold medal.

Morgan, riding his 8-year-old bay gelding Salad Days, was the only one of 73 original competitors to finish with a plus point total. All the rest were eliminated or were in the minus column because of penalty points.

Neale Lavis, another Australian, took the silver medal for individuals and Anton Buhler of Switzerland won the bronze medal for third place.

Morgan had 7.15 points on the plus side at the end of the gruelling competition which includes a dressage test, the dangerous cross country run which cost the lives of two horses Friday, and the jumping contest which ended the competition.

Lavis, riding Mirrabooka, had 16.50 penalty points for second place and Buhler, on Gays Park, was charged with 51.21 penalty points to take third.

John Plumb, of Syosset, N. Y., finished 15th in the individual competition aboard Markham. Michael Page, of Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., riding Grasshopper, was 17th.

The United States was knocked out of the running when two horses were eliminated in the cross country event. At least three of the four team members must go through to the end to be eligible for the team prize.

Bob Mitchell Leads Browns To 16-10 Win

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The brilliant running of Bobby Mitchell, who scored on touchdown runs of 11 and 64 yards, sparked the Cleveland Browns to a 16-10 triumph over the Chicago Bears in a National Football League exhibition game at the Rubber Bowl Saturday night.

The Browns opened the scoring in the first period, going 54 yards in eight plays. Mitchell, the former Illinois speedster, dashed 11 yards for the touchdown. Sam Baker's extra-point attempt was blocked by Chicago's Erich Barnes.

Late in the second period the Bears went ahead after Mitchell fumbled a punt and Chicago's Bob Knovsky recovered on the Cleveland 15. Three plays later, quarterback Ed Brown sneaked across from the 1. John Aveni booted the extra point to give the Bears a one-point halftime advantage.

Midway in the third period, Mitchell cracked off tackle, shook off tacklers and raced 64 yards for the touchdown. Baker kicked the extra point and the Browns led 13-7. Baker, who earlier missed two field goal tries, put Cleveland ahead 16-7 with a 26-yard three-pointer in the fourth period.

Aveni booted an 18-yard field goal to cut the margin to 16-10.

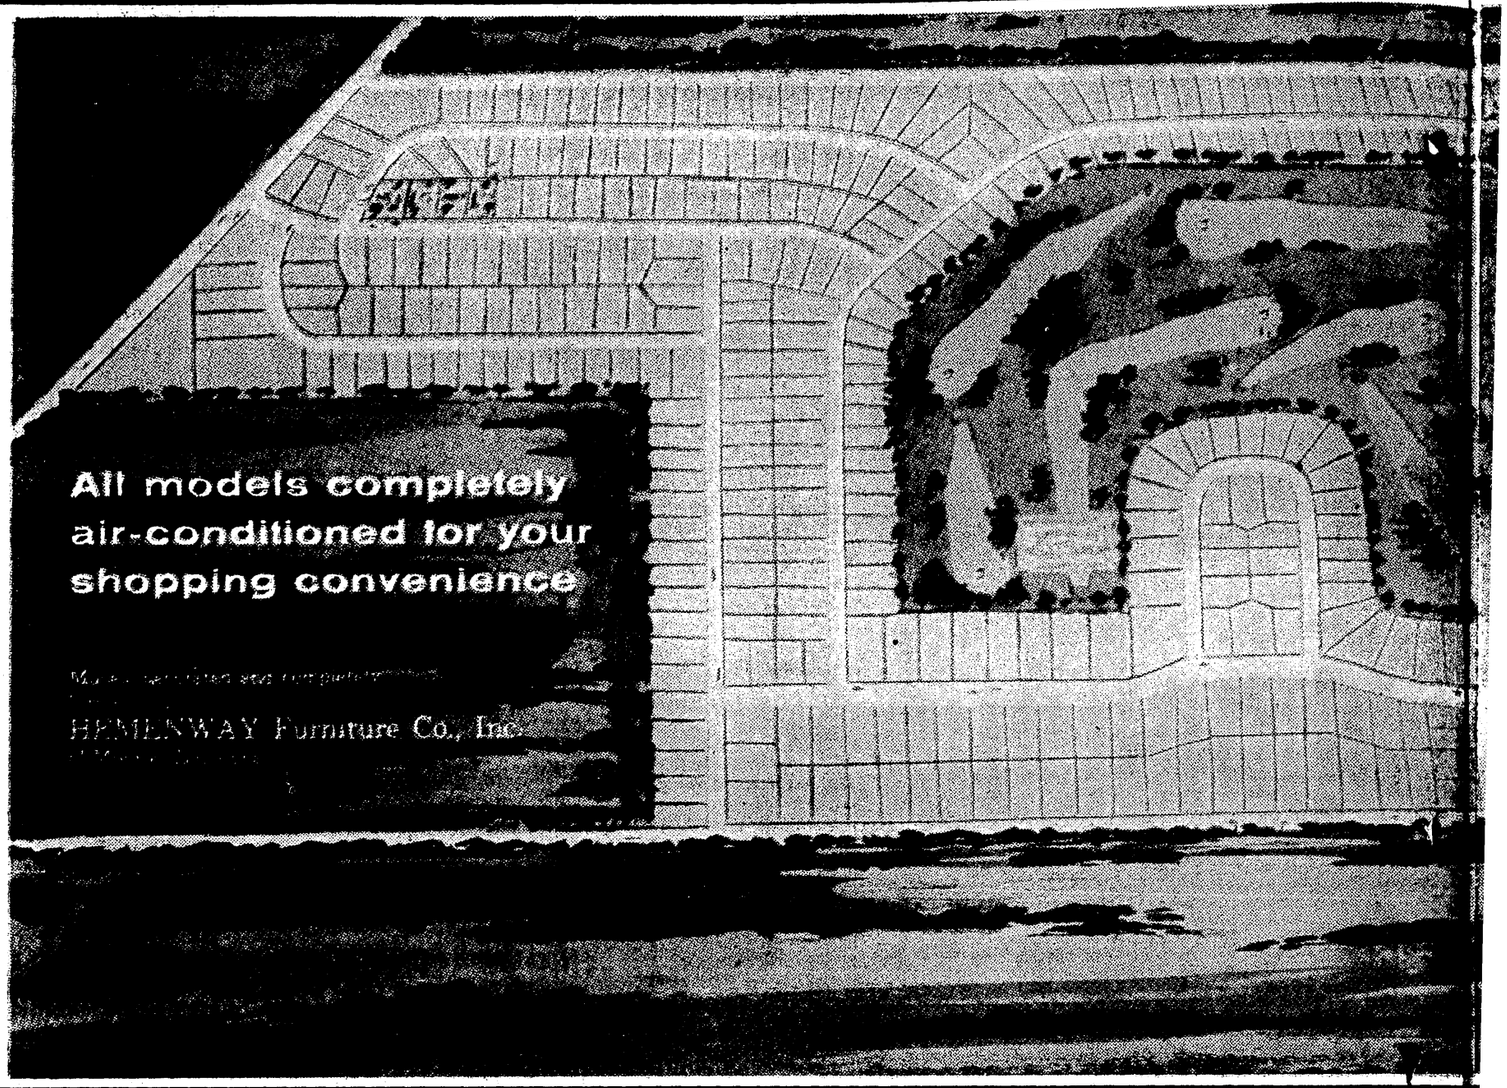

The Browns won their fourth pre-season game in five starts. The Bears' record was evened at 2-2.

NO TRIP NORTH

Walker, Pennel To Remain Here

Two more stars of Northeast's unbeaten 1959 track team — pole vaulter John Pennel and hurdler Randall Walker — have decided to remain at the local school, the college announced Saturday.

Northeast's new track coach, Bob Groseclose, said that Pennel and Walker had decided to join Indian distance ace Don "Buddy" Eiland and remain at Northeast. Friday Groseclose had announced Eiland's intention of remaining at Northeast and learned of Walker's and Pennel's decision yesterday.

All three athletes had previously indicated they would follow former coach Lew Hartzog to Southern Illinois University.

On March 19 of this year, Pennel vaulted 15 feet and one-quarter inch at the Chattanooga Invitational to set a new indoor mark for college freshmen. He never cleared 15 feet again but picked up nine first places for the Indians, including a record-breaking vault in the Gulf States Conference meet, and amassed a total of 64½ points.

As a freshman Walker did not get too many opportunities to shine as a hurdler behind Don Styron but if the Styron twins hold to their plans to follow Hartzog north, Walker will get a chance to run the hurdles regularly. He is also an excellent quarter-miler and ran on occasion with the Northeast mile relay team. He scored 54 and 1-6 points last season.

Tribe Season Tickets Still On Sale Here

Season tickets for the Northeast State College home football games are still available, according to Athletic Director Jack Rowan.

The tickets are on sale at three local firms and at the Athletic Office on campus. The local firms are Simmons' Esso Servicenter, 21 Louisville Ave.; Calvert Drug Store, 308 Trenton St., West Monroe; and R & A Jewelers, 323 DeSiard St.

Tickets are selling for $7 — $1 less than a fan would pay for a $2 ticket for each of the four home games.

The season opener is Sept. 17, in Brown Stadium, with the Indains meeting Arkansas State. This game is to be the annual Parents' Day contest, a game which parents of Northeast students are especially invited to attend. Northeast will return home again Oct. 8 to play Northwestern in the Tribe's Homecoming game.

The final home games are Nov. 12 and Nov. 19 when the Indians will host Jacksonville State College and Louisiana Tech.

Lightning Class Regatta Goes To San Diego Sailor

TAWAS CITY, Mich. (AP) — Carl M. Eichenlaub, a 30-year-old sailor from San Diego, Calif., Saturday won the International Lightning Class Regatta run over Tawas Bay the last five days.

Eichenlaub and his crew of Malcolm Whitt, 24, and John Shine, 16, outmaneuvered Cawthra in Saturday's race and finished second behind winner Carter Ford of Riverside, Conn.

U.S. Finishes 4th In Olympic Fencing Ends

ROME (AP)—Hungary won its second Olympic fencing gold medal Saturday by defeating Poland 9-7 in the final of the team sabre championship.

The United States finished fourth, losing the consolation final for third place to Italy 9-6.

The American fencers, who gained the semifinal round by beating Russia, nearly salvaged the bronze medal after spotting Italy a 6-3 lead.

New Yorkers Mike Dasaro and George Worth won their matches to put the Americans one down but Giampalo Calachini beat Al Morales of Tucson, Ariz., and Wladimiroz Calarese scored a disputed victory over Dasaro before Allen Kwartler, a Yonkers insurance broker, scored the final U.S. win.

Earlier, the Americans has defeated Russia on the basis of fewer hits received—65 to 67—after the teams had tied in bouts 8-8. Dr. Tibor Nyilas of New York, led the United States with four victories. In the semis, Poland beat the Americans, 9-3.

The Americans were the surprise team of the tournament with strong showings in most of the men's events. "Our showing in these Games have earned new respect for our fencing abilities from the European countries," said team captain Ralph Goldstein.

"It was great to beat Russia," said Nyilas, a Hungarian-born physician who has been U.S. sabre champion 10 times.

Recreation Grid Quiz

Time to handicap with Hesketh, football fans. The first weekly edition of the Recreation Department's Football Quiz, 20 hard-to-pick grid games selected by director Jack Hesketh, is out.

The quiz will run for 10 weeks and trophies will be awarded to the woman and man with the top scores. The games will appear in each Sunday's paper and the results announced Tuesday morning.

Entries should circle the teams they believe will win, clip out the list, paste on a post card and mail to "Football Quiz, Monroe Recreation Dept., P. O. Box 1293 Monroe, La.," before midnight Wednesday.

90-63 OVER BRAZIL

U.S. Wins Fifth Basketball Title

ROME (AP)—The United States won its fifth straight Olympic basketball gold medal Saturday night with 6-foot-8 Jerry Lucas, a player with the championship habit, scoring 25 points as the Americans whipped Brazil 90-63 in the final game.

Lucas, who dominated Ohio high school basketball as an all-state star at Middletown, then went on as a sophomore to lead Ohio State to the 1960 NCAA championship, scored 14 points in the first 10 minutes against Brazil and it was practically all over.

Russia won the silver medal in the tournament and Brazil the bronze medal.

The United States, which has never lost a game in 24 years of Olympic basketball, won eight straight here, and Coach Pete Newell said, "Our last one was not our best one. I'm glad it's over."

This was only the third time in the tournament that the Americans failed to score more than 100 points.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, one of several All-Americas on the U. S. team and the National Collegiate scoring champ the past three years, was held to 12 points.

Terry Dischinger of Purdue scored 11 points. Big Walt Bellamy of Indiana, a backbone of the American team, was ejected when he elbowed and sent a Brazilian spinning to the floor.

Lucas' early splurge moved the U. S. team into a 16-2 lead in the first five minutes as Brazil was held in check by the rangy North American stars.

Lucas had 12 field goals and one foul before leaving the game with 10 minutes to play.

Newell, who coached California to the 1959 NCAA basketball championship, was coaching his last game. He returns to the school as athletic director.

The gold medal was the United States' 34th of the Rome Games.

Bellamy was ejected when he apparently accidentaly elbowed Brazil's Etson Bispo on a play on which Bellamy was going in for a basket. Under U. S. rules, it appeared to be a routine charging foul, but the Olympic official seemed to consider it more serious.

In the final round standings, which determined the title, the United States had six points. Russia had five, Brazil four.

Over-all in the tournament, both Brazil and Russia were 6-2 in games, but Russia scored a final-round victory over Brazil.

The United States beat Russia in the semifinal round. They did not meet again in the finals.

Italy was fourth in the tournament, Czechoslovakia fifth and Yugoslavia sixth.

Rose Bower Wins Matron Stakes Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Rose Bower, who beat the best 2-year-old fillies in the Midwest in the Princess Pat Stakes, moved to the head of the championship battle in that division Saturday by capturing the $94,860 Matron Stakes at Aqueduct.

Jockey Johnny Rotz kept Rose Bower in fourth place off the early pace, then let his mount open up in the last sixteenth of a mile for a half-length victory over the Meadowbrook Stable's Little Tumbler.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Good Move, who won the $93,650 Spinaway Stakes at Saratoga the same day the Princess Pat was run, finished third in the field of 11 juvenile misses.

The Cambridge Stable's Shuette led briefly at the start of the 6-furlong race down the backstretch followed by Little Tumbler, Fred W. Hooper's Bright Holly and Rose Bower.

With about half a mile to travel, Charlie Burr sent Little Tumbler into a two-length lead, with Bright Holly second, Shuette third and Rose Bower still fourth.

Little Tumbler opened up a lead of about three lengths at the head of the stretch, and an eighth of a mile from home it looked like a futile task for Rose Bower.

But stride by stride the chestnut daughter of Princequillo-Le a Lane, by Nasrullah, closed the gap, and Rose Bower collared Little Tumbler near the wire.

The time was a creditable 1:10 3-5 on a fast track.

Rose Bower, a favorite of a crowd of 41,185, paid $6.30, $3.70 and $2.60. Little Tumbler returned $4.20 and $2.90, and Good Move, ridden by Eric Guerin, was $2.80 to show.

Clay, from Paris, Ky., netted $58,634 for Rose Bower's victory, her fourth in five starts. She now has earned $128,159.

Oil Royalty finished fourth, followed by Shuette, Play Time, Prominent Lady, Noble Touch, Bright Silver, Eastern Princess and Bright Holly.

Tigers Work On Defensive Play For Aggie Game

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Defensive play Saturday dominated Louisiana State University's final scrimmage before its game with Texas A&M here Sept. 17.

It took a defensive play to provide the only touchdown of the scrimmage. End Gene Sykes intercepted a pass and raced down the sidelines 55 yards to score.

Offensively the Tigers were hurt by fumbles and intercepted passes and couldn't seem to push the ball across the goal line when in scoring position.

Greenies Polish Up For Golden Bear's Passing

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Tulane, chased indoors Saturday by rain in the morning, worked two hours on defense on sloppy turf in an afternoon defensive drill.

"We still have a lot of ground to cover," coach Andy Pilney said, "but the boys are progressing about like we expected."

Much of the afternoon session was devoted to pass defense. The Wave's opening opponent, California, is expected to launch a heavy aerial barrage next Saturday at Berkeley.

Aussies Halt U.S. National Tennis Hopes

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Defending champion Neale Fraser and Rod Laver crushed America's last glimmering hopes Saturday and crashed into the final round of the National Tennis Singles Championships.

Fraser, seeded No. 1, shattered the dreams of 18-year-old Denny Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 11-9, 6-3, 6-2. Laver triumphed 4-6, 5-7, 6-4 ,6-2 75, over Earl (Butch) Buchholz, of St. Louis, Mo., to set up an all Australian final.

For Fraser, it was experience over youth, and once past the first set, there was no real question of the winner. But for the red-haired Laver, who hasn't lost a tournament on the U.S. grass court circuit this year, it was a frustrating victory.

He hauled himself off the canvas in the third set, and squared the match by taking the fourth. The Australian appeared on the way to victory when he broke Buchholz' service in the first game of the fifth set. But Buchholz broke back in the fourth and again in the eighth to go ahead 5-3.

Laver broke back at love and it was 5-4, then held his own delivery for 5-5. Buchholz was limping slightly and the crowd of 10,000 sensed something might be troubling his leg.

Buchholz served in the 11th game and it went to 30-30. Suddenly on the fourth point (which he won), Buchholz almost fell, began to limp and tossed down his racket in disgust. His face was twisted in pain and he grabbed for his left leg.

A trainer worked on him for five minutes. He came back, but could only pat at the ball on his service. Laver then broke through and held his own service for the match.

The finalists in the women's division also were decided when Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif. seeded No. 4, turned back Donna Floyd, 19-year-old William and Mary college junior, 6-1, 7-5, and defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil eliminated Christine Truman, the tall British Wightman Cupper, 6-3, 9-7.

Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., won the senior's title when he defeated Adrian Quist of Australia, 6-4, 6-3.

Buchholz defeat meant that for the fourth time in the past five years, the final will be all-Australia. Not since Tony Trabert won the title back in 1955 has a native-born American been in the final.

For the first two sets, Buchholz appeared unbeatable. His service was rocking Laver back on his heels. He was handling the Aussie's delivery with ease, and most of all, his ground strokes were solid.

But in the third set things began to go against Buchholz and shots that had been falling in began to sail past the baseline. Finally Laver broke him in the ninth game at love.

Buchholz was discouraged in the fourth set and all but conceded it to Laver with the latter breaking in the fifth and seventh games.

That set the stage for the tense fifth set. Laver broke right at the start and it looked like the finish of Buchholz. But Butch broke in the fourth and eighth games to take a 5-3 lead. He only had to hold his own service for the match. But he lost it at love.

That made it 5-4. In the 10th game, Buchholz got to match point three times while the crowd cheered his every stroke. But again Laver pulled it out.

Ralston never had met Fraser before and was puzzled by the champion's twisting service — a service that has befuddled more experienced players.

Ralston fought tooth-and-nail for every point in the first set. Fraser was forced to overcome a 15-40 deficit in the 11th game to hold service, and Ralston had the advantage in the 13th before the Australian rallied.

Fraser broke in the 20th game when Ralston double faulted and then missed a couple of easy volleys.

They exchanged breaks in the second and third games of the second set, but from then on Fraser took charge. He made the deciding break in the eighth game and broke right at the start of the third set to get it over fast.

ON MENDED KNEES

Syracuse Opens Defense Of National Grid Crown

Syracuse opens defense of its national collegiate football championship on mended knees.

Tough, ex-paratrooper Ben Schwartzwalder has the horses again at Syracuse. His talent parade features 23 lettermen and the best culled from an unbeaten freshman squad.

If the Orangemen are to retain top billing, some knees with records of injury and surgery must stand up in combat. They belong to fullback Art Baker, tackles John Brown and Tom Gilburg, halfback Mark Weber and end Dave Baker.

As a precaution, these players were held out of the spring game but the word is that all are ready to go at full speed. Even without them, the varsity beat the alumni 21-15 back in May.

Washington and Mississippi are ranked with Syracuse. Each of them has quality and quantity of personnel, speed, finesse and jarring power.

While Syracuse opens its season Sept. 24 against Boston University, the Rose Bowl champion Huskies meet College of the Pacific this weekend and the Rebels are at Houston.

Thirteen knee operations cast doubt on how far the "road to recovery" plan will succeed at Notre Dame but the Irish are figured to be better than the 5-5 record of last year. Captain and Guard Myron Pottios plus first-string backfield men Red Mack, Gerry Gray and George Sefoik are on the knee list.

Among Eastern independents, Penn State and Pittsburgh threaten Syracuse supremacy again. State has made some line changes and moved Dick Hoak from halfback to quarterback to compensate for the loss of Richie Lucas. The results have been gratifying.

Pitt has a murderous schedule —opening at UCLA Saturday—to tax such standout performers as end Mike Ditka, guard Larry Vignali and fullback Jim Cunningham.

Watch Air Force among the service academies. Slingshot passer Rich Mayo directs a quick, hard-hitting outfit. Navy promises some surprises.

Once again, the Southeastern Conference sends a lethal delegation onto the gridiron. Mississippi could easily finish with the best over-all record and be no better than runner-up in the SEC. Auburn, still under a bowl ban, has another massive line led by huge tackle Ken Rice, workhorse backs Ed Dyns and Bobby Hunt plus new breakaway speed in sophomore Jimmy Burson.

Louisiana State, Georgia and Alabama will be tough again. Tennessee can take it all if the Vol line continues to improve. Mike LaCorsa's knee is the focal point. There are five top-notch tailbacks to run the show.

Texas and Texas Christian tied with Arkansas for the Southwest Conference crown a year ago. The Longhorns and Horned Forgs are set to battle it out again with Baylor the darkhorse. Arkansas fields a splendid first unit but may lack the necessary depth.

The one-year suspension of Indiana for recruiting malpractice and Wisconsin's thumping 44-8 loss to Washington in the Rose Bowl, complicates the Big Ten outlook.

Illinois, with Pete Elliott taking over for retiring Ray Eliot, has the inside title track even though its fastest back, Johnny Counts, has been declared ineligible. Ohio State has gained over-all strength while losing a few big name stars. Northwestern may have the finest first team in the nation but like Arkansas, may fade in the November stretch as has happened in the two previous campaigns. Iowa and Purdue are rugged again.

Minnesota is the darkhorse. The loud cries of athletic department vs. alumni—a running battle of words for two years — has subsided. It can only mean trouble for the rest of the league.

Washington faces rugged going in the second season of the Big Five. Southern California is opening its attack though the Trojans still will lean on a grudging defense and smashing, short yardage runs. The mighty McKeever twins, All-America Marlin at end and Mike at guard have fans harking back to the "Thundering Herd." There's talk out of Los Angeles that Marlin may be used at fullback on offense and end on defense.

UCLA looks like a track team in football togs and if the blockers knock more people down this fall, the Bruins may blitz their way beyond the fondest dreams of their supporters. Many injuries to key backs slowed the restoration program last year.

Virginia Military should continue its reign in the Southern loop. West Virginia is on the way up but is so busy on the intersectional circuit it has time for only three league tests.

This could be the end of Oklahoma's reign in the Big Eight. The Sooners have the weakest backfield since the mid-40s which was the last time they were second to anybody on the plains. Colorado's sophomore whiz kids of 1959 become seasoned performers and quarterback Gale Weidner could pass them to the top. Kansas is loaded with transfer talent like halfback sensation Bert Coan and has made many changes for the big push but still may be a year away from championship form.

If there are any teams to beat out North Texas State in the Missouri Valley, they'll have to show the Eagles. Tulsa is ready for the best try.

The "beat Wyoming" movement is on again in the Skyline Conference. The Cowboys look powerful enough to withstand anything the rivals can plot and worry outside opponents as well.

Harvard, Yale and Cornel head the list of Ivy League candidates.

STROKE OVER COLLINS

Dow Finsterwald Leads Utah Open

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Dow Finsterwald, leading a field of par busters, took the lead in the $20,000 Utah Open Saturday with a sparkling 64, seven under par, for a 36 hole total of 129. This gave him a 1 stroke lead over Bill Collins, who was in a three-way tie Friday for the lead.

Collins shot a 66 Saturday for 130, and easily qualified for the final 18 holes. The cutoff score was 140, and eliminated Jack Fleck of Los Angeles, with 141, and Billy Maxwell of Oceanside, Calif., by another stroke.

Finsterwald, second on Friday with 65, had a 32-32 over the well-conditioned 6-310-yard Salt Lake County Club and came hustling home with three straight birdies.

Doug Sanders, Miami Beach, Fla., and Jey Hebert, Lafayette, La., tied with Collins for the lead going into the second round, faltered slightly. Sanders had a 67 for 131 and Hebert carded a one-under par 70 for 134.

Only two amateurs, Lou North of Salt Lake City, and George Mountcastle of Winston-Salem, N.C., made the cutoff. North fired 65 for a 131 and Mountcastle had a 65 for 136.

Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver who was playing his first competitive golf since his cancer operation in May, failed to make the cutoff. He matched Friday's 71 for a 142 total.

Red Sox Win 7-4 Decision Over KC A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics spoiled Ike Delock's bid for a shutout by scoring four runs against Boston in the ninth inning Saturday but Mike Fornieles came on to muffle the rally and the Red Sox took the 7-4 decision.

Carroll Hardy hit a home run with Delock on base in the fifth inning and cracked two singles as well.

Delock evened his record at 8-8. Ray Herbert, the A's starter, dropped his 15th game, tying him with Frank Sullivan of Boston and Frank Larry of Detroit for most losses in the American League. Herbert has won 10.

49-1 Shot Takes $30,650 Chicago Handicap Honor

CHICAGO (AP)—Active Crater, a 49-1 shot, won the $30,650 Chicago Handicap Saturday before a crowd of 19,346 at Hawthorne.

Heroshogala was a close third, while Sunnyside Stable's Resolved the 9-5 favorite, finished fourth in the field of 14.

Resolved took a narrow lead on the stretch turn, but jockey Douglas Dodson had to snatch him up when the gelding lugged in on Tudor Era, and he couldn't regain the lead.

Tudor Era and Times Ace dueled for the lead for better than half a mile, with Resolved a close third. Sixth after three-fourths of a mile, Active Crater then responded to jockey Eugene Curry's urging, took a one-length lead in mid-stretch and held on gamely.

The winner paid $100.80, $35 and $17.40. Santiago paid $7.80 and $5. Heroshogala paid $4.80.

The winner, a 4-year-old son of Volcanis, earned $21,550 for owner John B. Bogdan of LaGrange Park, Ill. The winner's time was 1:37.

Phillies Stop Cardinals, 7-2 With Big Hits

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ruben Amaro drove in four runs with a double and a triple Saturday as Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 7-2 and dropped the Cardinals seven games behind National League leading Pittsburgh.

The Cards held second place by one percentage point over Milwaukee, which defeated Los Angeles 10-8.

Amaro doubled in the first two Philadelphia runs in the second inning after Frank Herrera singled and Cal Neeman walked. Amaro later scored on a sacrifice fly.

The Phillies had scored twice in the sixth on Bobby DelGreco's solo home run and Jim Owens single, scoring Herrera, who had three hits for the day.

NO TRIP NORTH

Walker, Pennel To Remain Here

Two more stars of Northeast's unbeaten 1959 track team — pole vaulter John Pennel and hurdler Randall Walker — have decided to remain at the local school, the college announced Saturday.

Northeast's new track coach, Bob Groseclose, said that Pennel and Walker had decided to join Indian distance ace Don "Buddy" Eiland and remain at Northeast. Friday Groseclose had announced Eiland's intention of remaining at Northeast and learned of Walker's and Pennel's decision yesterday.

All three athletes had previously indicated they would follow former coach Lew Hartzog to Southern Illinois University.

On March 19 of this year, Pennel vaulted 15 feet and one-quarter inch at the Chattanooga Invitational to set a new indoor mark for college freshmen. He never cleared 15 feet again but picked up nine first places for the Indians, including a record-breaking vault in the Gulf States Conference meet, and amassed a total of 64½ points.

As a freshman Walker did not get too many opportunities to shine as a hurdler behind Don Styron but if the Styron twins hold to their plans to follow Hartzog north, Walker will get a chance to run the hurdles regularly. He is also an excellent quarter-miler and ran on occasion with the Northeast mile relay team. He scored 54 and 1-6 points last season.

U.S. Finishes 4th In Olympic Fencing Ends

ROME (AP)—Hungary won its second Olympic fencing gold medal Saturday by defeating Poland 9-7 in the final of the team sabre championship.

The United States finished fourth, losing the consolation final for third place to Italy 9-6.

The American fencers, who gained the semifinal round by beating Russia, nearly salvaged the bronze medal after spotting Italy a 6-3 lead.

New Yorkers Mike Dasaro and George Worth won their matches to put the Americans one down but Giampalo Calachini beat Al Morales of Tucson, Ariz., and Wladimiroz Calarese scored a disputed victory over Dasaro before Allen Kwartler, a Yonkers insurance broker, scored the final U.S. win.

Earlier, the Americans has defeated Russia on the basis of fewer hits received—65 to 67—after the teams had tied in bouts 8-8. Dr. Tibor Nyilas of New York, led the United States with four victories. In the semis, Poland beat the Americans, 9-3.

The Americans were the surprise team of the tournament with strong showings in most of the men's events. "Our showing in these Games have earned new respect for our fencing abilities from the European countries," said team captain Ralph Goldstein.

"It was great to beat Russia," said Nyilas, a Hungarian-born physician who has been U.S. sabre champion 10 times.

Tribe Season Tickets Still On Sale Here

Season tickets for the Northeast State College home football games are still available, according to Athletic Director Jack Rowan.

The tickets are on sale at three local firms and at the Athletic Office on campus. The local firms are Simmons' Esso Servicenter, 21 Louisville Ave.; Calvert Drug Store, 308 Trenton St., West Monroe; and R & A Jewelers, 323 DeSiard St.

Tickets are selling for $7 — $1 less than a fan would pay for a $2 ticket for each of the four home games.

The season opener is Sept. 17, in Brown Stadium, with the Indains meeting Arkansas State. This game is to be the annual Parents' Day contest, a game which parents of Northeast students are especially invited to attend. Northeast will return home again Oct. 8 to play Northwestern in the Tribe's Homecoming game.

The final home games are Nov. 12 and Nov. 19 when the Indians will host Jacksonville State College and Louisiana Tech.

Lightning Class Regatta Goes To San Diego Sailor

TAWAS CITY, Mich. (AP) — Carl M. Eichenlaub, a 30-year-old sailor from San Diego, Calif., Saturday won the International Lightning Class Regatta run over Tawas Bay the last five days.

90-63 OVER BRAZIL

U.S. Wins Fifth Basketball Title

ROME (AP)—The United States won its fifth straight Olympic basketball gold medal Saturday night with 6-foot-8 Jerry Lucas, a player with the championship habit, scoring 25 points as the Americans whipped Brazil 90-63 in the final game.

Lucas, who dominated Ohio high school basketball as an all-state star at Middletown, then went on as a sophomore to lead Ohio State to the 1960 NCAA championship, scored 14 points in the first 10 minutes against Brazil and it was practically all over.

Russia won the silver medal in the tournament and Brazil the bronze medal.

The United States, which has never lost a game in 24 years of Olympic basketball, won eight straight here, and Coach Pete Newell said, "Our last one was not our best one. I'm glad it's over."

This was only the third time in the tournament that the Americans failed to score more than 100 points.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, one of several All-Americas on the U. S. team and the National Collegiate scoring champ the past three years, was held to 12 points.

Terry Dischinger of Purdue scored 11 points. Big Walt Bellamy of Indiana, a backbone of the American team, was ejected when he elbowed and sent a Brazilian spinning to the floor.

Lucas' early splurge moved the U. S. team into a 16-2 lead in the first five minutes as Brazil was held in check by the rangy North American stars.

Lucas had 12 field goals and one foul before leaving the game with 10 minutes to play.

Newell, who coached California to the 1959 NCAA basketball championship, was coaching his last game. He returns to the school as athletic director.

The gold medal was the United States' 34th of the Rome Games.

Bellamy was ejected when he apparently accidentaly elbowed Brazil's Etson Bispo on a play on which Bellamy was going in for a basket. Under U. S. rules, it appeared to be a routine charging foul, but the Olympic official seemed to consider it more serious.

In the final round standings, which determined the title, the United States had six points. Russia had five, Brazil four.

Over-all in the tournament, both Brazil and Russia were 6-2 in games, but Russia scored a final-round victory over Brazil.

The United States beat Russia in the semifinal round. They did not meet again in the finals.

Italy was fourth in the tournament, Czechoslovakia fifth and Yugoslavia sixth.

Rose Bower Wins Matron Stakes Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Rose Bower, who beat the best 2-year-old fillies in the Midwest in the Princess Pat Stakes, moved to the head of the championship battle in that division Saturday by capturing the $94,860 Matron Stakes at Aqueduct.

Jockey Johnny Rotz kept Rose Bower in fourth place off the early pace, then let his mount open up in the last sixteenth of a mile for a half-length victory over the Meadowbrook Stable's Little Tumbler.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Good Move, who won the $93,650 Spinaway Stakes at Saratoga the same day the Princess Pat was run, finished third in the field of 11 juvenile misses.

The Cambridge Stable's Shuette led briefly at the start of the 6-furlong race down the backstretch followed by Little Tumbler, Fred W. Hooper's Bright Holly and Rose Bower.

With about half a mile to travel, Charlie Burr sent Little Tumbler into a two-length lead, with Bright Holly second, Shuette third and Rose Bower still fourth.

Little Tumbler opened up a lead of about three lengths at the head of the stretch, and an eighth of a mile from home it looked like a futile task for Rose Bower.

But stride by stride the chestnut daughter of Princequillo-Le a Lane, by Nasrullah, closed the gap, and Rose Bower collared Little Tumbler near the wire.

The time was a creditable 1:10 3-5 on a fast track.

Rose Bower, a favorite of a crowd of 41,185, paid $6.30, $3.70 and $2.60. Little Tumbler returned $4.20 and $2.90, and Good Move, ridden by Eric Guerin, was $2.80 to show.

Clay, from Paris, Ky., netted $58,634 for Rose Bower's victory, her fourth in five starts. She now has earned $128,159.

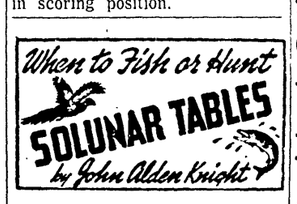

Oil Royalty finished fourth, followed by Shuette, Play Time, Prominent Lady, Noble Touch, Bright Silver, Eastern Princess and Bright Holly.

Tigers Work On Defensive Play For Aggie Game

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Defensive play Saturday dominated Louisiana State University's final scrimmage before its game with Texas A&M here Sept. 17.

It took a defensive play to provide the only touchdown of the scrimmage. End Gene Sykes intercepted a pass and raced down the sidelines 55 yards to score.

Offensively the Tigers were hurt by fumbles and intercepted passes and couldn't seem to push the ball across the goal line when in scoring position.

Greenies Polish Up For Golden Bear's Passing

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Tulane, chased indoors Saturday by rain in the morning, worked two hours on defense on sloppy turf in an afternoon defensive drill.

"We still have a lot of ground to cover," coach Andy Pilney said, "but the boys are progressing about like we expected."

Much of the afternoon session was devoted to pass defense. The Wave's opening opponent, California, is expected to launch a heavy aerial barrage next Saturday at Berkeley.

Aussies Halt U.S. National Tennis Hopes

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Defending champion Neale Fraser and Rod Laver crushed America's last glimmering hopes Saturday and crashed into the final round of the National Tennis Singles Championships.

Fraser, seeded No. 1, shattered the dreams of 18-year-old Denny Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 11-9, 6-3, 6-2. Laver triumphed 4-6, 5-7, 6-4 ,6-2 75, over Earl (Butch) Buchholz, of St. Louis, Mo., to set up an all Australian final.

For Fraser, it was experience over youth, and once past the first set, there was no real question of the winner. But for the red-haired Laver, who hasn't lost a tournament on the U.S. grass court circuit this year, it was a frustrating victory.

He hauled himself off the canvas in the third set, and squared the match by taking the fourth. The Australian appeared on the way to victory when he broke Buchholz' service in the first game of the fifth set. But Buchholz broke back in the fourth and again in the eighth to go ahead 5-3.

Laver broke back at love and it was 5-4, then held his own delivery for 5-5. Buchholz was limping slightly and the crowd of 10,000 sensed something might be troubling his leg.

Buchholz served in the 11th game and it went to 30-30. Suddenly on the fourth point (which he won), Buchholz almost fell, began to limp and tossed down his racket in disgust. His face was twisted in pain and he grabbed for his left leg.

A trainer worked on him for five minutes. He came back, but could only pat at the ball on his service. Laver then broke through and held his own service for the match.

The finalists in the women's division aiso were decided when Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif. seeded No. 4, turned back Donna Floyd, 19-year-old William and Mary college junior, 6-1, 7-5, and defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil eliminated Christine Truman, the tall British Wightman Cupper, 6-3, 9-7.

Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., won the senior's title when he defeated Adrian Quist of Australia, 6-4, 6-3.

Buchholz defeat meant that for the fourth time in the past five years, the final will be all-Australia. Not since Tony Trabert won the title back in 1955 has a native-born American been in the final.

For the first two sets, Buchholz appeared unbeatable. His service was rocking Laver back on his heels. He was handling the Aussie's delivery with ease, and most of all, his ground strokes were solid.

But in the third set things began to go against Buchholz and shots that had been falling in began to sail past the baseline. Finally Laver broke him in the ninth game at love.

Buchholz was discouraged in the fourth set and all but conceded it to Laver with the latter breaking in the fifth and seventh games.

That set the stage for the tense fifth set. Laver broke right at the start and it looked like the finish of Buchholz. But Butch broke in the fourth and eighth games to take a 5-3 lead. He only had to hold his own service for the match. But he lost it at love.

That made it 5-4. In the 10th game, Buchholz got to match point three times while the crowd cheered his every stroke. But again Laver pulled it out.

Ralston never had met Fraser before and was puzzled by the champion's twisting service — a service that has befuddled more experienced players.

Ralston fought tooth-and-nail for every point in the first set. Fraser was forced to overcome a 15-40 deficit in the 11th game to hold service, and Ralston had the advantage in the 13th before the Australian rallied.

Fraser broke in the 20th game when Ralston double faulted and then missed a couple of easy volleys.

They exchanged breaks in the second and third games of the second set, but from then on Fraser took charge. He made the deciding break in the eighth game and broke right at the start of the third set to get it over fast.

ON MENDED KNEES

Syracuse Opens Defense Of National Grid Crown

Syracuse opens defense of its national collegiate football championship on mended knees.

Tough, ex-paratrooper Ben Schwartzwalder has the horses again at Syracuse. His talent parade features 23 lettermen and the best culled from an unbeaten freshman squad.

If the Orangemen are to retain top billing, some knees with records of injury and surgery must stand up in combat. They belong to fullback Art Baker, tackles John Brown and Tom Gilburg, halfback Mark Weber and end Dave Baker.

As a precaution, these players were held out of the spring game but the word is that all are ready to go at full speed. Even without them, the varsity beat the alumni 21-15 back in May.

Washington and Mississippi are ranked with Syracuse. Each of them has quality and quantity of personnel, speed, finesse and jarring power.

While Syracuse opens its season Sept. 24 against Boston University, the Rose Bowl champion Huskies meet College of the Pacific this weekend and the Rebels are at Houston.

Thirteen knee operations cast doubt on how far the "road to recovery" plan will succeed at Notre Dame but the Irish are figured to be better than the 5-5 record of last year. Captain and Guard Myron Pottios plus first-string backfield men Red Mack, Gerry Gray and George Sefoik are on the knee list.

Among Eastern independents, Penn State and Pittsburgh threaten Syracuse supremacy again. State has made some line changes and moved Dick Hoak from halfback to quarterback to compensate for the loss of Richie Lucas. The results have been gratifying.

Pitt has a murderous schedule —opening at UCLA Saturday—to tax such standout performers as end Mike Ditka, guard Larry Vignali and fullback Jim Cunningham.

Once again, the Southeastern Conference sends a lethal delegation onto the gridiron. Mississippi could easily finish with the best over-all record and be no better than runner-up in the SEC. Auburn, still under a bowl ban, has another massive line led by huge tackle Ken Rice, workhorse backs Ed Dyns and Bobby Hunt plus new breakaway speed in sophomore Jimmy Burson.

Louisiana State, Georgia and Alabama will be tough again. Tennessee can take it all if the Vol line continues to improve. Mike LaCorsa's knee is the focal point. There are five top-notch tailbacks to run the show.

Texas and Texas Christian tied with Arkansas for the Southwest Conference crown a year ago. The Longhorns and Horned Forgs are set to battle it out again with Baylor the darkhorse. Arkansas fields a splendid first unit but may lack the necessary depth.

The one-year suspension of Indiana for recruiting malpractice and Wisconsin's thumping 44-8 loss to Washington in the Rose Bowl, complicates the Big Ten outlook.

Illinois, with Pete Elliott taking over for retiring Ray Eliot, has the inside title track even though its fastest back, Johnny Counts, has been declared ineligible. Ohio State has gained over-all strength while losing a few big name stars. Northwestern may have the finest first team in the nation but like Arkansas, may fade in the November stretch as has happened in the two previous campaigns. Iowa and Purdue are rugged again.

Minnesota is the darkhorse. The loud cries of athletic department vs. alumni—a running battle of words for two years — has subsided. It can only mean trouble for the rest of the league.

Washington faces rugged going in the second season of the Big Five. Southern California is opening its attack though the Trojans still will lean on a grudging defense and smashing, short yardage runs. The mighty McKeever twins, All-America Marlin at end and Mike at guard have fans harking back to the "Thundering Herd." There's talk out of Los Angeles that Marlin may be used at fullback on offense and end on defense.

UCLA looks like a track team in football togs and if the blockers knock more people down this fall, the Bruins may blitz their way beyond the fondest dreams of their supporters. Many injuries to key backs slowed the restoration program last year.

Virginia Military should continue its reign in the Southern loop. West Virginia is on the way up but is so busy on the intersectional circuit it has time for only three league tests.

This could be the end of Oklahoma's reign in the Big Eight. The Sooners have the weakest backfield since the mid-40s which was the last time they were second to anybody on the plains. Colorado's sophomore whiz kids of 1959 become seasoned performers and quarterback Gale Weidner could pass them to the top. Kansas is loaded with transfer talent like halfback sensation Bert Coan and has made many changes for the big push but still may be a year away from championship form.

If there are any teams to beat out North Texas State in the Missouri Valley, they'll have to show the Eagles. Tulsa is ready for the best try.

The "beat Wyoming" movement is on again in the Skyline Conference. The Cowboys look powerful enough to withstand anything the rivals can plot and worry outside opponents as well.

Harvard, Yale and Cornel head the list of Ivy League candidates.

STROKE OVER COLLINS

Dow Finsterwald Leads Utah Open

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Dow Finsterwald, leading a field of par busters, took the lead in the $20,000 Utah Open Saturday with a sparkling 64, seven under par, for a 36 hole total of 129. This gave him a 1 stroke lead over Bill Collins, who was in a three-way tie Friday for the lead.

Collins shot a 66 Saturday for 130, and easily qualified for the final 18 holes. The cutoff score was 140, and eliminated Jack Fleck of Los Angeles, with 141, and Billy Maxwell of Oceanside, Calif., by another stroke.

Finsterwald, second on Friday with 65, had a 32-32 over the well-conditioned 6-310-yard Salt Lake County Club and came hustling home with three straight birdies.

Doug Sanders, Miami Beach, Fla., and Jey Hebert, Lafayette, La., tied with Collins for the lead going into the second round, faltered slightly. Sanders had a 67 for 131 and Hebert carded a one-under par 70 for 134.

Only two amateurs, Lou North of Salt Lake City, and George Mountcastle of Winston-Salem, N.C., made the cutoff. North fired 65 for a 131 and Mountcastle had a 65 for 136.

Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver who was playing his first competitive golf since his cancer operation in May, failed to make the cutoff. He matched Friday's 71 for a 142 total.

Red Sox Win 7-4 Decision Over KC A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics spoiled Ike Delock's bid for a shutout by scoring four runs against Boston in the ninth inning Saturday but Mike Fornieles came on to muffle the rally and the Red Sox took the 7-4 decision.

Carroll Hardy hit a home run with Delock on base in the fifth inning and cracked two singles as well.

Delock evened his record at 8-8. Ray Herbert, the A's starter, dropped his 15th game, tying him with Frank Sullivan of Boston and Frank Larry of Detroit for most losses in the American League. Herbert has won 10.

49-1 Shot Takes $30,650 Chicago Handicap Honor

CHICAGO (AP)—Active Crater, a 49-1 shot, won the $30,650 Chicago Handicap Saturday before a crowd of 19,346 at Hawthorne.

Heroshogala was a close third, while Sunnyside Stable's Resolved the 9-5 favorite, finished fourth in the field of 14.

Resolved took a narrow lead on the stretch turn, but jockey Douglas Dodson had to snatch him up when the gelding lugged in on Tudor Era, and he couldn't regain the lead.

Tudor Era and Times Ace dueled for the lead for better than half a mile, with Resolved a close third. Sixth after three-fourths of a mile, Active Crater then responded to jockey Eugene Curry's urging, took a one-length lead in mid-stretch and held on gamely.

The winner paid $100.80, $35 and $17.40. Santiago paid $7.80 and $5. Heroshogala paid $4.80.

The winner, a 4-year-old son of Volcanis, earned $21,550 for owner John B. Bogdan of LaGrange Park, IH. The winner's time was 1:37.

Phillies Stop Cardinals, 7-2 With Big Hits

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ruben Amaro drove in four runs with a double and a triple Saturday as Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 7-2 and dropped the Cardinals seven games behind National League leading Pittsburgh.

The Cards held second place by one percentage point over Milwaukee, which defeated Los Angeles 10-8.

Amaro doubled in the first two Philadelphia runs in the second inning after Frank Herrera singled and Cal Neeman walked. Amaro later scored on a sacrifice fly.

The Phillies had scored twice in the sixth on Bobby DelGreco's solo home run and Jim Owens single, scoring Herrera, who had three hits for the day.

NATIONAL GRID RACE

Syracuse Picked To Retain Crown

Syracuse, generally regarded as the national collegiate football champion a year ago, will repeat in 1960.

That is the pre-season opinion of the 48-man panel of experts who vote this year in the weekly Associated Press Top 10 poll. Twenty six of them rated Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's Orangemen the best in the country. Twenty-one named Mississippi and one favored Washington.

Giving 10 points for first, nine for a second-place vote, etc., the Cotton Bowl champions garnered 446 points. Mississippi was second with 426 and Washington third at 345.

The others in the elite 10 are, in order, Texas with 257 points, Illinois 228, Southern California 140, Pittsburgh 127, Michigan State 126, Clemson 76 and Oklahoma 66.

Each of the experts named Syracuse on his ballot, none lower than seventh. Mississippi was listed on 47 tickets.

The voting was scattered among 35 colleges. The second 10 is made up of Texas Christian with 64 points, Auburn 51, Georgia 48, Northwestern 41, Iowa 33, Ohio State 29, Notre Dame 26, Tennessee 23 and Penn State and Arkansas with 20 each.

The voting is the first under the new plan adopted by The Associated Press for determining the weekly top 10 teams. Previously, for a quarter of a century, every sports editor of a newspaper, radio or TV station was invited to vote. The balloting became unwieldy because of its size and so a 48-man tribunal was set up.

The men, each a recognized football expert, are scattered from border to border.

Last year Syracuse romped through 11 opponents, including Texas in the Cotton Bowl, and led all collegiate elevens in both offense and defense.

Three-fourths of the No. 1 backfield returns for the coming campaign but the awesome line, known as the Sizeable Seven, has been reduced to three by graduation. Ernie Davis is the top ball carrier.

Back, too, are All-America end Fred Mautino, center Jack Bemiller and guard Bruce Tarbox. The four other linemen may be new to starting status but are experienced. In all, 23 lettermen return.

Mississippi, 21-0 victor over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl, suffered heavy graduation losses but quarterback Jake Gibbs is back as is end Johnny Brewer, regarded as one of the country's best flankers. Dick Price, a 212-pound guard, also is considered All-America material.

The top 10 teams (first-place votes in parentheses):

1.	Syracuse (26)	446
2.	Mississippi (21)	426
3.	Washington (1)	345
4.	Texas	257
5.	Illinois	228
6.	Southern California	140

Southwestern Battles Lions In Grid Opener

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — Another hot chapter in the colorful tug o' war for the Cypress Mug title will be recorded here next Saturday (Sept. 17) when the University of Southwestern Louisiana meets its biggest nemesis of recent year — the roaring Southeatern La. College Lions.

Kickoff time for the 1960 curtain-raiser at McNaspy Stadium is set for an 8 p.m. whistle. In addition to the traditional Mug being at stake, victory will assure one of these Gulf States Conference rivals an early-bird jump in the 13th race for the six-team field.

Coached by Jim "Red" Hoggatt, the USL Bulldogs cling to a slim one-game lead in the all-time series. Their bayou wrangling was inaugurated in 1931, and after 24 hassles, Southwestern claims a close 11-10 margin in the victory column. Three outings ended in equal point totals.

Stan Galloway's visiting troop, however, has dominated the feud since '51. His Hammond eleven claims seven wins in the last nine games, and settled for ties in 1952 (13-13) and '57 (7-7). Needless to say, the USL gridders, especially the seniors, are hungry for the Lions' hide.

Southwesterners also have big appetites for tasting the GSC pie, which has not been on the Bulldog menu since '52 when USL split it three ways with Louisiana Tech and Southeastern. Galloway clubs were outright champions in 1954 and '56, and shared top laurels in the 1952-53 campaigns.

Last winter the Lionmen placed second to Tech's powerhouse, while USL was deadlocked with McNeese State and Northwestern State for third place. In overall action, the local Canines posted a 4-5 record and Southeastern's tally read 5-4.

Paper Bowl Game Slated In Jonesboro

JONESBORO, La. (Special) — The second annual Jonesboro - Hodge Kiwanis Paper Bowl football game will be played Wednesday night, November 23rd, the night immediately preceding Thanksgiving, according to an announcement issued by Ira D. Reeves, Kiwanis chairman.

The game will be played at Caldwell - Peacock Stadium in Jonesboro and has been officially approved by T. H. "Muddy" Waters, Commissioner of the Louisiana High School Athletic Association.

With the start of football, teams and schedules are being carefully compared to come up with a top - notch contest. Every effort will be made to match colorful teams of relative strength to give the spectators another thriller like last year's 7-7 tie between the Rebels of North Caddo and the Ouachita Lions.

Again this year a "Queen Pageant" will be held at the stadium before the game, lending beauty and color to this sports classic.

Smith's Throw Too Speedy For Gus Triandos

CHICAGO (AP) — Baltimore catcher Gus Triandos couldn't believe that Al Smith's throw from right field came on the fly when he was tagged out at the plate trying to score on a fly ball in the 11th inning of Saturday's game against the Chicago White Sox.

The bases were loaded with one out when Al Pilarcik lined a fly ball deep to right. Smith made the catch and then unloaded a perfect strike to home, nailing the slow-runnning Triandos by about 5 feet.

Third base coach Lum Harris said Triandos led off when Pilarcik hit the ball but was back in time to tag and race for the plate.

Triandos said, "I can't believe he made the throw on the fly. That ball must have bounced in. After all, he only threw to the plate, he didn't shoot it out of a cannon."

Smith, who has probably the most accurate and feared arm in the majors with the exception of Pittsburgh right fielder Bob Clemente, had to go to his left for the ball, wheel around and make the throw.

"Once I let it go," said Smith, "I knew he was out if Sherm (Lollar) held the ball."

The play retired the Orioles in the 11th inning and in the bottom half of the inning Jim Landis hit a home run to give the White Sox a 3-2 victory.

Tech To Open Season With Lamar Battle

RUSTON, La. (Special) — It will be a matter of revenge for the Louisiana Tech gridmen next Saturday night when they open against Lamar Tech here — the only team to beat them in the 1959 campaign.

Tech lost to Lamar Tech 13-6 in the opener last year and then proceeded to reel off nine straight wins to rank among the small-college elite.

Tech will have 20 lettermen available for duty in the lid-lifter Saturday at 8 p.m., but Lamar Tech will return 17 lettermen. A capacity crowd may watch the two small-college powers clash.

Along the front line, Ends Jerry Hudson and Tom Causey are back, along with Tackles Andy Malone and Herschel Vinyard; Guards Joe Hinton and Don Tippit, and Center Jim Campbell.

The second unit line is largely inexperienced and punting is also a major problem for the Bulldogs.

After the opener here, Tech goes on the road to meet Arkansas State at Jonesboro, Ark., Sept. 24, and then returns here to meet McNeese State Oct. 1.

Tech won the GSC title a year ago with a 5-0 mark but nearly all the loop clubs are expected to be stronger this season.

Alabama-Georgia Contest Top Southeastern Game

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mighty Mississippi starts shooting for the national collegiate football championship Sept. 17 but the eyes of Dixie and the rest of the nation will be turned toward Birmingham where Alabama and Georgia collide in a battle of Southeastern Conference giants.

Georgia, lightly regarded at this time a year ago, whipped Alabama in the season opener and used the victory as a springboard to its first SEC championship in more than a decade. Now coach Paul (Bear) Bryant and his swiftly rising Crimson Tide get a chance for revenge in a nationally televised game. The loss to Georgia was Alabama's lone regular season defeat in 1959.

Georgia got the title in 1959, but Mississippi got the national ranking. The Rebels finished second to Syracuse in the final Associated Press poll and Georgia wound up fifth, behind Syracuse, Ole Miss, Louisiana State and Texas.

Ole Miss, odds-on favorite to win its first SEC crown since 1955, opens on the road against Houston. Kentucky and Georgia Tech play the other conference game in Atlanta. Tulane opens with California at Berkeley, Florida meets George Washington in Jacksonville and LSU tangles with Texas A&M at Baton Rouge. All except the Georgia-Alabama and Kentucky - Georgia Tech games are at night.

Unproven quarterbacks and absence of depth plagued most of the SEC coaches as the deadline neared for the start of the league's 28th campaign. Georgia boasted Francis Tarkenton, All-SEC quarterback last year, but the Bulldogs can't find a replacement for Charley Britt, who excelled on defense and made Tarkenton's job easier.

Auburn, generally regarded as the No. 2 team this year, is blessed with two seasoned quarterbacks as is Alabama. Auburn has passing ace Bryant Harvard and Bobby Hunt, a superior runner, as T-directors. Pat Trammel and Bobby Skelton do the job for Alabama.

Florida and Georgia Tech, both question-mark teams, are stacking a lot of chips on sophomore quarterbacks. With Florida it's a necessity. New coach Ray Graves lists four signal-callers, and all are sophomores. Bobby Dodd, Graves' former boss at Tech, is shifting from a conservative running game to an aerial offense because of the passing arm of sophomore Stann Gann. Gann has looked so good he has shunted veteran Marvin Tibbetts into the background as a defensive specialist.

LSU coach Paul Dietzel lost two superior halfbacks in Billy Cannon and Johnny Robinson, but the Tiger boss is most worried about quarterbacks where Darryl Jenkins and four sophs are trying to replace departed Warren Rabb and Durel Matherne. Jenkins devoted most of the past two seasons to defensive work with the Chinese Bandits.

Mississippi State hopes to quit the cellar on the throwing of sophomore quarterback Charlie Furlow, and Tulane and Vanderbilt hope nothing happens to Phil Nugent and Russ Morris, respectively. They're a bit shallow behind their senior quarterbacks.

Kentucky has seniors Jerry Eisaman and Lemean Bennett, but ex-end Tom Rodgers and sophomore Jerry Woolum are crowding the lettermen quarterbacks for the starting call against Tech.

Pirates Grab 4-1 Game Over Cubs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The National League leading Pittsburgh Pirates took advantage of two Chicago miscues in the fourth inning and turned in five double-plays behind Bob Friend for a 4-1 triumph Saturday over the Chicago Cubs.

Friend scattered nine hits and struck out six while posting his 15th victory against 11 losses. Bob Anderson, who hasn't beaten the Pirates during his major league career, took the loss.

Dick Stuart's 19th homer of the year in the second started the Pirates on the road to their second straight over the Cubs. Stuart also stroked two singles.

A bobble by Cub shortstop Ernie Banks, a wild throw by Anderson and three hits led to three unearned runs in the fourth.

The Cubs got their lone run in the seventh on back-to-back singles by Ed Bouchee, Al Heist and Don Zimmer. Friend then got Sammy Taylor to hit into a doubleplay and struck out pinch hitter George Altman.

Roberto Clemente was safe on the bobble by Banks and Stuart followed with a single. Smoky Burgess flied to center and Clemente moved to third after the catch.

With one out, Don Hoak singled, scoring Clemente. Billy Mazeroski bounced to Anderson who turned and threw the ball to centerfield, Stuart scoring and Hoak reaching third on the error.

Dick Schofield, subbing for the injured Dick Groat, slammed a double down the left field line, scoring Hoak. Mazeroski was out at the plate.

The Cubs tagged Friend for nine hits. Don Zimmer got three and Ron Santo and Ed Bouchee two each. The Cubs managed to get somebody aboard in every inning except the third and eighth, but the Bucs bailed out Friend with five doubleplays, the last one to end the game.

Rain Causes Postponement Of Northeast Scrimmage

Yesterday's chill rains spared Northeast's football squad a planned full-scale scrimmage but Coach Jack Rowan promised the Indians, only a week away from the season opener against Arkansas State, a scrimmage or two early this week.

Northeast's gridders worked out early Saturday morning and will resume drills Monday.

Arkansas State will be the Tribe's opening opponent for the second year. Last fall the Arkansans whipped Northeast, 15-0, at Jonesboro. This year's game is slated for Brown Stadium. State has a new coach, King Block, and only 14 lettermen back.

That lineup is by no means set, however. Istrouma product Jack Webb looked good at quarterback last week. The freshman is currently running second string behind Vincent.

A weak spot last fall, quarterback has plenty of candidates this year with Tulane transfer Don Wattigny available along with Vincent and Webb.

Despite some strong transfer competition, holdovers Reeves and Redden are still the top halfbacks. Reeves, one of the lightest men in the Gulf States Conference at 149 pounds, is always a long distance threat and Redden ended last season as the club's top halfback.

Speedy Alabama transfer Ferdy Cruse is currently hobbled by an injured knee but is expected to be in good shape this week. He and Al Ott, LSU transfer, have been running on the Maroon, or second, unit with red shirt Morris Douglas of Jonesboro taking over for Cruse while he's injured.

Rowan thinks he has one of the best freshmen backs in the GSC in Payne, one of the stars of last year's Neville state championship teams. Ragan was an all-district choice at Neville too in 1957, and attended Northeast briefly before going into service.

End is probably the squad's weakest position although big Barnes is considered the best wingman in the conference. There are only three other ends on the roster. Gene Harbert and Thomas Latham are running on the Maroon unit and Neville frosh Jimmy Love completes the corps.

Luther French and Bob Tatum are the second unit tackles presently while Tulane transfer Terry Brunet and holdover Larry Rambin are backing up Foster and Beaver. SMU transfer Dan Keith, a former Neville tackle, and squadman Don King give the guard position excellent depth.

Rowan thinks he has a top-notch punter around in John Kelly, a Maryland freshman who has been booting them high and long in practice. The new "wild card" rule will enable Northeast to get full use of Kelly's foot.

Former Gridder Wins Golf Meet

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)— Former Alabama football star Charlie Boswell Saturday won the international blind golfers championship for a record-breaking sixth consecutive time. Completing the 36 holes with a score of 190, Boswell finished 22-strokes ahead of Harold Mitchell of Hamilton, Ontario.

FOR 90 OF HER 107-YEARS

. . . "Aunt Fee" Desadier Had No Electricity!

Can you imagine that! Well, Aunt Fee was no exception. Only 1.7 per cent of the rural homes in Louisiana had electricity in 1937 . . . and there wasn't much hopes for correcting the sorry picture until desperate rural folks organized their own non-profit electric co-operatives. Today, the state's 13 member-owned electric co-ops provide 98 per cent area coverage with low rates . . . opening up a wonderful new world of better living and productivity throughout the state.

Non-profit co-ops are the ONLY way ALL rural people can have electricity. That's why electric co-ops are so vitally necessary to the progress of ALL Louisianians . . . especially their growing business economy.

Thousands of good, honest rural folks, like Aunt Fee, own and control these private businesses that have truly been good for everybody—Town and Country.

NATIONAL GRID RACE

Syracuse Picked To Retain Crown

Syracuse, generally regarded as the national collegiate football champion a year ago, will repeat in 1960.

That is the pre-season opinion of the 48-man panel of experts who vote this year in the weekly Associated Press Top 10 poll. Twenty six of them rated Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's Orangemen the best in the country. Twenty-one named Mississippi and one favored Washington.

Giving 10 points for first, nine for a second-place vote, etc., the Cotton Bowl champions garnered 446 points. Mississippi was second with 426 and Washington third at 345.

The others in the elite 10 are, in order, Texas with 257 points, Illinois 228, Southern California 140, Pittsburgh 127, Michigan State 126, Clemson 76 and Oklahoma 66.

Each of the experts named Syracuse on his ballot, none lower than seventh. Mississippi was listed on 47 tickets.

The voting was scattered among 35 colleges. The second 10 is made up of Texas Christian with 64 points, Auburn 51, Georgia 48, Northwestern 41, Iowa 33, Ohio State 29, Notre Dame 26, Tennessee 23 and Penn State and Arkansas with 20 each.

The voting is the first under the new plan adopted by The Associated Press for determining the weekly top 10 teams. Previously, for a quarter of a century, every sports editor of a newspaper, radio or TV station was invited to vote. The balloting became unwieldy because of its size and so a 48-man tribunal was set up.

The men, each a recognized football expert, are scattered from border to border.

Last year Syracuse romped through 11 opponents, including Texas in the Cotton Bowl, and led all collegiate elevens in both offense and defense.

Three-fourths of the No. 1 backfield returns for the coming campaign but the awesome line, known as the Sizeable Seven, has been reduced to three by graduation. Ernie Davis is the top ball carrier.

Back, too, are All-America end Fred Mautino, center Jack Bemiller and guard Bruce Tarbox. The four other linemen may be new to starting status but are experienced. In all, 23 lettermen return.

Mississippi, 21-0 victor over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl, suffered heavy graduation losses but quarterback Jake Gibbs is back as is end Johnny Brewer, regarded as one of the country's best flankers. Dick Price, a 212-pound guard, also is considered All-America material.

The top 10 teams (first-place votes in parentheses):

1.	Syracuse (26)	446
2.	Mississippi (21)	426
3.	Washington (1)	345
4.	Texas	257
5.	Illinois	228
6.	Southern California	140
7.	Pittsburgh	127
8.	Michigan State	126
9.	Clemson	76
10.	Oklahoma	66
	SECOND TEN
11.	TCU	64
12.	Auburn	51
13.	Georgia	48
14.	Northwestern	41
15.	Iowa	33
16.	Ohio State	29
17.	Notre Dame	26
18.	Tennessee	23
19.	Penn State	20
20.	Arkansas	20

Southwestern Battles Lions In Grid Opener

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — Another hot chapter in the colorful tug o' war for the Cypress Mug title will be recorded here next Saturday (Sept. 17) when the University of Southwestern Louisiana meets its biggest nemesis of recent year — the roaring Southeastern La. College Lions.

Kickoff time for the 1960 curtain-raiser at McNaspy Stadium is set for an 8 p.m. whistle. In addition to the traditional Mug being at stake, victory will assure one of these Gulf States Conference rivals an early-bird jump in the 13th race for the six-team field.

Coached by Jim "Red" Hoggatt, the USL Bulldogs cling to a slim one-game lead in the all-time series. Their bayou wrangling was inaugurated in 1931, and after 24 hassles, Southwestern claims a close 11-10 margin in the victory column. Three outings ended in equal point totals.

Stan Galloway's visiting troop, however, has dominated the feud since '51. His Hammond eleven claims seven wins in the last nine games, and settled for ties in 1952 (13-13) and '57 (7-7). Needless to say, the USL gridders, especially the seniors, are hungry for the Lions' hide.

Southwesterners also have big appetites for tasting the GSC pie, which has not been on the Bulldog menu since '52 when USL split it three ways with Louisiana Tech and Southeastern. Galloway clubs were outright champions in 1954 and '56, and shared top laurels in the 1952-53 campaigns.

Last winter the Lionmen placed second to Tech's powerhouse, while USL was deadlocked with McNeese State and Northwestern State for third place. In overall action, the local Canines posted a 4-5 record and Southeastern's tally read 5-4.

Paper Bowl Game Slated In Jonesboro

JONESBORO, La. (Special) — The second annual Jonesboro - Hodge Kiwanis Paper Bowl football game will be played Wednesday night, November 23rd, the night immediately preceding Thanksgiving, according to an announcement issued by Ira D. Reeves, Kiwanis chairman.

The game will be played at Caldwell - Peacock Stadium in Jonesboro and has been officially approved by T. H. "Muddy" Waters, Commissioner of the Louisiana High School Athletic Association.

With the start of football, teams and schedules are being carefully compared to come up with a top - notch contest. Every effort will be made to match colorful teams of relative strength to give the spectators another thriller like last year's 7-7 tie between the Rebels of North Caddo and the Ouachita Lions.

Again this year a "Queen Pageant" will be held at the stadium before the game, lending beauty and color to this sports classic.

Smith's Throw Too Speedy For Gus Triandos

CHICAGO (AP) — Baltimore catcher Gus Triandos couldn't believe that Al Smith's throw from right field came on the fly when he was tagged out at the plate trying to score on a fly ball in the 11th inning of Saturday's game against the Chicago White Sox.

The bases were loaded with one out when Al Pilarcik lined a fly ball deep to right. Smith made the catch and then unloaded a perfect strike to home, nailing the slow-runnning Triandos by about 5 feet.

Third base coach Lum Harris said Triandos led off when Pilarcik hit the ball but was back in time to tag and race for the plate.

Triandos said, "I can't believe he made the throw on the fly. That ball must have bounced in. After all, he only threw to the plate, he didn't shoot it out of a cannon."

Smith, who has probably the most accurate and feared arm in the majors with the exception of Pittsburgh right fielder Bob Clemente, had to go to his left for the ball, wheel around and make the throw.

"Once I let it go," said Smith, "I knew he was out if Sherm (Lollar) held the ball."

The play retired the Orioles in the 11th inning and in the bottom half of the inning Jim Landis hit a home run to give the White Sox a 3-2 victory.

FOR 90 OF HER 107-YEARS

...."Aunt Fee" Desadier Had No Electricity!

Can you imagine that! Well, Aunt Fee was no exception. Only 1.7 per cent of the rural homes in Louisiana had electricity in 1937 . . . and there wasn't much hopes for correcting the sorry picture until desperate rural folks organized their own non-profit electric co-operatives. Today, the state's 13 member-owned electric co-ops provide 98 per cent area coverage with low rates . . . opening up a wonderful new world of better living and productivity throughout the state.

Non-profit co-ops are the ONLY way ALL rural people can have electricity. That's why electric co-ops are so vitally necessary to the progress of ALL Louisianians . . . especially their growing business economy.

Thousands of good, honest rural folks, like Aunt Fee, own and control these private businesses that have truly been good for everybody—Town and Country.

Rhubarbs, Reverses Ruled This Year's Olympic Games

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

ROME (AP)—The story of the 1960 Rome Olympics, which closed Sunday, can be summed up as Russia, rhubarbs, Rudolph and reverses.

Also Von Saltza, pep pills, and headbreaks.

In over-all points and medals, the Soviets won again but the struggle with the United States was bitter and close.

The rhubarbs were numerous.

There was a suspected "fix" in Greco-Roman wrestling where a Bulgarian was disciplined for letting himself be pinned by a Russian who went on to win the gold medal.

Half the boxing judges were fired because their decisions seemed biased.

Knud Enemark Jensen, a Danish cyclist, died after the 10-kilometer (63-mile) road race, and Italy launched an investigation into whether pills calculated to increase the blood circulation might have contributed to the fatality.

American swimming officials claimed that Lance Larson of El Monte, Calif., won by inches over John Devitt of Australia in the 10-meter freestyle swim. The Americans produced films which they said proved it. But Devitt kept the gold medal.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson of Chicago, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, vigorously denied reports that team members were guilty of breaking training at Rome's gay night spots.

Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said soft living threatens to make the United States second class in sports.

"We are outclassed in half the events on the Olympic program," he said. "If it were not for our great Negro athletes we'd be second class now. Life in the United States is too soft."

Negroes played a prominent role in the American success. Of the total of 10 individual gold medals won by the United States in track, Negroes accounted for six. Negroes also were a dominant factor in both relay victories.

American men might have floped in various directions but balanced against this was the sparkling performance of two America girls, one blonde and one a Negro.

The blonde, sturdy Chris von Saltza of Saratoga, Calif., won three gold medals and one silver to dominate the swimming events.

The Negro—5-11, 130-pound Wilma Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn. —won a third gold medal by running the anchor leg on the 40-meter relay team. Her times would have been a credit to a man and set Olympic records—:11.3 in the 10 and :23.2 in the 20, both in heats.

The reverses were bitter from an American viewpoint.

Ray Norton of Oakland, Calif., was a sluggish sixth in both the 100 and 200-meter in which American sprint supremacy was shattered. He cost the United States a gold medal by his foul that disqualified the American 400-meter relay team which finished first.

Armin Hary, the lightning fast German, won the 100 in :10.2 and Livio Berruti of Italy took the 200 in :20.5, both Olympic records.

Harold Connolly of Santa Monica, Calif., didn't even reach the final in the hammer throw nor did Bill Alley of Short Hills, N.J. get to the finals of the javelin—and both hold the world records.

But most shocking of all was the defeat of John Thomas of Cambridge, Mass., the supposedly unbeatable high jumper and world record-holder at 7-3 .

The Russians sent three men with Thomas over 7-¼. The pressure told on the 19-year-old and Robert Shavlakadze went on to win at 7-1.

The level of competition here in the sports where it can be measured on stop watches was incredible. Olympic and world records fell in almost every event.

Otis Davis of Los Angeles, who only took up the event last year, won the 400 meters for America's only flat victory of the Games. He did it by setting a world and Olympic record of :44.9.

Herb Elliott of Australia set a world and Olympic record of 3:35.6 in the 1,500, the equivalent of a 3:53 or better mile.

Here's how fast those races were: Earl Young of San Fernando, Calif., took sixth in the 400 in :45.9, a time that tied the old Olympic record. Dyrol Burleson of Cottage Grove, Ore., took sixth in the 1,500 in 3:40.9, three-tenths of a second faster than the old Olympic record of Ron Delany of Ireland.

Lee Calhoun of Gary, Ind., defended his Olympic title by leading two teammates to the tape in the 110-meter hurdles in :13.8. Glenn Davis of Columbus, Ohio, did the same thing in the 400-meter hurdles and his time of :49.3 broke his own Olympic record.

Bill Nieder, ex-University of Kansas, set an Olympic mark of 64-6¾ in the shot with Parry O'Brien, Los Angeles, and Dallas Long, Phoenix, Ariz., close behind.

Al Oerter of West Babylon, N.Y., broke his own Olympic record by repeating his 1956 triumph in the discus. His record toss was 194-2, leading Rink Babka of Manhattan Beach, Calif. and Dick Cochran of Brookfield, Mo., to a 1-2-3 sweep in the event.

Don Bragg of Pennsville, N.J., and Ron Morris of Burbank, Calif. became the first 15-foot vaulters in Olympic history. Bragg, the world record-holder at 15-9¼ tried for 15-9¾, but didn't make it. He won the gold medal at 15-5⅛. Morris was second at 15-1⅛, both breaking Bob Richards' 1956 Olympic record of 14-11½.

America's 1,600 - meter relay team broke the world record with a 3:02.2 clocking as Glenn Davis and Otis Davis won their second gold medals by running the third and anchor legs, respectively.

As satisfying as any victory was that of Rafer Johnson of Kingsburg, Calif., in the decathlon. The big flag bearer of the opening day parade fought hard and stubbornly into the Roman nights Monday and Tuesday to best Chuan-Kwang Yang of Formosa, a UCLA sophomore, 8,392 to 8,334, an Olympic record. Then Johnson announced he was through with the sport.

There were some unexpected bright spots. In freestyle wrestling Terry McCann of Tulsa, Okla. won the bantamweight gold medal, Selby Wilson of Ponca City, Okla. took the lightweight crown and Doug Blubaugh, also of Ponca City, won the welter championship.

In boxing, gold medals were won by Cassius Clay, Louisville, Ky., light heavy; Sgt. Eddie Crook, Fort Campbell, Ky., middleweight, and Willie McClure, Toledo, Ohio, light middleweight.

On the dark side there was the general showing in rowing, a sport the United States usually dominates. Only the four-oared shell from Seattle, Wash., won a gold medal. Navy's vaunted eight went down to defeat in an event the United States had won ever since 1920.

One curious aspect of the 1960 Games was Russia's emergence as a medal winner in sports that by any reckoning must be considered capitalistic—yachting, equestrian, fencing and rowing.

Another curious aspect was the fact that despite the lure of Rome as a tourist city and despite the lavish stadiums unmatched in Olympic annals and the $4,800,000 box office take the crowds were not large. In track, they ranged around 50,000.

And so the Games of the XVII Olympiad drew to a close—the biggest, with nearly 8,000 athletes, that have ever been staged.

George Back At B&B Arena Monday Night

Gorgeous George, his hairdo mussed and pride hurt by Ray Andrews, will be back at B&B Arena Monday night.

George lost last week's bout to Andrews, a defeat which George claims is his first on the road, but appealed for a return bout, charging that Andrews' winning hold was illegal. The local athletic commissioner didn't rule on the legality of the hold but ordered a return bout for the peroxide blonde.

The George-Andrews match is only one of three excellent matches lined up for the Monday card. A heralded newcomer, Jim La Rock, makes his local debut in one of the other matches.

La Rock claims he has never been beaten as an amateur or professional wrestler. He lists an impressive number of former championships, the National AAU, Olympic, Big Ten and NCAA. He's expected to be the next heavyweight professional king.

Bad boy Tony Jiminez will tackle La Rock. La Rock is a scientific wrestler who doesn't go in for rough stuff and Tony likes to play rough.

Pretty Boy Collins and Bob Morrow will meet in the evening's other exhibition.

All three bouts will be over the hour or less route with two falls to win.

Brothers Ahead In Qualifying For Bowling Go

CHICAGO (AP) — Gerry and Curt Schmidt, bowling brothers from Fort Wayne, Ind., took an eight-pin lead at the end of the first 12 games of the 48-game qualifying stint in the men's National Doubles Bowling Tournament Saturday.

With 168 of the top bowling doubles teams in the nation shooting for the eight spots in the finals of the $19,000 event, Gerry, 31, and Curt, 28, tallied 2,547 on the first squad of the day. Gerry rolled 1,331 and Curt 1,216.

The big surprise of the first round was the dismal 2,323 turned in by 1958 and 1959 champions Don Carter and Tom Hennesseey of St. Louis. That left the defending champs 224 pins behind the leaders and well back in the field.

Trailing the Schmidts were Frank Carter and Gerald Maloy of Memphis, Tenn., who totaled 2,539 while 1956 champions Ray Bluth and Dick Weber were third with 2,535.

This is the third appearance in the national doubles for Gerry and Curt. Their best finish was 17th in 1958.

Gerry had the day's best six-game total on games of 237, 216, 192, 201, 245 and 240.

Rules for professional boxing matches state that the fight must take place in an area not less than 18 nor more than 20 feet square.

Relief Hurler Leads Indians To 5-4 Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rookie Frank Funk blanked the Washington Senators in four innings of relief pitching Saturday as the Cleveland Indians scored a 5-4 victory in the last game of the season between the two teams.

The victory was the third straight for Funk, who was bought last month from Toronto. It was only his third appearance. The loser was Tom Morgan 4-4, the third Washington pitcher.

Woodie Held and Morgan hit home runs for the Indians. Held's was his 21st of the season.

Errors by Harvey Kuenn, starting pitcher Barry Latman and Held gave Washington three unearned runs.

Experts Pick Tops Field At Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Patrice Jacobs' Hail to Reason pulled away in the final eighth of a mile Saturday for a 4½-length victory and captured the $135,065 World's Playground Stakes at Atlantic City.

The impressive triumph further strengthen his claim as champion 2-year-old colt of 1960.

W. Logan Grier's Itsa Great Day took second by a nose over Peter Fuller's Ross Sea, who gained third by a nose over the Dorchester Farm Stable's Carry Back.

Hail to Reason, ridden by Bobby Usser, won his seventh stakes of the year, and will certainly be one of the big winter book favorites for the Kentucky Derby next May. His time for the 7 furlongs was a stakes record of 1:22 3-5, clipping two-fifths of a second off Vital Force's 1959 mark.

This was the third $100,000-plus victory for Hail to Reason, who is trained by Hirsch Jacobs, father of the owner. Last month the brown sox of Turn-to — Nothirdchance, by Blue Swords, captured the Sapling at Monmouth Park and the Hopeful at Saratoga. He also won the Sanford, Great American, Tremont and Youthful stakes.

Hail to Reason started picking off the leaders on the bend, came wide into the homestretch and took charge with a rush, then drew away to grab first money of $81,792.25.

The winner, and odds-on favorite of the crowd of 22,638, paid $3.80, $2.80 and $2.80. Itsa Great Day ridden by Bill Hartack, paid $3.40 and $3.20, and Ross Sea, with Howard Grant up, paid $3.80.

It was the ninth victory in 18 starts for Hail to Reason, and his purse boosted his winnings to $328,434.25, tops for 2-year-olds.

The fans had the added treat of seeing the nation's two top money winners in action as Bally Ace beat Royal Native in a betless exhibition in the fifth race.

Ussery also rides Bally Ache, and he won the 1 1-6 exhibition on the grass course by half a length. Bally Ache, winning in 1:45 4-5, boosted his season's earnings to $444,545.

With 168 of the top bowling doubles teams in the nation shooting for the eight spots in the finals of the $19,000 event, Gerry, 31, and Curt, 28, tallied 2,547 on the first squad of the day. Gerry rolled 1,331 and Curt 1,216.

The big surprise of the first round was the dismal 2,323 turned in by 1958 and 1959 champions Don Carter and Tom Hennesseey of St. Louis. That left the defending champs 224 pins behind the leaders and well back in the field.

Trailing the Schmidts were Frank Carter and Gerald Maloy of Memphis, Tenn., who totaled 2,539 while 1956 champions Ray Bluth and Dick Weber were third with 2,535.

This is the third appearance in the national doubles for Gerry and Curt. Their best finish was 17th in 1958.

Gerry had the day's best six-game total on games of 237, 216, 192, 201, 245 and 240.

Rules for professional boxing matches state that the fight must take place in an area not less than 18 nor more than 20 feet square.

Relief Hurler Leads Indians To 5-4 Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rookie Frank Funk blanked the Washington Senators in four innings of relief pitching Saturday as the Cleveland Indians scored a 5-4 victory in the last game of the season between the two teams.

The victory was the third straight for Funk, who was bought last month from Toronto. It was only his third appearance. The loser was Tom Morgan 4-4, the third Washington pitcher.

Woodie Held and Morgan hit home runs for the Indians. Held's was his 21st of the season.

Errors by Harvey Kuenn, starting pitcher Barry Latman and Held gave Washington three unearned runs.

Experts Pick Tops Field At Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Patrice Jacobs' Hail to Reason pulled away in the final eighth of a mile Saturday for a 4½-length victory and captured the $135,065 World's Playground Stakes at Atlantic City.

The impressive triumph further strengthen his claim as champion 2-year-old colt of 1960.

W. Logan Grier's Itsa Great Day took second by a nose over Peter Fuller's Ross Sea, who gained third by a nose over the Dorchester Farm Stable's Carry Back.

Hail to Reason, ridden by Bobby Usser, won his seventh stakes of the year, and will certainly be one of the big winter book favorites for the Kentucky Derby next May. His time for the 7 furlongs was a stakes record of 1:22 3-5, clipping two-fifths of a second off Vital Force's 1959 mark.

This was the third $100,000-plus victory for Hail to Reason, who is trained by Hirsch Jacobs, father of the owner. Last month the brown sox of Turn-to — Nothirdchance, by Blue Swords, captured the Sapling at Monmouth Park and the Hopeful at Saratoga. He also won the Sanford, Great American, Tremont and Youthful stakes.

Hail to Reason started picking off the leaders on the bend, came wide into the homestretch and took charge with a rush, then drew away to grab first money of $81,792.25.

The winner, and odds-on favorite of the crowd of 22,638, paid $3.80, $2.80 and $2.80. Itsa Great Day ridden by Bill Hartack, paid $3.40 and $3.20, and Ross Sea, with Howard Grant up, paid $3.80.

It was the ninth victory in 18 starts for Hail to Reason, and his purse boosted his winnings to $328,434.25, tops for 2-year-olds.

The fans had the added treat of seeing the nation's two top money winners in action as Bally Ace beat Royal Native in a betless exhibition in the fifth race.

Ussery also rides Bally Ache, and he won the 1 1-6 exhibition on the grass course by half a length. Bally Ache, winning in 1:45 4-5, boosted his season's earnings to $444,545.

Off the cuff... it's the new look for Fall!

MRS. RAYMOND ANDERSON DEMPSEY

Bastrop Church Scene Of Dempsey-Whetstone Vows

First Baptist Church of Bastrop, was the scene on September 3, at 10:00 a.m. of the wedding of Miss Sarah Katherine Whetstone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Whetstone, Jr., of Bastrop; and Raymond Anderson Dempsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Dempsey of Atlanta, Georgia.

The Rev. Ray P. Rust performed the double ring ceremony before a background of baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli flanked by candelabra holding white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk linen sheath with fitted jacket and picture collar. Her headdress was of silk organza with teardrop pearls and a short veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of split carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Sally Spier, maid of honor, wore a cloud blue linen sheath with fitted jacket and matching accessories. She carried a nosegay of blue tipped chrysanthemums.

Acting as best man was James E. Whetstone of Dawton, Oklahoma, with Keith McGuire and James McCormack as ushers.

For the wedding, the bride's mother chose a pink sheath of silk and lace with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. R. R. Cobb, aunt of the bride, was hostess at the reception held in the church parlor. The bride's table was covered with a ruffled white organdy over satin and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and clematis in an antique cut glass bowl.

Mrs. Billy G. Ford registered the guests. Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Earl F. Miller; Mrs. Lawrence Spier; Misses Janey Miller, Judy Godwin, Bettye Will Larche; and Mrs. James Callender. Background music was furnished on the piano by Miss Diane Caldwell.

For their honeymoon trip, the bride chose a gray fall suit with velvet hat and black accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid from the bridal bouquet.

Tallulah Couple Exchange Vows September 2

Miss Diane Ramagos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleburn Ramagos, became the bride of Bruce Raley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Raley, in a candelight wedding at the First Baptist church in Tallulah, Friday, September 2 at five o'clock in the afternoon.

The wedding music was presented by Miss Ernestine Stewart, who accompanied Billy Windham as he sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Carolyn Wroten, maid of honor; and bridesmaids, Miss Freda White and Miss Hazel Jean Roberson, wore identical gowns of hycian pink embossed taffeta fashioned with scooped necklines, puffed sleeves, bouffant skirts, and matching slippers. They wore headdresses of pink satin leaves with matching veils of tulle, and carried bouquets of white glamelias.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a gown of hand clipped Chantilly lace and cloud mist chiffon tulle. The fitted bodice was designed with a scalloped neckline accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and short cap sleeves. The full skirt extended into a chapel train, and her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a queen's crown of sequins and pearls. Her bouquet was lilies of the valley and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

The bridegroom was attended by his father as best man. The groomsmen were Johnny Goss and Billy Ray Sullivan with Carl Smith Jr., and August Willett, as ushers.

Mrs. Ramagos, the bride's mother, wore a champagne beige sheath with matching accessories and Mrs. Raley, mother of the groom, was attired in a mauve sheath with bone accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ramagos entertained with a reception in the church parlors. A centerpiece of white stock and carnations flanked by slender tapers in crystal holders was used on the bride's table which was overlaid with white net over taffeta.

Presiding at the punch service Miss Linda Laird served the cake, a tiered confection topped with lilies of the valley. Miss Lynda Gilbreath invited guests to register in the bride's book. Assisting in the courtesies as tea girls were Miss Mary Jo Provine and Miss Susan Gilley.

Upon their return they will make their home in Monroe, where both are students at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Girl Scout News

A trip to Pine Wood reveals the fact that the three miles of road from the highway to camp has been blacktopped since the close of day camp. No more dust! Closing night of each camp session, when we have bumper-to-bumper traffic on that road, visitors will be particularly grateful. So will the campers next summer, and the troop camping troops in fall and spring. Union Parish had always done a good job of keeping up the road, with never any question about the accessibility of camp.

Recently added to Girl Scout camping equipment is a new tent, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford D. Smith and daughter Gayle. This addition to primitive camping equipment is very welcome. During day camp all the tents are used and an increasing number of troops are borrowing them for backyard camping or advanced camping for older girls.

Inadvertently left out of the published lists of girls who earned the Girl Scout Swimmer badge in the summer classes were the names of Dianne Woodruff and Connie Spatafora. Their teacher says they worked hard and really deserved the badge. Since they are fly-up Scouts this is probably their first proficiency badge.

Troops are beginning their regular meetings, with most of them scheduling their first meeting for this week. They will have much to talk over, vacation and camping fun and plans for the school year. Work of organizing needed new troops is underway. Leaders have, in many cases, held meetings with their troop committees and have done whatever reorganization proved necessary.

Training schedule through October is contained in the Council's September bulletin, which has been mailed to all adults registered in Scouting. Wednesday morning at the office there will be a session for leaders of Fly-up or first - year Intermediate troops. Leaders and troop committee members of troops in this age group should plan to attend the sessions on Wednesdays, the 14th and the 21st. Second Class Rank and the first badges, as well as the patrol system will be the subjects.

Questions And Answers About Women's Fashions

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Q.: I am invited to a wedding October 1st. Is it too late in the season to wear a pink lace dress? Can white shoes or bone color be worn with it? What kind of bag.

A: While pastel colors can be worn to weddings at any time of year, such colors are difficult to accessorize when summer has passed.

It is indeed too late for white shoes. Only matching pumps will look right, and they are sometimes difficult to obtain. An easier choice than pink lace might be a beige silk dress, with which bone pumps would go nicely. A small handbag in smooth beige calf can also be found easily.

The pink lace dress would require something like a beaded handbag, in pink, or pink and white. By the time you get through accessorizing this dress it may be just too dressy altogether for a wedding guest.

Q.: What kind of clothes would be necessary for an October European trip which will extend from London to Rome?

A.: Fall clothes in general will suit the mild to cool weather you will find. Jacket costumes in which the dress is sleeveless will be good for Rome, where weather will still be actually warm.

Take a topcoat. Over a suit it will give you all the warmth you will need in Switzerland or London.

Q.: In early November I will be flying from Newark to St. Louis for a week's stay. Will I need a warm coat or a spring-fall type? Can I wear cotton shirtmaker dresses with a sweater during the day for sightseeing?

A.: If the spring - fall coat is to go over a suit, then you will not need to take a heavier coat. If you plan to take only dresses, a warmer coat may be needed.

The dresses you describe would be fine for sightseeing. But take two others of a dressier type, say in silk, for social occasions. St. Louis is a large city and city-type dressing may be necessary. Knits or jacket costumes, if you are buying these for fall, also make good all - purpose traveling clothes.

Q.: I have bought a red chiffon cocktail dress for a coming party my husband's firm is giving at a restaurant. What color shoes and bag should I wear, and what kind of jewelry?

A.: As you probably realize, red is such a dazzler all by itself that it has to be accessorized carefully to avoid flashiness.

The pumps have to match the dress. There just isn't any other color that will do, and gold or silver will be gaudy. Get a pair of white satin pumps and have them dyed to match if you can't find ready - made sandals or pumps that happen to match.

Booth-Hammock Vows Spoken In Bernice

On September 3, at 10:00 a.m. in the First Baptist Church at Bernice, Miss Mariette Hammock, daughter of Mrs. B. H. Hamilton and the late J. C. Hammock, became the bride of Billy Jack Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Booth of Farmerville, in a ceremony performed by Kenneth Brantley of Farmerville.

Miss Rita Michel of Alexandria, pianist, presented a pre-nuptial musical program as the guests were being seated by ushers: Bobby Fletcher of Farmerville; Dale Hoffpain of Lake Charles; Jackie Huson of New Orleans; and Bobby Leslie of Pine Bluff.

Jack Brossette of Shreveport sang "O, Promise Me" and "A Wedding Prayer."

The vows were spoken before an altar of burning tapers entwined with English ivy. The candles were lit by Miss Mary Kay Colvin of Bernice, and Miss Jimmye Carol Fletcher of Farmerville.

The bride's attendants were Miss Loree Jernigan of Pine Bluff, maid of honor; Miss Virginia Dawson of Bernice, bridesmaid; and Miss Melody Ann Emmons, flower girl.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cut-work cloth centered with an arrangement of English ivy and lilac flowers, and the tiered wedding cake.

Serving at the reception were Miss Joy Ann Albritton, Miss Vannatte Burns, Miss Linda Sue Digby, and Miss Gayle Ferguson, all of Bernice. Misses Ann Booth and Amy Heard distributed rice bags.

After a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the couple will reside in Alexandria.

Miss Dixon Speaks To Jaycee Jaynes

The regular monthly meeting of the Monroe Jaycee Jaynes was held on Thursday, September 1st at 7:30 p.m. at the Saddle and Spur Restaurant.

The Jaynes had as their guest speaker, their representative to Girls' State, Miss Teddy Dixon, and a report was given by Mrs. Billy Hargiss on the Jaycee State Board Meeting held in August in New Iberia.

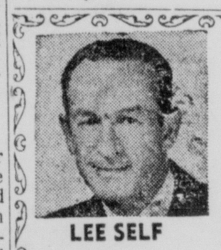

After the program, the business meeting was presided over by President, Mrs. Andy Anders. The Jaynes are currently assisting the Jaycees with the upcoming Jaycee Roundtable telecast.

Those present at the meeting were Mrs. Andy Anders, Mrs. Jim Beaver, Mrs. Louis Daniel, Mrs. Don Gill, Mrs. Billy Hargiss, Mrs. Ted Hatfield, Mrs. Robert Nelson, Mrs. Kermit Paylor, Mrs. David Russell, Mrs. Jimmy Terry, Mrs. Tommy Thompson, Mrs. Don Walker, Mrs. Jack Murphy, Mrs. Ed Brown, Mrs. Herschel Adcock and Mrs. Jim Moore.

Shower Restfull

If you love showers best, and also enjoy the clean feeling of a bedtime bath, let a special sleep-inducing shower solve your dilemma. Use a slow, languid spray that sounds and feels like a small mountain waterfall. Have the water body temperature—just warmer than luke — to avoid shock.

With a leisurely lathering and a lingering rinse, let soap and water do all the work; all you do is to turn slowly now and then. Wrap yourself in the biggest, softest towel you own for a soothing blot-dry. Then—shhh! — off to sleep like a babe.

MRS. DAVID CHARLES GEORGE

George-Ratliff Vows Spoken In San Antonio

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday, August 27, by Miss Peggy Ratliff and David Charles George, in the South San Antonio Baptist Church, San Antonio, Texas, with the Rev. Ken Hutcheson officiating.

The church sanctuary was decorated with branched candelabra and greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ratliff of San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Evans D. George of San Antonio, formerly of Monroe, are parents of the groom. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stevenson of Monroe. Mrs. Everett S. Martin of Brownwood, Texas, was matron of honor, and Miss Juey Ratliff of San Antonio, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Mussett of San Antonio; Miss Dwanna Osborn of Fort Worth; and Mrs. Larry Hoffman of San Antonio.

Acting as best man was Everett S. Martin of Brownwood, with Steven George, brother of the groom; Paul Butler of Plainview; Johnny Milnor of Dallas; and Everett Donowho of San Antonio, as groomsmen.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white silk organza over net and taffeta. Imported French rose point lace accented the scoop neckline, short sleeves, and encircled the skirt which swept into a chapel length train. The imported French illusion veil was attached to a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of feathered mums and English ivy, centered with a white orchid.

AN EARLY FALL WEDDING will unite Miss Billie Mae Bailes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned M. Bailes of Columbia; and Pvt. Bill A. Kerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kerry of Natchitoches. The Rev. Jimmy Bolton will perform the ceremony in the First Baptist Church of Columbia.

MRS. ALFRED DEAN RICHARD

Miss Carmela Danna, Alfred D. Richard Wed

Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church was the scene on September 5, of the marriage of Miss Carmela Antionette Danna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Danna of Monroe, and Alfred Dean Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emar Richard of Sunset, Louisiana.

Before a background of white gladioli, the Rev. Father George Martinez performed the double ring ceremony. A bouquet of mums was placed before the Blessed Virgin's statue.

"Ave Maria" was sung by Miss Gertrude Sandrock, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Sam Lasuzzo.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a gown of peau de soie appliqued with alencon lace and seed pearls, and featuring scoop neckline and cap sleeves. Her veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of fleur d'amour centered with a white orchid on a pearl prayer book, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. George A. Richard was matron of honor, and was dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Acting as best man was George A. Richard, brother of groom, with Willard Richard as groomsman. Ushers for the occasion were Russell Hebert and John A. Zachristian.

The couple will make their home in Opelousas.

For the wedding, the bride's mother chose a pink lace sheath with pink hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was of pink orchids. The mother of the groom wore a blonde shantung sheath with brown accessories, and an orchid corsage.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the Green Room of the Penn Hotel. The bride's table was centered with a wedding bell made of artificial white flowers, topped by a miniature bride and groom and interspersed with fern and white stock.

Mrs. David Petrus and Miss Sandra Jolissaint served the cake. The punch was poured by Misses Marlene Landry and Mary Alice

With summer officially ending as of Monday night, regardless of what the calendar or the thermometer may say, autumnal activities got underway this week. Children went to school all day. . . Cub Scouts and dancing lessons began. . . the rodeo put in its annual appearance. . . football schedules opened with a number of first games. . . .the ladies' clubs were reactivated following the summer holiday.

Visitors here for the Cotton States Golf tournament were roundly feted. Parties began Friday and ran through Monday night. Saturday night, the ED SEYMOURS and the ARTHUR GRANTS entertained at a party at the Paragon club. As they greeted their guests in the Stagg room, Louise was wearing a brocaded pink cotton, and Martha a full-skirted red organza. Both wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

A white cutwork cloth covered the refreshment table, which was placed at one end of the long room. A silver Lazy Susan centered with a tall arrangement of pale green Fuji mums and rubrum lilies decorated the table. Over a hundred friends called between the hours of seven and nine.

Sunday night the HAROLD WOODS were hosts at a dinner party in their home. A silver epergne filled with white chrysanthemums centered the buffet table. About thirty guests attended, including the HERMAN EGLOFFS, the HAROLD MOSES, the EDELL BLANKS, and the KENLEY CLARKS of New Orleans.

Also on Sunday night, JUANITA and CLAY WILSON took an intimate group for a trip up the river by boat. The four couples enjoyed a picnic supper on a sandbar.

Out of town guests were invited to an end-of-tournament party Monday night in the Paragon's Stagg room. Hosts for the occasion were the WINNIE COLES, the BISH JOHNSTONS, the FOSTER WALLACES, and the AMOS SMELSERS. . .A massive silver bowl filled with pink roses, pink and green caladium leaves, and ivy centered the table. Featured on the buffet were Swedish meat balls, broiled chicken livers with bacon, crab meat, and marinated beef. Forty visitors attended.

Guests of the BILL RILEYS, JR., for Labor Day were BETTY and BOB KING of Shreveport.

ADELE and PAUL RANSOM were in New Orleans for Labor day. They met MAXINE and BUDDY BOARDMAN, who came over from Franklin, and the four spent the weekend at the BURG WADDILL's camp.

The H. L. MARCOUX, JR., have as their guest Mary's mother, MRS. WALTER GRANT of New Orleans. She will be here until the middle of this week.

BONNIE BANCROFT was honored with a boating party yesterday for her eleventh birthday celebration. Twelve girls were invited for the trip up the river and hamburger supper.

On his tenth birthday, MARK HANSEN celebrated with a skating party. Twenty children attended, with HARRIET SADLER and JOHN ANDREWS judged the best couple skaters. Stop-the-music winners were JACKIE DAVIS and MARSHA BURDINE. Doughnuts and sacks of candy and bubble gum were served with soft drinks.

If all good people were clever
And all clever people were good,
The world would be nicer than ever
We thought that it possibly could.
But somehow 'tis seldom or never
The two hit it off as they should.
The good are so harsh to the clever;
The clever so rude to the good.

Colony HDC Meets With Mrs. Neely

A demonstration on draperies and curtains was given by Mrs. Audry Dawson, to the Colony Home Demonstration Club.

The meeting was held September 7, in the home of Mrs. Percy Neely.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. J. N. Neely; Mrs. Pattie Carr; Mrs. T. J. Poland; Mrs. Lovell Huckabee; Mrs. H. W. Gill; Mrs. A. J. Hudson; Mrs. L. J. Bowers; Mrs. Victor Boyd; Mrs. E. W. Earl; Mrs. R. C. Welch, Sr.; Mrs. Percy Neely; Mrs. Drew Anderson; Mrs. Henry Bower, and two visitors: Mrs. Fred McMath and Mrs. Judy Rodden.

The next meeting will be held October 5, at the home of Mrs. Pattie Carr.

Country Cleanup

Summer's over, but you'll be enjoying those rides in the country for many weeks. When you take the children on leaf-collecting expeditions this fall, carry a damp, soapy sponge in a container and a box of tissues in the car for quick hand-and-face cleanups.

Extra Baths

Like adults, babies need extra baths in hot weather. A quick sponging with sudsy water, followed by a little lotion and a light dusting with powder, will help both baby and mother through the "dog days."

MRS. DAVID CHARLES GEORGE

George-Ratliff Vows Spoken In San Antonio

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday, August 27, by Miss Peggy Ratliff and David Charles George, in the South San Antonio Baptist Church, San Antonio, Texas, with the Rev. Ken Hutcheson officiating.

The church sanctuary was decorated with branched candelabra and greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ratliff of San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Evans D. George of San Antonio, formerly of Monroe, are parents of the groom. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stevenson of Monroe. Mrs. Everett S. Martin of Brownwood, Texas, was matron of honor, and Miss Juey Ratliff of San Antonio, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Mussett of San Antonio; Miss Dwanna Osborn of Fort Worth; and Mrs. Larry Hoffman of San Antonio.

Acting as best man was Everett S. Martin of Brownwood, with Steven George, brother of the groom; Paul Butler of Plainview; Johnny Milnor of Dallas; and Everett Donowho of San Antonio, as groomsmen.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white silk organza over net and taffeta. Imported French rose point lace accented the scoop neckline, short sleeves, and encircled the skirt which swept into a chapel length train. The imported French illusion veil was attached to a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of feathered mums and English ivy, centered with a white orchid.

With summer officially ending as of Monday night, regardless of what the calendar or the thermometer may say, autumnal activities got underway this week. Children went to school all day. . . Cub Scouts and dancing lessons began. . . the rodeo put in its annual appearance. . . football schedules opened with a number of first games. . . .the ladies' clubs were reactivated following the summer holiday.

Visitors here for the Cotton States Golf tournament were roundly feted. Parties began Friday and ran through Monday night. Saturday night, the ED SEYMOURS and the ARTHUR GRANTS entertained at a party at the Paragon club. As they greeted their guests in the Stagg room, Louise was wearing a brocaded pink cotton, and Martha a full-skirted red organza. Both wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

□ □ □

Sunday night the HAROLD WOODS were hosts at a dinner party in their home. A silver epergne filled with white chrysanthemums centered the buffet table. About thirty guests attended, including the HERMAN EGLOFFS, the HAROLD MOSES, the EDELL BLANKS, and the KENLEY CLARKS of New Orleans.

Also on Sunday night, JUANITA and CLAY WILSON took an intimate group for a trip up the river by boat. The four couples enjoyed a picnic supper on a sandbar.

Out of town guests were invited to an end-of-tournament party Monday night in the Paragon's Stagg room. Hosts for the occasion were the WINNIE COLES, the BISH JOHNSTONS, the FOSTER WALLACES, and the AMOS SMELSERS. . .A massive silver bowl filled with pink roses, pink and green caladium leaves, and ivy centered the table. Featured on the buffet were Swedish meat balls, broiled chicken livers with bacon, crab meat, and marinated beef. Forty visitors attended.

Guests of the BILL RILEYS, JR., for Labor Day were BETTY and BOB KING of Shreveport.

ADELE and PAUL RANSOM were in New Orleans for Labor day. They met MAXINE and BUDDY BOARDMAN, who came over from Franklin, and the four spent the weekend at the BURG WADDILL's camp.

The H. L. MARCOUX, JR., have as their guest Mary's mother, MRS. WALTER GRANT of New Orleans. She will be here until the middle of this week.

□ □ □

BONNIE BANCROFT was honored with a boating party yesterday for her eleventh birthday celebration. Twelve girls were invited for the trip up the river and hamburger supper.

On his tenth birthday, MARK HANSEN celebrated with a skating party. Twenty children attended, with HARRIET SADLER and JOHN ANDREWS judged the best couple skaters. Stop-the-music winners were JACKIE DAVIS and MARSHA BURDINE. Doughnuts and sacks of candy and bubble gum were served with soft drinks.

If all good people were clever
And all clever people were good,
The world would be nicer than ever
We thought that it possibly could.
But somehow 'tis seldom or never
The two hit it off as they should.
The good are so harsh to the clever;
The clever so rude to the good.

MRS. ALFRED DEAN RICHARD

Miss Carmela Danna, Alfred D. Richard Wed

Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church was the scene on September 5, of the marriage of Miss Carmela Antionette Danna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Danna of Monroe, and Alfred Dean Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emar Richard of Sunset, Louisiana.

Before a background of white gladioli, the Rev. Father George Martinez performed the double ring ceremony. A bouquet of mums was placed before the Blessed Virgin's statue.

"Ave Maria" was sung by Miss Gertrude Sandrock, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Sam Lasuzzo.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a gown of peau de soie appliqued with alencon lace and seed pearls, and featuring scoop neckline and cap sleeves. Her veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of fleur d'amour centered with a white orchid on a pearl prayer book, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. George A. Richard was matron of honor, and was dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Acting as best man was George A. Richard, brother of groom, with Willard Richard as groomsman. Ushers for the occasion were Russell Hebert and John A. Zachary.

For the wedding, the bride's mother chose a pink lace sheath with pink hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was of pink orchids. The mother of the groom wore a blonde shantung sheath with brown accessories, and an orchid corsage.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the Green Room of the Penn Hotel. The bride's table was centered with a wedding bell made of artificial white flowers, topped by a miniature bride and groom and interspersed with fern and white stock.

Mrs. David Petrus and Miss Sandra Jolissaint served the cake. The punch was poured by Misses Marlene Landry and Mary Alice Christian.

The couple will make their home in Opelousas.

MRS. GEORGE PAUL FONTANA

Monroe Ceremony Unites Miss Wilson, G. Fontana

Miss Billie Mae Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson of West Monroe became the bride of George Paul Fontana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fontana of Monroe.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, September 1, with the Rev. Michael Hannon and Rev. Inzina officiating.

"Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" were sung by Mrs. Irvie Lee Temple, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Harold Price.

Altar boys were Joseph Salines and Pierre Broussard.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta with bodice of Chantilly lace trimmed with irridescent sequins and seed pearls. The bouffant skirt was appliqued with lace medallions appliqued with seed pearls and sequins, and featuring a back bustle trimmed with taffeta roses.

Mrs. John Tarpley, sister of bride, was matron of honor. She wore a royal blue dress of crystalline satin with matching headdress, and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sharron Bigelow; Miss Patricia Grant of Bastrop; with Miss Jane Wilson, sister of bride, as junior bridesmaid. They were dressed identically to the matron of honor.

Little Miss John Ann Trapley was flower girl, and carried a basket of rose petals. Master Mike Slavant was ring bearer.

Acting as best man was Mickey Fontana, brother of groom, with Charles Bigelow, Phillip Williams and Allen Cerniglia as groomsmen. Ushers were Dickie Culpepper and Bobby Cerniglia.

For the wedding, the mother of the bride wore a dress of light blue Chantilly lace over taffeta with blue hat, and white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses. The groom's mother chose a white Irish linen sheath with a corsage of white roses.

A reception was held in the social hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a Madeira cutwork cloth, centered with an epergne holding white roses and mums. The tiered wedding cake was decorated with wedding bells and swans.

Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Dick Culpepper; Mrs. Vincent Zagone; and Mrs. F. P. Cerniglia.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fontana were hosts to a rehearsal dinner for the couple held at the Paragon Jade Room.

Centering the tables was an epergne filled with pink asters and wedding bells, with miniature bride and groom at the base. Flanking the arrangement were pink candles in branched silver candelabra.

MRS. PAUL JOHN GUILBEAU

Miss Holdeman, Mr. Guilbeau Vows Spoken

Baskets of white asters flanked with baskets of white gladioli and candelabra holding white tapers formed the background for the wedding of Miss Donna Holdeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Holdeman of Monroe; and Paul John Guilbeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Guilbeau of Carencro, Louisiana.

Father Michael Hannon performed the double ring ceremony in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Septemebr 3.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie fashioned along princess lines with a scoop neckline and chantilly lace overjacket. The skirt was enhanced with scattered lace motifs embroidered with pearls, and rows of lace formed a bustle in back. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a headdress of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a white orchid bouquet.

Miss Janette Holdeman, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a dress of lavender and brocade satin with an overskirt of silk organza. She carried a bouquet of mint green carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Valda Rushing of Grayson, and Miss Lou Sheppard of Marksville. They wore dresses of lavender silk organza over taffeta.

Acting as best man was Louis Martin of Carencro; with James Faul of Lafayette, and Russel Herbert of Carencro, as groomsmen. Ushers for the occasion were Bobby Fuller of West Monroe, and Dale LaTour of Carencro.

Little Miss Jan Blackman, cousin of bride, was the flower girl; and Master Danny Ferrington of Monroe, served as ring bearer.

"Ave Maria" and "O Beautiful Mother" were sung by Roger McMullin, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Carol Price.

For the wedding, the bride's mother chose a blue silk dress with matching accessories, and an orchid corsage. The mother of the groom wore a gray and brown floral lace with brown accessories and a corsage of mint green orchids.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church social room which was decorated throughout with stands of white gladioli. The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white hand-drawn linen, centered with an arrangement of white asters.

The couple will make their home in Carencro.

Beauty Routine

Favorite Colors

Bright news in black and white! Or, "Black And White and Bright" all over. It's the favored prescription for college and career wardrobe planners. Take black-with-white, in plaids, checks or solids and add any one of the true accent colors, in shirts, sweaters, caps or scarves. Sharp yellows and bright greens, bright reds and bright true blues are preferred, by "Bright Girls" of course.

Storage Boxes

MRS. GEORGE PAUL FONTANA

Monroe Ceremony Unites Miss Wilson, G. Fontana

Miss Billie Mae Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson of West Monroe became the bride of George Paul Fontana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fontana of Monroe.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, September 1, with the Rev. Michael Hannon and Rev. Inzina officiating.

"Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" were sung by Mrs. Irvie Lee Temple, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Harold Price.

Altar boys were Joseph Salines and Pierre Broussard.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta with bodice of Chantilly lace trimmed with irridescent sequins and seed pearls. The bouffant skirt was appliqued with lace medallions appliqued with seed pearls and sequins, and featuring a back bustle trimmed with taffeta roses.

Mrs. John Tarpley, sister of bride, was matron of honor. She wore a royal blue dress of crystalline satin with matching headdress, and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sharron Bigelow; Miss Patricia Grant of Bastrop; with Miss Jane Wilson, sister of bride, as junior bridesmaid. They were dressed identically to the matron of honor.

Little Miss John Ann Trapley was flower girl, and carried a basket of rose petals. Master Mike Slavant was ring bearer.

Acting as best man was Mickey Fontana, brother of groom, with Charles Bigelow, Phillip Williams and Allen Cerniglia as groomsmen. Ushers were Dickie Culpepper and Bobby Cerniglia.

For the wedding, the mother of the bride wore a dress of light blue Chantilly lace over taffeta with blue hat, and white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses. The groom's mother chose a white Irish linen sheath with a corsage of white roses.

A reception was held in the social hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a Madeira cutwork cloth, centered with an epergne holding white roses and mums. The tiered wedding cake was decorated with wedding bells and swans.

Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Dick Culpepper; Mrs. Vincent Zagone; and Mrs. F. P. Cerniglia.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fontana were hosts to a rehearsal dinner for the couple held at the Paragon Jade Room.

Centering the tables was an epergne filled with pink asters and wedding bells, with miniature bride and groom at the base. Flanking the arrangement were pink candles in branched silver candelabra.

MRS. PAUL JOHN GUILBEAU

Miss Holdeman, Mr. Guilbeau Vows Spoken

Baskets of white asters flanked with baskets of white gladioli and candelabra holding white tapers formed the background for the wedding of Miss Donna Holdeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Holdeman of Monroe: and Paul John Guilbeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Guilbeau of Carencro, Louisiana.

Father Michael Hannon performed the double ring ceremony in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Septemebr 3.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie fashioned along princess lines with a scoop neckline and chantilly lace overjacket. The skirt was enhanced with scattered lace motifs embroidered with pearls, and rows of lace formed a bustle in back. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a headdress of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a white orchid bouquet.

Miss Janette Holdeman, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a dress of lavender and brocade satin with an overskirt of silk organza. She carried a bouquet of mint green carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Valda Rushing of Grayson, and Miss Lou Sheppard of Marksville. They wore dresses of lavender silk organza over taffeta.

Acting as best man was Louis Martin of Carencro; with James Faul of Lafayette, and Russel Herbert of Carencro, as groomsmen. Ushers for the occasion were Bobby Fuller of West Monroe, and Dale LaTour of Carencro.

Little Miss Jan Blackman, cousin of bride, was the flower girl; and Master Danny Ferrington of Monroe, served as ring bearer.

"Ave Maria" and "O Beautiful Mother" were sung by Roger McMullin, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Carol Price.

For the wedding, the bride's mother chose a blue silk dress with matching accessories, and an orchid corsage. The mother of the groom wore a gray and brown floral lace with brown accessories and a corsage of mint green orchids.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church social room which was decorated throughout with stands of white gladioli. The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white hand-drawn linen, centered with an arrangement of white asters.

For their wedding trip to Florida, the bride chose a suit of beige silk linen with green accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Carencro.

Favorite Colors

Bright news in black and white! Or, "Black And White and Bright" all over. It's the favored prescription for college and career wardrobe planners. Take black-with-white, in plaids, checks or solids and add any one of the true accent colors, in shirts, sweaters, caps or scarves. Sharp yellows and bright greens, bright reds and bright true blues are preferred, by "Bright Girls" of course.

Storage Boxes

Trim plastic storage boxes for shoes and "folding" clothes play a big part in making closets neat and attractive — on one condition. They must be kept sparkling clean!

Fortunately, this is easy. Just wash them regularly with a cloth wrung out of soap or detergent suds. Then wipe-rinse and dry. At housecleaning time, these boxes can be washed in deep suds just like dishes.

Beauty Routine

MRS. JAMES LARRY DENMON

Forest Church Scene Of Denmon-Thompson Vows

Beneath an arch entwined with ivy and centered with white wedding bells, Miss Nita Thompson became the bride of James Larry Denmon on Thursday evening, September 8, in the Forest Baptist Church.

The Rev. H. G. Hammons performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson; and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Denmon, all of Forest.

Behind the arch could be seen a bouquet of mixed white flowers. Flanking the arch were spiral candelabra holding white tapers, with tall baskets of white gladioli and carnations placed alternately with potted ferns, before a background of gold foliage.

Candles were lighted by Francis Donal of Holly Ridge, and Charles Standifer.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of white organza over satin, featuring a scoop neckline outlined with appliqued lace medallions studded with seed pearls. The lace applique was repeated in the front skirt and near the hemline in the back. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell in scalloped tiers from a crown of tulle and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded by lily-of-the-valley. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls which had belonged to the groom's maternal grandmother.

Miss Dottye Denmon, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. The bride's cousins, Miss Jacqueline Holder and Miss Linda Holder, were bridesmaids. They were dressed identically in yellow organza over taffeta with round neckline and wide sashes. Their headdresses were circles of scalloped tulle held in place by organza bows. Each carried a bouquet of white pom pon mums and yellow tulle.

Rodney Harper attended the groom as best man. Terry Denmon, brother of the groom, and Mack Curtis served as usher-groomsmen.

Music was provided on the organ by Miss Sandra McEachern of Oak Grove, and on the piano by Miss Kirk Hayes of Eudora, Arkansas. They accompanied Miss Judith Edmonson as she sang, "A Perfect Love" and "One Alone."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thompson chose a beige dress with blue feather hat. Mrs. Denmon, mother of the groom, wore a smoke green dress with matching feather hat. Both wore white glamelia corsages.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the social room of the church, which was decorated throughout with baskets of white gladioli.

The bride's table was centered with a low branched candelabra holding white tapers, and surrounded with the bridesmaids bouquets. At one end of the table was the tiered wedding cake, topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom. At the opposite end, the crystal punch bowl held yellow punch.

Assisting with the serving were: Miss Alyne Thompson of Henderson, Texas; and Misses Marian Davis, Sylvia Little, and Charlotte Standifer. Mrs. Jerard Allen of Natchitoches presided at the bride's book.

Lenwil PTA Officers Hold First Meeting

The officers of the Lenwil P-TA met August 30, to determine the budget and projects to be decided upon in the October meeting.

The budget will be comprised of items such as a velvet-lined trophy case; a library fan; and two sets of parallel steel bars for playground equipment, as suggested by Bill Noonan, State Supervisor of Health and Physical Education.

Interested persons are invited to the September meeting.

Specialty Bread

Keep a few loaves of specialty breads on hand in the freezer. In addition to the old standby garlic bread, try celery seed bread made by adding ½ teaspoon celery seed, ¼ teaspoon paprika and a dash of cayenne to ½ cup of softened butter. Another treat is savory cheese loaf made by adding ¼ cup prepared yellow mustard, 1 tablespoon poppy seed and a bit of grated onion to ½ cup softened butter. Insert sliced process Swiss cheese between the cuts. Or, for a butterscotch loaf, add ¾ cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ cup chopped nuts and 2 tablespoons water to ½ cup softened butter.

MISS CAROLYN ELIZABETH FLOWERS

Barnes-Flowers Plans Foretold For October 8

Miss Carolyn Elizabeth Flowers, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Flowers and the late C. B. Flowers of Monroe; will become the bride of William Jerry Barnes of West Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Barnes of Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

The wedding will be solemnized in the Central Baptist Church, October 8, at 7:00 p.m., with the Rev. Charles B. Littleton officiating.

Miss Charlotte Goodrum of West Monroe, will serve as maid of honor, with Miss Sue Pilgreen of Holly Ridge; Miss Louise Carroll of Monroe; and Miss Carlene Lutrick of Baton Rouge, as bridesmaids.

Acting as best man will be Herman Harton of Warren, Arkansas. Ushers for the occasion will be Richard McDonald, Melvin McCloy, and Dennis Carroll, all of Monroe.

THE ENGAGEMENT and approaching marriage of Miss Evie Glover, to Charles Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin of Oak Grove; has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glover, also of Oak Grove. The wedding will be an event of September 17.

No Splatters

Fry chicken without splatters or sticking! It's easy when cooking on an automatic heat - minding surface unit. Brown chicken in hot fat in skillet with heat set at 350 degrees. Then turn to 250 degrees, cover and complete cooking. There's no sticking or burning and every piece is perfectly browned.

MISS LORNA RAE MONTGOMERY, daughter of Mrs. Howard William Montgomery and the late Mr. Montgomery of Monroe; will become the bride of John Frank Gentile, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Gentile of New Orleans. The wedding will be solemnized in New Orleans, on November 19.

Lakeshore HDC Holds Picnic August 31

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Matthews, President; and Mrs. Pat Keesee, Vice President.

Those present were: Mrs. Matthews; Mrs. Pat Keesee; Mrs. Martha Roberts and Mike; Mrs. Joyce Egloff, Cindy and Carol.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thompson chose a beige dress with blue feather hat. Mrs. Denmon, mother of the groom, wore a smoke green dress with matching feather hat. Both wore white glamelia corsages.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the social room of the church, which was decorated throughout with baskets of white gladioli.

The bride's table was centered with a low branched candelabra holding white tapers, and surrounded with the bridesmaids bouquets. At one end of the table was the tiered wedding cake, topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom. At the opposite end, the crystal punch bowl held yellow punch.

Assisting with the serving were: Miss Alyne Thompson of Henderson, Texas; and Misses Marian Davis, Sylvia Little, and Charlotte Standifer. Mrs. Jerard Allen of Natchitoches presided at the bride's book.

Lenwil PTA Officers Hold First Meeting

The officers of the Lenwil P-TA met August 30, to determine the budget and projects to be decided upon in the October meeting.

The budget will be comprised of items such as a velvet-lined trophy case; a library fan; and two sets of parallel steel bars for playground equipment, as suggested by Bill Noonan, State Supervisor of Health and Physical Education.

Interested persons are invited to the September meeting.

Specialty Bread

Keep a few loaves of specialty breads on hand in the freezer. In addition to the old standby garlic bread, try celery seed bread made by adding ½ teaspoon celery seed, ¼ teaspoon paprika and a dash of cayenne to ½ cup of softened butter. Another treat is savory cheese loaf made by adding ¼ cup prepared yellow mustard, 1 tablespoon poppy seed and a bit of grated onion to ½ cup softened butter. Insert sliced process Swiss cheese between the cuts. Or, for a butterscotch loaf, add ¾ cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ cup chopped nuts and 2 tablespoons water to ½ cup softened butter.

MISS CAROLYN ELIZABETH FLOWERS

Mrs. Wallace Hostess To Woodlawn HDC

A demonstration on the preparation of rolls from a basic recipe was presented to the Woodlawn Home Demonstration Club by Miss Ann Beard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Beard.

The meeting was held September 2, in the home of Mrs. H. M. Wallace.

Miss Beard is a senior at West Monroe High School. She has just returned from Louisiana State University where she represented Ouachita Parish in the baking contest and placed in the blue ribbon group.

Mrs. Truman Wright, president of the club, has also returned from the Farm and Home Week at the University where she represented Ouachita Parish in the dress contest, placing in the blue ribbon group.

Plans were made for the fair booth this year with Mrs. John Bush serving as chairman of this committee.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Jimmie White; Mrs. Norris Salsbury; Mrs. Fulton Martin; Mrs. Mack Beard; Mrs. Harold Thomas; and Mesdames O. E. Smith, Ernie Frith, Harvie Eady, Ruby Morehead, Gerald Morehead, C. A. Hollingsworth, Sr.; John Bush, Truman Wright, Leon Sims, Maxwell Brown, J. B. Arrant, Katie Kilpatrick, J. E. Rutledge, Howard Brown, Jr.; Wallace Snowden, and Keith Cobb.

Her only jewelry was a filigree pendant holding a single pearl and diamond, a gift of the groom.

Altar boys assisting the Rev. Father Erwin with the Mass were Blaze Domino and James Cockrell.

Miss Judith Godwin served as maid of honor. She was dressed in a dress of pale pink silk organza over cotton satin, featuring an embroidered silk organza bodice and bouffant skirt. Her short veil of illusion fell from a caplet of tiny seed pearls and leaves formed of pink illusion.

The bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Sanders; Mrs. Lanie W. Crowe; and Miss Mickey Ann Fezatte, sister of the groom; wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor. They carried colonial nosegays of pink carnations and sweetheart roses.

Keith McGuire served as best man. Groomsmen were Hurshell Ruffin, Lanie W. Crowe, and Arnold Louis Torres, brother of the bride; with Jim McCormick and Donnie McKay as ushers.

Following the wedding the bride's parents were hosts at a reception at the International House. In the receiving line with the bridal party was the bride's mother, who wore a pink sheath of crystalene satin with matching accessories and hat of pearls and sequins. The groom's mother chose an ice blue sheath of silk linen with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white chrysanthemums. Both grandmothers wore white carnation corsages.

A massive arrangement of white carnations, gladioli, mums, stock and greenery in a cathedral urn was placed on a Victorian marble top entrance stand. The coffee table in the lounge and the piano in the reception room also held similar arrangements.

Guests were invited to sign the bride's book by Mrs. John L. Oswalt of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, who was seated at a table overlaid with a white cloth upon which was placed a memory candle encircled with lilies of the valley, interspersed with greenery.

The bride's table was covered with a cloth of ruffled white organdy over taffeta and was centrally adorned with an antique crystal and silver epergne filled with white carnations, pink roses, and tall pink tapers. Mrs. Adrian Bennett served punch from the crystal punch bowl. Tea girls were Miss Sarah Whetstone, Miss Sharon Meredith, and Miss Lou Ellen Overhultz.

The round table holding the bride's cake, was draped in white organdy and overlaid with a pink net cloth, centered with a nosegay of white carnations, pink sweetheart roses, net poufs and satin ribbon loops, interspersed with garlands of greenery. The tiered cake, was topped with a miniature bride and groom surrounded with pink sugar flowers and green leaves.

Mrs. L. S. Crowe served the cake. Distributing rice bags were little Misses Lynda Oswalt of Pine Bluff, Susan Austin, and Martha Lynn Dupree. Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Wade J. Dupree, Mrs. Albert Austin, Mrs. Ray Greenich, and Mrs. W. D. Loftin, and Mrs. George Williams.

For their wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast, the bride was wearing an orchid linen sheath dress with matching jacket featuring a large rolled silk organza collar, bone accessories, and the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Bastrop.

New Bride Must Quickly Learn To Handle Money

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The honeymoon is over and the summer bride is ready to keep house. The first skill she must develop is handling money, says Mildred F. May, officer of a Phoeniz, Ariz. bank.

"Your future happiness as a wife may depend on how well you handle your husband's income," says Mrs. May, quoting surveys which show money is the biggest single cause of trouble between American men and their wives.

Mrs. May who conducts "Preparation for Marriage" classes in schools, clubs and churches to help young people budget, offers this advice:

When you set up house, set up a spending and saving plan.

Base your plan on take-home pay, not total income. If a woman works after marriage, she should not, unless absolutely necessary, include her paycheck in the regular family income. (This could set a false standard of living, impossible to keep after children come.) This income is better used for a few family luxuries, a vacation trip, and financing the first baby. Pay bills by bank check so you can tell where your money goes.

Keep total instalment debt under 15 per cent of take - home pay. (This does not include mortgage payments on the home.) Save ahead for other home appliances.

Here's a plan Mrs. May suggests. All figures are based on take-home pay:

SAVINGS . . . Try to save between 10 and 20 per cent. Be realistic. Start with a small sum. Make it a habit to "pay" your savings account every payday, just like you pay your utilities and other bills. The goal should be to keep an amount in the bank equal to at least six months to a year's living expenses. If you live in an area where you need a car, adjust savings, allowing about 7 per cent to cover instalment payments and upkeep on your car.

FOOD . . . Spend anywhere from 15 to 40 per cent depending on the size of your income. Include money spent at restaurants (husband's lunches). Shop for bargains. Plan menus by the week.

HOUSING . . . Earmark between 15 to 25 per cent. Stick to these figures whether you buy or rent. Shade them upward if you buy. Then, you are making an investment. What you spend depends on where you live, how big a family you have, and the type of house you want.

HOUSEHOLD OPERATION . . Figure on 5 to 10 per cent. This covers heat, water, electricity, gas, telephone, cleaning supplies, minor repairs, outside help, lawn and garden care.

CLOTHING . . . 10 to 15 per cent. The percentage drops somewhat at high income levels.

MISCELLANEOUS . . . Allow about 12 to 17 per cent. This includes entertainment and incidentals. It covers transportation fares, coffee breaks, movie and theatre tickets, contributions to charity, presents for family and friends, books, records, magazines, newspapers etc.

Mrs. May says a young couple with a net income of $4,200 after taxes or $350 a month might budget their money like this:

Savings, $45 (13 percent); Car, $25 (7 percent); Food, $87 (25 percent); Housing, $70 (20 per cent); Household, $70 (20 per cent); Clothing, $35 (10 per cent); Misc., $58 (16 per cent).

This scale does not allow for medical or insurance costs, which will cut into the amount a family is able to save.

Smoked Tongue

The center of a smoked tongue is the best part to serve sliced. The tip and root end may be chopped or ground for hash or a sandwich filling.

Ring Garnishes

Ring - shaped Garnishes are good to eat and fun to make: slice a large radish and cut out the centers of the slices; poke a sprig of water cress or a small scallion (green onion) through the radish ring.

MRS. FREDDIE RANCE FEZATTE

Fezatte-Torres Vows Exchanged In Bastrop

Miss Patricia Ann Torres became the bride of Freddie Rance Fezatte in a double ring Nuptial Mass on August 27, at nine o'clock in the morning.

Mass was said by Father Erwin Huntsha at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Bastrop.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miguel Torres, Jr. and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Frederick Fezatte, all of Bastrop.

Tall standards of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums against a background of greenery were placed on each side of the altar, which held burning tapers. Small bouquets graced the two side altars.

Prenuptial music was played on the organ by Sister Annette, O.S.S. The St. Joseph's Childrens Choir sang "The Mass of the Angles".

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of silk organza trellised with Alencon lace, and a bodice of lace inserted with organza, featuring a mandarin collar and long sleeves. About the most spectacular blooms right now are those of the white clematis. The vine is a mass of dainty white blossoms and it is a beautiful sight. The vine is semi-evergreen. Prune immediately after blooming. You can just trim off some of the limbs. This common species of clematis gets pretty rank after a few years.

SEPTEMBER JOBS

If you want to be an early bird and get a head start on spring blooming annuals and perennials, prepare your seed beds now. Seed planting should begin in September and increase through October and November.

Flower beds should be reworked two to three weeks in advance of planting. Spade the soil to a depth of eight to 10 inches and turn it over. This will help aerate it. If no rains come by the end of the week, water the soil well to break up the clumps. Later work the earth over with a hoe or rake. Add a little compost or sand, if necessary, to make the soil more workable.

SEED TO PLANT

Choose flowers that will be pretty in the bed and will cut well for the house. Gaillardia and cornflower are examples. Both should be planted during one of the fall months.

Calendula is another double-duty flower. Its seeds can be planted in flats from September through November and in open ground later.

Other seed are: sweet alyssum, California poppy, sweet pea, poppy, larkspur, snapdragon, arctotis, Texas blue bonnet; ageratum, candytuft, carnation, coreopsis, gypsophila, petunia, stock, foxglove, stokesia, verbena, Sweet William, gerbera, hollyhock, phlox (annual).

BULBS

Bulbs that may be planted in the fall are: Louisiana iris snowflakes, Easter lily, zephyranthes, daylily, hyacinths, the entire family of daffodils.

MORE JOBS

Divide perennials whose clumps have become too large. Likely candidates for such treatment are: Callas, Louisiana iris, gerberas, stokesia, violets, shasta and other daisies. Some perennials need dividing yearly, others at intervals of two to four years, depending on the rate of growth.

Continue to feed chrysanthemums until color shows in the buds. Every 10 days is about right for this.

Pinch dahlias for the last time this season.

Keep up rose spraying and dusting. In case of heavy rain, dust or spray within 24 hours.

If you plan to plant winter grass on your lawn, fertilize right away. There must be a three weeks lapse between fertilization and sowing of seed.

WHAT'S NEW

The neighborhood automatic laundry is about to sprout a cousin. You'll soon be able to take your dry cleaning to a conveniently located establishment, put some coins in a machine, and have your cleaning done while you wait. You put up to nine pounds of soiled clothes into the machine — insert four quarters and the machine does the rest — all except pressing, of course. One of these machines is now in operation and has proven successful. It may be years before we have these in any numbers.

American families are getting larger — so manufacturers are not going to lag behind. Soon there will be a toaster to meet consumer demand for larger families. This is a four slice model and it should serve to cut down the waiting list at breakfast time.

If you're a victim from housework legs — that all tired feeling from working on your feet all day long — there's a new idea coming out soon that will let you stay off your feet in the kitchen. It's a sink designed with a deep recess underneath so the homemaker can sit down while working.

THE SUIT LOOK

If we're to have the new suit look this winter we must get these points in mind: Jackets look longer, looser, rangier. If you can't shrug around easily in it — it's not a this-year jacket. The fit of the 1960 jacket is free and unhampered.

The whole-suit look is another point to keep in mind — suits with their own blouses, or dresses with their own jackets.

STYLE HINTS

The bigger the better seems the motto for necklaces for fall. Because waistlines are lowered, necklaces may have a longer look.

Pins, earrings and bracelets are just as unusual and interesting as necklaces. Every style is shown from dome shapes to big flat disks and all set in brilliant variegated colors or in monotone effects.

Gloves for fall are decorated or simple, elbow length or short. The top glove colors are wine, gold, brown.

New York's millinery designers are topping the new season's fashion with a variety of silhouettes. These include cloches, turbans, swaggers, domes and shapes called bomb, ball and bubble.

Hats may be fancy for fall, but hair styles are simple. It's the smoothness of the hair that is its beauty this seaon.

1st Automatic Post Office Is Stamp Topic

The first automatic post office in the United States — at Providence, R. I. — will be honored on a new 4-cent U.S. commemorative stamp coming out Oct. 20. An architect's sketch of the new post office in Providence appears as the main design. It will be formally dedicated on Oct. 20.

This post office will house the latest developments in mechanized and automatic mail distribution and handling equipment. The building has been designed specifically for this purpose.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send their addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, Providence 2, R. I., with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, prior to Oct. 20. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers Automated Post Office Stamp."

The U. S. Post Office Department has announced it will accept requests for first day covers of its 4-cent United States-Japan commemorative stamp bearing one or more values of the Japanese issue for the same event at the Washington 13, D. C., Post Office on Sept. 28, providing space is left in the extreme upper right corner for the affixing of the U. S. stamp. The hard part of doing this, however, is that the Japanese stamp must be obtained first and this is a difficult chore unless your local stamp dealer can get it for you.

Still on the subject of U. S. stamps, a 4-cent Andrew Carnegie "Famous American" stamp will be issued Nov. 25 at New York City. It will feature a painting of the famed industrialist and philantropist.

This stamp will be similar in design to others in the "Famous American" group, issued intermittently since 1940.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, New York 1, N. Y., with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, prior to Nov. 25.

A stamp album especially for all United Nations issues can be purchased for only 10 cents. The pages are standard size, punched to fit any three ring binder, and contain spaces for all the U. N. stamps up to and including 1959. The album also contains tips on U. N. collecting and information on the world body itself. Write to U. N. Stamp Album, New York Stamp Exchange, New York 5, N. Y. and enclose the dime.

Three new sets of stamps have been issued by Tunisia, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency which has just been named to distribute the Tunisian stamps in this country. One set of five values honors the 4th Arab Boys Scout Jamboree. Another set pays tribute to the Olympics held in Rome. The third set commemorates the 5th World Forestry Congress held in Seattle, Wash. A single stamp from Tunisia also was reported. This 70 milliemes stamp is an addition to the Tunisian "Occupation Series." It honors and illustrates a tapestry weaver.

CAMERA NOTES

New Automatic Eye Is Aid With Camera

A new automatic electric eye camera for pictures-in-a-minute is now available. Called Polaroid Electric Eye Camera, Model 900, it is distinguished by a small oval over its lens which houses its tiny heart, a micro-eye. This sensitive electronic see-eye, the size of a small pearl, guages the light both indoors and out then automatically selects the proper combination of both shutter speed and lens opening for instant pictures.

MICRO-EYE

The micro - eye, though 100 times smaller than normal photometer selenium cells, has greater sensitivity and represents a radical change in light meter design and operation. It is a photoconductive cell which changes its conductivity in response to light and is powered by a battery the size of a cough drop. The battery lasts for years and is replaced at a cost of one dollar.

The tiny micro-eye's response to light ranges from a dimly lit interior to a glaring snow scene. With ASA 3,000 speed film in the camera, it will set the exposure range to match from a wide open lens (f-8.8) and a speed of 1-12th second to a pinhole opening of f-80 and a shutter speed of 1-600 of a second.

As the scene before the camera brightens from the lowest light level, the micro-eye sets the shutter speed faster until it reaches snapshot speed of 1-50 second. Thereafter it starts to close the lens down extending the picture's depth of focus. After f-50 the shutter speeds start to get faster and the lens opening smaller until the maximum speed and smallest opening are reached. At this point everything is in focus from four feet to infinity.

DIAL

The Model 900 camera has a dial which registers the speed of film in the camera ranging from ASA 50 to 6000. This covers all films contemplated for picture-in-a-minute photography, including the color film which was publicly tested and will become available some time in 1961.

The camera has another setting just above the micro-eye. When it is set, the information also is relayed to the tiny brain. It is a button which is pushed to indicate whether the picture being taken is outdoors or indoors, under fluorescent lights, with daylight streaming in or at night. The Polaroid wink-light is recommended with ASA 300 speed film for automatic pictures at night indoors. This is a battery-powered repeating light which acts as a fill-in light in close-up night shots.

COMBINED

The camera has a combined viewfinder - rangefinder with an illuminated frame around the scene to indicate what will be in the picture. This frame changes size as the camera is focused because it automatically adjusts for parallax correction. Accurate focusing is achieved by bringing together twin images in a yellow triangular wedge in the viewfinder until they form one image. The focusing wheel is at thumb tip location as the hand holds the bottom of the camera. The forefinger is then in position to snap the picture.

TESTING: Our columnist tries the new electric-eye picture-in-a-minute camera. Note the small oval above the lens. It's the distinguishing feature which houses the tiny micro-eye.

SOUTHERN GARDNER

Plant Spring Annuals Now

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

September is the time to plant many of the spring annuals that make such a big show in southern gardens from February until June. These are usually called "hardy" annuals because they will come up from fall sown seeds and withstand the winter. During the warmer days, they grow and make strong plants to flower lustily in the spring.

The trick with hardy annuals is to plant them soon enough in the fall so that they will sprout and get under way before the coldest winter weather slows them down. The young plants of larkspur and California poppies have such beautiful foliage that they are beautiful all through the winter even if they never had a flower. If you fail to get the seeds of these plants in the ground before October, you may as well wait and plant them in November or December when they will just lie dormant until warm weather comes around. The plants are never large from winter sown seeds because they have not had time to develop, and the spring show will not usually be very good.

WHOLE GARDEN

The many fine kinds of California poppies and the numerous named varieties of larkspur offered to us in seed catalogues these days can provide a whole garden in themselves. Chinese forget - me - nots from early fall sown seeds make the best show they are capable of in the garden though we are always glad to have their clear blue from smaller plants at other times of the year.

Baby - blue - eyes is a rather weak name for a splendid California annual. In the catalogues, it is listed under nemophila. Like so many California plants, it will burn up in our heat if it is not planted in the fall to bloom in early spring. After that, it burns up, but the clear blue flowers are worth having with the other spring flowers.

BIG RESULTS

Alyssum, collinsia, cornflowers, lavatera, nigella, silene pendula, silene armeria (two "catch-flys") and sweet sultans are still more annuals that give big results from fall - sown seeds. Nigella is the old-fashioned "love-in-a-mist," the flowers of which are bluer than corn flowers. The gossamer-like maze of fine foliage lightens the effects of spring flower gardens with porcelain like tulips and heavy hyacinths.

Shirley poppies are also light in their effect in the spring garden. They come in many named varieties, and their foliage is good to look at in fall and late winter, too. Almost all of the winter or "hardy" annuals come back, year after year, from seed, once you get them started in a garden. It pays to buy the seeds of named varieties, just the same, because seedlings have a way of reverting to too many purple pink and other not-too-desirable colors.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Study Club Is Exhibitor

By MARY JARDINE

By GLADYS M. KULCKE
Guest Writer

Mrs. L. E. Dage made an asymmetrical triangle arrangement of zinnias, celosus, castor bean stalks, barberry and caladium leaves. In a black boat shaped, footed container, placed on a black base. Rose colored zinnias placed in the focal area were surrounded by rose-pink blotched leaves of Chenille-plant (Acalupha). Rose - red celosia filled in and placed above the zinnias. Red stalks of castor beans formed the vertical line and the barberry branches extended over one side of the container. Variegated green and white caladium leaves were placed in the back for background and to give depth to the design.

MODERN

Mrs. Dage's second arrangement was of a modern Japanese design. She used branches of short - leaf pine to represent, heaven, man and earth placements. Small yellow zinnia blossoms followed these three lines. This design was placed in a flat, tan container.

Mrs. F. E. Patterson introduced the early autumn colors with her fan - shaped design. She chose a small round, flat, brown and tan pottery container. Above this tan tinted zinnias and golden marigolds fanned out and up against the fan shaped placement of autumn colored huckleberry branches. An interesting combination of material and colors suitable for the paneled room.

Mrs. A. B. Smith created "A Thing of Beauty" for the dinner table. She made her grey compote container of an old lamp stand and a candy bowl. This free - standing modified Hogarth curve was a transition of the seasons. Pink roses placed in the focal area on one side of the design represented the spring, pink zinnias on the other side suggest summer, purple false - dragonheads (Physostegia) for autumn and red barberry branches represented winter. The barberry branches carried the line of this line - mass design. Physostegia spikes emphasized the line and were used as a filler, while pink blotched leaves of acalypha were placed to break the line of the container. Beautiful color combination of pink, purple and red. Mrs. A. B. Smith also entered an arrangement of a crescent form in a flat, free - form, tan pottery container. Dried branches of the pearl bush and yucca formed the crescent design. This design was filled in with branches of Japanese yew and orange zinnias placed in the focal area, using the smaller blossoms for transition.

Mrs. Bob Sanders and Mrs. Mary Martin chose a flat bowl of Hammett original for their arrangement. They used aspidistra to create a windblown aspidistra "tree" in a free interpretation of Japanese principles. Five red zinnias followed the vertical line of the "tree." The Japanese do not sanction the use of flowers with aspidistra. The combination is nevertheless effective for the Occidental home.

In the Garden Center we have a number of beautiful weekly engagement calendars by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, published exclusively for member clubs. The full-page photographs of original flower arrangements submitted by talented garden club members from all over the country — one for each week of the year. Each calendar is in a distinctive gift box.

Select Bulbs To Replant

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you have not lifted and replanted your Easter lily bulbs, do so as soon as possible. Select bulbs that are free from insects and disease.

Make your plans for daffodils now. October is time to plant them. It's time to order now so that you will be assured of having the bulbs by October planting date.

Feed your chrysanthemums with a complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8. Use about four pounds of fertilizer per 100 feet of row. To keep down leaf diseases, keep water off the leaves. For large flower heads, disbud all buds that appear except the center bud of each cluster.

Science has found a way to help you enjoy your garden. You can eat outdoors without having to fight mosquitoes, gnats and other annoying insects. Delphene or mela delphene is the new discovery that can make a world of difference in your outdoor living. It is available in Aerosals and lotions. One application to exposed parts of the body lasts several hours.

PAINTING CEILINGS

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, are doing some cleaning and decorating in preparation for those winter months in which you and your family will be inside the home perhaps the ceilings need attention. Our specialist, Mrs. Bertha Bryson, urges you to give special attention to the painting of acoustical ceilings or walls. They owe their sound conditioning qualities to their porous surface and texture so its important to use thin paint and as little paint as possible in order to leave the holes open. Mrs. Bryson recommends removing the dust or dirt with a soft brush or by vacuuming the surface. Then apply a thin coat of good quality flat interior paint. Since ceilings are important as light reflecting surfaces, they should have dull surfaced coatings that reflect light evenly.

BACK TO SCHOOL

For the past few weeks the efforts of countless thousands of mothers have been focused on the youngsters' back to school wardrobe. The "Alpine" or "Bavarian" look is another way to be a fashion leader in the small smart set this fall. Pinafores, jumpers, and skirts with shoulder straps are excellent. These appear in solid velveteen, printed corduroy and cotton prints and are worn over embroidery trimmed blouses, and dresses — and often with matching bolero jackets.

Colors for the back to school wardrobe are definitely deepened this fall, light red as usual is a favorite, however, the gold and spice tones of last season are being replaced by such shades as midnight blue, wine, deep lilac, plum, olive, brown and even black.

RESIN COTTONS

Have you, Mrs. Homemaker, had trouble in sewing on some of your treated cottons. Have you tried to make a crease and it seemed impossible to do — or have you found it impossible to remove a wrinkle? If so here is the answer according to Dr. Glassock, of Auburn University. The equipment and materials needed are 10 per cent formic acid (available from drug stores) or white vinegar, steam iron and a medicine dropper. Now if you want to remove a wrinkle — set the iron on steam setting then steam the fabric while the fabric is still hot, apply the acid or vinegar to the wrinkle with a medicine dropper. Let dry a couple of minutes, then iron the area until it is dry. For the most stubborn wrinkles it may be necessary to repeat the process.

If you want to set a durable crease, press the pleat as it will look in the finished garment — using the medicine dropper, apply the formic acid or vinegar along the edge of the crease. Press the fabric until dry. The process must be repeated for each pleat. After the last crease has been set and with each pleat in place press the entire garment. The garment should be allowed to hang, with creases in place for 4 or 5 hours. After this Dr. Glassock stresses the importance of washing the acid out of the garment. Since the acid, if allowed to remain in the fabric, will completely remove the finish or may damage the fabric. Follow the manufacturer's instructions for laundering. Use a minimum amount of acid as an excess may damage the fabric. This can be accomplished when the medicine dropper is used. You may want to practice on a scrap of material before setting the crease in the garment. However, Dr. Glassock pointed out that no fabric was found to discolor during the experimenting in the laboratory.

A THOUGHT

Blessed is the person who is too busy to worry during the day and too tired to worry at night.

Homeowners Face Problem On Shelters

By DORTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) —One of the most puzzling questions facing homeowners is the problem of a family fallout shelter.

Government authorities strongly recommend family shelters, stressing that they offer "the best single non - military protective measure for the greatest number of people."

For any who have been hesitating on the basis of cost alone, a new do-it-yourself basement shelter, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense Mobilization, may settle the question.

Wonder Building Corp., Chicago, recently introduced a shelter kit for homeowners which the OCDM hailed as "a major breakthrough in making low-cost shelters readily available to every American family." National Director Leo A. Hoegh said the OCDM itself will use the shelter in a new emergency control station in Thomasville, Ga.

Family units are available for both basement and earth-covered installation (starting at $295) and are approved for FHA - insured mortgages.

HUT-LIKE

The kit for a do-it-yourself basement installation consists of preformed trussless arches of two-foot-wide zinc-coated steel which form an arch-shaped, hut - like structure of 8 by 8 by 6 feet inside dimensions, satisfactory for a family of six for a shelter period up to two weeks.

A man and a teen-age boy, equipped with household tools, should be able to assemble and install this shelter with eight hours work. Common nuts and bolts are the only fasteners necessary and no single component of the shelter weighs more than 40 pounds.

The inner steel arch is surrounded on all sides by a high steel bulkhead. Sand or gravel is put into the foot-wide space between the arch and the bulkhead and over the top of the structure. Entrance is through a baffle-like arrangement which also serves for storage.

FACTOR

Properly installed in the normal basement, the protection factor of the shelter is said to be 200, which means that radiation exposure will be reduced to 1-200th of that absorbed by an unprotected person at ground level. This should assure reduction of radiation dosage to acceptable levels for families not closer than five miles to an actual explosion.

If attack should come without any warning at all, it is believed persons outside the immediate blast area would have anywhere from 30 minutes to three hours to take shelter before radioactive fallout descended to earth. It is anticipated families would have to remain within a shelter for two or three days and then spend a major portion of their time there for a two-week period while the radioactive debris which makes fallout deadly was dissipated.

Radical Change In Coming Show Slated By Actor

Moving far outside the field of musical comedy, Kiley has been signed to the pivotal role of Sen. Brigham Anderson in the dramatization of "Advise and Consent," the best-selling Allen Drury novel.

The play is timed for the Presidential campaign and will be showing in New Haven, Washington and Philadelphia prior to its Broadway opening, Nov. 17.

Pick Best Play

NEW YORK (AP) — "Rhinoceros," the Eugene Ionesco play which will star Eli Wallach in its American production Nov. 9, has been selected by London critics as the year's best foreign play. Laurence Olivier heads the British cast.

First Gotham Showing Slated For Production

NEW YORK (AP) — Written in 1903 but unproduced until 1948, when it was enthusiastically received in Paris, "A Piece of Noon" will have its first New York showing in November.

Written by the late Paul Claudel, French ambassador to the U. S. from 1927 to 1933, the play's theme is described as "the search for satisfied passion within the limitations of love."

Claudel was reluctant to permit its production until late in his life because the work was based on incidents in his career.

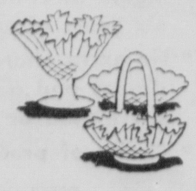

Mary Jordan and Sam Silverberg will present the four-character drama in an off - Broadway house, following the recommendation of the playwright who said such a play belonged in a small and intimate theater.

Theater Returns To Former Status

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooks Atkinson Theater, once the Mansfield and for 10 years a television studio, returns to legitimate theater life Sept. 12 with "Vintage '60."

New Automatic Eye Is Aid With Camera

A new automatic electric eye camera for pictures-in-a-minute is now available. Called Polaroid Electric Eye Camera, Model 900, it is distinguished by a small oval over its lens which houses its tiny heart, a micro-eye. This sensitive electronic see-eye, the size of a small pearl, guages the light both indoors and out then automatically selects the proper combination of both shutter speed and lens opening for instant pictures.

MICRO-EYE

The micro - eye, though 100 times smaller than normal photometer selenium cells, has greater sensitivity and represents a radical change in light meter design and operation. It is a photoconductive cell which changes its conductivity in response to light and is powered by a battery the size of a cough drop. The battery lasts for years and is replaced at a cost of one dollar.

The tiny micro-eye's response to light ranges from a dimly lit interior to a glaring snow scene. With ASA 3,000 speed film in the camera, it will set the exposure range to match from a wide open lens (f-8.8) and a speed of 1-12th second to a pinhole opening of f-80 and a shutter speed of 1-600 of a second.

As the scene before the camera brightens from the lowest light level, the micro-eye sets the shutter speed faster until it reaches snapshot speed of 1-50 second. Thereafter it starts to close the lens down extending the picture's depth of focus. After f-50 the shutter speeds start to get faster and the lens opening smaller until the maximum speed and smallest opening are reached. At this point everything is in focus from four feet to infinity.

DIAL

The Model 900 camera has a dial which registers the speed of film in the camera ranging from ASA 50 to 6000. This covers all films contemplated for picture-in-a-minute photography, including the color film which was publicly tested and will become available some time in 1961.

The camera has another setting just above the micro-eye. When it is set, the information also is relayed to the tiny brain. It is a button which is pushed to indicate whether the picture being taken is outdoors or indoors, under fluorescent lights, with daylight streaming in or at night. The Polaroid wink-light is recommended with ASA 300 speed film for automatic pictures at night indoors. This is a battery-powered repeating light which acts as a fill-in light in close-up night shots.

COMBINED

The camera has a combined viewfinder - rangefinder with an illuminated frame around the scene to indicate what will be in the picture. This frame changes size as the camera is focused because it automatically adjusts for parallax correction. Accurate focusing is achieved by bringing together twin images in a yellow triangular wedge in the viewfinder until they form one image. The focusing wheel is at thumb tip location as the hand holds the bottom of the camera. The forefinger is then in position to snap the picture.

TESTING: Our columnist tries the new electric-eye picture-in-a-minute camera. Note the small oval above the lens. It's the distinguishing feature which houses the tiny micro-eye.

Homeowners Face Problem On Shelters

By DORTHEA M. BROOKS

Government authorities strongly recommend family shelters, stressing that they offer "the best single non - military protective measure for the greatest number of people."

For any who have been hesitating on the basis of cost alone, a new do-it-yourself basement shelter, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense Mobilization, may settle the question.

Wonder Building Corp., Chicago, recently introduced a shelter kit for homeowners which the OCDM hailed as "a major breakthrough in making low-cost shelters readily available to every American family." National Director Leo A. Hoegh said the OCDM itself will use the shelter in a new emergency control station in Thomasville, Ga.

Family units are available for both basement and earth-covered installation (starting at $295) and are approved for FHA - insured mortgages.

HUT-LIKE

The kit for a do-it-yourself basement installation consists of preformed trussless arches of two-foot-wide zinc-coated steel which form an arch-shaped, hut - like structure of 8 by 8 by 6 feet inside dimensions, satisfactory for a family of six for a shelter period up to two weeks.

A man and a teen-age boy, equipped with household tools, should be able to assemble and install this shelter with eight hours work. Common nuts and bolts are the only fasteners necessary and no single component of the shelter weighs more than 40 pounds.

The inner steel arch is surrounded on all sides by a high steel bulkhead. Sand or gravel is put into the foot-wide space between the arch and the bulkhead and over the top of the structure. Entrance is through a baffle-like arrangement which also serves for storage.

FACTOR

Properly installed in the normal basement, the protection factor of the shelter is said to be 200, which means that radiation exposure will be reduced to 1-200th of that absorbed by an unprotected person at ground level. This should assure reduction of radiation dosage to acceptable levels for families not closer than five miles to an actual explosion.

If attack should come without any warning at all, it is believed persons outside the immediate blast area would have anywhere from 30 minutes to three hours to take shelter before radioactive fallout descended to earth. It is anticipated families would have to remain within a shelter for two or three days and then spend a major portion of their time there for a two-week period while the radioactive debris which makes fallout deadly was dissipated.

Radical Change In Coming Show Slated By Actor

Moving far outside the field of musical comedy, Kiley has been signed to the pivotal role of Sen. Brigham Anderson in the dramatization of "Advise and Consent," the best-selling Allen Drury novel.

The play is timed for the Presidential campaign and will be showing in New Haven, Washington and Philadelphia prior to its Broadway opening, Nov. 17.

Pick Best Play

NEW YORK (AP) — "Rhinoceros," the Eugene Ionesco play which will star Eli Wallach in its American production Nov. 9, has been selected by London critics as the year's best foreign play. Laurence Olivier heads the British cast.

SOUTHERN GARDNER

Plant Spring Annuals Now

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

September is the time to plant many of the spring annuals that make such a big show in southern gardens from February until June. These are usually called "hardy" annuals because they will come up from fall sown seeds and withstand the winter. During the warmer days, they grow and make strong plants to flower lustily in the spring.

The trick with hardy annuals is to plant them soon enough in the fall so that they will sprout and get under way before the coldest winter weather slows them down. The young plants of larkspur and California poppies have such beautiful foliage that they are beautiful all through the winter even if they never had a flower. If you fail to get the seeds of these plants in the ground before October, you may as well wait and plant them in November or December when they will just lie dormant until warm weather comes around. The plants are never large from winter sown seeds because they have not had time to develop, and the spring show will not usually be very good.

WHOLE GARDEN

The many fine kinds of California poppies and the numerous named varieties of larkspur offered to us in seed catalogues these days can provide a whole garden in themselves. Chinese forget - me - nots from early fall sown seeds make the best show they are capable of in the garden though we are always glad to have their clear blue from smaller plants at other times of the year.

Baby - blue - eyes is a rather weak name for a splendid California annual. In the catalogues, it is listed under nemophila. Like so many California plants, it will burn up in our heat if it is not planted in the fall to bloom in early spring. After that, it burns up, but the clear blue flowers are worth having with the other spring flowers.

BIG RESULTS

Alyssum, collinsia, cornflowers, lavatera, nigella, silene pendula, silene armeria (two "catch-flys") and sweet sultans are still more annuals that give big results from fall - sown seeds. Nigella is the old-fashioned "love-in-a-mist," the flowers of which are bluer than corn flowers. The gossamer-like maze of fine foliage lightens the effects of spring flower gardens with porcelain like tulips and heavy hyacinths.

Shirley poppies are also light in their effect in the spring garden. They come in many named varieties, and their foliage is good to look at in fall and late winter, too. Almost all of the winter or "hardy" annuals come back, year after year, from seed, once you get them started in a garden. It pays to buy the seeds of named varieties, just the same, because seedlings have a way of reverting to too many purple pink and other not-too-desirable colors.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Study Club Is Exhibitor

By MARY JARDINE

By GLADYS M. KULCKE
Guest Writer

Mrs. L. E. Dage made an asymmetrical triangle arrangement of zinnias, celosus, castor bean stalks, barberry and caladium leaves. In a black boat shaped, footed container, placed on a black base. Rose colored zinnias placed in the focal area were surrounded by rose-pink blotched leaves of Chenille-plant (Acalupha). Rose - red celosia filled in and placed above the zinnias. Red stalks of castor beans formed the vertical line and the barberry branches extended over one side of the container. Variegated green and white caladium leaves were placed in the back for background and to give depth to the design.

MODERN

Mrs. Dage's second arrangement was of a modern Japanese design. She used branches of short - leaf pine to represent, heaven, man and earth placements. Small yellow zinnia blossoms followed these three lines. This design was placed in a flat, tan container.

Mrs. F. E. Patterson introduced the early autumn colors with her fan - shaped design. She chose a small round, flat, brown and tan pottery container. Above this tan tinted zinnias and golden marigolds fanned out and up against the fan shaped placement of autumn colored huckleberry branches. An interesting combination of material and colors suitable for the paneled room.

Mrs. A. B. Smith created "A Thing of Beauty" for the dinner table. She made her grey compote container of an old lamp stand and a candy bowl. This free - standing modified Hogarth curve was a transition of the seasons. Pink roses placed in the focal area on one side of the design represented the spring, pink zinnias on the other side suggest summer, purple false - dragonheads (Physostegia) for autumn and red barberry branches represented winter. The barberry branches carried the line of this line - mass design. Physostegia spikes emphasized the line and were used as a filler, while pink blotched leaves of acalypha were placed to break the line of the container. Beautiful color combination of pink, purple and red. Mrs. A. B. Smith also entered an arrangement of a crescent form in a flat, free - form, tan pottery container. Dried branches of the pearl bush and yucca formed the crescent design. This design was filled in with branches of Japanese yew and orange zinnias placed in the focal area, using the smaller blossoms for transition.

Mrs. Bob Sanders and Mrs. Mary Martin chose a flat bowl of Hammett original for their arrangement. They used aspidistra to create a windblown aspidistra "tree" in a free interpretation of Japanese principles. Five red zinnias followed the vertical line of the "tree." The Japanese do not sanction the use of flowers with aspidistra. The combination is nevertheless effective for the Occidental home.

In the Garden Center we have a number of beautiful weekly engagement calendars by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, published exclusively for member clubs. The full-page photographs of original flower arrangements submitted by talented garden club members from all over the country — one for each week of the year. Each calendar is in a distinctive gift box.

Select Bulbs To Replant

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you have not lifted and replanted your Easter lily bulbs, do so as soon as possible. Select bulbs that are free from insects and disease.

Make your plans for daffodils now. October is time to plant them. It's time to order now so that you will be assured of having the bulbs by October planting date.

Feed your chrysanthemums with a complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8. Use about four pounds of fertilizer per 100 feet of row. To keep down leaf diseases, keep water off the leaves. For large flower heads, disbud all buds that appear except the center bud of each cluster.

Science has found a way to help you enjoy your garden. You can eat outdoors without having to fight mosquitoes, gnats and other annoying insects. Delphene or mela delphene is the new discovery that can make a world of difference in your outdoor living. It is available in Aerosals and lotions. One application to exposed parts of the body lasts several hours.

PAINTING CEILINGS

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, are doing some cleaning and decorating in preparation for those winter months in which you and your family will be inside the home perhaps the ceilings need attention. Our specialist, Mrs. Bertha Bryson, urges you to give special attention to the painting of acoustical ceilings or walls. They owe their sound conditioning qualities to their porous surface and texture so its important to use thin paint and as little paint as possible in order to leave the holes open. Mrs. Bryson recommends removing the dust or dirt with a soft brush or by vacuuming the surface. Then apply a thin coat of good quality flat interior paint. Since ceilings are important as light reflecting surfaces, they should have dull surfaced coatings that reflect light evenly.

BACK TO SCHOOL

For the past few weeks the efforts of countless thousands of mothers have been focused on the youngsters' back to school wardrobe. The "Alpine" or "Bavarian" look is another way to be a fashion leader in the small smart set this fall. Pinafores, jumpers, and skirts with shoulder straps are excellent. These appear in solid velveteen, printed corduroy and cotton prints and are worn over embroidery trimmed blouses, and dresses — and often with matching bolero jackets.

Colors for the back to school wardrobe are definitely deepened this fall, light red as usual is a favorite, however, the gold and spice tones of last season are being replaced by such shades as midnight blue, wine, deep lilac, plum, olive, brown and even black.

RESIN COTTONS

Have you, Mrs. Homemaker, had trouble in sewing on some of your treated cottons. Have you tried to make a crease and it seemed impossible to do — or have you found it impossible to remove a wrinkle? If so here is the answer according to Dr. Glassock, of Auburn University. The equipment and materials needed are 10 per cent formic acid (available from drug stores) or white vinegar, steam iron and a medicine dropper. Now if you want to remove a wrinkle — set the iron on steam setting then steam the fabric while the fabric is still hot, apply the acid or vinegar to the wrinkle with a medicine dropper. Let dry a couple of minutes, then iron the area until it is dry. For the most stubborn wrinkles it may be necessary to repeat the process.

If you want to set a durable crease, press the pleat as it will look in the finished garment — using the medicine dropper, apply the formic acid or vinegar along the edge of the crease. Press the fabric until dry. The process must be repeated for each pleat. After the last crease has been set and with each pleat in place press the entire garment. The garment should be allowed to hang, with creases in place for 4 or 5 hours. After this Dr. Glassock stresses the importance of washing the acid out of the garment. Since the acid, if allowed to remain in the fabric, will completely remove the finish or may damage the fabric. Follow the manufacturer's instructions for laundering. Use a minimum amount of acid as an excess may damage the fabric. This can be accomplished when the medicine dropper is used. You may want to practice on a scrap of material before setting the crease in the garment. However, Dr. Glassock pointed out that no fabric was found to discolor during the experimenting in the laboratory.

First Gotham Showing Slated For Production

NEW YORK (AP) — Written in 1903 but unproduced until 1948, when it was enthusiastically received in Paris, "A Piece of Noon" will have its first New York showing in November.

Written by the late Paul Claudel, French ambassador to the U. S. from 1927 to 1933, the play's theme is described as "the search for satisfied passion within the limitations of love."

Claudel was reluctant to permit its production until late in his life because the work was based on incidents in his career.

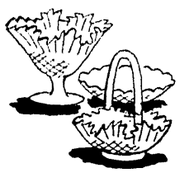

Mary Jordan and Sam Silverberg will present the four-character drama in an off - Broadway house, following the recommendation of the playwright who said such a play belonged in a small and intimate theater.

Theater Returns To Former Status

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooks Atkinson Theater, once the Mansfield and for 10 years a television studio, returns to legitimate theater life Sept. 12 with "Vintage '60."

Cast members of the revue have arrived from Hollywood for pre-opening work.

LATE RECORDS REVEAL

Voice Of Lanza Glorious To End

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

When the late Mario Lanza was feeling blue or recuperating from poor reviews, he used to lock himself in a hotel room and play Caruso records for hours on end.

Intimates who waited anxiously outside the door could hear him sob and moan and curse the fate that had kept him from being as great as his boyhood idol. Tears streaming down his face, he would finally emerge refreshed and ready for work, as if this solitary communion with the great Italian tenor had given him the will to go on.

TALENT

Lanza, in the opinion of many critics, may have once had the talent to become another Caruso but lack of training and inability to settle down to serious work kept him from realizing the goals that caused him to weep.

Despite this failing, he did have a magnificent voice and did manage to become, at the record counter anyway, the most popular tenor of his day.

His recording of Sigmund Romberg's "The Student Prince" became a minor classic and remains to this day one of the best selling albums of all time.

His "Lanza Sings Caruso" RCA Victor) is still in the top 10 in both monaural and stereo sales and is the top selling classical album in department stores and supermarkets.

A few months before he died, Lanza recorded Romberg's "The Desert Song," a musical more suited to baritones than tenors, although it contains some of the most thrilling duets ever written for the American stage.

Issued posthumously by RCA Victor, the album disproves the theory that Lanza had all but lost his voice in the two or three years preceding his death. The power, the surge and the old time glory of his golden voice are still there, but so are the stridency, the sudden tightening up on high notes and the pushing too hard that showed up even in his best passages.

STUPENDOUS

The overall effect is still stupendous, the way an athletic feat is stupendous; and the memorable moments, as in the "Riff Song" and "One Alone," are indeed memorable. Lanza is far more suited to the charming confections of Romberg than to the Verdi works with which Caruso made his name. Had he wanted to, he could have made an immmortal name for himself in musical comedy. All it would have taken would have been the will power to cast off his Caruso - fixation and accept himself for what he was: a gifted, inspired, thrilling singer of light songs.

'Ice Palace' Now Showing At Paramount

"Ice Palace" is Warner Bros.' big scale Technicolor film version of Edna Ferber's novel about the taming of Alaska and the struggle of this great northern wilderness to become American's 49th state. Following its serialization in the Ladies Home Journal, the book stayed on the best - seller lists for 22 weeks and thus served to further enhance Miss Ferber's reputation as the world's most popular American woman novelist.

As was the case for Miss Ferber's "Giant," the studio has spared no expenses to make "Ice Palace," which opens today at the Paramount Theatre, a powerful, exciting and authentic saga of a young country coming of age. What "Giant" did for Texas, "Ice Palace" does for Alaska.

Exceptional care was exerted to assure the right castings for the Ferber characters. The story of the march to statehood by the last great American frontier is told in the half - century - long struggle of two Titans. The Titans are Richard Burton, who, as Zeb "Czar" Kennedy, wants to take everything from the country and give nothing, and Robert Ryan as Thor Storm, of Norwegian heritage, whose love for Alaska rouses him to battle for the statehood its people want.

Carolyn Jones, Martha Hyer and Jim Backus also are starred in a cast which includes Ray Danton and two lovely newcomers, Diane McBain and Shirley Knight. Of unusual interest is the casting of the 19 - year - old Eskimo beauty, Dorcas Brower, from Point Barrow in the Arctic, in the role of Robert Ryan's young native wife.

To insure authenticity of background, the company spent four weeks in Alaska filming scenes against its primitive grandeur of glaciers, mountains and icefields, its salmon - fishing, its canneries and the frontier - faceted cities of Fairbanks and Juneau and the small fishing community of Petersburg on Mitkof Island in the Inland Passage, largely inhabited by Norwegians.

FIRST

"Ice Palace" is the first bigbudget film to be made by a major studio in wide screen and Technicolor on location in the 49th state. Many of the story's characters are identifiable to Alaskans, even though their names have been changed.

Native Alaskans have expressed enthusiasm over the idea of having their land pictured on the screen as it really is — not just as a country of igloos, Eskimos and ice, although there are some magnificent snow scenes in the film. The story of the territory's struggle to gain statehood has been truly told, they feel. The screenplay covers a 40 - year span (1920-1960) in the growth of America's most northern state.

To supplement location scenes, two of the largest exterior sets ever built on a studio sound stage were constructed on Warner Bros.' largest stage to represent a vast expanse of Arctic snow country and an Eskimo village in the Arctic. Designed by the film's art director, Malcolm Bert, they were amazingly realistic down to such fine details as bear tracks in the snow, glistening ice packs, Eskimo huts (no igloos) and endless rows of frozen fish. They were also inhabited by caribou, reindeer, Kodiak bears and howling huskies, as well as actors, during the filming.

SAYS PRODUCER

Statistics Plague Movies, Baseball

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Kirk Douglas believes the movies and baseball are both plagued by too many statistics.

"I love them both," says Douglas, head of Bryna Productions, in explaining why he didn't want to talk about three movies which have a cash outlay of $25 million.

"You listen to a ball game on the radio and the score is tied with the bases loaded. Breathlessly the announcer informs you that the next batter is hitting .312 against right - handed pitching, .344 against southpaws and has a lifetime .420 average against this particular pitcher.

"So what happens? He strikes out."

ELEMENTS

Douglas believes that moviemakers have much the same preoccupation with figures.

"What people forget," says Douglas, "is that you can have the biggest budget, the longest schedule, the costliest sets—and still have a dull movie."

Douglas is star and producer of the costliest movie ever made in Hollywood—the $12 million "Spartacus." The cast alone—Sir Laurence Olivier, Jean Simmons, Charles Laughton, Peter Ustinov, John Gavin and Tony Curtis—cost Douglas $2 million.

"If the picture is good, it's worth $12 million. If not, it's not worth $12. Regardless, we don't plan to advertise the cost. And for a good reason.

"I never heard anyone ask a theater manager what time the budget went on."

Following "Spartacus," Douglas made a $3 million Western "Day of the Gun" with Rock Hudson. The two will team again in "Montezuma," budgeted now at $10 million.

Curtain Call

By SANDRA JOHNSON

Everything is set for the 1960-61 season of the Monroe Little theatre. Our new director has arrived in town. He and his wife, Pat, are residing at 202½ Glenmar. Richard Clark is a native of Fort Worth, Texas. He received his bachelor of arts degree with a major in speech and drama from Texas Western University. Last winter he received his master of fine arts with a major in dramatic production from Texas University. His wife, Pat, has a similar background in education and theatre experience. A native of Houston, she received her B A degree in 1958 with a major in speech and drama. She is also listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

We're happy to announce there will be an open house, Sunday, September 18, from 4 until 6 p.m. to introduce Richard and Pat to the people of Monroe. The open house will be held in the home of Mrs. Jackie Woods on Deborah Drive, in Monroe. Come by and have refreshments with us and meet Richard and Pat.

The Membership Drive for the 1960 - 61 season will be starting tomorrow. Big things have been planned for you this season . . . the biggest and most exciting in the history of our theatre. Contact any Little Theatre boardmember or worker to purchase a ticket. If out of town send a check in care of the Little Theatre of Monroe, La.

Many questions have been asked concerning the new playhouse on Lamy Lane. It is presently under construction, but due to some unforeseen delays, at least the first two productions of the season will be held in the Selman Field Theatre. We hope to occupy the new playhouse shortly after the first of the year. We'll keep you informed from time to time about it's progress.

Speaking of productions, and theatres . . . tryouts for the first play of the season will be held Monday and Tuesday nights at 7:30 p.m. in the Selman Field theatre. That's Monday and Tuesday nights . . September 12th and 13th. The first play of the season will be "Seven Year Itch," by George Axelrod. The cast calls for three male parts, five women and one young boy. The young boy should be between the ages of 6 to 10.

Did you know "Seven Year Itch" was the 7th longest running production in the history of Broadway? I didn't! Tom Ewell and Vanessa Brown carried the lead roles in the stage version, and in the movie, Tom Ewell again did the honors as male lead with Marilyn Monroe as his leading lady.

Don't forget those tryouts for "Seven Year Itch." Monday and

AT JIM TODAY

'Elmer Gantry' Is Adult Picture

Although 33 years have elapsed since the first publication of Sinclair Lewis' "Elmer Gantry," Richard Brooks, Bernard Smith, and Burt Lancaster are bringing it to the screen because they believe it still contains a pertinent and dramatic statement about American society. The picture will open today at the Jim Theatre through United Artists release.

Director Brooks, who wrote the screenplay, knew Sinclair Lewis well and they had discussed the cinematic possibilities of "Elmer Gantry" many times. Lewis gave Brooks one pertinent piece of advice.

REVIEWS

"Read the original book reviews on "Gantry," he urged. "Don't make the same mistakes I did. Benefit from hindsight."

The concentration of events in the film centers around the portion of the novel dealing with the world of revival meetings and the rise of one particularly potent evangelist, Elmer Gantry. Brooks re-wrote his script eight times before he felt he had captured the essence of Gantry as Lewis had originally conceived him.

To translate the novel to the screen an all - star cast was assembled headed by Lancaster in the title role and Jean Simmons as Sister Sharon Falconer. Heading the supporting cast are Dean Jagger, Arthur Kennedy, Shirley Jones and Patti Page.

AUTHENTIC

To recreate the authentic period color of the story, sets were constructed on sound stages at the studio or adapted from various 1920 vintage streets standing on the backlots of other studios. The major exception was the great tabernacle which is the scene of the disaster that climaxes "Elmer Gantry." For these scenes, the company travelled to Santa Monica, California, where the back of a skating rink on an old beach pier was redecorated to "play the part" of the "Waters of the Jordan Tabernacle." The fire which consumes the tabernacle was the largest indoor blaze ever ignited for a film and required the careful scrutiny of the Fire Department for two weeks.

Because of its controversial nature, all scenes except the fire were filmed in secrecy.

Tyrone Guthrie Takes Different View On Works

NEW YORK (AP) — Director Tyrone Guthrie confesses that in the past Gilbert and Sullivan operattas have not been one of his major enthusiasms.

What's more, the first G. & S. operetta he ever saw was the one he directed at the Stratford, Ont., Shakespeare Festival. It was "H.M.S. Pinafore."

That experience behind him, Guthrie says he now regards the works of Gilbert and Sullivan as classics deserving of reinterpretation. He intends to direct more of them.

Guthrie presently is rehearsing a group of 10 Canadians and 10 American for a five-week production of "Pinafore" at the off-Broadway Phoenix Theater.

Shubert Shifts Affiliation With Agent Group

NEW YORK (AP) — J. J. Shubert once was a bitter foe of the Assn. of Theatrical Press Agents and Managers. The head of a chain of theaters here and elsewhere in the nation, Shubert was strongly hostile to the union in its formative years.

But time heals, etc., etc., and now Mr. Shubert is a member of the union himself — an honorary one.

A gold lifetime membership card was presented him the other day.

LATE RECORDS REVEAL

Voice Of Lanza Glorious To End

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

When the late Mario Lanza was feeling blue or recuperating from poor reviews, he used to lock himself in a hotel room and play Caruso records for hours on end.

Intimates who waited anxiously outside the door could hear him sob and moan and curse the fate that had kept him from being as great as his boyhood idol. Tears streaming down his face, he would finally emerge refreshed and ready for work, as if this solitary communion with the great Italian tenor had given him the will to go on.

TALENT

Lanza, in the opinion of many critics, may have once had the talent to become another Caruso but lack of training and inability to settle down to serious work kept him from realizing the goals that caused him to weep.

Despite this failing, he did have a magnificent voice and did manage to become, at the record counter anyway, the most popular tenor of his day.

His recording of Sigmund Romberg's "The Student Prince" became a minor classic and remains to this day one of the best selling albums of all time.

His "Lanza Sings Caruso" RCA Victor) is still in the top 10 in both monaural and stereo sales and is the top selling classical album in department stores and supermarkets.

A few months before he died, Lanza recorded Romberg's "The Desert Song," a musical more suited to baritones than tenors, although it contains some of the most thrilling duets ever written for the American stage.

Issued posthumously by RCA Victor, the album disproves the theory that Lanza had all but lost his voice in the two or three years preceding his death. The power, the surge and the old time glory of his golden voice are still there, but so are the stridency, the sudden tightening up on high notes and the pushing too hard that showed up even in his best passages.

STUPENDOUS

The overall effect is still stupendous, the way an athletic feat is stupendous; and the memorable moments, as in the "Riff Song" and "One Alone," are indeed memorable. Lanza is far more suited to the charming confections of Romberg than to the Verdi works with which Caruso made his name. Had he wanted to, he could have made an immmortal name for himself in musical comedy. All it would have taken would have been the will power to cast off his Caruso - fixation and accept himself for what he was: a gifted, inspired, thrilling singer of light songs.

Curtain Call

By SANDRA JOHNSON

Everything is set for the 1960-61 season of the Monroe Little theatre. Our new director has arrived in town. He and his wife, Pat, are residing at 202½ Glenmar. Richard Clark is a native of Fort Worth, Texas. He received his bachelor of arts degree with a major in speech and drama from Texas Western University. Last winter he received his master of fine arts with a major in dramatic production from Texas University. His wife, Pat, has a similar background in education and theatre experience. A native of Houston, she received her B A degree in 1958 with a major in speech and drama. She is also listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

We're happy to announce there will be an open house, Sunday, September 18, from 4 until 6 p.m. to introduce Richard and Pat to the people of Monroe. The open house will be held in the home of Mrs. Jackie Woods on Deborah Drive, in Monroe. Come by and have refreshments with us and meet Richard and Pat.

The Membership Drive for the 1960 - 61 season will be starting tomorrow. Big things have been planned for you this season . . . the biggest and most exciting in the history of our theatre. Contact any Little Theatre boardmember or worker to purchase a ticket. If out of town send a check in care of the Little Theatre of Monroe, La.

Many questions have been asked concerning the new playhouse on Lamy Lane. It is presently under construction, but due to some unforeseen delays, at least the first two productions of the season will be held in the Selman Field Theatre. We hope to occupy the new playhouse shortly after the first of the year. We'll keep you informed from time to time about it's progress.

Speaking of productions, and theatres . . . tryouts for the first play of the season will be held Monday and Tuesday nights at 7:30 p.m. in the Selman Field theatre. That's Monday and Tuesday nights . . September 12th and 13th. The first play of the season will be "Seven Year Itch," by George Axelrod. The cast calls for three male parts, five women and one young boy. The young boy should be between the ages of 6 to 10.

Did you know "Seven Year Itch" was the 7th longest running production in the history of Broadway? I didn't! Tom Ewell and Vanessa Brown carried the lead roles in the stage version, and in the movie, Tom Ewell again did the honors as male lead with Marilyn Monroe as his leading lady.

Don't forget those tryouts for "Seven Year Itch." Monday and Tuesday night, 7:30 p.m. at the Selman Field Theatre. If you should have any questions regarding the play or the parts, call Richard at FA 5-8710. He'll be glad to talk to you.

See you at tryouts!

'Ice Palace' Now Showing At Paramount

"Ice Palace" is Warner Bros.' big scale Technicolor film version of Edna Ferber's novel about the taming of Alaska and the struggle of this great northern wilderness to become America's 49th state. Following its serialization in the Ladies Home Journal, the book stayed on the best - seller lists for 22 weeks and thus served to further enhance Miss Ferber's reputation as the world's most popular American woman novelist.

As was the case for Miss Ferber's "Giant," the studio has spared no expenses to make "Ice Palace," which opens today at the Paramount Theatre, a powerful, exciting and authentic saga of a young country coming of age. What "Giant" did for Texas, "Ice Palace" does for Alaska.

Exceptional care was exerted to assure the right castings for the Ferber characters. The story of the march to statehood by the last great American frontier is told in the half - century - long struggle of two Titans. The Titans are Richard Burton, who, as Zeb "Czar" Kennedy, wants to take everything from the country and give nothing, and Robert Ryan as Thor Storm, of Norwegian heritage, whose love for Alaska rouses him to battle for the statehood its people want.

Carolyn Jones, Martha Hyer and Jim Backus also are starred in a cast which includes Ray Danton and two lovely newcomers, Diane McBain and Shirley Knight. Of unusual interest is the casting of the 19 - year - old Eskimo beauty, Dorcas Brower, from Point Barrow in the Arctic, in the role of Robert Ryan's young native wife.

To insure authenticity of background, the company spent four weeks in Alaska filming scenes against its primitive grandeur of glaciers, mountains and icefields, its salmon - fishing, its canneries and the frontier - faceted cities of Fairbanks and Juneau and the small fishing community of Petersburg on Mitkof Island in the Inland Passage, largely inhabited by Norwegians.

FIRST

"Ice Palace" is the first big-budget film to be made by a major studio in wide screen and Technicolor on location in the 49th state. Many of the story's characters are identifiable to Alaskans, even though their names have been changed.

Native Alaskans have expressed enthusiasm over the idea of having their land pictured on the screen as it really is — not just as a country of igloos, Eskimos and ice, although there are some magnificent snow scenes in the film. The story of the territory's struggle to gain statehood has been truly told, they feel. The screenplay covers a 40 - year span (1920-1960) in the growth of America's most northern state.

To supplement location scenes, two of the largest exterior sets ever built on a studio sound stage were constructed on Warner Bros.' largest stage to represent a vast expanse of Arctic snow country and an Eskimo village in the Arctic. Designed by the film's art director, Malcolm Bert, they were amazingly realistic down to such fine details as bear tracks in the snow, glistening ice packs, Eskimo huts (no igloos) and endless rows of frozen fish. They were also inhabited by caribou, reindeer, Kodiak bears and howling huskies, as well as actors, during the filming.

SAYS PRODUCER

Statistics Plague Movies, Baseball

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Kirk Douglas believes the movies and baseball are both plagued by too many statistics.

"I love them both," says Douglas, head of Bryna Productions, in explaining why he didn't want to talk about three movies which have a cash outlay of $25 million.

"You listen to a ball game on the radio and the score is tied with the bases loaded. Breathlessly the announcer informs you that the next batter is hitting .312 against right - handed pitching, .344 against southpaws and has a lifetime .420 average against this particular pitcher.

"So what happens? He strikes out."

ELEMENTS

Douglas believes that movie-makers have much the same preoccupation with figures.

"What people forget," says Douglas, "is that you can have the biggest budget, the longest schedule, the costliest sets—and still have a dull movie."

Douglas is star and producer of the costliest movie ever made in Hollywood—the $12 million "Spartacus." The cast alone—Sir Laurence Olivier, Jean Simmons, Charles Laughton, Peter Ustinov, John Gavin and Tony Curtis—cost Douglas $2 million.

"If the picture is good, it's worth $12 million. If not, it's not worth $12. Regardless, we don't plan to advertise the cost. And for a good reason.

"I never heard anyone ask a theater manager what time the budget went on."

Following "Spartacus," Douglas made a $3 million Western "Day of the Gun" with Rock Hudson. The two will team again in "Montezuma," budgeted now at $10 million.

AT JIM TODAY

'Elmer Gantry' Is Adult Picture

Although 33 years have elapsed since the first publication of Sinclair Lewis' "Elmer Gantry," Richard Brooks, Bernard Smith, and Burt Lancaster are bringing it to the screen because they believe it still contains a pertinent and dramatic statement about American society. The picture will open today at the Jim Theatre through United Artists release.

Director Brooks, who wrote the screenplay, knew Sinclair Lewis well and they had discussed the cinematic possibilities of "Elmer Gantry" many times. Lewis gave Brooks one pertinent piece of advice.

REVIEWS

"Read the original book reviews on "Gantry," he urged. "Don't make the same mistakes I did. Benefit from hindsight."

The concentration of events in the film centers around the portion of the novel dealing with the world of revival meetings and the rise of one particularly potent evangelist, Elmer Gantry. Brooks re-wrote his script eight times before he felt he had captured the essence of Gantry as Lewis had originally conceived him.

To translate the novel to the screen an all - star cast was assembled headed by Lancaster in the title role and Jean Simmons as Sister Sharon Falconer. Heading the supporting cast are Dean Jagger, Arthur Kennedy, Shirley Jones and Patti Page.

AUTHENTIC

To recreate the authentic period color of the story, sets were constructed on sound stages at the studio or adapted from various 1920 vintage streets standing on the backlots of other studios. The major exception was the great tabernacle which is the scene of the disaster that climaxes "Elmer Gantry." For these scenes, the company travelled to Santa Monica, California, where the back of a skating rink on an old beach pier was redecorated to "play the part" of the "Waters of the Jordan Tabernacle." The fire which consumes the tabernacle was the largest indoor blaze ever ignited for a film and required the careful scrutiny of the Fire Department for two weeks.

Because of its controversial nature, all scenes except the fire were filmed in secrecy.

Tyrone Guthrie Takes Different View On Works

NEW YORK (AP) — Director Tyrone Guthrie confesses that in the past Gilbert and Sullivan operattas have not been one of his major enthusiasms.

What's more, the first G. & S. operetta he ever saw was the one he directed at the Stratford, Ont., Shakespeare Festival. It was "H.M.S. Pinafore."

That experience behind him, Guthrie says he now regards the works of Gilbert and Sullivan as classics deserving of reinterpretation. He intends to direct more of them.

Guthrie presently is rehearsing a group of 10 Canadians and 10 American for a five-week production of "Pinafore" at the off-Broadway Phoenix Theater.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Major Novel By Sinclair Released

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

"Anna Teller" is the title of a major novel by Jo Sinclair, which has just been released this week. It is a book about people, but it also illuminates some of the most important aspects of our century. It is the story of a seventy - four year old Hungarian woman, who came to America after the recent Revolution and of her impact on all whom she met. This rich novel is invested with the full wieght of a searching, sensitive and passionate mind deeply concerned with the world we live in and the way we live in it. This is a book which should be extremely popular. Grace Metalious, author of "Peyton Place" has written another novel called "The Tight White Collar." Her impact is wearing off and this will probably not have any more success than "return to Peyton Place Did."

The field of non - fiction offers some interesting titles this week. Mora Ferrater is the author of "Philosophy Today" a book which examines the teachings of the modern philosophers. "The Operators" by Frank Gibney" is an interesting book dealing with the way in which modern confidence men operate and how they swindle large numbers of the public. Those who work with elderly people or who have one in their homes will be interested in a book called "The Care of the Geriatric Patient" written by E. V. Cowdry. More and more is being written on this subject, which is a very timely one as our population grows older.

Books of flower arrangement are always extremely popular and a new one is eagerly received. The latest book in this category is called "Floral Decorations for Your Church" and the author is Fern Bowers Hunt. If your are one of the many people who perform this service for your church, you would like to use this book. Of great interest to businessmen is "Profitable Newspaper Advertising" by Edmund C. Arnold. It is a well - written book and contains a great deal of worthwhile information. It would be used also by everyone in the advertising business. The outstanding American archtiect of our times was Frank Lloyd Wright, and a new account of his work is always eagerly received. The latest book on the subject was written by Vincent J. Scully and is an unusually fine presentation of Mr. Wright's philosophy and career. An interesting little book for those planning a trip to New York or New England is called the "Mobile Travel Guide". It lists places to sleep, eat and things to see. A perfectly beautiful new book is called "Gastronomic Tour de France". It's author is Jean Conil. This is a combination travel and cook book and it should appeal to all those who like new and delicious dishes, especially those originated in France.

There is no doubt that the Wild West has a great appeal to all Americans. "Frontier Days, Sketches of Life in the Old West" by Edward Everett Dale is a book which will appeal to many readers. One of the most controversial figures of World War I and it's aftermath is General Billy Mitchell. He has now written an account of his experiences in that war, which is called "Memoirs of World War I". It is a very exciting and interesting book and will appeal especially to men.

Library Board Praises Work Of Mrs. McHenry

The Ouachita Parish library board has adopted a resolution praising the "many virtues, public and private" of the late Mrs. Irma Russ McHenry who served as a member of the board for a number of years prior to her death.

She succumbed here recently.

The resolution, passed as a "token of honor," was sent to the family of Mrs. McHenry.

The resolution praised her work as a member of the board and stated the board's grief over her loss.

Solons Say Castro Rise Due To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Democratic senators said Saturday "unknown policy planners" in the State Department cleared the way for assumption of power in Cuba by the Fidel Castro regime. They said this handed the island over to the Communists.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter issued a statement calling the allegations "shocking and unfounded." He described as incorrect or misleading the statements by Sens. James O. Eastland of Mississippi and Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut.

SENIOR OFFICIALS

Herter said senior officials of the department have always been given close attention to relations with Cuba, and "This has been especially true during the past few years under both Secretary (John Foster) Dulles. . . and myself." Dulles was secretary when Castro seized power in Cuba: Herter was undersecretary.

Earl E. T. Smith and Arthur Gardner, former ambassadors to Cuba, told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee last month that State Department policies, and some U.S. newspapers, misguided U.S. public opinion about the situation preceding Castro's rise to power in Cuba.

Their testimony was made public Saturday by the subcommittee. Eastland and Dodd commented on it in a joint statement.

The two senators said Cuba, "was handed to Castro and the Communists by a combination of Americans in the same way that China was handed to the Communists." They said unknown planners "worked with pro-Castro elements in the American press to make Castro appear as Robin Hood."

Smith testified he spent more than 2½ hours with former Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista on Dec. 17, 1958—14 days before the strong man fled Cuba—at State Department instructions to tell Batista he should step aside.

The senators said the testimony of the two former ambassadors—both political appointees of President Eisenhower — demonstrate that American foreign policy is not made by top officials, but by "unknown policy planners and memo makers who fill the secretary's 'in' basket."

The two senators said lower-level officials "misguided American opinion" with the aid of the U.S. press. They singled out for particular mention Herbert L. Matthews of the New York Times. Mathews interviewed Castro when the bearded leftist was a revolutionary in the hills. The senators, and the two ambassadors, said Matthews influenced U.S. public opinion and state department officials in favor of Castro.

Gardner testified that Castro's background as "a professional rabble-rouser" was well known before he came to power in January 1959.

Efforts to reach Matthews for comment were not immediately successful.

Weapon-Carrying Negroes Arrested

Two Negro men were arrested by Monroe officers early yesterday morning and charged with the possession of dangerous weapons.

Leon Calloway, 62, 4003 Halsell St., Monroe and Odis John Watson, 22, 3103 Gayton St., Monroe were carrying knives when apprehended, police said.

Japanese View Castro

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese viewers are to get a look at the Cuba Prime Minister Fidel Castro wants the world to see. An hour-long Cuban government film entitled "Birth of Cuba" will be presented Sept. 25 on TV in a series introducing Latin American countries to Japan.

Buys Groceries With Hot Checks And Goes To Jail

A car stuffed with several hundred dollars worth of groceries and the suspicions of a West Monroe grocery store manager yesterday brought about the arrest of a 37-year-old Florida man charged with theft by check.

William H. Johnston was picked up by West Monroe officers after cashing two worthless checks at grocery stores there and one in Monroe, authorities said.

According to police, Johnston apparently traveled from town to town cashing large checks for small quantities of groceries.

In West Monroe he gave checks of $35 and $40 while making purchases of $3 and $4, police said.

Officers said Johnston walked into a West Monroe grocery and asked if he could cash a check. He gave his address as Jackson Street in Monroe, and said he needed a few groceries.

After the check was cashed, the store manager became suspicious, called the police and asked them to check up on the man. Officers did, and found the car load of groceries.

When apprehended, officers said Johnston had sacks of groceries stacked in the rear seat and on the back floor of his car.

He also had sacks in the front seat. Groceries ranging from canned goods to washing powder were stuffed in the trunk of the auto.

"I think we could be safe in saying there are several hundred dollars worth of groceries in that car," one policeman said.

Johnston was being questioned by West Monroe authorities late last night. He will probably be transferred to the Ouachita Parish jail early today, police said.

Island Chain Losses High From Donna

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Sheriff John Spottswood of Monroe County toured the island chain Saturday to survey the damage caused by hurricane Donna. Here is his report:

"I made an all-day check by Navy helicopter of the most seriously affected 90 miles of the Florida Keys from Tavernier to Key West. There were unaccountable millions of dollars in property damage;

Twenty, thirty, forty — who knows?

But the most amazing thing is how the people came through physically. So far we have counted two deaths, but of course our check isn't anywhere near complete. It will take days to determine if anymore were killed.

"All the people between Tavernier and Marathon, the worst-hit places, appear to have enough food and water to last for several days. We have set up a Red Cross center at the American Legion hall in Marathon and food, water and clothing will be dispensed there to those in need.

"The people in the isolated sections—Tavernier, Plantation Key and Islamorada—did not need food and water. They appeared to have stocked up well in advance. We put down a doctor at Islamorada but five other doctors who came from Key West were not needed. The amount of debris on the road between Indian Key and Marathon is so much that 400 men could not clear it today.

"The most pressing need is to fill in the road and repair the water line. There are seven breaks in the line and six bridge washouts in the highway.

Oil Cargoes Along Rhine River Drop

BONN, Germany (UPI) — Old Father Rhine, for centuries Europe's greatest waterway, has new competition.

The river, flowing 820 miles from the Swiss Alps to the North Sea, has a rival—a shining steel oil pipeline.

Only three years ago, the Rhine between Bonn and Cologne passed through green fields. Today, it is flanked by a complex of silver-grey oil piping, storage tanks, and flaming smoke stacks.

More and more oil is being used in Germany, both by industry and domestically. The refineries swallow up crude oil as fast as it is delivered.

Despite the fact the refineries are for the most part located along the Rhine, oil-cargo figures are dropping instead of rising.

This is because of the pipelines. The first, running from the North Sea port of Wilhelmshaven to Wesseling between Bonn and Cologne, has been in operation for one year. The second, from Rotterdam to Cologne, will go into service this year, and farther upstream a pipeline from Marseilles to Strasbourg is scheduled to start functioning by 1963.

All this means the volume of oil carried by Rhine barges—10 million tons in 1957 — will drop heavily.

PLAYED AT WHITE HOUSE

Norwegian Prince Europe's Most Eligible Un-Wed Male

OSLO (UPI)—At the age of 3 Norway's Prince Harald, heir to the Viking throne, played on the White House lawn. At the age of 23 he has become one of Europe's most eligible bachelors.

This month he goes to the United States for a two-week visit —his first since the war—to take part in festivities celebrating the 50th anniversary of the American Scandinavian Foundation.

Enough time has been arranged in the official program for the young crown prince to visit old friends and places. There are many, for Prince Harald spent more than five of the most impressionable years of his childhood in the United States as a refugee from war.

Today in Europe there are three times as many marriageable princesses as princes. The handsome blue-eyed blond crown prince has had his name linked romantically with them all.

Numerous young princesses have been reported to be learning Norwegian in their spare time and there assertedly has been much angling for invitations at which Prince Harald was expected to be present.

Early in August rumors of a royal romance became firmer than ever when Harald spent a vacation on the Mediterranean island of Corfu with the Greek royal family. This time his choice was reported to be Princess Sophie, the 21-year-old daughter of King Paul of Greece.

The pros and cons of this reported match are still being argued but no comment comes from the royal palaces in either Oslo or Athens. Some say that a marriage can hardly be expected before Harald has finished his planned two-years studies at Oxford University in England which start in October. And royal engagements are traditionally not long.

Also, it is said, there is a religious problem. Sophie belongs to the Greek Orthodox Church while Harald is bound by the Norwegian Constitution to uphold the faith of the Lutheran state church.

The match would be popular in Norway. The Norwegian newspapers have left no doubt on that score. The common ancestry of Harald and Sophie would be in accordance with European royal tradition.

Meanwhile everybody is kept guessing and some princesses presumably are still hoping.

Two Injured In Rainy Day Wrecks Here

Two persons were seriously injured in Twin City traffic collisions yesterday afternoon as rain slick streets accounted for a number of local auto mishaps.

Mrs. Irma Spurlock of Bastrop was injured during a mishap on Forsythe Avenue just outside the Monroe city limits and Bobby Duke, 14, 40 Oaks Drive, West Monroe, was hospitalized when his motorcycle collided with a car on Trenton Street in West Monroe.

Both were rushed to the St. Francis Hospital where attendants said each suffered broken legs.

The first accident occurred when a car driven by 15-year-old Helen A. Touchstone, of Monroe went into a skid on Forsythe near its Deborah Street intersection and struck an auto driven by George E. Spurlock, husband of Mrs. Spurlock.

According to state police, who investigated the accident, a third car driven by Robert H. Moore, 25, 500 Splane Dr., West Monroe, then crashed into the rear of the Spurlock vehicle.

The Touchstone girl was slightly injured, but was released from the St. Francis hospital after receiving first aid treatment. Officers said her car skidded sideways into the front of Spurlock's auto. Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

In the second mishap, a car driven by Mrs. Doris C. Duncan, 25, Route 1, West Monroe collided with a motorcycle operated by the Duke youth. The accident occurred on the 100 block of North Riverfront Street in West Monroe shortly after 6 p.m.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Duncan, was charged with reckless driving, police said.

Women Given Tips On How To Aid Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—To the women who have written asking "What can we do to help?" the Nixon-Lodge campaign headquarters had an answer Saturday.

It involves such things as shopping center task forces, coffee hours, canvassing, telephoning, typing, letter writing, baby sitting and poll watching jobs—and just plain talk across back yard fences.

The campaign headquarters announced formation of the Women-for-Nixon-Lodge Committee for a concentrated campaign among women voters for the Republican ticket of Richard M. Nixon for president and Henry Cabot Lodge for vice president.

Announcing this, presidential Campaign Director Robert Finch noted that women voters—56,100,000—now outnumber male electors.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Major Novel By Sinclair Released

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

"Anna Teller" is the title of a major novel by Jo Sinclair, which has just been released this week. It is a book about people, but it also illuminates some of the most important aspects of our century. It is the story of a seventy - four year old Hungarian woman, who came to America after the recent Revolution and of her impact on all whom she met. This rich novel is invested with the full wieght of a searching, sensitive and passionate mind deeply concerned with the world we live in and the way we live in it. This is a book which should be extremely popular. Grace Metalious, author of "Peyton Place" has written another novel called "The Tight White Collar." Her impact is wearing off and this will probably not have any more success than "return to Peyton Place Did."

The field of non - fiction offers some interesting titles this week. Mora Ferrater is the author of "Philosophy Today" a book which examines the teachings of the modern philosophers. "The Operators" by Frank Gibney" is an interesting book dealing with the way in which modern confidence men operate and how they swindle large numbers of the public.

Those who work with elderly people or who have one in their homes will be interested in a book called "The Care of the Geriatric Patient" written by E. V. Cowdry. More and more is being written on this subject, which is a very timely one as our population grows older.

Books of flower arrangement are always extremely popular and a new one is eagerly received. The latest book in this category is called "Floral Decorations for Your Church" and the author is Fern Bowers Hunt. If your are one of the many people who perform this service for your church, you would like to use this book. Of great interest to businessmen is "Profitable Newspaper Advertising" by Edmund C. Arnold. It is a well - written book and contains a great deal of worthwhile information. It would be used also by everyone in the advertising business. The outstanding American archtiect of our times was Frank Lloyd Wright, and a new account of his work is always eagerly received. The latest book on the subject was written by Vincent J. Scully and is an unusually fine presentation of Mr. Wright's philosophy and career. An interesting little book for those planning a trip to New York or New England is called the "Mobile Travel Guide". It lists places to sleep, eat and things to see. A perfectly beautiful new book is called "Gastronomic Tour de France". It's author is Jean Conil. This is a combination travel and cook book and it should appeal to all those who like new and delicious dishes, especially those originated in France.

There is no doubt that the Wild West has a great appeal to all Americans. "Frontier Days, Sketches of Life in the Old West" by Edward Everett Dale is a book which will appeal to many readers. One of the most controversial figures of World War I and it's aftermath is General Billy Mitchell. He has now written an account of his experiences in that war, which is called "Memoirs of World War I". It is a very exciting and interesting book and will appeal especially to men.

Library Board Praises Work Of Mrs. McHenry

The Ouachita Parish library board has adopted a resolution praising the "many virtues, public and private" of the late Mrs. Irma Russ McHenry who served as a member of the board for a number of years prior to her death.

She succumbed here recently.

The resolution, passed as a "token of honor," was sent to the family of Mrs. McHenry.

The resolution praised her work as a member of the board and stated the board's grief over her loss.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Democratic senators said Saturday "unknown policy planners" in the State Department cleared the way for assumption of power in Cuba by the Fidel Castro regime. They said this handed the island over to the Communists.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter issued a statement calling the allegations "shocking and unfounded." He described as incorrect or misleading the statements by Sens. James O. Eastland of Mississippi and Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut.

SENIOR OFFICIALS

Herter said senior officials of the department have always been given close attention to relations with Cuba, and "This has been especially true during the past few years under both Secretary (John Foster) Dulles. . . and myself." Dulles was secretary when Castro seized power in Cuba: Herter was undersecretary.

Earl E. T. Smith and Arthur Gardner, former ambassadors to Cuba, told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee last month that State Department policies, and some U.S. newspapers, misguided U.S. public opinion about the situation preceding Castro's rise to power in Cuba.

Their testimony was made public Saturday by the subcommittee. Eastland and Dodd commented on it in a joint statement.

The two senators said Cuba, "was handed to Castro and the Communists by a combination of Americans in the same way that China was handed to the Communists." They said unknown planners "worked with pro-Castro elements in the American press to make Castro appear as Robin Hood."

Smith testified he spent more than 2½ hours with former Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista on Dec. 17, 1958—14 days before the strong man fled Cuba—at State Department instructions to tell Batista he should step aside.

The senators said the testimony of the two former ambassadors—both political appointees of President Eisenhower — demonstrate that American foreign policy is not made by top officials, but by "unknown policy planners and memo makers who fill the secretary's 'in' basket."

The two senators said lower-level officials "misguided American opinion" with the aid of the U.S. press. They singled out for particular mention Herbert L. Matthews of the New York Times. Mathews interviewed Castro when the bearded leftist was a revolutionary in the hills. The senators, and the two ambassadors, said Matthews influenced U.S. public opinion and state department officials in favor of Castro.

Gardner testified that Castro's background as "a professional rabble-rouser" was well known before he came to power in January 1959.

Efforts to reach Matthews for comment were not immediately successful.

Weapon-Carrying Negroes Arrested

Two Negro men were arrested by Monroe officers early yesterday morning and charged with the possession of dangerous weapons.

Leon Calloway, 62, 4003 Halsell St., Monroe and Odis John Watson, 22, 3103 Gayton St., Monroe were carrying knives when apprehended, police said.

Japanese View Castro

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese viewers are to get a look at the Cuba Prime Minister Fidel Castro wants the world to see. An hour-long Cuban government film entitled "Birth of Cuba" will be presented Sept. 25 on TV in a series introducing Latin American countries to Japan.

Buys Groceries With Hot Checks And Goes To Jail

A car stuffed with several hundred dollars worth of groceries and the suspicions of a West Monroe grocery store manager yesterday brought about the arrest of a 37-year-old Florida man charged with theft by check.

William H. Johnston was picked up by West Monroe officers after cashing two worthless checks at grocery stores there and one in Monroe, authorities said.

According to police, Johnston apparently traveled from town to town cashing large checks for small quantities of groceries.

In West Monroe he gave checks of $35 and $40 while making purchases of $3 and $4, police said.

Officers said Johnston walked into a West Monroe grocery and asked if he could cash a check. He gave his address as Jackson Street in Monroe, and said he needed a few groceries.

After the check was cashed, the store manager became suspicious, called the police and asked them to check up on the man. Officers did, and found the car load of groceries.

When apprehended, officers said Johnston had sacks of groceries stacked in the rear seat and on the back floor of his car.

He also had sacks in the front seat. Groceries ranging from canned goods to washing powder were stuffed in the trunk of the auto.

"I think we could be safe in saying there are several hundred dollars worth of groceries in that car," one policeman said.

Johnston was being questioned by West Monroe authorities late last night. He will probably be transferred to the Ouachita Parish jail early today, police said.

Island Chain Losses High From Donna

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Sheriff John Spottswood of Monroe County toured the island chain Saturday to survey the damage caused by hurricane Donna. Here is his report:

"I made an all-day check by Navy helicopter of the most seriously affected 90 miles of the Florida Keys from Tavernier to Key West. There were unaccountable millions of dollars in property damage;

Twenty, thirty, forty — who knows?

But the most amazing thing is how the people came through physically. So far we have counted two deaths, but of course our check isn't anywhere near complete. It will take days to determine if anymore were killed.

"All the people between Tavernier and Marathon, the worst-hit places, appear to have enough food and water to last for several days. We have set up a Red Cross center at the American Legion hall in Marathon and food, water and clothing will be dispensed there to those in need.

"The people in the isolated sections—Tavernier, Plantation Key and Islamorada—did not need food and water. They appeared to have stocked up well in advance. We put down a doctor at Islamorada but five other doctors who came from Key West were not needed. The amount of debris on the road between Indian Key and Marathon is so much that 400 m ou d not clear it today.

"The most pressing need is to fill a e road and repair the water line. There are seven breaks in the line and six bridge washouts in the highway.

Oil Cargoes Along Rhine River Drop

BONN, Germany (UPI) — Old Father Rhine, for centuries Europe's greatest waterway, has new competition.

The river, flowing 820 miles from the Swiss Alps to the North Sea, has a rival—a shining steel oil pipeline.

Only three years ago, the Rhine between Bonn and Cologne passed through green fields. Today, it is flanked by a complex of silver-grey oil piping, storage tanks, and flaming smoke stacks.

More and more oil is being used in Germany, both by industry and domestically. The refineries swallow up crude oil as fast as it is delivered.

Despite the fact the refineries are for the most part located along the Rhine, oil-cargo figures are dropping instead of rising.

This is because of the pipelines. The first, running from the North Sea port of Wilhelmshaven to Wesseling between Bonn and Cologne, has been in operation for one year. The second, from Rotterdam to Cologne, will go into service this year, and farther upstream a pipeline from Marseilles to Strasbourg is scheduled to start functioning by 1963.

All this means the volume of oil carried by Rhine barges—10 million tons in 1957 — will drop heavily.

PLAYED AT WHITE HOUSE

Norwegian Prince Europe's Most Eligible Un-Wed Male

OSLO (UPI)—At the age of 3 Norway's Prince Harald, heir to the Viking throne, played on the White House lawn. At the age of 23 he has become one of Europe's most eligible bachelors.

This month he goes to the United States for a two-week visit —his first since the war—to take part in festivities celebrating the 50th anniversary of the American Scandinavian Foundation.

Enough time has been arranged in the official program for the young crown prince to visit old friends and places. There are many, for Prince Harald spent more than five of the most impressionable years of his childhood in the United States as a refugee from war.

Today in Europe there are three times as many marriageable princesses as princes. The handsome blue-eyed blond crown prince has had his name linked romantically with them all.

Numerous young princesses have been reported to be learning Norwegian in their spare time and there assertedly has been much angling for invitations to international royal gatherings at which Prince Harald was expected to be present.

Early in August rumors of a royal romance became firmer than ever when Harald spent a vacation on the Mediterranean island of Corfu with the Greek royal family. This time his choice was reported to be Princess Sophie, the 21-year-old daughter of King Paul of Greece.

The pros and cons of this reported match are still being argued but no comment comes from the royal palaces in either Oslo or Athens. Some say that a marriage can hardly be expected before Harald has finished his planned two-years studies at Oxford University in England which start in October. And royal engagements are traditionally not long.

Also, it is said, there is a religious problem. Sophie belongs to the Greek Orthodox Church while Harald is bound by the Norwegian Constitution to uphold the faith of the Lutheran state church.

The match would be popular in Norway. The Norwegian newspapers have left no doubt on that score. The common ancestry of Harald and Sophie would be in accordance with European royal tradition.

Meanwhile everybody is kept guessing and some princesses presumably are still hoping.

Two Injured In Rainy Day Wrecks Here

Two persons were seriously injured in Twin City traffic collisions yesterday afternoon as rain slick streets accounted for a number of local auto mishaps.

Mrs. Irma Spurlock of Bastrop was injured during a mishap on Forsythe Avenue just outside the Monroe city limits and Bobby Duke, 14, 40 Oaks Drive, West Monroe, was hospitalized when his motorcycle collided with a car on Trenton Street in West Monroe.

Both were rushed to the St. Francis Hospital where attendants said each suffered broken legs.

The first accident occurred when a car driven by 15-year-old Helen A. Touchstone, of Monroe went into a skid on Forsythe near its Deborah Street intersection and struck an auto driven by George E. Spurlock, husband of Mrs. Spurlock.

According to state police, who investigated the accident, a third car driven by Robert H. Moore, 25, 500 Splane Dr., West Monroe, then crashed into the rear of the Spurlock vehicle.

The Touchstone girl was slightly injured, but was released from the St. Francis hospital after receiving first aid treatment. Officers said her car skidded sideways into the front of Spurlock's auto. Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

In the second mishap, a car driven by Mrs. Doris C. Duncan, 25, Route 1, West Monroe collided with a motorcycle operated by the Duke youth. The accident occurred on the 100 block of North Riverfront Street in West Monroe shortly after 6 p.m.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Duncan, was charged with reckless driving, police said.

Women Given Tips On How To Aid Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—To the women who have written asking "What can we do to help?" the Nixon-Lodge campaign headquarters had an answer Saturday.

It involves such things as shopping center task forces, coffee hours, canvassing, telephoning, typing, letter writing, baby sitting and poll watching jobs—and just plain talk across back yard fences.

The campaign headquarters announced formation of the Women-for-Nixon-Lodge Committee for a concentrated campaign among women voters for the Republican ticket of Richard M. Nixon for president and Henry Cabot Lodge for vice president.

Announcing this, presidential Campaign Director Robert Finch noted that women voters—56,100,000—now outnumber male electors.

For Better Living

3 Little Pigs!

AND A bedroom for each of them in this immaculate home. The ceramic bath and vinyl floors would be easy to keep even for these gentlemen. Only a half block from school and close to market. It's made of bricks and sticks, and payments of only $66. monthly will keep the wolf from your door.

The King And I

HAVE gotten together and we are going to sell this little castle. He wasn't a very rich king so you'll have to assume the notes, but here's what you get: Brick (every castle is), 3 sleeping chambers, central heating, tile floors and a lot big enough for a court yard with trees. This king was a modern cat, so cool this deal today with only $400. down.

Go West Young Man

WEST MONROE that is, where you'll find this 3 bedroom brick trade in home. For wide open spaces the lot is 100 x 197. Not tumble weeds but Grand Old Oaks (you can't have everything). The cabinets are factory made birch podnah, and they have formica counter tops. The shower over the tub is surrounded by gleaming ceramic. There's room for the whole herd in this-in and we just want our money back so just give us a "holler."

Robin Hood and Little John

WOULD HAVE loved this tree covered lot with this 3 bedroom brick home on it. All of the merry men wouldn't even begin to fill the large bedrooms and Fryer Tuck could do all of the cooking on the built-in range and oven. Maid Marrion would find this pale blue ceramic bath exquisite. You don't have to go back to the 16th century for this home because we can show it to you right now, Just give us a call.

Old King Cole

WAS a merry old soul and he would have been extremely happy about this $68 a month house note. This 3 bedroom brick has 1½ ceramic baths, cyclone fenced back yard with plenty of trees and a St. Augustine yard that would please even the most finiky gardener. The 4½ per cent loan makes it one of the best buys or it will be gone before you can say "Fiddlers Three."

"The Trend" For Better Living

3 Little Pigs!

AND A bedroom for each of them in this immaculate home. The ceramic bath and vinyl floors would be easy to keep even for these gentlemen. Only a half block from school and close to market. It's made of bricks and sticks, and payments of only $66. monthly will keep the wolf from your door.

The King And I

HAVE gotten together and we are going to sell this little castle. He wasn't a very rich king so you'll have to assume the notes, but here's what you get: Brick (every castle is!), 3 sleeping chambers, central heating, tile floors and a lot big enough for a court yard with trees. This king was a modern cat, so cool this deal today with only $400. down.

Go West Young Man

WEST MONROE that is, where you'll find this 3 bedroom brick trade in home. For wide open spaces the lot is 100 x 197. Not tumble weeds but Grand Old Oaks (you can't have everything). The cabinets are factory made birch podnah, and they have formica counter tops. The shower over the tub is surrounded by gleaming ceramic. There's room for the whole herd in this-in land we just want our money back so just give us a "holler."

Robin Hood and Little John

WOULD HAVE loved this tree covered lot with this 3 bedroom brick home on it. All of the merry men wouldn't even begin to fill the large bedrooms and Fryer Tuck could do all of the cooking on the built-in range and oven. Maid Marrion would find this pale blue ceramic bath exquisite. You don't have to go back to the 16th century for this home because we can show it to you right now. Just give us a call.

Old King Cole

WAS a merry old soul and he would have been extremely happy about this $68 a month house note. This 3 bedroom brick has 1½ ceramic baths, cyclone fenced back yard with plenty of trees and a St. Augustine yard that would please even the most finiky gardener. The 4½ per cent loan makes it one of the best buys or it will be gone before you can say "Fiddlers Three."

LET'S TALK ABOUT YOUR NEEDS
YOU SAY YOU WANT—

——A separate dining room? 3 large bedrooms?—1½ baths? Brick?—Not over 3 years old? Close in and near a grade school?—On a large lot. Priced less than $17,000!!! That's hard to find but we happen to have ONE. Let's see THE ONE on Jersey St.

——4 bedrooms, hardwood floors, and a separate dining room in home like they used to build! You'd like to have a porch too!! On a large lot in the College area!! Not too old and in good condition??!! Let's see—there's one—on Caddo St. It has lots of shrubs. Good lawn and shade trees too!! Just $21,000.

——A separate dining room, hardwood floors, shade trees and screen porch, in first class condition and in a good neighborhood? For not over $10,500!—Would 2 large bedrooms be enough? Then let's look at the one on South 4th St.

——A 3 bedroom home near Neville—with hardwood and carpeted floors, enclosed garage on a shady well landscaped lot?? Near bus line? Let's look at the one on K St. It also has a glassed in breezeway, large kitchen with ceramic tile cabinet top, dishwasher and built-in breakfast bar—for $16,900.

——A neat 2 bedroom home with low down payment and low monthly payments? Would like a carport and storeroom too? Let's see the one on Mississippi St. It's near the bus line and shopping center—for $8,200—$550 down and $58 per month or more down and $47 per month.

——A 2 bedroom and den home on a wide lot with low down payment and no closing cost? Let's see this one on Pecan St. It also has hardwood block floors, sound proof walls, attic insulation. Prize winning Camellias and a large pecan tree—for only $11,950.

——to sell?—IT SOLD!! For fast, friendly, know-how, and results call FA 2-4414.

ON BAYOU
QUALITY construction is just the beginning of the many features to be found in this beautiful and spacious home. Its 2100 sq. ft. of living area includes: 17 x 38 den; double walk-in closets in master bedroom; 1¾ ceramic tile baths with shower; plush carpeting in bedrooms and living room; terrazzo in remainder of house; central air conditioning; custom made drapes; double carport. Beautiful bayou lot is 100 x 175 x 126.6. Let's see this excellent value today.

NEW LISTING
SHEFFIELD ST., W.M.
GET OUT your pencil, just start multiplying, because the answer is bound to show the advantages of owning this home. Both bedrooms are spacious, as is the 12 x 22 living room. Extras include: blinds, 4" insulation in walls and ceiling, linoleum floors throughout. Priced moderately, below $7,000.

NEW LISTING
COTTON ST., W.M.
PAY MORE . . . what for? This 2 bedroom home near downtown business district can be yours for less than $9,000. It is an excellent rental property now and has commercial possibilities for the near future. Lot size is 50 x 100. This property holds a real opportunity for the wise buyer.

LINDERMAN AVE., W.M.
LIFE'S too short to be wasted in a rented house when this comfortable 3 bedroom home near Mitchell School can be yours. It contains: separate dining room; carpeted front bedroom; blinds; aluminum awnings on front porch; cyclone fenced back yard. Selling for FHA appraisal.

NEW LISTING
Blazier Estate Rd., W.M.
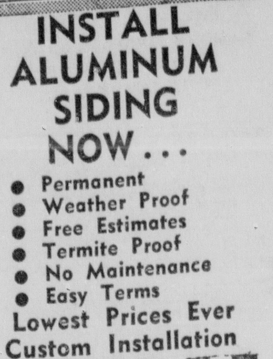

SECURITY makes good living and here we are offering this neat 2 bedroom asbestos siding home. It features: 19 x 20 pine paneled den; pine paneled kitchen; attic fan; blinds; back porch screened with plexiglass and walled halfway up. All of this plus an acre lot adds up to excellent value. Let's make an appointment to see this one now!

VICK ST., W.M.

FILHOIL AVE., W.M.
A MONEY maker in your home — that's what you'll have with this 4 bedroom home. It has: 3½ baths; 3 floor furnaces; oak floors; new roof; newly painted on outside. The house is presently divided into 2 apartments, but it could be 1 three room apartment, 2 two room apartments, and one big bedroom with private bath. There's easily $130.00 revenue available from this house. Also nice for a large family as it's near Mitchell Grammar School.

NEW LISTING
SPLANE DR., W.M.
YOU'LL WANT TO take another look (and then you'll probably want to move right in) if you're looking for a good family home. This 3 bedroom brick home was built by a contractor for his personal home. It offers: 13 x 27 living room; 2 baths with plastic tile walls and shower over tub; central heating; attic fan; blinds. Additional assets include: fruit trees; fenced garden; extra garage and storeroom. $800 down plus closing costs buys it! Like to see?

BLAZIER LANE, W.M.
YOU'LL have no neighbor trouble with this 2 bedroom home on this approximately 2 acre setting. The house contains: 14x32 living room, (2) porches, 8-10 utility room and blinds. It's well worth the low asking price. Just pay owners equity and assume $62. payments.

LAKESHORE DR., W.M.
YES, YOU'LL find it hard to say "no" to this modern 2 bedroom home. Check these features and you'll see why: 10x13 living porch; masonite bath with shower over tub; wall furnaces; air conditioners; attic fan; blinds, drapes; and washer and dryer connections. The 145x182 lot adds to the beauty of this compact home. $350 down plus closing costs will make it yours today!

CIRCLE DR., W.M.
ARE you suffering from "room-a-tism"? Your pain will be over when you see this 3 bedroom home of over 1400 sq. ft. The bedrooms are 10 x 16, 12 x 17, and 20 x 20. Extra features are: Venetian blinds: insulation in ceiling; washer connections. You'll be amazed at the low asking price — below $10,000.

White's Ferry Rd., W.M.
WE COULD write a book on this one, but briefly, this year old brick home has 1448 sq. ft. of living area. Here's what it contains: spacious living room; separate dining, one pine paneled bedroom; kitchen with built-in Caloric oven and range; 2 complete baths; 9 x 18 utility room opening off kitchen. Other extras: central heating; attic fan; drapes; washer and dryer connections; double carport. It's situated on a tree - covered 90x150 lot. It's an inviting home and we invite you to see it immediately.

WALL WILLIAMS RD.
W.M.
SOME FOLKS have all the luck, but all the luck isn't just for the other fellow. You can own this spacious 3 bedroom home for less than $12,000. It has such features as: 14x18 living room; kitchen with dishwasher and ventahood; monotile bath; oak floors; central heating; drapes in living room; blinds; 220 wiring. See this one today before your luck runs out and someone else spots the value here.

NEW LISTING
HORN ST., W.M.
PERFECT GEM of a home is this 2 bedroom brick home of over 1500 sq. ft. of living area. There's a 15x18 living room. The house also features: separate dining room; den; 1½ ceramic tile baths with Formica topped dressing table; kitchen has 2 ovens. It's centrally heated and ducted for air conditioning. The "ring of a phone" is all that's needed to see it now.

Albino Squirrel Is School Hater

Four - year - old "Frisky" has been to school many a time but he hates it . . . (a feeling shared by some students).

He's a white, red - eyed albino flying squirrel.

Miss Gertrude Gregory met Frisky on a cold October night in 1956, when a school system employee rescued the month-old squirrel from a dump truck behind the school board office.

She "thawed him out" and took him home to raise.

The youngster's diet of assorted nuts wasn't enough for a growing boy, so Miss Gregory had to feed the skin-and-bones squirrel milk with a medicine dropper.

She found out that squirrels are cute, develop definite personalities — and sink their teeth into their human owners when said squirrel becomes frightened.

Frisky fattened up, grew to seven inches from tail tip to nose, and ruled over a huge private cage on the Gregory residence's back porch.

Then, the school teacher in Miss Gregory rose to the surface, and she took Frisky to school — in a big straw handbag.

"He's my live science lesson," she chuckles.

Not many people have seen an albino squirrel — they're a rarity. The first graders who meet Frisky are fascinated. But the red eyes of an albino squirrel are sensitive to daylight, the noise of the classroom unsettles the "science lesson", and Frisky has shown he prefers the quiet of homelife.

After a few unsatisfactory pounces onto Frisky's cage, Bucky lost interest, went back to chasing dogs, and now the squirrel leads a carefree life.

Once he got loose in the house — and lost the tip of his tail. Miss Gregory reached for the squirrel, caught his tail, and the tip slipped off — a life-saving device provided by nature, in case another animal should sieze the squirrel.

Now he has a blunt tail.

Frisky weighs no more than half an ounce. He would have stood little chance in the outside world where his big cousins live.

He gets "tender, loving care," quips Miss Gregory.

When the weather is warm, Frisky climbs into his water dish and makes it into a swimming pool. Or Miss Gregory turns on the ceiling fan to keep him cool.

He eats like squirrel royalty—almonds, pecans, peanuts, corn, raw apples, snap beans, peas, grapes, watermelons and their seeds.

In the fall, Miss Gregory places a large supply of acorns into the refrigerator to keep them fresh for Frisky's meals throughout the year. "Acorns deteriorate rapidly if they're not kept cold," she explains.

And nothing is too good for this squirrel. Let a child who has met Frisky see Miss Gregory, and the youngster's first question is, "How's the squirrel?"

RED-EYED "FRISKY", white albino squirrel raised by Miss Gertrude Gregory, is a "live science lesson" for first graders in Ouachita Parish school system. Orphan Slays Pair In Bid To 'Go To Heaven'

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (UPI)— A 14-year-old orphan who felt he "didn't belong in this world" methodically shot two boys to death so he could die in the electric chair and go to Heaven, police said Saturday.

The victims, only sons of a Memphis supermarket manager and a mechanic, were strangers the youth picked at random after plotting his mission of death.

"I didn't want to shoot anybody I knew," he told police in confessing the shotgun slaying of Douglas Naylor, 9, and James Wallace Melton, 11, Friday.

"I want to die. I do not belong in this world. I want to go to "Heaven," said the juvenile, who cannot be identified under Arkansas law. "If I just killed one they might send me to the reform school again, but if I killed them both they'll send me to the chair."

The youth, who lived with foster parents after a stint in the boys industrial school at Pine Bluff, led officers to the bodies of the boys in Rattlesnake Woods near this town across the Mississippi River from Memphis, Tenn.

"It's the most terrible thing I ever saw," said Police Chief H. D. Holland.

X15 Rockets Higher Than U2 Spy Plane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Flying higher than the U2 "sky plane" and more than three times as fast, the X15 Saturday rocketed through maneuvers it must make to re-enter the atmosphere safely from the fringes of space.

Maj. Robert White pushed the plane to 80,000 feet, nosed over and on the way down hit a speed of 2,112 miles per hour.

He made no attempt to break his own altitude record of 136,500 feet, set in the X15 last Aug. 12. He came close, however, to the speed record of 2,196 m.p.h. set Aug. 4 in the same plane by Joe Walker of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

White's mission was to learn how the experimental craft will handle when it glides back to earth from flights 50 to 10 miles high. A rocket engine almost three times as powerful as the one used so far is being installed in a sister ship, expected to go aloft within a few weeks.

Tom Finch, X15 project manager from NASA, said the X15 is "the only manned aircraft in the world which can explore the problems of maneuverability at these speeds and altitudes."

The U2 shot down over the Soviet Union can approach 80,000 feet but its top speed is less than 600 miles an hour.

In Saturday's maneuvers White headed the plane at high speed into a dive at about the same angle it later will use to re-enter the atmosphere. To simulate any turbulence he might experience then, he deliberately made it pitch and yaw—that is, rock back and forth and swing its nose from side to side.

Engineers said he showed he had control of the craft at all times.

White was weightless for a few seconds at the top of the climb. During the dive air friction heated the front surfaces of the plane to 450 degrees Fahrenheit—not dangerous because the craft is designed to withstand temperatures of 1,200 degrees in flights with the big engine.

Damage Suits Filed Against Ruston Firm

FRANKLINTON, La. (UPI) — Seven damage suits seeking a total of $3,915,555 have been filed against T. L. James and Co. of Ruston in connection with a 1959 traffic accident in which four persons were killed.

The amount is the highest sought in any single action, taking the suits collectively, filed in Washington parish. The suits name eight co-defendants, including insurance firms.

The accident involved was a collision between a station wagon and a T. L. James and Co. truck. Four men in the station wagon were killed and another injured. Relatives of the victims and their insurance companies are suing.

Love Conquers Class Barrier

GRETNA GREEN, Scotland (AP)—Love—and the liberal laws of Scotland—conquered the class barrier Saturday. Runaway couple Brian Flitton and Janet Porter got married despite Janet's father's objection to Brian's not-very-cultured accent.

"We eloped after Jane's father told me I didn't speak good enough," Brian, 22-year-old auto worker, said after the register office wedding. "He wanted me to go to elocution lessons, but I don't want to speak like a BBC announcer, old champ."

Janet, 18, a shorthand typist who talks proper, loyally said: "His accent doesn't matter to me."

Truman Reports Southern Demo 'Call For Help'

By United Press International

Former Mississippi Gov. J. P. Coleman and other Southern Democrats have called for help in the presidential campaign in their states, said former President Harry S. Truman in New York Saturday.

Truman said the party is "having trouble" in some Southern states, but "they always think it is more serious than it is."

However, Coleman expressed confidence on the local scene of Mississippi's chances of staying in the Democratic column in November.

He predicted at a four - state Democratic strategy meeting in Shreveport, La., Friday that Gov. Ross Barnett's unpledged elector plan would run "a poor third" in the campaign.

He said the fight in this state would be between Democrats and Republicans.

Mississippi's delegation of 23 members was larger than any of those from Arkansas, Louisiana and Alabama at the meeting.

4,000 Volt Line Fatal For Pair

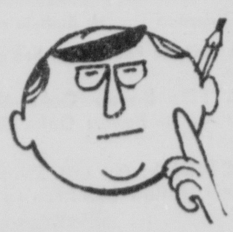

NASHVILLE (UPI) — A man was electrocuted Saturday while putting up a television antenna and his wife died in a futile attempt to pull her husband off a high voltage line.

Dead on arrival at a hospital were Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lawrence.

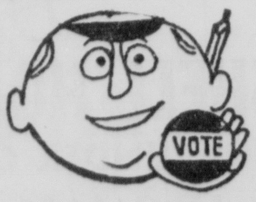

Police said Lawrence was putting up a television antenna at the couple's West Nashville home when he came in contact with a 4,000 volt power line. Mrs. Lawrence tried to pull her husband away from the power line and was electrocuted also.

The couple is survived by four small children.

HEY KIDS! HAVE YOU GOT YOUR EXPLODING BATTLESHIP SET?

It's a special ARMOUR STAR FRANKS offer!

You get all this: a realistic "exploding" battleship, a submarine and three torpedoes! Here's how it works.

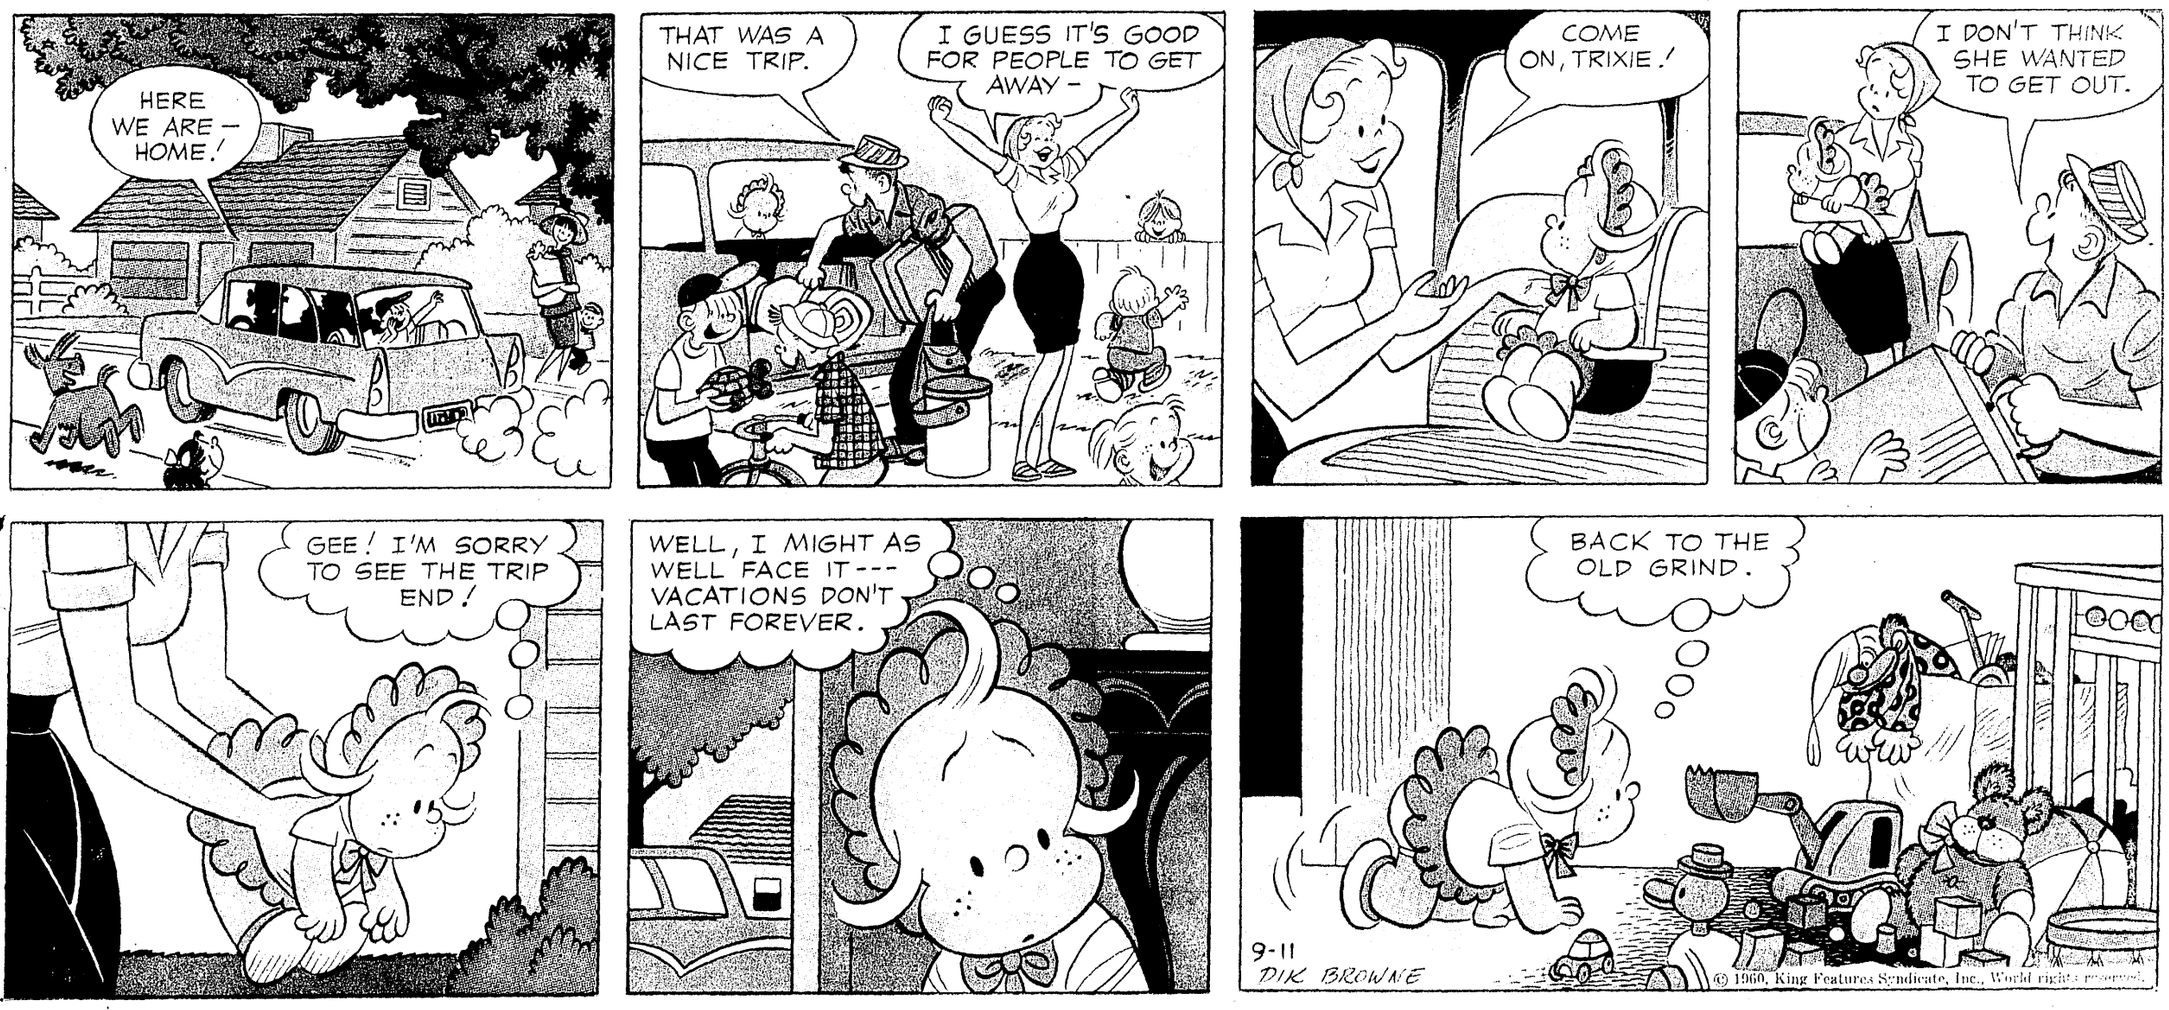

- Load submarine with one of the torpedoes!
- Line up your target — fire one! • When you make a direct hit, the battleship "explodes"!
- And it's easily reassembled for more battles.

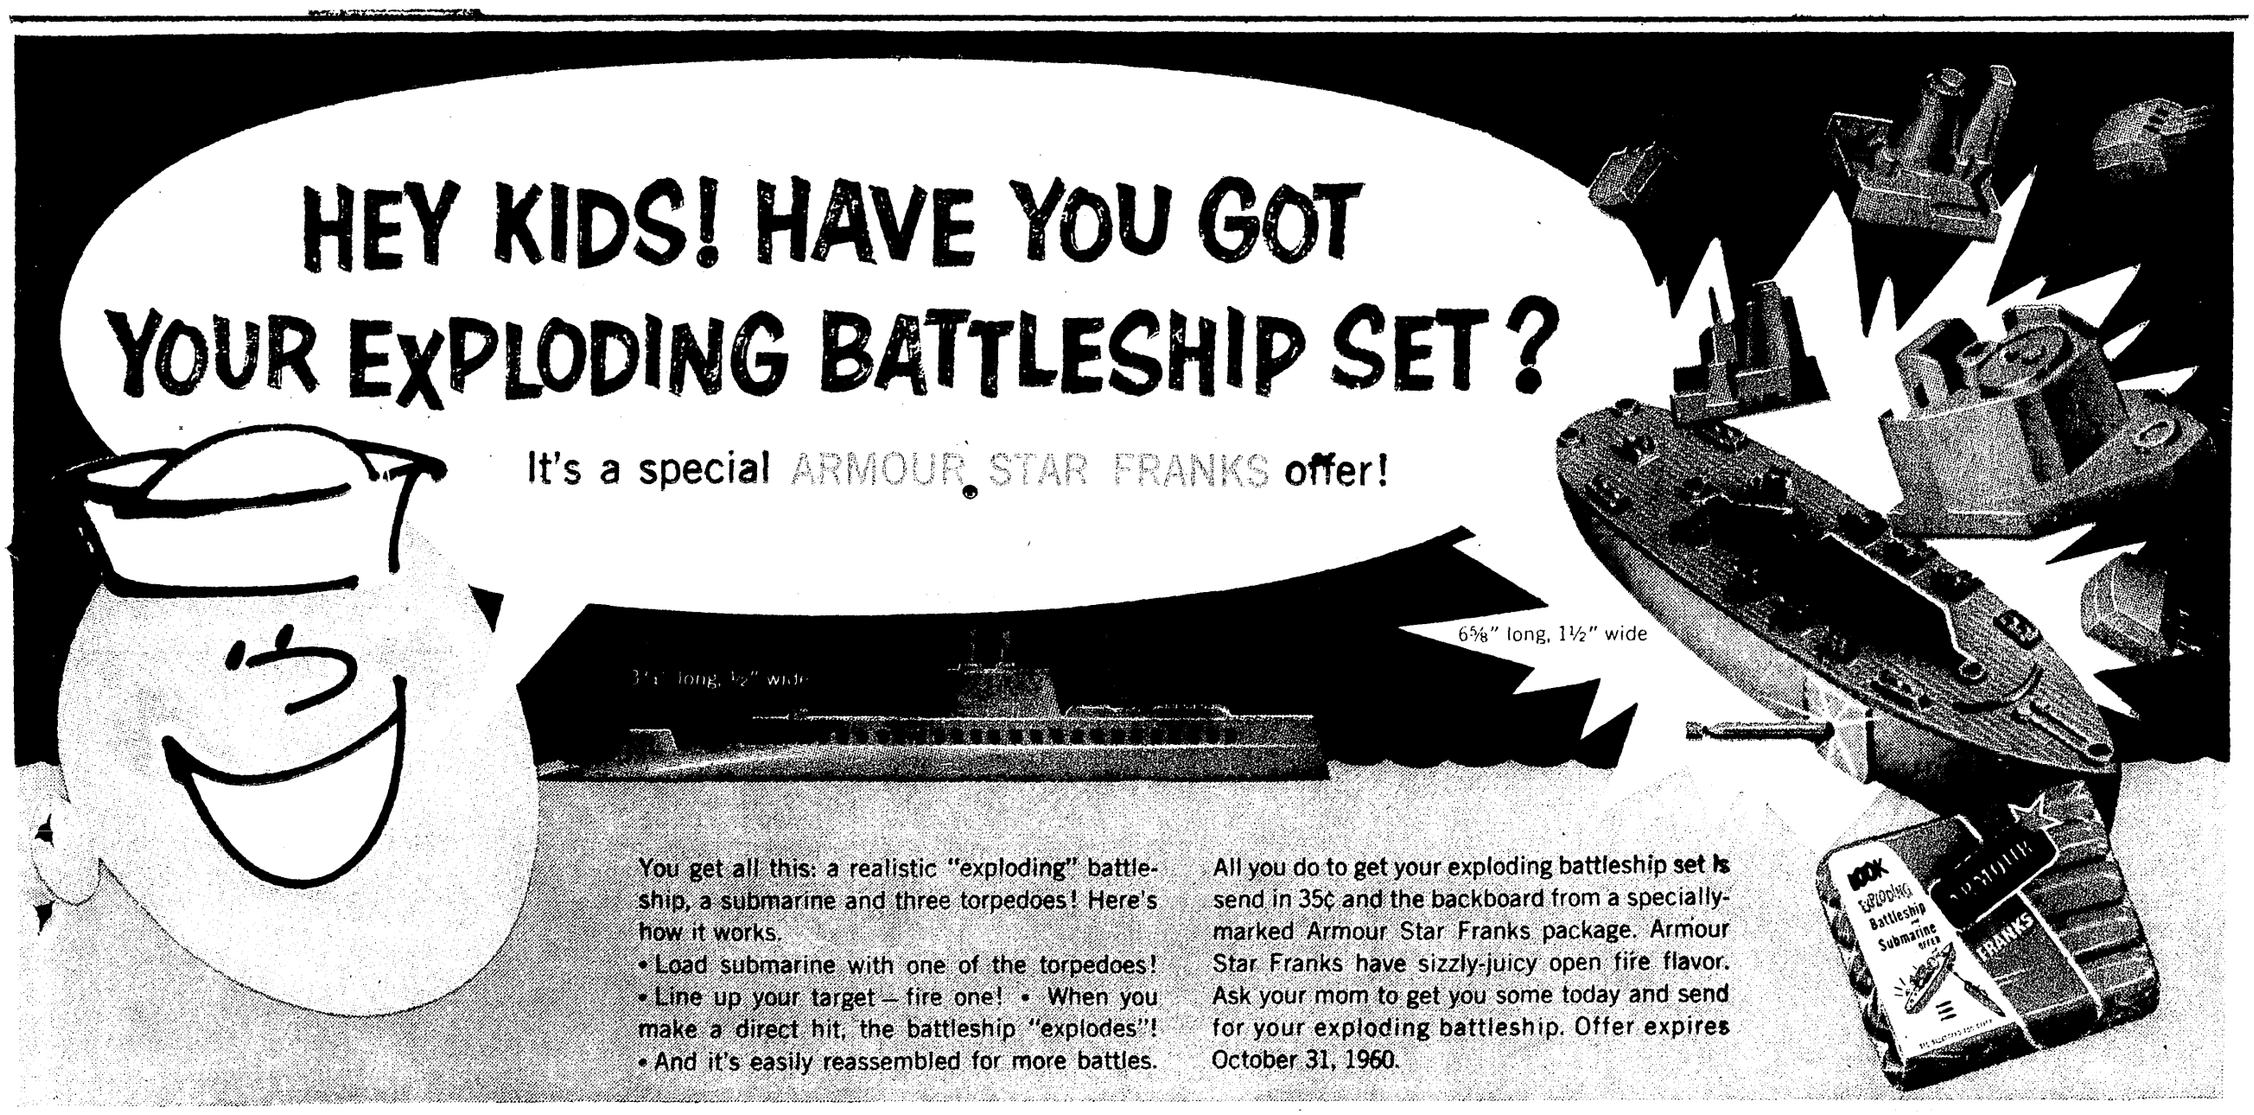

All you do to get your exploding battleship set is send in 35¢ and the backboard from a specially-marked Armour Star Franks package. Armour Star Franks have sizzly-juicy open fire flavor. Ask your mom to get you some today and send for your exploding battleship. Offer expires October 31, 1960.

NO, SIR, MR. DRIVE! SANDY AND I AREN'T FROM TH' SUMMER VACATION CROWD!

MOST OF THEM WENT BACK TO THE CITY RIGHT AFTER LABOR DAY!

BUT WHERE DID YOU COME FROM?

ANNIE'S AN ORPHAN, PAPA, EVER SINCE SHE WAS BORN! SHE WAS JUST PASSING BY!

BEFORE DAYLIGHT?

SANDY AN' I TRAVEL A LOT! AT NIGHT THERE'S NOT SO MANY FOLKS ASKIN' YUH PERS'NAL QUESTIONS!

HM-M! THAT'S LOGICAL! WHERE WERE YOU HEADING?

NO PLACE IN PARTIC'LAR, JUST SOME PLACE WE COULD LIGHT AN', EARN OUR KEEP!

YEAH? BUT THERE ARE LOTS OF NICE PLACES WHERE THEY'D TAKE CARE OF YOU FREE! YOU MIGHT EVEN GET ADOPTED!

UH-HUH! GUESS SO, MR. DRIVE, IF YOU SAY SO!

GUESS YOU WOULD KNOW MORE ABOUT SUCH THINGS THAN I DO!

OH, IT'S NOT THAT LOTS O' NICE FOLKS DON'T MEAN WELL! BUT SANDY AN' I ... WELL, WE DON'T WANT CHARITY!

WE'RE NOT BUMS OR STUDYIN' HOW TO BE-BUMS! I'M HEALTHY AN' REAL STOUT! I WANT TO WORK AN' EARN MY WAY!

HM-M! THAT'S A STRANGE AND NOVEL IDEA IN THESE TIMES!

DON'T YOU WANT SECURITY? NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT?

SURE, I DO! TH' KIND O' S'CURITY I CAN GET BY PROVIN' I CAN TAKE CARE O' MYSELF AN' SANDY!

MARLENE, DON'T YOU THINK THIS INDEPENDENT LITTLE REDHEAD COULD EARN HER WAY HERE WITH US, IF SHE'D CARE TO?

OH! ANNIE! WOULD YOU?

GEE! YOU FOLKS! THIS PLACE! IT'S TH' KIND O' HOME ANY KID'D BE HAPPY IN! IF, IF YOU REALLY...?

THEN IT'S A DEAL! SHAKE! I'VE GOT TO GO, NOW!

GO? BUT YOUR PAPA JUST GOT HOME FOR BREAKFAST, AFTER ALL NIGHT AT THE FACTORY!
